Inflation Slowing Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The pace of the worst inflation since the Korean War eased a bit in 1970, mainly because of a sharp leveling off of food prices, the Labor Department reported today.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said consumer prices rose one-half of 1 per cent in December, putting the cost of living 5.5 per cent above what it was in December, 1969, and was likely to be cited in support of administration claims that President Nixon's policies are curbing inflation.

However, the December-to-December rise still was far more than the 4 per cent to which the administration had hoped to hold the living cost increase during the second year of Nixon's term.

The BLS said further evidence of an easing of inflation was that consumer prices rose during the last six months of 1970 at an annual rate of only 4.9 per cent compared to a 6 per cent rate during the first half of last year.

But the increase for 1970 would have been much larger had it not been for smaller food price increases. The cost of food in supermarkets increased only 1.2 per cent from the previous December, far under the 7.2 per cent jump during 1969.

the smaller food price rise helped offset big boosts in 1970 in the cost of a number of other items:

—Home ownership costs, up 10.3 per cent.

— Insurance and interest charges, up 12 per cent.

—Medical care, up 7.4 per cent.

—Various services, up 8.2 per cent.

—Public transportation 15.2 per cent higher.

—Private transportation, up 6.3 per cent.

—Restaurants meals, up 6.2 per cent.

The 0.5 per cent over-all advance in December put the consumer price index at 138.5. That meant it took $13.85 last month to purchase what $10 bought in 1957-59.

The December increase compared to rises of 0.3 per cent in November, and 0.6 per cent in October.

The BLS said the increased cost of living in December was due largely to price hikes for household services (up 0.6 per cent), medical care services (up 0.8 per cent), food (up 0.3 per cent), housing (up 0.7 per cent), gasoline (up 1.2 per cent) and new cars (up 1.4 per cent).

Officials said the 0.3 per cent food price increase was more than usual for December. It was paced by a 1.1 per cent jump for fruits and vegetables. Prices of eggs, cereal and bakery products, dairy products, fish and poultry also rose more than their seasonal patterns.

STORM LEAVES A PICTURESQUE SCENE

Various degrees of weather have plagued the nation this week — from blizzards in the Midwest to sunshine in Florida and Southern California. In South Bend, Ind., this scene emerged in near zero weather on Brandywine Creek, which empties into the St. Joseph River. The freezing weather on the East Coast has also forced President Nixon to seek sunshine, so he flew to a resort in the Virgin Islands for the weekend. (UPI Telephoto)

Prosperity Budget Goes To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today sent Congress a $229.2 billion budget calling for $11.6 billion of deficit spending which he said would spur the lagging economy into prosperity "without war and without runaway inflation." (See other budget stories, page 3.)

The President made no effort to pare the deficit with higher taxes. The only major tax change he proposed was a $2.8 billion boost in social security payroll levies to pay for a 6 per cent increase in benefits.

Never since World War II has a President deliberately budgeted for such a large deficit and no Republican President ever has done so. But Nixon adopted the economic theory that deficit spending will help restore prosperity. If it does not work out that way within a year, his own budget figures indicated the deficit could be far bigger.

As usual, the spending figure was a record, reflecting the growth in population and the economy.

Nixon said his budget for the 1972 fiscal year which begins July 1 breaks down to 34 per cent for national defense, 42 per cent for human resources, 11 per cent for physical resources, 8 per cent for interest on the national debt and 5 per cent for other programs.

His emphasis throughout, was on reviving the sluggish economy.

"The 1972 budget reaffirms the determination of the federal government to take an activist role in bringing about the kind of prosperity that has rarely existed in the American economy —a prosperity without war and without runaway inflation," he said.

outlays	212.8	229.2
revenue	194.2	217.6
deficit	18.6	11.6

It was the first time the administration publicly had estimated the size of the deficit for the current 12 months ending June 30. When the 1971 budget went to Congress a year ago, Nixon foresaw a $1.3 billion surplus. Since then, projected spending has increased by $12 billion while anticipated revenues have declined by $7.9 billion.

The chief executive unveiled no major new programs in the budget.

As he did in his State of the Union speech a week ago, he stressed domestic issues. Less than two pages of the 22-page budget message were devoted to defense and that was headed "Toward a Full Generation of Peace."

He proposed spending $77.5 billion for national defense, an increase of $1.1 billion over the current fiscal year but still $2.7 billion below spending in the 1970 fiscal year.

For the second straight year, there was no specific figure for the cost of the war in Indochina. An administration

Oregon's Mate Testifies He Saw Arizona On Radar

By MARY LEYDECKER

SAN FRANCISCO — The second mate on the Oregon Standard testified today he didn't see the radar image of his sister ship until the vessels were a half-mile apart in the Golden Gate.

The testimony by Olaf Mykle, 63, came as a Cost Guard inquiry into the Jan. 18 collision between Arizona Standard and Oregon Standard neared a conclusion. The crash, in foggy darkness, spilled more than 800,000 gallons of oil into bay and ocean waters, fouling beaches and killing wildlife.

Mykle, in a thick Norwegian accent, told a three-man hearing board today that his ship's captain, Morris E. English, saw the image of the Arizona Standard before he did and had gone out on the bridge to blow a hand whistle.

At the time of the collision, Mykle said, he was "scared" because he thought his ship might explode. He said he heard the breaking of steel and added that "hot gases coming up in my face almost knocked me out."

Yesterday, the board heard the captain of the Oregon Standard blame the collision of the captain of the Arizona Standard.

Later today, Lt. James L. MacDonald, 29, is expected to tell how he helplessly watched as the Oregon Standard and the Arizona Standard headed on a collision course just west of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Lt. MacDonald's testimoney should pinpoint the site of the collision. The two ship captains have not agreed in their testimony about where the accident occurred. Each has claimed he was on his own side of the narrow channel.

The investigating board will also probably consider whether radar sets aboard each ship were being used to their fullest capacity. Another issue is why the two ships were tuned to different radio channels, making it impossible ..for them to contact each other.

The incoming Arizona's captain should have known where the outbound Oregon Standard was, Captain English said yesterday. Furthermore, the Arizona was too far to the north on the Oregon Standard's side of the passage, Capt. English said.

The 59-year-old skipper conceded, however, that he was farther south than he intended to be. He also admitted that he might have picked up the Arizona Standard earlier on his two radar sets if he had had them set at a higher range.

He explained that he had the radar set to pick up only objects within a 1.5-mile range until just before he got to the bridge. Flipping the radar to a six-mile range, he spotted the Arizona Standard less than a mile away.

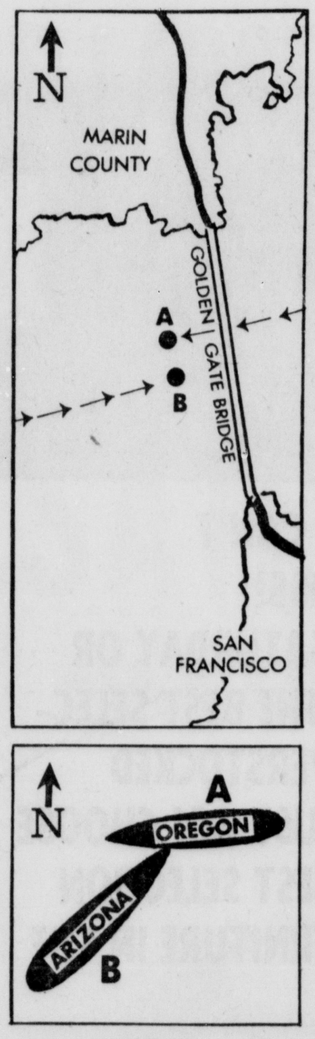
He began blowing prolonged blasts on his whistle as he turned to try to get north by two-tenths of a mile past the bridge he saw lights of the other ship and ordered his own vessels full astern. It was too late to avoid the collision.

As to why the captain never responded to radio calls from the Arizona Standard, English explained he had his radio set at two channels used commercially. He was not tuned in to channel 18, the one recommended for such communication and used by the Arizona Standard.

When board president Capt. Joseph E. Gould asked Capt. English yesterday for his explanation of why he felt the accident happened, the Oregon Standard's master answered:

"I feel that's a hard question. I was on my side. . . there was not enough space between the two routes."

Asked whether he thought the master of the other vessel should have know where he was, Capt. English, replied, "Yes, sir."



DISAGREEMENT — The captains of the Arizona Standard and the Oregon Standard — whose shops crashed as shown (diagram below) — disagree as to where they collided. Oregon's captain gives position A (above diagram); Arizona's says position B, much farther south.

Transit Plans Bring A Mill Valley 'No'

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

All five proposed routes would depend on using the existing railroad right-of-way through the city's marshland — where construction already is under way on a school and small craft harbor.

More than a dozen speakers stressed that while they would welcome transit, it would have to go somewhere else, probably up Highway 101.

Bridge district consultants said that they had been aware of Mill Valley's opposition when they drafted the plans, but warned that using the freeway corridor for transit would "wipe out the whole (Strawberry Town and Country) shopping center, take out 50 to 60 houses in Corte Madera and offer poorer station access from both Mill Valley and Tiburon."

Several bridge directors assured the audience of some 85 persons in City Hall that district consultants had gotten their message, but director Michael Wornum added that "local goals are not the only thing to be considered."

Bridge directors were flanked by brilliantly lit maps of their consultants' plans, while behind them was displayed a map of city policies, including one "to acquire railroad right-of-way when available."

Bridge officials assured the audience that the transit plans still were not yet firm, and that the purpose of the hearing was to get community reaction before adopting a plan for presentation to the Legislature in April. The 1969 Legislature ordered the plan, which cost the district almost $700,000.

Last night's hearing was the 19th in the six-county district. The final hearings will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday in San Francisco City Hall and at 8 p.m. Wednesday in San Rafael City Hall.

State Lifts Offshore Oil Ban, Permits Standard To Drill Again

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state Lands Commission lifted its two-year ban on offshore drilling yesterday by granting Standard Oil Co. permission to drill another well on a man-made island off the coast of Orange County.

If was the second anniversary of the disastrous Santa Barbara oil platform accident, which coated coastal and channel island beaches with raw petroleum.

The action was protested by state Sen. Peter Behr, R-Mill Valley, and other conservationists in the Legislature as well as the Orange County Board of Supervisors.

Behr made a personal appearance before the commission on another matter. The commission granted a three-months extension of permits to conduct exploratory geophysical surveys along the entire California coastline, to Humble and Phillips oil companies. Exploration had been allowed to continue even though drilling was banned for the past two years.

Standard was granted permission to drill on its "Esther Island" off Seal Beach, adding another well to the 75 holes drilled before the moratorium.

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, chairman of the lands commission, said he was convinced Standard's proposal met all the stringent new safety regulations imposed by the commission.

F. J. Hortig, the commission's executive secretary, said the proposed drilling operation had two sets of safety equipment and was as "fail-safe as possible." He added that the Orange County coast was not plagued by "geological surprises" that have caused sea-bottom oil leakage off Santa Barbara.

Behr unsuccessfully argued that the commissioners were too busy with other state duties "to give detailed attention both to policy and the particular applications that are before them." He said the "commission should appreciate" watchdog action "by those who have no selfish interests to foster, namely someone other than the applicants."

The commission consists of Flournoy, Lt. Governor Ed Reinecke and state Director of Finance Verne Orr. Reinecke was absent yesterday; Orr joined Flournoy in approving the new well on grounds it was "entirely different" from the platform drilling technique that caused trouble off Santa Barbara.

Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, chairman of the Senate Natural Resources and Wildlife Committee, and Assemblyman Edwin Z'berg, D-Sacrmento, chairman of the lower house's Natural Resources and Conservation Committee, both reacted strongly when they learned of the commission action.

"It's incredible that now with all the evidence" that ecological protection cannot be guaranteed in offshore drilling, the well should be permitted, Nejedly declared. Z'berg called for a ban of "offshore drilling, period."

Behr also fought the exploration survey permit as "only the first link in a chain reaction" leading to more oil drilling.

Gov. Ronald Reagan later defended the Commission's actions. He said the commission voted only after being satisfied the drilling would be "no hazard."

Troupe Harassed

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Carnegie Hall opening performance of a Soviet dance and singing ensemble was disrupted Thursday night when Jewish militants scattered open bottles of ammonia throughout the theater and planted a fake bomb under a sixth-row seat.

It was the latest incident of a harassment campaign directed at Russian nationals by activist Jewish organizations protesting alleged oppression of Soviet Jewry. The Soviet Union has retaliated with harassment of Americans in Moscow straining Soviet-American cultural ties.

The gaily costumed Siberian Dancers and Singers of Omsk were midway through their third number when bomb squad police, reacting to a telephoned threat, evacuated 1,000 orchestra floor spectators to the rear of the white walled auditorium.

Similar In Age

MOSCOW (UPI)—The vice president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences says the moon rock samples returned to Earth by Soviet and American lunar probes at three different sites are similar in age, mineral content and chemical structure.

Alexander Vinogradov, the academy vice president, told the unmanned Soviet Luna 16 and the manned U.S. Apollo 11 and 12 flights "have very similar absolute age."

Vinogradov said in the interview Thursday that he believes the moon has the same age as the Earth—about 4.5 billion years.

Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Iraq have placed their armies on full emergency footing in preparation for the end of the cease-fire with Israel next Friday, Western diplomatic sources said in Beirut today.

Diplomats said the alert was precautionary and did not signal an intention to launch an attack when the truce expires.

The sources said the order for full alert was given by Egyptian War Minister Gen. Mohammed Fawzi. Iraq, which has refused to take orders from Fawzi, mobilized on its own initiative.

Travelers in North Jordan reported seeing Jordanian troops with Land Rovers, tanks, tank transports and trucks moving toward the cease-fire line.

More Boats Seized

WASHINGTON (UPI)—State Department spokesmen have confirmed Ecuador has seized three more American fishing boats, bringing the number taken off Ecuador's coasts since Jan. 11 to 17.

The new seizures Wednesday night came as foreign ministers from the Western Hemisphere prepared for a Saturday meeting which will discuss Ecuador's charges that U.S. tuna boats have violated the South American nation's territorial waters.

The State Department said the boats were seized Wednesday night about 55 miles off the Ecuadorian coast and were taken to the port of Salines.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Vice Lresident Spiro T. Agnew met the only person more candid than his mother-in-law Thursday. He said former president Harry S. Truman "looked wonderful."

"He looked very well indeed," Agnew said. "I was so very pleased to see both the President and Mrs. Truman alert and very relaxed. It was the first time I had a chance to meet either of them and I enjoyed it very much."

Truman is in research hospital recovering from an intestinal ailment. Doctors still described his condition as "good" Thursday night and still refused to say when the 86-year-old former President will be released.

CRAZED GUNMAN SUBDUED

Reds Bomb Market, Killing Nine; Plot To Blow Up Bridge Foiled

SAIGON (UPI) — Military spokesmen said today Communist terrorists set off a bomb that killed nine civilians and wounded 22 others in a market on South Vietnam's coast. It was the second bombing in a crowded public place in two days.

The U.S. Command said action involving American troops fell to a 2 1-2-month low and the Tet Chinese lunar new year holiday period had proved the quietest since the massive American buildup of 1965.

U.S. military spokesmen said no American troops were killed in Vietnam in the 24 hours ended at midnight Thursday. The three-day Tet holiday officially ends at midnight and one hour later, a Communist-proclaimed cease-fire was to expire.

The explosion Thursday in Mo Duc, 316 miles northeast of Saigon was touched off only about 18 hours after a grenade attack that killed 10 Vietnamese and wounded 19 others in a movie theater in An Nhon.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said the Cambodian High Command had foiled a Communist plot to blow up a main bridge in Phnom Penh.

Military spokesmen in Saigon reported South Vietnamese infantrymen Thursday killed at least 27 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops in fighting in the Mekong Delta near the U Minh Forest, 140 miles southwest of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese forces were supported by air strikes and artillery. They seized 28,000 pounds of rice and destroyed 17 sampans.

The Cambodian Command said troops discovered 440 pounds of TNT tied to a truck tire inner tube and camouflaged with grass on a rver bank 2 1-2 miles from one of Phnom Penh's main bridges.

Rogers In Disavowal On Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers has promised a skeptical Senate Foreign Relations Committee a congressional ban upon the use of U.S. ground troops in Cambodia will be followed to the letter.

Rogers testified for more than three hours Thursday at a closed meeting of the committee, trying to quiet concern over the increased use of American air power in Cambodia.

Critics of the American role in Indochina contended stepped up American air operations were deepening the American commitment to the Cambodian regime that overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk last March.

"The administration stands in a quagmire saying it will only permit itself to sink as deep as its ankles and then, when it's in up to its calves, declares that it will not sink below its knees," Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, told reporters after the hearng.

The secretary of state said American use of helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers in support of Cambodian and South Vietnamese ground forces in Cambodia were isolated raids which had the purpose of helping to open Route 4 which connects the capital of Phnom Penh with the seaport of Kompong Som. He said the main purpose of using American air power in Cambodia still was to interdict Communist supply lines leading to South Vietnam

Church, however, argued the United States had scrapped its interdiction mission and now was fighting not to protect U.S. forces in Vietnam but to protect Cambodia.

Evidence Persists On U.S. Presence

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Officials insist the congressional amendment barring U.S. advisers and troops in Cambodia is not being violated. But there is growing evidence of the American presence in this embattled Asian nation.

During the week these events underscored the use of American men and materiel:

—Four U.S. soldiers, dressed in civilian clothes, were seen at a number of places in Phnom Penh defusing or touching off explosives. They were identified as demolition experts and, among other things, they helped clean up the explosives left scattered after the attack on Phnom Penh airport last Friday by Communists and also defused a terrorist bomb left at the South Vietnamese consulate last week.

—Nineteen GIs dressed in civilian clothes flown into Phnom Penh airport to rig damaged American-built helicopters for recovery. U.S. officials said they were on Cambodian soil for only an hour.

—Official American sources acknowledged that some U.S. soldiers will be authorized to go into the field to check on the use of American military aid. These men, the sources said, will belong to the U.S. embassy and if they see U.S.-granted equipment is not being properly used, they can advise the embassy. In other words, they will not be acting as advisers to the Cambodians using the equipment.

—The arrival in Cambodia of military equipment, including two new UH1 Huey helicopters, eight river patrol boats, and 1,400 tons of military equipment and aid flown in after the Communist attack on the airport. All equipment was for use by Cambodians.

Meanwhile, unofficial reports that U.S. military men are operating clandestinely in Cambodia coordinating U.S. air support persisted. As early as November Cambodian officers told UPI correspondents that American close air support is called for by Cambodian officers in the field and it is relayed to American military officers operating in Phnom Penh.

U.S. officials have declined comment on whether or not radio transmissions involving air strikes go through the military attache's command. They also denied the embassy has any command or operational control of the air support.

Savio Runs For Berkeley Mayor

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Mario Savio, leader of the 1964 Free Speech Movement at the University of California, and his wife Suzanne have registered as candidates for the Berkeley mayoralty election.

Savio, 27, father of two small children, led the nation's first student revolt six years ago on the UC Berkeley campus.

He dropped out of school for about six years and quietly reentered Berkeley last year as a biology student.

His wife, the former Suzanne Goldberg, also was active in the 1964 student uprising. She is now devoting her time to her children.

Attack On Great Society, New Frontier

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's revenue sharing plan to relax federal controls over $9.6 billion in special purpose aid funds for states and cities also would erase a long list of New Frontier and Great Society social programs.

Nixon's effort to dump some of the Democrats' proudest programs into his new revenue-sharing pool emphasized one of the sharpest points of difference between the two major parties: whether government works best from Washington or from the statehouses and city halls.

The President's fiscal 1972 budget, presented to Congress today showed that more than half of the dollars proposed for the Nixon "special revenue sharing" plan now are being paid out in federal programs first enacted during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Programs that would lose their identities included Model Cities, Appalachia assistance, Depressed Areas aid' the Safe Streets Act, manpower training, antipoverty community action, school aid for poor neighborhoods and Lady Bird Johnson's highway beautification.

About $5.1 billion of the funds in the Nixon plan would come from Democratic-originated programs.

The special revenue sharing seems likely to arouse the Democratic-controlled Congress because its recent predecessors gave birth to the programs involved and wrote into them the strong federal controls that Nixon now seeks to loosen.

The issue is not whether state and local governments will get the $9.6 billon, but under what conditions. In most of the aid programs approved during the 1960's, Congress earmakred the funds for specific purposes and gave federal agencies authority to keep close check on them.

The idea of "block grants," as the special revenue sharing proposal originally was called, grew from the complaints of governors and mayors that the aid programs gave them no leeway in meeting their needs and that the federal bureaucracy was too snarled in red tape to distribute the funds efficiently.

Republicans repeatedly tried to substitute the block grant approach for the Democratic "categorical grants" during the 1960's, but succeeded only on one substantial program —the Safe Streets or Law Enforcement Assistance Act. That program originally called for states to decide on the distribution of federal crime-fighting funds, a system that pleased governors but irked many mayors.

The $9.6 billion in special revenue sharing funds would have to be spent in general areas specified by the federal government, but local governments would determine specific programs. The less controversial $4 billion "general revenue sharing" plan would go to states with no strings attached.

The administration originally proposed $10 billion in special funds and $6 billion in general funds, but that was scaled down in the budget because the program is not scheduled to start until after the fiscal year begins July 1.

As outlined in his State of the Union message, the Nixon proposal would divide use of the $9.6 billion into six areas — urban development, rural development, education, manpower training, law enforcement and transportation. State and local governments would get grants for these broad purposes, but would be free to use them within those areas as they wished.

Giving an example, the President said in his budget message:

"Although the federal government would designate the total amount of special revenue sharing for education, the state or local area would decide how much is to be spent on new textbooks, new schools, equipment or other matters of priority to it in the field of education."

6 Pct. Hike In Social Security Benefits Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today proposed a 6 per cent increase in Social Security benefits for 26 million Americans retroactive to Jan. .. Congress is likely to boost this to at least 10 per cent.

Nixon also called for $2.8 billion in new taxes on workers and their employers to pay for the raise.

In his budget message to Congress, Nixon asked for automatic increases in Social Security benefits to keep pace with the cost of living, with the first installment being a retroactive 6 per cent boost.

Leaders of the new 92nd Congress have committed themselves to raising benefits for pensioners, widows and disabled workers but nearly all the legislation introduced thus far would provide for a minimum 10 per cent increase.

Last year, the House passed a 5 per cent increase with an automatic cost-of-living escalator. The Senate approved a 10 per cent boost and Congress adjourned without reconciling the differences.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has promised the House will pass a 10 per cent increase by March. The Senate is expected to go along.

A retired worker covered by Social Security now gets an average of about $118 a month and a couple $180 monthly in Social Security. Nixon's plan would raise this to $125 and $190.80. A 10 per cent hike would bring the figures to about $130 and $198.

To pay for the higher benefits, Nixon asked that the amount of earnings subject to Social Security taxes be increased from $7,800 a year to $9,000. He indicated that he wanted to keep the current tax rate of 5.2 per cent on both employees and employers.

Under present law, a man earning at least $7,800 would pay $405.60 in Social Security taxes this year. Raising the earnings base to $9,000 would mean he would pay $468 —or $62.40 more —with the employer putting up a matching amount.

Nixon's plan for future automatic cost-of-living increases also called for future increases in the earnings base as average U.S. earnings rise.

Nixon also indicated the administration will ask Congress to raise the $680 limit a retired worker can earn before losing benefits. But he did not spell out the increase.

Last year, the House raised this ceiling to $2,000 and the Senate to $2,400 before the measures died.

Nixon also proposed increased benefits for widows but again did not go into details.

Leaded Gas Plan Is Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The controversial tax on lead in gasoline, one of President Nixon's priority legislative goals last year, was dropped from his proposed fiscal 1972 budget.

The tax would have added 2 to 3 cents a gallon to the price of leaded gas. It got no further last year than hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nixon proposed the tax as a way of prompting a reduction in lead in gasoline, a factor in air pollution. But critics said the tax wouldn't accomplish the purpose.

There was no mention of the tax in the budget Nixon presented to Congress today.

Fund Plea For Urban Transit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A $7.7 billion transportation budget was proposed today by President Nixon, with emphasis on helping to revitalize urban mass transit systems, get the drunk driver off the road, and keep the passenger train from highballing into oblivion.

To cut government expenses, however, he proposed in his fiscal 1972 budget to sell two government operated airports —Washington National, one of the busiest in the nation, and ultra-modern Dulles International.

Both airports are located in the Viriginia suburbs outside Washington.

The Highway Trust Fund took the biggest slice from the transportation budget —$4.6 billion for continued construction of the Interstate Highway System.

Nixon told Congress in his budget message that he wanted $327 million for mass transit grants in 1972. "A comprehensive and efficient urban transit system is essential to the revitalization of our cities," he said.

WITH FUND PLEA

Two-Year Draft Extension Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has asked Congress to extend the draft for another two years, and to authorize spending $1.5 billion to help make another extension unnecessary when that time period is up.

But key lawmakers remained skeptical that the draft could ever really be abolished. John C. Stennis, Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he thought a volunteer Army was "a long way off," while his counterpart in the House, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., dismissed the idea as a "Utopian dream."

Stennis said Senate hearings on the draft would begin Tuesday while Hebert said his committee would consider the draft as its "first priority."

Nixon told Congress his objective was to "reduce draft calls to zero" through a long range enhancement of military life. He also proposed a national lottery call each month to ensure relatively equitable draft liability throughout the country.

Stennis recommended a longer draft extension than to July 1, 1973 as requested by the President, while Hebert said he does not think a volunteer Army ever will be possible. The current draft authority expires July 1.

Hebert also claimed Nixon already has the authority to end mandatory draft deferments for undergraduates, which Nixon asked for Thursday, but "if they say they don't have the power we will give them the power as soon as possible."

Nixon's request for legislation to abolish undergraduate deferments and exemptions for divinity students was ignored last year by the House and Senate.

"The objective of this administration is to reduce draft calls to zero, subject to the overriding considerations of national security, and as long as we need the draft to make it fair and equitable as we can," the President said.

He did not set a target date for an end to the draft and he said that the most optimistic observers "agree we would not be able to end the draft in the next year or so without seriously weakening our military forces and impairing our ability to forestall threats to the peace."

Attack On Great Society, New Frontier

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's revenue sharing plan to relax federal controls over $9.6 billion in special purpose aid funds for states and cities also would erase a long list of New Frontier and Great Society social programs.

Nixon's effort to dump some of the Democrats' proudest programs into his new revenue-sharing pool emphasized one of the sharpest points of difference between the two major parties: whether government works best from Washington or from the statehouses and city halls.

The President's fiscal 1972 budget, presented to Congress today showed that more than half of the dollars proposed for the Nixon "special revenue sharing" plan now are being paid out in federal programs first enacted during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Programs that would lose their identities included Model Cities, Appalachia assistance, Depressed Areas aid' the Safe Streets Act, manpower training, antipoverty community action, school aid for poor neighborhoods and Lady Bird Johnson's highway beautification.

About $5.1 billion of the funds in the Nixon plan would come from Democratic-originated programs.

The special revenue sharing seems likely to arouse the Democratic-controlled Congress because its recent predecessors gave birth to the programs involved and wrote into them the strong federal controls that Nixon now seeks to loosen.

The issue is not whether state and local governments will get the $9.6 billon, but under what conditions. In most of the aid programs approved during the 1960's, Congress earmakred the funds for specific purposes and gave federal agencies authority to keep close check on them.

The idea of "block grants," as the special revenue sharing proposal originally was called, grew from the complaints of governors and mayors that the aid programs gave them no leeway in meeting their needs and that the federal bureaucracy was too snarled in red tape to distribute the funds efficiently.

Republicans repeatedly tried to substitute the block grant approach for the Democratic "categorical grants" during the 1960's, but succeeded only on one substantial program —the Safe Streets or Law Enforcement Assistance Act. That program originally called for states to decide on the distribution of federal crime-fighting funds, a system that pleased governors but irked many mayors.

The $9.6 billion in special revenue sharing funds would have to be spent in general areas specified by the federal government, but local governments would determine specific programs. The less controversial $4 billion "general revenue sharing" plan would go to states with no strings attached.

The administration originally proposed $10 billion in special funds and $6 billion in general funds, but that was scaled down in the budget because the program is not scheduled to start until after the fiscal year begins July 1.

As outlined in his State of the Union message, the Nixon proposal would divide use of the $9.6 billion into six areas — urban development, rural development, education, manpower training, law enforcement and transportation. State and local governments would get grants for these broad purposes, but would be free to use them within those areas as they wished.

Giving an example, the President said in his budget message:

"Although the federal government would designate the total amount of special revenue sharing for education, the state or local area would decide how much is to be spent on new textbooks, new schools, equipment or other matters of priority to it in the field of education."

6 Pct. Hike In Social Security Benefits Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today proposed a 6 per cent increase in Social Security benefits for 26 million Americans retroactive to Jan. .. Congress is likely to boost his to at least 10 per cent.

Nixon also called for $2.8 billion in new taxes on workers and their employers to pay for the raise.

In his budget message to Congress, Nixon asked for automatic increases in Social Security benefits to keep pace with the cost of living, with the first installment being a retroactive 6 per cent boost.

Leaders of the new 92nd Congress have committed themselves to raising benefits for pensioners, widows and disabled workers but nearly all the legislation introduced thus far would provide for a minimum 10 per cent increase.

Last year, the House passed a 5 per cent increase with an automatic cost-of-living escalator. The Senate approved a 10 per cent boost and Congress adjourned without reconciling the differences.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has promised the House will pass a 10 per cent increase by March. The Senate is expected to go along.

A retired worker covered by Social Security now gets an average of about $118 a month and a couple $180 monthly in Social Security. Nixon's plan would raise this to $125 and $190.80. A 10 per cent hike would bring the figures to about $130 and $198.

To pay for the higher benefits, Nixon asked that the amount of earnings subject to Social Security taxes be increased from $7,800 a year to $9,000. He indicated that he wanted to keep the current tax rate of 5.2 per cent on both employees and employers.

Under present law, a man earning at least $7,800 would pay $405.60 in Social Security taxes this year. Raising the earnings base to $9,000 would mean he would pay $468 —or $62.40 more —with the employker putting up a matching amount.

Nixon's plan for future automatic cost-of-living increases also called for future increases in the earnings base as average U.S. earnings rise.

Nixon also indicated the administration will ask Congress to raise the $680 limit a retired worker can earn before losing benefits. But he did not spell out the increase.

Last year, the House raised this ceiling to $2,000 and the Senate to $2,400 before the measures died.

Nixon also proposed increased benefits for widows but again did not go into details.

Leaded Gas Plan Is Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The controversial tax on lead in gasoline, one of President Nixon's priority legislative goals last year, was dropped from his proposed fiscal 1972 budget.

The tax would have added 2 to 3 cents a gallon to the price of leaded gas. It got no further last year than hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nixon proposed the tax as a way of prompting a reduction in lead in gasoline, a factor in air pollution. But critics said the tax wouldn't accomplish the purpose.

There was no mention of the tax in the budget Nixon presented to Congress today.

Fund Plea For Urban Transit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A $7.7 billion transportation budget was proposed today by President Nixon, with emphasis on helping to revitalize urban mass transit systems, get the drunk driver off the road, and keep the passenger train from highballing into oblivion.

To cut government expenses, however, he proposed in his fiscal 1972 budget to sell two government operated airports —Washington National, one of the busiest in the nation, and ultra-modern Dulles International.

Both airports are located in the Viriginia suburbs outside Washington.

The Highway Trust Fund took the biggest slice from the transportation budget —$4.6 billion for continued construction of the Interstate Highway System.

Nixon told Congress in his budget message that he wanted $327 million for mass transit grants in 1972. "A comprehensive and efficient urban transit system is essential to the revitalization of our cities," he said.

WITH FUND PLEA

Two-Year Draft Extension Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has asked Congress to extend the draft for another two years, and to authorize spending $1.5 billion to help make another extension unnecessary when that time period is up.

But key lawmakers remained skeptical that the draft could ever really be abolished. John C. Stennis, Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he thought a volunteer Army was "a long way off," while his counterpart in the House, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., dismissed the idea as a "Utopian dream."

Stennis said Senate hearings on the draft would begin Tuesday while Hebert said his committee would consider the draft as its "first priority."

Nixon told Congress his objective was to "reduce draft calls to zero" through a long range enhancement of military life. He also proposed a national lottery call each month to ensure relatively equitable draft liability throughout the country.

Stennis recommended a longer draft extension than to July 1, 1973 as requested by the President, while Hebert said he does not think a volunteer Army ever will be possible. The current draft authority expires July 1.

Hebert also claimed Nixon already has the authority to end mandatory draft deferments for undergraduates, which Nixon asked for Thursday, but "if they say they don't have the power we will give them the power as soon as possible."

Nixon's request for legislation to abolish undergraduate deferments and exemptions for divinity students was ignored last year by the House and Senate.

"The objective of this administration is to reduce draft calls to zero, subject to the overriding considerations of national security, and as long as we need the draft to make it fair and equitable as we can," the President said.

He did not set a target date for an end to the draft and he said that the most optimistic observers "agree we would not be able to end the draft in the next year or so without seriously weakening our military forces and impairing our ability to forestall threats to the peace."

Congress Receives Prosperity Budget

official said the budget assumed that the cost would decline during the fiscal year as U.S. troops continue to be withdrawn.

Nixon placed emphasis on his revenue sharing plan, saying it would "return power to the people" by eliminating most of the strings on about one-third of the budget's $38 billion in federal aid to state and local governments.

The President announced last week that revenue sharing would total $16 billion a year including $6 billion in new money. But the budget called for spending $13.6 billion next year, including $4 billion in new funds because the proposed starting date has been delayed beyond the start of the new fiscal year.

The budget proposed that $9.6 billion in existing federal aid grants for more than 100 specific programs be converted into general purpose block grants. Many of the programs initiated by Democratic former Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, would lose their specific identity. About half of the funds earmarked for revenue sharing come from New Frontier and Great Society programs.

If the President's estmate of an $11.6 billion deficit proves accurate, it will be the fourth largest federal deficit since World War II. The $18.6 billion in red ink projected for this year would be the second largest deficit since then, exceeded only by the $25.1 billion recorded in the 1968 fiscal year.

Nixon argued that his deficit was not inflationary because spending would not "exceed revenues the economy could generate under the existing tax system at a time of full employment." He said that if the economy were operating at full blast now, the new budget would show a $100 million surplus instead of the big deficit.

Even the $11.6 billion deficit forecast could be too optimistic. Nixon's revenue predictions are based on the assumption that the Gross National Product — the total value of all goods and services produced in the nation —will grow to $1.065 trillion in this calendar year, an increase of 9 per cent over 1970.

If the GNP comes out closer to $1.045 trillion, as many private economists believe, the deficit would climb higher. The administration overestimated the GNP for 1970 by almost $10 billion and as a result, revenues for this fiscal year fell below original estimates.

Nixon asked for a $2.8 billion increase in Social Security payroll taxes by increasing from $7,800 to $9,000 the base on which the 5.2 per cent tax would be applied. That would cost all workers earning $9,000 or more an additional $62.40 a year in social security taxes with the employer putting up an equal amount.

A similar presidential request last year was approved by Congress but failed to become law because the two chambers differed on other details of the bill. The President asked that the increase be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

He also resubmitted a proposed 2 cent a gallon increase in the tax on diesel fuel to yield less than $10 million a year.

Offsetting, almost dollar for dollar, the $2.8 billion revenue increase for social security would be a loss of $2.7 billion in revenue during the 1972 fiscal year as a result of Nixon's plan to liberalize the depreciation rules for business equipment.

The tax on the air polluting lead in gasoline which the President sought last year was not resubmitted.

He proposed an additional $100 million to search for a cure for cancer. Only $[illegible] million would be spent in the 1972 fiscal year. The rest would be used later.

Nixon also promised a new effort to find a cure for sickle cell anemia, a usually fatal disease which affects mostly Negroes, although he put no price tag on that.

Nixon proposed a boost of $95 million in federal aid to schools training doctors, nurses and other health personnel. And he said he would seek "reforms" in Medicate and Medicaid to control rising costs.

There was no price tag on the health insurance Nixon is expected to send to Congress later. He merely said he would propose "a new health insurance program for all low-income families with children." Administration officials said it was hoped the program would start in the 1973 fiscal year.

The budget calls for an increase of $5.2 billion in expenditures on "incomes maintenance" to a record $60.7 billion. Included was a $3 billion boost in social security benefits and $502 million for start-up costs of Nixon's proposed family assistance program.

Nixon repeated his frequent urging for Congress to approve his bill to place a $1,600 floor under the income of every family of four. But, possibly anticipating long congressional battles, he postponed the effective date of the program until Jan. 1, 1973.

The President proposed outlays of $408 million, an increase of 32 per cent, for law enforcement. Most of the money would got for grants to states and cities to help pay for better police forces.

Nixon asked for $4.8 billion for highways; $128 million for highway safety including a new effort to get drunken drivers off the roads; $57 million to improve rail passenger service; and $327 million, an increase of $112 million, for urban mass transit.

Community development and housing outlays were set at $4.5 billion, up $637 million. Most of the increase would go into subsidies for low and middle income housing.

No Lights On Cycle

The Independent-Journal erred in its report of a fatal motorcycle-auto collision which killed motorcyclist James L. Long Jr., 23, of San Rafael Tuesday night.

The story, as it appeared, indicated that motorist Leslie M. Booth, 32, of Fairfax, saw the lights of Long's approaching motorcycle in the fog, as Booth was passing other traffic. However, according to the California Highway Patrol reports, Booth said he saw nothing until "an object appeared in my headlights, coming at me."

Booth told the I-J today that "as a matter of fact, there were no lights on the motorcycle."

OBITUARIES

Frank L. Brown Dies At 92

Masonic service for Frank L. Brown of San Rafael, former Marin County purchasing agent and a veteran of the Boxer Rebellion in China, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Brown, of 207 D Street, died Wednesday in a local hospital after a short illness. He was 92.

Brown served during the Spanish-American War, and in July 1900, his unit joined British, French and Japanese forces which took the walled city of Tientsin from Chinese imperial troops. It was one of the major battles of the Boxer Rebellion.

After Tientsin, Brown's unit marched to Peking, where it remained 10 months.

Brown returned to his hometown of Detroit in 1903 and became a machinist. He came West to Bakersfield in 1908 and had lived in California since.

During World War I, Brown worked at Mare Island in Vallejo, and an interest in music — he played the saxophone and clarinet — led him to conduct a 55-piece band formed at the Navy base.

Brown, a resident of Marin since 1922, subsequently left the machinist's trade and became a real estate agent. In addition to the purchasing agent's post, he served on the San Rafael Board of Education.

Brown was director of the Mason's Sciots Band and a 50-year member of their Marin Lodge 191. He also was a life member of the Musicians Union Local 6.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Walter Boland of Stinson Beach; a granddaughter and three great-grandchildren.

Burial will be at Golden Gate Cemetery in San Bruno.

BRIDGE

stated by Mayor George Wickham, who acknowledged that "transit has to be taken care of," but urged the line be elsewhere "if there is any other possible way."

City Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, suggesting that the price tag of almost $1 billion on four of the five transit plans was excessive, said it would be enough to give everyone in Marin $5,000 "to go back to the mid-West." He favored the $495 million bus rapid transit plan.

Mill Valley Planning Commissioner Robert E. Burton raised another objection to the plans' use of the railroad alignment. It would put the transit "right next to rather high-class homes," he argued.

William Everts Jr., a trustee of the Mill Valley School District, declared his board's "unalterable opposition" to the using the railroad alignment for transit. He said it would cut school property in half. Everts argued it was unfair to solve commuters' problems "at the expense of the schools."

Ivan Poutiatine, a city planning commissioner, told bridge directors "you cannot destroy one community and say it's a tradeoff" for benefits elsewhere. To say this, he said, was "an admission of a less than adequate plan."

Poutiatine branded the plans as "an engineering solution" to the need for transit. This need, he declared, "doesn't mean we have to have a corridor of urban sprawl from here to Novato."

Only one speaker favored doing nothing about transit. He was Pat Goggins of the Marin Ecology Center in Mill Valley. He suggested that society should be changed instead to avoid the necessity for transit.

The general manager of the bridge district, Dale W. Luehring, cautioned that doing nothing about transit would force Highway 101 to become an 18-lane freeway. "We have to move pretty fast just to stay no worse than we are now," Luehring said.

Gifford Randall, who headed the engineering consultants on the transit plans, defended the Mill Valley railroad alignment as providing the best access to a station just north of East Blithedale Avenue.

official said the budget assumed that the cost would decline during the fiscal year as U.S. troops continue to be withdrawn.

Nixon placed emphasis on his revenue sharing plan, saying it would "return power to the people" by eliminating most of the strings on about one-third of the budget's $38 billion in federal aid to state and local governments.

The President announced last week that revenue sharing would total $16 billion a year including $6 billion in new money. But the budget called for spending $13.6 billion next year, including $4 billion in new funds because the proposed starting date has been delayed beyond the start of the new fiscal year.

The budget proposed that $9.6 billion in existing federal aid grants for more than 100 specific programs be converted into general purpose block grants. Many of the programs initiated by Democratic former Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, would lose their specific identity. About half of the funds earmarked for revenue sharing come from New Frontier and Great Society programs.

If the President's estmate of an $11.6 billion deficit proves accurate, it will be the fourth largest federal deficit since World War II. The $18.6 billion in red ink projected for this year would be the second largest deficit since then, exceeded only by the $25.1 billion recorded in the 1968 fiscal year.

Nixon argued that his deficit was not inflationary because spending would not "exceed revenues the economy could generate under the existing tax system at a time of full employment." He said that if the economy were operating at full blast now, the new budget would show a $100 million surplus instead of the big deficit.

Even the $11.6 billion deficit forecast could be too optimistic. Nixon's revenue predictions are based on the assumption that the Gross National Product — the total value of all goods and services produced in the nation —will grow to $1.065 trillion in this calendar year, an increase of 9 per cent over 1970.

If the GNP comes out closer to $1.045 trillion, as many private economists believe, the deficit would climb higher. The administration overestimated the GNP for 1970 by almost $10 billion and as a result, revenues for this fiscal year fell below original estimates.

Nixon asked for a $2.8 billion increase in Social Security payroll taxes by increasing from $7,800 to $9,000 the base on which the 5.2 per cent tax would be applied. That would cost all workers earning $9,000 or more an additional $62.40 a year in social security taxes with the employer putting up an equal amount.

A similar presidential request last year was approved by Congress but failed to become law because the two chambers differed on other details of the bill. The President asked that the increase be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

He also resubmitted a proposed 2 cent a gallon increase in the tax on diesel fuel to yield less than $10 million a year.

Offsetting, almost dollar for dollar, the $2.8 billion revenue increase for social security would be a loss of $2.7 billion in revenue during the 1972 fiscal year as a result of Nixon's plan to liberalize the depreciation rules for business equipment.

The tax on the air polluting lead in gasoline which the President sought last year was not resubmitted.

He proposed an additional $100 million to search for a cure for cancer. Only $[illegible] million would be spent in the 1972 fiscal year. The rest would be used later.

Nixon also promised a new effort to find a cure for sickle cell anemia, a usually fatal disease which affects mostly Negroes, although he put no price tag on that.

Nixon proposed a boost of $95 million in federal aid to schools training doctors, nurses and other health personnel. And he said he would seek "reforms" in Medicate and Medicaid to control rising costs.

There was no price tag on the health insurance Nixon is expected to send to Congress later. He merely said he would propose "a new health insurance program for all low-income families with children." Administration officials said it was hoped the program would start in the 1973 fiscal year.

The budget calls for an increase of $5.2 billion in expenditures on "incomes maintenance" to a record $60.7 billion. Included was a $3 billion boost in social security benefits and $502 million for start-up costs of Nixon's proposed family assistance program.

Nixon repeated his frequent urging for Congress to approve his bill to place a $1,600 floor under the income of every family of four. But, possibly anticipating long congressional battles, he postponed the effective date of the program until Jan. 1, 1973.

The President proposed outlays of $408 million, an increase of 32 per cent, for law enforcement. Most of the money would got for grants to states and cities to help pay for better police forces.

Nixon asked for $4.8 billion for highways; $128 million for highway safety including a new effort to get drunken drivers off the roads; $57 million to improve rail passenger service; and $327 million, an increase of $112 million, for urban mass transit.

Community development and housing outlays were set at $4.5 billion, up $637 million. Most of the increase would go into subsidies for low and middle income housing.

No Lights On Cycle

The Independent-Journal erred in its report of a fatal motorcycle-auto collision which killed motorcyclist James L. Long Jr., 23, of San Rafael Tuesday night.

The story, as it appeared, indicated that motorist Leslie M. Booth, 32, of Fairfax, saw the lights of Long's approaching motorcycle in the fog, as Booth was passing other traffic. However, according to the California Highway Patrol reports, Booth said he saw nothing until "an object appeared in my headlights, coming at me."

Booth told the I-J today that "as a matter of fact, there were no lights on the motorcycle."

OBITUARIES

Frank L. Brown Dies At 92

Masonic service for Frank L. Brown of San Rafael, former Marin County purchasing agent and a veteran of the Boxer Rebellion in China, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Brown, of 207 D Street, died Wednesday in a local hospital after a short illness. He was 92.

Brown served during the Spanish-American War, and in July 1900, his unit joined British, French and Japanese forces which took the walled city of Tientsin from Chinese imperial troops. It was one of the major battles of the Boxer Rebellion.

After Tientsin, Brown's unit marched to Peking, where it remained 10 months.

Brown returned to his hometown of Detroit in 1903 and became a machinist. He came West to Bakersfield in 1908 and had lived in California since.

During World War I, Brown worked at Mare Island in Vallejo, and an interest in music — he played the saxophone and clarinet — led him to conduct a 55-piece band formed at the Navy base.

Brown, a resident of Marin since 1922, subsequently left the machinist's trade and became a real estate agent. In addition to the purchasing agent's post, he served on the San Rafael Board of Education.

Brown was director of the Mason's Sciots Band and a 50-year member of their Marin Lodge 191. He also was a life member of the Musicians Union Local 6.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Walter Boland of Stinson Beach; a granddaughter and three great-grandchildren.

Burial will be at Golden Gate Cemetery in San Bruno.

stated by Mayor George Wickham, who acknowledged that "transit has to be taken care of," but urged the line be elsewhere "if there is any other possible way."

City Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, suggesting that the price tag of almost $1 billion on four of the five transit plans was excessive, said it would be enough to give everyone in Marin $5,000 "to go back to the mid-West." He favored the $495 million bus rapid transit plan.

Mill Valley Planning Commissioner Robert E. Burton raised another objection to the plans' use of the railroad alignment. It would put the transit "right next to rather high-class homes," he argued.

William Everts Jr., a trustee of the Mill Valley School District, declared his board's "unalterable opposition" to the using the railroad alignment for transit. He said it would cut school property in half. Everts argued it was unfair to solve commuters' problems "at the expense of the schools."

Ivan Poutiatine, a city planning commissioner, told bridge directors "you cannot destroy one community and say it's a tradeoff" for benefits elsewhere. To say this, he said, was "an admission of a less than adequate plan."

Poutiatine branded the plans as "an engineering solution" to the need for transit. This need, he declared, "doesn't mean we have to have a corridor of urban sprawl from here to Novato."

Only one speaker favored doing nothing about transit. He was Pat Goggins of the Marin Ecology Center in Mill Valley. He suggested that society should be changed instead to avoid the necessity for transit.

The general manager of the bridge district, Dale W. Luehring, cautioned that doing nothing about transit would force Highway 101 to become an 18-lane freeway. "We have to move pretty fast just to stay no worse than we are now," Luehring said.

Gifford Randall, who headed the engineering consultants on the transit plans, defended the Mill Valley railroad alignment as providing the best access to a station just north of East Blithedale Avenue.

DEAR ANGELA

Michael Marvier, receiving clerk at the Marin County Hall of Justice, looks over some of the thousands of letters which are arriving daily addressed to Angela Davis. Sheriff's officials estimated that Miss Davis has received between 100,000 and 105,000 letters since she was extradited to Marin Dec. 22. They said the letters were coming from all over the world, with the most from East Germany and Italy. All of the mail, including that in the sacks behind Marvier which arrived yesterday, must be screened by the sheriff's office before it is passed on to Miss Davis. One official estimated there were 70,000 unopened letters waiting to be screened.

Nun In Kissinger Plot Case Released

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A three-judge appeals court today ordered the release of a Roman Catholic nun who was jailed on contempt charges for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury investigating an alleged kidnap-bomb plot.

The U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals, after hearing a plea for bail from Attorney Jack Levine of Philadelphia, ordered Sister Jogues Egan released from the York County jail in York, Pa., on her own recognizance.

Sister Jogues was ordered jail last Tuesday by Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman in Harrisburg, where the grand jury has been sitting. The panel earlier indicted the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan and five others of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and blow up the heating systems of five government buildings in Washington.

The order said Sister Jogues, 52, was free to travel within the court's jurisdiction in Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey, Delaware and New York City. She was released into the custody of Sister Edmund Harvey of New York City.

Sister Edmund and Sister Jogues are both members of the Order of the Sacred Heart of Mary in New York. Sister Jogues, a former provincial superior of the order, was not in the courtroom when the three-judge coart handed down its ruling.

Nixon Off To Island Resort For Sun, Rest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President and Mrs. Nixon flew to the Virgin Islands today for a quiet weekend at Caneel Bay Plantation, an island resort developed by Laurance Rockefeller and operated by a conservation foundation.

The Nixons left Andrews Air Force Base, Md., on Air Force One after the President signed his new budget for transmittal to Congress and attended the swearing-in of Rogers C. B. Morton as his new interior secretary.

Nixon and his party planned to return to Washington Sunday or Monday.

For the President, it marks the first vacation in the sun since early November when he went to his estate at Key Biscayne, Fla. That stay was cut short when he flew to Paris after the death of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Since then, except for a trip to the western White House in San Clemente, Calif.—when the weather was mostly bad—Nixon has been busy with the budget, the State of the Union message and his economic report that goes to Congress at noon Monday.

His press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the President planned to do some work during his Caribbean stay, including reviews of other messages he will be sending to Congress on domestic matters the coming weeks.

Portions Of Indictment Still Sealed

Portions of the transcript of the Marin County Grand Jury proceedings which indicted Angela Y. Davis and Ruchell Magee remained sealed today by agreement of prosecution and defense attorneys.

The still secret sections include testimony by Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas, paralyzed from the waist down since being wounded in the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice.

Most of the transcript was made public Jan. 15, but some sections were withheld on a motion by attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund, court-appointed counsel for San Quentin inmate Magee.

A court hearing on Bjorklund's motion was scheduled for today, but Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court extended the seal on the secret testimony until Feb. 26 by agreement of Bjorklund, Allan Brotsky, attorney for Miss Davis, and Asst. State Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris Jr., who is prosecuting the case.

Miss Davis and Magee are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the death of Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and the abduction from his courtroom of the judge, three women jurors and Thomas.

Park Near School Is Being Asked

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission will ask the town council to consider creation of a small park near Granada School in cooperation with the Reed School District.

According to Jacqueline A. Branch, recreation director, the proposed park would cost about $70,000. It would include tennis courts, picnic areas, a spray pool and parking facilities.

She said the Reed district administration has said a park might be possible on about two acres of district property adjacent to Granada School in East Corte Madera.

The matter was brought before the commission Wednesday by East Corte Madera homeowners' groups which for several years have been unsuccessfully asking town officials to build a park in the eastern section of the town.

The commission also approved an application from the Marin County Dog Training Club for use of the town park May 22, approved a request from the American Red Cross for canoe storage at the town's corporation yard and use of Corte Madera Creek for canoe lessions, and recommended that the town council pave the path along the High Canal linking the town park with Redwood High School.

F111a Jet Cracks During Testing

The break occurred during a press showing of the Air Force's test program Monday, but newsmen were not told immediately what happened. The flaw was similar to those which have been blamed for a half-dozen losses of the $15 million supersonic jet.

The Sacramento Union reported today that McClellan officials confirmed that Monday's test was halted when an 18-inch-thick piece of the fuselage cracked during the test witnessed by newsmen.

An Air Force spokesman told the Union that had it cracked during flight, "there's a strong possibility the wings would have come off of the plane."

COLLEGE, Alaska (UPI)—Doug McGlenn, co-operator of a barber shop on the University of Alaska campus since he moved here from Montana, insists there is a barber in Custer, Mont., named Sam Nickum and another in Billings, Mont., named Dan Druff.

Sign Suit Is Resumed

Testimoney resumed yesterday in Marin Superior Court in a suit aimed at preventing the City of Sausalito from removing "Sausalito" signs at the southern entrance to the city from Highway 101.

The action has been brought against the city and the state Division of Highways by Sally Stanford, owner of the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, who claims her business will be seriously hurt by the city's plans.

Miss Stanford, testifying yesterday, was asked by Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Sausalito, whether she thought most people from the Bay Area knew how to get to Sausalito and her restaurant.

"They don't all have seeing eye dogs," she replied.

Miss Stanford's attorney, Richard Gladstein, compared the city's efforts to control its traffic problems to a man cutting off his arm because of a boil.

Deniel Faustman, a Sacramento consulting traffic engineer, who has prepared a traffic plan for the city, was scheduled to continue testifying on behalf of the city today.

Throwing Shoe After Bride An Old Custom

DETROIT (UPI)—Women's lib groups which still believe in marriage would decry one old wedding tradition, that of casting a shoe after a bride, if they knew its origin.

In Anglo-Saxon time, according to "Curious Questions," published by Gale Research Co., the father delivered the bride's shoe to the bridegroom, who touched her on the head with it to show his authority.

Bay Area Market Shutdown Averted

I-J Special Report

RICHMOND — Threat of a supermarket shutdown in eight Bay Area counties was averted yesterday when members of Contra Costa Local 1179 joined Marin, Sonoma and four other locals of the Retail Clerks Union in approving a new three-year contract with supermarket owners.

The Conta Costa local turned down the contract on a vote Jan. 24, although the other locals approved it. Had the East Bay clerks struck, all Bay Area supermarkets would have closed, according to John Bacon, negotiator for the Food Employees Council.

Yesterday's vote by Local 1179 was 968 to 370 in favor of the contract, the pact raised pay 75 cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1, and provided 25-cent raises in 1972 and 1973, plus increased benefits.

DEAR ANGELA

Michael Marvier, receiving clerk at the Marin County Hall of Justice, looks over some of the thousands of letters which are arriving daily addressed to Angela Davis. Sheriff's officials estimated that Miss Davis has received between 100,000 and 105,000 letters since she was extradited to Marin Dec. 22. They said the letters were coming from all over the world, with the most from East Germany and Italy. All of the mail, including that in the sacks behind Marvier which arrived yesterday, must be screened by the sheriff's office before it is passed on to Miss Davis. One official estimated there were 70,000 unopened letters waiting to be screened.

Nun In Kissinger Plot Case Released

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A three-judge appeals court today ordered the release of a Roman Catholic nun who was jailed on contempt charges for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury investigating an alleged kidnap-bomb plot.

The U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals, after hearing a plea for bail from Attorney Jack Levine of Philadelphia, ordered Sister Jogues Egan released from the York County jail in York, Pa., on her own recognizance.

Sister Jogues was ordered jail last Tuesday by Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman in Harrisburg, where the grand jury has been sitting. The panel earlier indicted the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan and five others of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and blow up the heating systems of five government buildings in Washington.

The order said Sister Jogues, 52, was free to travel within the court's jurisdiction in Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey, Delaware and New York City. She was released into the custody of Sister Edmund Harvey of New York City.

Sister Edmund and Sister Jogues are both members of the Order of the Sacred Heart of Mary in New York. Sister Jogues, a former provincial superior of the order, was not in the courtroom when the three-judge coart handed down its ruling.

Nixon Off To Island Resort For Sun, Rest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President and Mrs. Nixon flew to the Virgin Islands today for a quiet weekend at Caneel Bay Plantation, an island resort developed by Laurance Rockefeller and operated by a conservation foundation.

The Nixons left Andrews Air Force Base, Md., on Air Force One after the President signed his new budget for transmittal to Congress and attended the swearing-in of Rogers C. B. Morton as his new interior secretary.

Nixon and his party planned to return to Washington Sunday or Monday.

For the President, it marks the first vacation in the sun since early November when he went to his estate at Key Biscayne, Fla. That stay was cut short when he flew to Paris after the death of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Since then, except for a trip to the western White House in San Clemente, Calif.—when the weather was mostly bad—Nixon has been busy with the budget, the State of the Union message and his economic report that goes to Congress at noon Monday.

His press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the President planned to do some work during his Caribbean stay, including reviews of other messages he will be sending to Congress on domestic matters the coming weeks.

Portions Of Indictment Still Sealed

Portions of the transcript of the Marin County Grand Jury proceedings which indicted Angela Y. Davis and Ruchell Magee remained sealed today by agreement of prosecution and defense attorneys.

The still secret sections include testimony by Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas, paralyzed from the waist down since being wounded in the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice.

Most of the transcript was made public Jan. 15, but some sections were withheld on a motion by attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund, court-appointed counsel for San Quentin inmate Magee.

A court hearing on Bjorklund's motion was scheduled for today, but Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court extended the seal on the secret testimony until Feb. 26 by agreement of Bjorklund, Allan Brotsky, attorney for Miss Davis, and Asst. State Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris Jr., who is prosecuting the case.

Miss Davis and Magee are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the death of Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and the abduction from his courtroom of the judge, three women jurors and Thomas.

Park Near School Is Being Asked

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission will ask the town council to consider creation of a small park near Granada School in cooperation with the Reed School District.

According to Jacqueline A. Branch, recreation director, the proposed park would cost about $70,000. It would include tennis courts, picnic areas, a spray pool and parking facilities.

She said the Reed district administration has said a park might be possible on about two acres of district property adjacent to Granada School in East Corte Madera.

The matter was brought before the commission Wednesday by East Corte Madera homeowners' groups which for several years have been unsuccessfully asking town officials to build a park in the eastern section of the town.

The commission also approved an application from the Marin County Dog Training Club for use of the town park May 22, approved a request from the American Red Cross for canoe storage at the town's corporation yard and use of Corte Madera Creek for canoe lessions, and recommended that the town council pave the path along the High Canal linking the town park with Redwood High School.

FIIIa Jet Cracks During Testing

The break occurred during a press showing of the Air Force's test program Monday, but newsmen were not told immediately what happened. The flaw was similar to those which have been blamed for a half-dozen losses of the $15 million supersonic jet.

The Sacramento Union reported today that McClellan officials confirmed that Monday's test was halted when an 18-inch-thick piece of the fuselage cracked during the test witnessed by newsmen.

An Air Force spokesman told the Union that had it cracked during flight, "there's a strong possibility the wings would have come off of the plane."

Barber's Tale

COLLEGE, Alaska (UPI)—Doug McGlenn, co-operator of a barber shop on the University of Alaska campus since he moved here from Montana, insists there is a barber in Custer, Mont., named Sam Nickum and another in Billings, Mont., named Dan Druff.

Sign Suit Is Resumed

Testimoney resumed yesterday in Marin Superior Court in a suit aimed at preventing the City of Sausalito from removing "Sausalito" signs at the southern entrance to the city from Highway 101.

The action has been brought against the city and the state Division of Highways by Sally Stanford, owner of the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, who claims her business will be seriously hurt by the city's plans.

Miss Stanford, testifying yesterday, was asked by Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Sausalito, whether she thought most people from the Bay Area knew how to get to Sausalito and her restaurant.

"They don't all have seeing eye dogs," she replied.

Miss Stanford's attorney, Richard Gladstein, compared the city's efforts to control its traffic problems to a man cutting off his arm because of a boil.

Deniel Faustman, a Sacramento consulting traffic engineer, who has prepared a traffic plan for the city, was scheduled to continue testifying on behalf of the city today.

Throwing Shoe After Bride An Old Custom

DETROIT (UPI)—Women's lib groups which still believe in marriage would decry one old wedding tradition, that of casting a shoe after a bride, if they knew its origin.

In Anglo-Saxon time, according to "Curious Questions," published by Gale Research Co., the father delivered the bride's shoe to the bridegroom, who touched her on the head with it to show his authority.

Bay Area Market Shutdown Averted

I-J Special Report

RICHMOND — Threat of a supermarket shutdown in eight Bay Area counties was averted yesterday when members of Contra Costa Local 1179 joined Marin, Sonoma and four other locals of the Retail Clerks Union in approving a new three-year contract with supermarket owners.

The Conta Costa local turned down the contract on a vote Jan. 24, although the other locals approved it. Had the East Bay clerks struck, all Bay Area supermarkets would have closed, according to John Bacon, negotiator for the Food Employees Council.

Yesterday's vote by Local 1179 was 968 to 370 in favor of the contract, the pact raised pay 75 cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1, and provided 25-cent raises in 1972 and 1973, plus increased benefits.

BILLBOARD LAID TO REST

The controversial Bon Air Apartments billboard, perched for years on the hill overlooking Highway 101's Greenbrae interchange, lies torn from its frame. The sign was ordered demolished yesterday by its owner, Niels J. Schultz Jr., who said he made the decision two weeks ago. The sign is one of two Schultz billboards that have stirred controversy since they were ordered destroyed by the Larkspur City Council in December. The other sign, east of the interchange, still stands but Schultz hopes to save it by offering modifications to the city reducing the sign's size "by at least half."

Inmate Pleads To Murder To Get Off Death Row

A San Quentin Prison inmate, charged in the 1965 fatal stabbing of a prison guard, has been sentenced to life imprisonment, ending five years on death row.

The sentence Wednesday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson came after the inmate, Armando Sanchez, a 38-year-old former laborer, pleaded guilty to a murder charge in the slaying of Ralph Canning, 54, a factory foreman at the prison.

Sanchez had then been convicted of assault by a life prisoner— which automatically carries the death peanlty — but the conviction was overturned by the State Supreme Court.

The high court ruled Sanchez's confession was obtained by coercion.

A second trial started in Marin Superior Court last February but a mistrial was declared when it was found the jury had been misinstructed during impaneling proceedings.

Upon returning to court Wednesday, the district attorney's office filed the murder complaint, which does not carry the automatic death sentence. It was reported represented by the Marin public defender's office, had agreed to plead guilty to the murder charge to get off death row.

At the time of the slaying, Sanchez was serving a five-year-to-life term for narcotics sales.

Teen-Agers Hurt As Cycle Flips

Two San Rafael teen-agers were treated for minor injuries yesterday at Marin General Hospital after the motorcycle they were riding overturned at 5:55 p.m. on Corrillo Avenue in San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said the cycle, driven by Michael D. Bridges, 19, of 205 Mirada Avenue, was southbound on Corrillo and attempted to turn onto Mirada when a tire went flat, causing the vehicle to overturn.

Bridges was treated for bruises and a cut hand and eyebrow and a passenger, Laura Keller, 13, of 19 Glenwood Drive, was treated for a bruised knee.

Two Airlines Report Losses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two major airline operators, UAL Inc. and KLM, have reported sharp losses for the year and third quarter, respectively, while Delta Airlines reported a 37 per cent drop in December net income.

UAL Inc. announced it incurred a consolidated net loss of $40,877,000, compared with the net earnings of $47,682,000 or $2.12 a share in 1969. As a result, the company said the first quarter dividend on the common would be omitted.

KLM reported a $6,100,000,000 loss for the third quarter ending Dec. 31, compared to a loss of $2,500,000 in 1969. The carrier Delta said its December net tumbled 37 per cent or $3.3 million.

Saw-ful Music Earns Encore

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — The 1,500 fans at the Boulder Philharmonic presentation Thursday night demanded an encore. So Jim Turner got out his saw and played again.

Turner, 30, who has been playing the saw since his high school days, offered the audience his rendition of "Serenade for Musical Saw and Orchestra."

Dr. David Burge, conductor of the Boulder Philharmonic, wrote the serenade, believed to be the first musical piece ever written specifically to be played on a saw.

"The saw is one of the oldest folk instruments, but it produces one of the most contemporary sounds," Turner said.

It does create one problem, however. "There appears to be some hesitancy over whether I should join the musicians or the carpenters union," Turner said.

Memorial Celebration In Varda's Honor Set Sunday

A memorial celebration for Jean Varda, Sausalito's grand old man of art, will be held Sunday from noon to 3 p.m. at Varda's home, the ferryboat Vallejo at Gate 5 in Sausalito.

"His friends are gathering together to honor the man and everything he did for us and what he gave us to live up to," Victor diSuvero, a friend explained.

The artist's close friends, philosopher Alan Watts and Scott Beach, will tell their favorite Varda stories at the ceremony which will end with a memorial flotilla sailing out the Golden Gate.

Music will be provided by the Golden Toad, diSuvero said.

Varda, one of California's most beloved characters and a man whose paintings and collages have been shown in museums and at festivals and shows all over the world, died Jan. 11 while vacationing in Mexico. He was 77.

6-Year-Old Hit By Car, Injured

Andrew Carrino, 6, of 5 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, suffered minor injuries yesterday when he was struck by a car in front of 343 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

San Rafael police reported the boy ran across the street into the path of a northbound car driven by Edmund J. Wasp, 17, of 2 Mountain View Avenue, at 3:58 p.m.

Misdemeanors Against Four Dropped In Strike Hearings

I-J Special Report

VALLEJO — Misdemeanor charges against four men arrested in connection with various episodes in the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal were dismissed yesterday.

Two other defendants pleaded guilty; five waived jury trial and will be tried before Judge William E. Jensen in Vallejo Municipal Court, and two other cases were continued.

On motions by Marin County Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Ragghianti, Judge Jensen dismissed five charges against Frank D. Chism, 36, of Fremont, a deaf-mute printer. He was arrested at the scene of the riotous demonstration Feb. 14, 1970, called in support of the International Typographical Union Local 21 strike that began at the I-J Jan. 7, 1970.

Ragghianti said there was insufficient evidence to identify Chism as a participant in the unlawful actions.

Charges against David Bruce Hockins of Alameda and Martin L. Frates of Oakland also were dismissed. They had been accused of "tormenting" an I-J guard dog while walking the picket line May 2, 1970. Ragghianti said they were simply teasing the dog while walking outside the I-J windows.

Two counts against Donald H. Abrams, 45, Local 21 vice president, also were dismissed. Ragghianti said the count of battery Feb. 5, 1970 against Nor-Cal Security Lt. Forrest J. Morais would be impossible to prosecute because Morais cannot be brought to court. He is in custody in Minnesota on another matter. A trespass charge against Abrams was only a "technical violation," and the union official already faces a $750 fine and 15 days in jail because of conviction in another I-J related case, Ragghianti added.

Gary William Levy, 27, of Daly City was fined $30 by Judge Jensen, after he pleaded guilty to placing nails beneath the tire of an I-J employee's car while on picket duty. The Vehicle Code charge technically involved "littering." A second count was dismissed.

Renaldo R. Batz, 22, of 101 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to disperse from the scene of the Feb. 14 riot after being warned. He was ordered to appear Feb. 18 for probation report and sentencing; other charges were dismissed.

James P. Martin of Redwood City was ordered to return Feb. 11 for resetting of a jury trial on a malicious mischief charge. Robert Stephen Tanner, 25, of San Pablo, and Neoma Ruth Higman of Burlingame waived jury trial yesterday, Judge Jensen set their tirals for Feb. 11.

Donald B. Goodfellow of Kentfield reportedly has died since he was arrested last Feb. 18 on charges of disturbing the peace and brandishing a firearm, Ragghianti reported. Judge Jensen continued the case to Feb. 11, for presentation of a death certificate and dismissal of the charges.

William A. Cogswell, 36, of Rio Linda, was ordered to return to court Feb. 11 for formal change of plea. Ragghianti said defense attorney Robert D. Carrow had arranged for Cogswell to make restitution for breaking a radio antenna from a Nor-Cal guard's auto last March 20, and would plead guilty to a charge of hitting another Nor-Cal guard with a picket sign last Feb. 9.

Carrow waived jury trials for three other defendants on various charges. Judge Jensen set trials for Feb. 23, on Michael John Clancy of San Bruno, Gary Corvello of 1441 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, and Bruce Bauer of Redwood City.

Quints Born, Two Die Soon

GRENOBLE, France (UPI)— Two of the quintuplets born here Thursday died today, hospital attendants reported.

They said Vincent and Philippe, two boys weighing respectively one and two pounds on birth, died. Still surviving were a boy and two girls born to Mrs. Michele Riondet, 29.

The father is Jean-Francois Riondet, 29, an industrial draftsman. They also have a son, 3.

Mrs. Riondet's family doctor said he expected her to have "at least twins," officials said. They could not immediately confirm whether or not she had taken fertility drugs.

Plan Approved On Apartments

Plans for a 20-unit apartment complex were approved last night by the Cotati Planning Commission.

Plans for the apartments to be built on Olaf Street were submitted by Feature Homes Inc. of Santa Rosa.

Commission secretary Gayle Hill said a rezoning request to permit apartments at Old Redwood Highway and Valparaiso Street had been withdrawn by the applicants, Louise Santero and Lawrence J. Forno. Mrs. Hill said the applicants would await completion of the Cotati General Plan before pursuing the rezoning request.

BILLBOARD LAID TO REST

The controversial Bon Air Apartments billboard, perched for years on the hill overlooking Highway 101's Greenbrae interchange, lies torn from its frame. The sign was ordered demolished yesterday by its owner, Niels J. Schultz Jr., who said he made the decision two weeks ago. The sign is one of two Schultz billboards that have stirred controversy since they were ordered destroyed by the Larkspur City Council in December. The other sign, east of the interchange, still stands but Schultz hopes to save it by offering modifications to the city reducing the sign's size "by at least half."

Inmate Pleads To Murder To Get Off Death Row

A San Quentin Prison inmate, charged in the 1965 fatal stabbing of a prison guard, has been sentenced to life imprisonment, ending five years on death row.

The sentence Wednesday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson came after the inmate, Armando Sanchez, a 38-year-old former laborer, pleaded guilty to a murder charge in the slaying of Ralph Canning, 54, a factory foreman at the prison.

Sanchez had then been convicted of assault by a life prisoner— which automatically carries the death peanlty — but the conviction was overturned by the State Supreme Court.

The high court ruled Sanchez's confession was obtained by coercion.

A second trial started in Marin Superior Court last February but a mistrial was declared when it was found the jury had been misinstructed during impaneling proceedings.

Upon returning to court Wednesday, the district attorney's office filed the murder complaint, which does not carry the automatic death sentence. It was reported represented by the Marin public defender's office, had agreed to plead guilty to the murder charge to get off death row.

At the time of the slaying, Sanchez was serving a five-year-to-life term for narcotics sales.

Teen-Agers Hurt As Cycle Flips

Two San Rafael teen-agers were treated for minor injuries yesterday at Marin General Hospital after the motorcycle they were riding overturned at 5:55 p.m. on Corrillo Avenue in San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said the cycle, driven by Michael D. Bridges, 19, of 205 Mirada Avenue, was southbound on Corrillo and attempted to turn onto Mirada when a tire went flat, causing the vehicle to overturn.

Bridges was treated for bruises and a cut hand and eyebrow and a passenger, Laura Keller, 13, of 19 Glenwood Drive, was treated for a bruised knee.

Two Airlines Report Losses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two major airline operators, UAL Inc. and KLM, have reported sharp losses for the year and third quarter, respectively, while Delta Airlines reported a 37 per cent drop in December net income.

UAL Inc. announced it incurred a consolidated net loss of $40,877,000, compared with the net earnings of $47,682,000 or $2.12 a share in 1969. As a result, the company said the first quarter dividend on the common would be omitted.

KLM reported a $6,100,000,000 loss for the third quarter ending Dec. 31, compared to a loss of $2,500,000 in 1969. The carrier Delta said its December net tumbled 37 per cent or $3.3 million.

Saw-ful Music Earns Encore

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — The 1,500 fans at the Boulder Philharmonic presentation Thursday night demanded an encore. So Jim Turner got out his saw and played again.

Turner, 30, who has been playing the saw since his high school days, offered the audience his rendition of "Serenade for Musical Saw and Orchestra."

Dr. David Burge, conductor of the Boulder Philharmonic, wrote the serenade, believed to be the first musical piece ever written specifically to be played on a saw.

"The saw is one of the oldest folk instruments, but it produces one of the most contemporary sounds," Turner said.

It does create one problem, however. "There appears to be some hesitancy over whether I should join the musicians or the carpenters union," Turner said.

Memorial Celebration In Varda's Honor Set Sunday

A memorial celebration for Jean Varda, Sausalito's grand old man of art, will be held Sunday from noon to 3 p.m. at Varda's home, the ferryboat Vallejo at Gate 5 in Sausalito.

"His friends are gathering together to honor the man and everything he did for us and what he gave us to live up to," Victor diSuvero, a friend explained.

The artist's close friends, philosopher Alan Watts and Scott Beach, will tell their favorite Varda stories at the ceremony which will end with a memorial flotilla sailing out the Golden Gate.

Music will be provided by the Golden Toad, diSuvero said.

Varda, one of California's most beloved characters and a man whose paintings and collages have been shown in museums and at festivals and shows all over the world, died Jan. 11 while vacationing in Mexico. He was 77.

6-Year-Old Hit By Car, Injured

Andrew Carrino, 6, of 5 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, suffered minor injuries yesterday when he was struck by a car in front of 343 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

San Rafael police reported the boy ran across the street into the path of a northbound car driven by Edmund J. Wasp, 17, of 2 Mountain View Avenue, at 3:58 p.m.

Misdemeanors Against Four Dropped In Strike Hearings

I-J Special Report

VALLEJO — Misdemeanor charges against four men arrested in connection with various episodes in the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal were dismissed yesterday.

Two other defendants pleaded guilty; five waived jury trial and will be tried before Judge William E. Jensen in Vallejo Municipal Court, and two other cases were continued.

On motions by Marin County Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Ragghianti, Judge Jensen dismissed five charges against Frank D. Chism, 36, of Fremont, a deaf-mute printer. He was arrested at the scene of the riotous demonstration Feb. 14, 1970, called in support of the International Typographical Union Local 21 strike that began at the I-J Jan. 7, 1970.

Ragghianti said there was insufficient evidence to identify Chism as a participant in the unlawful actions.

Charges against David Bruce Hockins of Alameda and Martin L. Frates of Oakland also were dismissed. They had been accused of "tormenting" an I-J guard dog while walking the picket line May 2, 1970. Ragghianti said they were simply teasing the dog while walking outside the I-J windows.

Two counts against Donald H. Abrams, 45, Local 21 vice president, also were dismissed. Ragghianti said the count of battery Feb. 5, 1970 against Nor-Cal Security Lt. Forrest J. Morais would be impossible to prosecute because Morais cannot be brought to court. He is in custody in Minnesota on another matter. A trespass charge against Abrams was only a "technical violation," and the union official already faces a $750 fine and 15 days in jail because of conviction in another I-J related case, Ragghianti added.

Gary William Levy, 27, of Daly City was fined $30 by Judge Jensen, after he pleaded guilty to placing nails beneath the tire of an I-J employee's car while on picket duty. The Vehicle Code charge technically involved "littering." A second count was dismissed.

Renaldo R. Batz, 22, of 101 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to disperse from the scene of the Feb. 14 riot after being warned. He was ordered to appear Feb. 18 for probation report and sentencing; other charges were dismissed.

James P. Martin of Redwood City was ordered to return Feb. 11 for resetting of a jury trial on a malicious mischief charge. Robert Stephen Tanner, 25, of San Pablo, and Neoma Ruth Higman of Burlingame waived jury trial yesterday, Judge Jensen set their tirals for Feb. 11.

Donald B. Goodfellow of Kentfield reportedly has died since he was arrested last Feb. 18 on charges of disturbing the peace and brandishing a firearm, Ragghianti reported. Judge Jensen continued the case to Feb. 11, for presentation of a death certificate and dismissal of the charges.

William A. Cogswell, 36, of Rio Linda, was ordered to return to court Feb. 11 for formal change of plea. Ragghianti said defense attorney Robert D. Carrow had arranged for Cogswell to make restitution for breaking a radio antenna from a Nor-Cal guard's auto last March 20, and would plead guilty to a charge of hitting another Nor-Cal guard with a picket sign last Feb. 9.

Carrow waived jury trials for three other defendants on various charges. Judge Jensen set trials for Feb. 23, on Michael John Clancy of San Bruno, Gary Corvello of 1441 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, and Bruce Bauer of Redwood City.

HELP FOR BROKEN BIKES

Russell Brand (left) and David Abrahams team up to straighten a sprocket on a ten-speed bicycle at a repair center just opened by the Mill Valley Youth Commission behind the Mill Valley Drop-in House, 550 Miller Avenue. The center, where Southern Marin youths can come for assistance and advice on repairing their bicycles, will be open this Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Monday from 3 to 6 p.m. A fuller schedule of operation is to be announced soon.

Party Leads To Arrest Of Eight

Five Marin County men and three Larkspur girls were arrested yesterday on suspicion of a variety of misdeeds stemming from a beer drinking party at a Larkspur lumber yard.

Officers said today the eight were arrested after an official of the Larkspur Lumber Co. at 554 Magnolia Avenue reported seeing them trespassing on company property.

Officers said they found the group sitting in a close circle inside a shed and passing arund a beer bottle.

A pat search produced on one man a ballon of suspected heroin, hypodermic kit and a bag of suspected marijuana. Randolph Tichenor Guerin, 24, of 437 Riviera Circle, Larkspur, was booked into Marin County Jail for that and on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of minors and trespassing were Morris Charles Tombler, 27, of 96 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur; Peter Donald Tibbitts, 18, of 465 Woodland Avenue, Kentfield; Donald Paul Cleary, 24, of 221 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, and David Westey Hansen, 25, of 118 Acacia Avenue, Larkspur.

They were released on $625 bail each and with exception of Cleary, are to appear in municipal court Wednesday. Cleary will appeal Monday.

The three girls, two aged 13 and one 14 were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of trespassing and possession of alcohol.

Space Ordnance In Apollo Test Of Lunar Crust

SAUGUS, Calif. (BW) — Space Ordnance Systems Inc. has expanded its role in the Apollo program to include the active seismic experiment planned for performance by the Apollo 14 astronauts while on the lunar surface.

The experiement will utilize seismic grenades, mortar box and associated electronics designed by Space Ordnance under a $1.5 million contract to Bendix Aerospace, Ann Arbor, Mich.

The astronauts will use a special device called a thumper to create small seismic waves for detection by a line of geophones. The astronauts will also set out a mortar armed to launch four rocket-propelled grenades after the astronauts return to earth.

From the detonation on impact, scientists hope to obtain new information on the shape, structure and thickness of the lunar outer crust. Vibrations from the detonation will be detected by geophones placed on the surface of the moon.

Opposition To Hospital Plan Heard

The medical staff at Hillcrest Hospital told the directors last night that a new hospital should be built at one time, rather than in phases as has been proposed.

Dr. Harold A Brown, president of the medical staff, said the group was nearly unanimous in support of building a new hospital closer to the population center of the district.

Joseph Horner, hospital administrator, said the building program discussion and vote came at a joint meeting of the medical staffs of Hillcrest and Petaluma General Hospital. He said the group also recommended that only one central medical facility be built in Petaluma.

Dr. Daniel P. Krakora contradicted Horner and told the board that by his count the vote had not been near unanimous and that a third of the doctors preferred expansion at the present Hillcrest site rather than a move to a new hospital.

The Hillcrest Hospital directors also:

GARDENING — Approved an agreement with Petaluma Senior High School to permit gardening students to use the hospital grounds as a laboratory.

SERVICES — Heard Horner report that weekend pharmacy service will begin soon; that a middle management training program has begun; and that a nurses' library and doctors' library will be started.

PLAN — Heard a report that consultants will complete work on the long range master plan at the end of February.

Quentin Escaper Is Nabbed; Wild Chase

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A San Quentin escapee and another man were caught by Berkeley police after a 20-minute high speed chase and shoot-out yesterday afternoon.

The escapee, Ronald L. Krueger, 28, and his companion Thomas A. Perry, 26, of Los Angeles were booked into Berkely City Jail on suspicion of attempted murder. They surrendered after their car collided with another at Virginia and Sacramento Streets in Berkeley and hit a nearby tree.

Krueger, who walked away from his minimum custody maintenance job outside the walls of San Quentin on Jan. 7, was also held for San Quentin authorities. He had been serving a term for receiving stolen property.

Highway Patrolman Gary L. Peterson reported that the two fired at him during the chase from Albany to Berkeley.

Peterson said that Krueger continued to fire at him after their car collided with another auto and hit a tree. He said the driver of the car, Perry, was slumped over the wheel.

The chase started, Peterson reported, when he stopped to check the car with three men inside and parked on the shoulder of the Eastshore Freeway near the Buchanan Street ramp.

Peterson said he smelled marijuana and asked the driver to get out of the car.

Perry, who was left in the car with Krueger, slid behind the wheel and drove off, Peterson said.

The third man was left standing by the road when Peterson started the chase. Peterson said this man fired at him also.

Police reported that a search around the Golden Gate Fields failed to locate the third man.

Krueger and Perry were taken to Herrick Hospital in Berkeley for minor cuts and then booked into jail between 4 p.m. and 5 p.m., Berkeley police reported.

Sales Down On Savings Bonds

Marin County residents bought $118,326 worth of U.S. Savings Bonds during December, according to William P. Murray Jr., county bonds chairman for the Department of the Treasury.

The monthly total was slightly above December 1969 sales of $117,918, but the total sales for 1970 were $1,516,247, more than $200,000 below the 1969 total of $1,730,055.

Murray estimated that Marin County residents hold a total of $16.6 million in savings bonds.

Six Months For Selling Grass

George William Beale, 22, of San Rafael, has been sentenced in Marin Superior Court to six months in the Marin County Jail for his conviction on three counts of selling marijuana.

Judge Henry J. Broderick also placed him on probation for two years.

Beale was convicted by a jury last month of selling pot to drug agents in January, March and May of 1969.

Party Leads To Arrest Of Eight

Five Marin County men and three Larkspur girls were arrested yesterday on suspicion of a variety of misdeeds stemming from a beer drinking party at a Larkspur lumber yard.

Officers said today the eight were arrested after an official of the Larkspur Lumber Co. at 554 Magnolia Avenue reported seeing them trespassing on company property.

Officers said they found the group sitting in a close circle inside a shed and passing arund a beer bottle.

A pat search produced on one man a ballon of suspected heroin, hypodermic kit and a bag of suspected marijuana. Randolph Tichenor Guerin, 24, of 437 Riviera Circle, Larkspur, was booked into Marin County Jail for that and on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of minors and trespassing were Morris Charles Tombler, 27, of 96 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur; Peter Donald Tibbitts, 18, of 465 Woodland Avenue, Kentfield; Donald Paul Cleary, 24, of 221 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, and David Westey Hansen, 25, of 118 Acacia Avenue, Larkspur.

They were released on $625 bail each and with exception of Cleary, are to appear in municipal court Wednesday. Cleary will appeal Monday.

The three girls, two aged 13 and one 14 were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of trespassing and possession of alcohol.

Space Ordnance In Apollo Test Of Lunar Crust

SAUGUS, Calif. (BW) — Space Ordnance Systems Inc. has expanded its role in the Apollo program to include the active seismic experiment planned for performance by the Apollo 14 astronauts while on the lunar surface.

The experiement will utilize seismic grenades, mortar box and associated electronics designed by Space Ordnance under a $1.5 million contract to Bendix Aerospace, Ann Arbor, Mich.

The astronauts will use a special device called a thumper to create small seismic waves for detection by a line of geophones. The astronauts will also set out a mortar armed to launch four rocket-propelled grenades after the astronauts return to earth.

From the detonation on impact, scientists hope to obtain new information on the shape, structure and thickness of the lunar outer crust. Vibrations from the detonation will be detected by geophones placed on the surface of the moon.

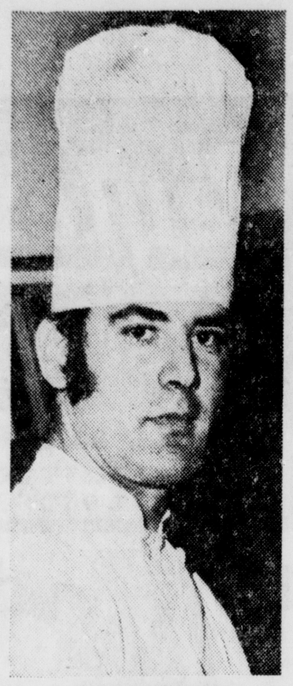
Marin Dining And Wining

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT



ROGER MINHONDO
Chef at Chalet Basque

On A Foray Into Sonoma County, Visit Lena's Or The Heidelberg

If fair weather continues, Marinites are bound to start extending their dining forays into Sonoma County, and there are two places in the Santa Rosa area we consider worthy of your attention.

Near downtown Santa Rosa, west of the highway at West Sixth and Adams Streets is Lena's, owned by Alfred and Alvin Bonfigli. It is noted for its Italian food and is a favorite of many Sonoma County businessmen and their families and of city and county officials.

Lunches through the week are from noon until 3 p.m. The menu changes each day, but offers a dozen different selections priced from $1.40 to $3.25 — Italian dishes, breakfast steaks and seafoods.

Dinners are from 3 to 10 p.m. and from noon on Sundays. They run from $2.25 to $6.50 (50 cents less a la carte), with a wide range of entrees. There's dance music Friday and Saturday nights from 9 to 1. And organist Dorothy Snead entertains Thursdays and Sundays. That good looking fellow you'll probably see at the bar is Pete Marcucci. He's like one of the family.

FURTHER OUT, near East Windsor on the Old Redwood Highway, is Kleist's Heidelberg — a colorful German restaurant that's open only four days a week — Thursdays through Sundays — for lunches and dinners.

Hours are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays, and to 2 a.m. on Saturday nights. There's an appetizing smorgasbord table here for $1.10 at lunchtime and $1.60 at night. Dinners start at 3 p.m. and highlight Sauerbraten, rouladen, schnitzel and steaks, including salads from the smorgasbord table, and are priced from $2.75 to $3.95. There's German and American music for dancing Saturdays from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. and on Sundays from 3:30 to 9 p.m.

This is a family operation of George and Hilda Kleist, who have been doing it for the past 20 years. George is chef, Hilda handles the dining room and bar. There are a gift shop and different rooms and ells — all very picturesque. A biergarten is open during the summer.

OVER IN SEBASTOPOL, Fred and Silvie Vast have been making some changes at their Goobler's Roosteraunt — although they won't show up until April 10 when it opens for the spring and summer. They are now closed for the winter season.

They now have a private banquet room which will seat up to 70 and if you ever take a group here, consider the smoked stuffed pig buffet which many find so appetizing. The Vasts do their own smoking.

More about the fare here in the spring.

CAL AND MADELYN WHITE are selling their popular Cal's Steak House at Third and C Streets, San Rafael after enjoying several years of a very successful operation.

New owners Ray and Gladys Hoeflein of San Rafael plan to continue the same type of restaurant and under the same name as before. This is their first experience as restaurant owners and we wish them well.

The Whites have in mind leaving Marin and moving to Paso Robles. I'm not sure about their planning to open another restaurant there, but Cal did say something about doing a lot of fishing.

DON FANDRE AND YORK Fischer opened their second Fondue Pot this week (in Mill Valley), and not content with that they plan on opening another one next month in San Francisco.

The Mill Valley spot is in El Paseo Building, near the Sunnyside entrance. It will be open for lunches Mondays through Fridays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and for dinners from 5 p.m. seven days a week. They will be serving the same type of food as at their Corte Madera place — which by the way, has discontinued lunches. But they do have a guitarist here Friday and Saturday nights from 8 p.m.

In San Francisco they will open on Nob Hill at 1319 California Street. This was formerly the Fireside and will now be known as the Fireside Fondue Pot. It will have a full general on sale liquor license.

SUGGESTED FOR DINNER on Fridays at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia, where there are so many entrees available that it's often difficult to make up your mind:

Either the coquille St. Jacques or the prawns en brochette (marinated in white wine and broiled).

And if you think the chef, young Roger Minhondo, does a good job on these, try his crepes Suzette for dessert. He's right from the Basque country, by the way, brought here by his boss Raymond Coscarat.

THERE ARE BIG DOINGS of interest to Dixieland jazz fans this Sunday at Alvarado Inn, Ignacio.

Jimmy Diamond, who will be playing from 3 p.m. has some real notables in his group — Jack Weeks (Anson Weeks son), Al Wolcott on clarinet, John Rae on drums, Jimmy Price on trombone (he also arranges), Sammy Blank (21 years with Ted Lewis), John Marcum, Ross Bennett, Eddie Durand and some I may have forgotten, plus many more invited as guests, who are coming from all over.

If parking seems to be taken up in the front, don't be dismayed. There is room for 170 cars in the rear.

CORRECTION: We erroneously gave the price of Tiburon Lodge's buffet dinner last week as $1.50. Prices haven't been that low in years. The correct figure is $3.75, which is quite reasonable for the array of food and considering that it also includes wine.

AT HOLIDAY INN in Terra Linda, Don Regan and his group close after tomorrow night and a new group of entertainers, the Steve Corley Trio comes in. Steve will play at the piano bar Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 11:30, starting Feb. 3, and his entire group will play Thursday and Friday nights for dancing from 8 to midnight and on Saturdays from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

CURRENTLY ENTERTAINING at the Deck House in Sausalito is multi-talented Chet De Milo — vocal stylist, trombonist, pianist and guitar player. His repertoire is several grand wide and he's featured Wednesdays through Sundays from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. as "The Tom Jones of the West Coast."

TRUE MEXICAN ATMOSPHERE is enhanced at Tio Mario's, 300 Valley Street, Sausalito with a strolling troubador, El Chacarero, on Fridays and Saturday nights from 8 to 11.

Mexican food is served Mondays through Thursdays from 5 to 11 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays to midnight and Sundays from 2 to 10 p.m. Mexican steaks, combination plates and a la carte dishes are served.

NEXT MONTH, Gate 5 Restaurant, located in Marinship, near Juanita Musson's former Galley location, plans on starting dinners up to about 11 p.m. The full menu hasn't been laid out, but there should be a la carte items up to about $4.75 and several dinner specials.

Meanwhile it is open for breakfast and lunch Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays to 6 or 7 p.m. Omelets are a specialty. There's also a $1.50 merchants lunch, and roast beef and steak sandwiches.

Ecologists Plan Six Recyclings

Marin Ecology Center has announced plans for six one-day recycling drives in Central and Southern Marin during February.

Hours for each drive will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The collection points will be:

Feb. 6 — Fairfax, St. Augustine's Episcopal Church on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard; Feb. 7 — Santa Venetia, Jewish Community Center on North San Pedro Road; Feb. 10 — Mill Valley, Prime Market at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue; Feb. 13 — Kentfield, College of Marin parking lot on College Avenue; Feb. 20 — Corte Madera, parking lot of the Co-op Market on Tamal Vista Boulevard; Feb. 27 — Mill Valley, the Ali Baba Cafe at Dolan's Corners.

Ecology Center volunteers will be collecting tied bundles of newspapers; clean, crushed aluminum cans; bottles sorted by color, with lids and labels and rings removed, and tin cans, flattened with lids and labels removed.

Cash Drawer At Tailor Shop Looted

Someone took $15 from a cash drawer at Zofia's Tailor Shop, 856 Grant Avenue, Novato, yesterday while the proprietor, Zofia Czubak, was out of the store, police reported.

The money was taken between 3 and 3:20 p.m. after someone entered the shop through an unlocked door, officers said.

7 Children Die In House Fire

DERMOTT, Ark. (UPI)—A house fire caused by an overloaded wood-burning stove killed seven children of one family Thursday night.

The children ranged in age from 5 to 12. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Woods, were visiting friends about a block away when the fire broke out.

Firemen said when they arrived at the burning house shortly before midnight it was too late to rescue anyone. The roof had already caved in, said Fire Chief Morris Parker.

Parker said the children had apparently become cold before going to bed and had piled too much wood in the stove. Temperatures were in the low 30s.

The dead were Daisy Mae, 12, Juanita, 10, Dorothy, 10, Dora, 9, Larry, Grant Jr., 5, and Carolyn, 4.

DINING OUT AND INNS

By HARRY CRAFT

On A Foray Into Sonoma County, Visit Lena's Or The Heidelberg

If fair weather continues, Marinites are bound to start extending their dining forays into Sonoma County, and there are two places in the Santa Rosa area we consider worthy of your attention.

Near downtown Santa Rosa, west of the highway at West Sixth and Adams Streets is Lena's, owned by Alfred and Alvin Bonfigli. It is noted for its Italian food and is a favorite of many Sonoma County businessmen and their families and of city and county officials.

Lunches through the week are from noon until 3 p.m. The menu changes each day, but offers a dozen different selections priced from $1.40 to $3.25 — Italian dishes, breakfast steaks and seafoods.

Dinners are from 3 to 10 p.m. and from noon on Sundays. They run from $2.25 to $6.50 (50 cents less a la carte), with a wide range of entrees. There's dance music Friday and Saturday nights from 9 to 1. And organist Dorothy Snead entertains Thursdays and Sundays. That good looking fellow you'll probably see at the bar is Pete Marcucci. He's like one of the family.

FURTHER OUT, near East Windsor on the Old Redwood Highway, is Kleist's Heidelberg — a colorful German restaurant that's open only four days a week — Thursdays through Sundays — for lunches and dinners.

Hours are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays, and to 2 a.m. on Saturday nights. There's an appetizing smorgasbord table here for $1.10 at lunchtime and $1.60 at night. Dinners start at 3 p.m. and highlight Sauerbraten, rouladen, schnitzel and steaks, including salads from the smorgasbord table, and are priced from $2.75 to $3.95. There's German and American music for dancing Saturdays from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. and on Sundays from 3:30 to 9 p.m.

This is a family operation of George and Hilda Kleist, who have been doing it for the past 20 years. George is chef, Hilda handles the dining room and bar. There are a gift shop and different rooms and ells — all very picturesque. A biergarten is open during the summer.

OVER IN SEBASTOPOL, Fred and Silvie Vast have been making some changes at their Goobler's Roosteraunt — although they won't show up until April 10 when it opens for the spring and summer. They are now closed for the winter season.

They now have a private banquet room which will seat up to 70 and if you ever take a group here, consider the smoked stuffed pig buffet which many find so appetizing. The Vasts do their own smoking.

More about the fare here in the spring.

CAL AND MADELYN WHITE are selling their popular Cal's Steak House at Third and C Streets, San Rafael after enjoying several years of a very successful operation.

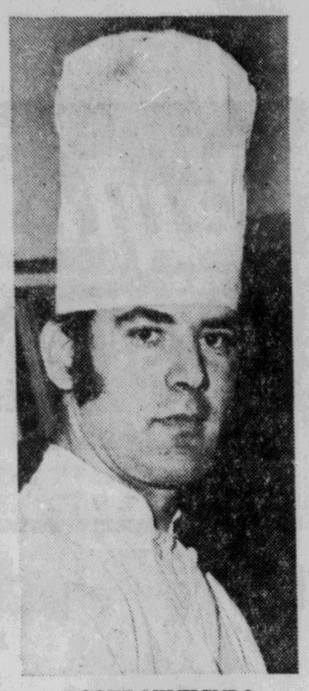
New owners Ray and Gladys Hoeflein of San Rafael plan to continue the same type of restaurant and under the same name as before. This is their first experience as restaurant owners and we wish them well.

The Whites have in mind leaving Marin and moving to Paso Robles. I'm not sure about their planning to open another restaurant there, but Cal did say something about doing a lot of fishing.

DON FANDRE AND YORK Fischer opened their second Fondue Pot this week (in Mill Valley), and not content with that they plan on opening another one next month in San Francisco.

The Mill Valley spot is in El Paseo Building, near the Sunnyside entrance. It will be open for lunches Mondays through Fridays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and for dinners from 5 p.m. seven days a week. They will be serving the same type of food as at their Corte Madera place — which by the way, has discontinued lunches. But they do have a guitarist here Friday and Saturday nights from 8 p.m.

In San Francisco they will open on Nob Hill at 1319 California Street. This was formerly the Fireside and will now be known as the Fireside Fondue Pot. It will have a full general on sale liquor license.



ROGER MINHONDO
Chef at Chalet Basque

SUGGESTED FOR DINNER on Fridays at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia, where there are so many entrees available that it's often difficult to make up your mind:

Either the coquille St. Jacques or the prawns en brochette (marinated in white wine and broiled).

And if you think the chef, young Roger Minhondo, does a good job on these, try his crepes Suzette for dessert. He's right from the Basque country, by the way, brought here by his boss Raymond Coscarat.

THERE ARE BIG DOINGS of interest to Dixieland jazz fans this Sunday at Alvarado Inn, Ignacio.

Jimmy Diamond, who will be playing from 3 p.m. has some real notables in his group — Jack Weeks (Anson Weeks son), Al Wolcott on clarinet, John Rae on drums, Jimmy Price on trombone (he also arranges), Sammy Blank (21 years with Ted Lewis), John Marcum, Ross Bennett, Eddie Durand and some I may have forgotten, plus many more invited as guests, who are coming from all over.

If parking seems to be taken up in the front, don't be dismayed. There is room for 170 cars in the rear.

CORRECTION: We erroneously gave the price of Tiburon Lodge's buffet dinner last week as $1.50. Prices haven't been that low in years. The correct figure is $3.75, which is quite reasonable for the array of food and considering that it also includes wine.

AT HOLIDAY INN in Terra Linda, Don Regan and his group close after tomorrow night and a new group of entertainers, the Steve Corley Trio comes in. Steve will play at the piano bar Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 11:30, starting Feb. 3, and his entire group will play Thursday and Friday nights for dancing from 8 to midnight and on Saturdays from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

CURRENTLY ENTERTAINING at the Deck House in Sausalito is multi-talented Chet De Milo — vocal stylist, trombonist, pianist and guitar player. His repertoire is several grand wide and he's featured Wednesdays through Sundays from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. as "The Tom Jones of the West Coast."

TRUE MEXICAN ATMOSPHERE is enhanced at Tio Mario's, 300 Valley Street, Sausalito with a strolling troubador, El Chacarero, on Fridays and Saturday nights from 8 to 11.

Mexican food is served Mondays through Thursdays from 5 to 11 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays to midnight and Sundays from 2 to 10 p.m. Mexican steaks, combination plates and a la carte dishes are served.

NEXT MONTH, Gate 5 Restaurant, located in Marinship, near Juanita Musson's former Galley location, plans on starting dinners up to about 11 p.m. The full menu hasn't been laid out, but there should be a la carte items up to about $4.75 and several dinner specials.

Meanwhile it is open for breakfast and lunch Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays to 6 or 7 p.m. Omelets are a specialty. There's also a $1.50 merchants lunch, and roast beef and steak sandwiches.

Cash Drawer At Tailor Shop Looted

Someone took $15 from a cash drawer at Zofia's Tailor Shop, 856 Grant Avenue, Novato, yesterday while the proprietor, Zofia Czubak, was out of the store, police reported.

The money was taken between 3 and 3:20 p.m. after someone entered the shop through an unlocked door, officers said.

7 Children Die In House Fire

DERMOTT, Ark. (UPI)—A house fire caused by an overloaded wood-burning stove killed seven children of one family Thursday night.

The children ranged in age from 5 to 12. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Woods, were visiting friends about a block away when the fire broke out.

Firemen said when they arrived at the burning house shortly before midnight it was too late to rescue anyone. The roof had already caved in, said Fire Chief Morris Parker.

Parker said the children had apparently become cold before going to bed and had piled too much wood in the stove. Temperatures were in the low 30s.

The dead were Daisy Mae, 12, Juanita, 10, Dorothy, 10, Dora, 9, Larry, Grant Jr., 5, and Carolyn, 4.

My Lai Cover-Up Charges Dropped

A Pentagon announcement said the charges against Koster were dismissed by Lt. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commander of the First Army on grounds that five of the specifications were "not supported by the available evidence."

Koster was the highest-ranked officer accused in connection with the deaths at the South Vietnamese village on March 16, 1968.

The Pentagon said Seaman determined that there was some evidence to support two of the specifications, but ruled that court martial would not be appropriate because they did not involve "any intentional abrogation of responsibilities on the part of Gen. Koster."

"Taking all of these factors into consideration, Gen. Seaman concluded that it would be in the best interest of justice to dismiss all of the charges," the announcement said.

The evidence for the two specifications for which Seaman found some support established "that Gen. Koster did not report civilian casualties at My Lai," the Army said.

But the announcement added: "It further disclosed that Gen. Koster's knowledge was limited to credible information of about 20 civilians killed as an unfortunate incident in a contested combat action with the enemy, and that he did not insure a proper and thorough initial investigation of the reported civilian casualties."

Koster was commander of the Americal Division, which was involved in operations in the My Lai region, at the time of the incident. He later became commander of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, a post he resigned as soon as cover-up charges were placed against him by the Army.

Since then, he has been assigned to Ft. Meade, Md.

Girl Booked For Shoplifting, Pot

A 19-year-old Mill Valley girl was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of petty theft and possessing marijuana after she was arrested on a shoplifting complaint in the Golden Valley Market on East Blithedale Avenue.

Mill Valley police said Ninette Ann Agliaoro, of 395 Throckmorton Avenue, was apprehended for taking a two-ounce jar of cold cream by a store employee who held her for officers.

A routine search following the arrest at 1:37 p.m. revealed a plastic bag of suspected marijuana in her purse.

She was released on her own recognizance to appear Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

Innocent Plea To Auto Theft

Stephen Kent Solon, 26, of Larkspur, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of twice stealing a car from a Mill Valley rental agency.

A preliminary hearing has been set for Tuesday.

According to Mill Valley police, Solon apparently kept one of the keys to the car when he was arrested for first taking the car Jan. 7. While free on bail Saturday, he returned to the agency and stole the car again, police said.

A Half Billion Span Crossings

More than 500,000,000 vehicles now have crossed the Golden Gate Bridge since it opened in 1937, Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring reported today.

The count half way to one billion was passed on Jan. 10 between 6 and 7 p.m., Luehring said.

VOLUNTEER HONORED — Cassius Eugene Poole of 5 Bonita Street, Sausalito, has been named Marin County Firemen of the Year for 1970. Poole, a volunteer with the Sausalito and San Rafael fire departments since he was 17 years old in 1935, received an engraved plaque from the Marin County Association of Fire Departments at a dinner last week.

'Hole-Through' For BART Tube

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two years of tunneling for the major part of a subway system under Berkeley, Oakland, San Francisco and the Bay has been completed.

Working under compressed air and in mud and water, the 14-man groundhog crew completed the final "hole-through" Thursday at the Montgomery Street station in downtown San Francisco. That completed the entire "tube" system, including 33 tunnels, of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Thirty-two miles of new subway have been completed although the system is not scheduled for full-time operation until early 1972.

New Chief Of Interior Sworn In

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rogers C. B. Morton was sworn in as new secretary of interior today in a White House ceremony at which President Nixon urged him to meet the challenges of restoring beauty to America.

The oath of office was administered by Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart, a former classmate of Morton's at Yale.

Nixon pointed out that the Interior Department was established under President Theodore Roosevelt, a deeply concerned conservationist.

He said Morton was in the same mold as Roosevelt and commented: "The charge I give to you is not just conservation. The charge is restoration—restoration of the beauty of this country that has been so marred in recent years."

The President also said he wanted Morton to emphasize relevancy to the people in administrating the nation's parks system. "I want you to bring the parks to the people who cannot afford to travel to places like Yellowstone and Yosemite so that they can know how beautiful this country is," Nixon said.

Morton said Nixon had "given us great challenges to preserve our environment." He added: "Our challenge is to respond and the time has come to get on with our job."

Morton, who gave up a seat in the House to take the job, was confirmed by the Senate Thursday.

Plutonium Plant Shuts Reactors

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Atomic Energy Commission's great Hanford production plant at Richland, Wash., went out of the business of making plutonium for nuclear weapons today.

Many activities will continue at Hanford, but the plant's 26-year-old weapons career is now ended. President Nixon said in his budget message to Congress that Hanford's last operating reactors were being shut down because of a decline in military needs for plutonium.

About 1,500 of the plant's 7,000 employes will be discharged between now and June 30, and another 500 will lose their jobs several months hence.

In addition, 470 employes at the AEC's Fernald, Ohio, fuel manufacturing plant will be discharged. This will cut employment at Fernald, which also makes fuel elements for the commission's Savannah Ricer,S.C., plant, by about half.

An AEC spokesman said later the "newer and more versatile" plutonium reactors at Savannah River would be able to meet all military requirements. Savannah River originally had five reactors, but only three are now operating.

At its peak, Hanford had nine reactors turning out plutonium, a man-made atomic explosive used in A-bombs and in triggers for H-bombs. Seven have been shut down since 1965. Now the last two have gone dead.

One of the two was a fairly new reactor which in addition to producing plutonium also generated 800,000 kilowatts of electricity. It started up in 1964. This reactor provided steam to run turbines of Washington state's Public Power Supply System.

Volunteer Call For Police Study

The Tiburon City Council, meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall, will call for volunteers to serve on a citizens committee to study merger of the Tiburon and Belvedere police departments.

The meeting was adjourned to next Tuesday after a quorum of councilmen failed to attend last Monday's regular meeting.

Councilmen also will discuss the possibility of calling a town meeting, and will hear reports on a recycling depot sponsored by the Belvedere and Tiburon and on Lower Raccoon Lane, which the city is considering closing to vehicles.

Standard 'No' Donor On Prop. 18

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. today identified the Standard Oil Co. of California as an anonymous donor in the campaign to defeat Proposition 18 in the November election.

Brown said Standard Oil made two anonymous contributions of $20,000 and $25,000 each. A group which worked to defeat the measure previously listed the company as having given $30,000 in an identified contribution.

Earlier this week the secretary of state announced that the Gulf Oil Co. was responsible for a $20,000 anonymous contribution.

The proposition, rejected by California's voters, would have permitted local governments to use portions of gas tax monies for public transit projects.

Brown said Standard Oil admitted the two anonymous contributions "several hours" after his office threatened to subpoena bank records to identify the donors of the $20,000 and $25,000 checks.

Prior to the disclosures by Brown his office filed a $250,000 lawsuit in Los Angeles Superior Court to discover the source of the three checks.

"We now know the identities of all so-called anonymous contributors to the 'No on 18 campaign, but the mystery is far from solved," Brown said

My Lai Cover-Up Charges Dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Army today dropped charges against Maj. Gen. Samuel W. Koster of attempting to cover up the alleged massacre of South Vietnamese civilians at My Lai.

A Pentagon announcement said the charges against Koster were dismissed by Lt. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commander of the First Army on grounds that five of the specifications were "not supported by the available evidence."

Koster was the highest-ranked officer accused in connection with the deaths at the South Vietnamese village on March 16, 1968.

The Pentagon said Seaman determined that there was some evidence to support two of the specifications, but ruled that court martial would not be appropriate because they did not involve "any intentional abrogation of responsibilities on the part of Gen. Koster."

"Taking all of these factors into consideration, Gen. Seaman concluded that it would be in the best interest of justice to dismiss all of the charges," the announcement said.

The evidence for the two specifications for which Seaman found some support established "that Gen. Koster did not report civilian casualties at My Lai," the Army said.

But the announcement added: "It further disclosed that Gen. Koster's knowledge was limited to credible information of about 20 civilians killed as an unfortunate incident in a contested combat action with the enemy, and that he did not insure a proper and thorough initial investigation of the reported civilian casualties."

Koster was commander of the Americal Division, which was involved in operations in the My Lai region, at the time of the incident. He later became commander of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, a post he resigned as soon as cover-up charges were placed against him by the Army.

Since then, he has been assigned to Ft. Meade, Md.

Girl Booked For Shoplifting, Pot

A 19-year-old Mill Valley girl was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of petty theft and possessing marijuana after she was arrested on a shoplifting complaint in the Golden Valley Market on East Blithedale Avenue.

Mill Valley police said Ninette Ann Agliaoro, of 395 Throckmorton Avenue, was apprehended for taking a two-ounce jar of cold cream by a store employee who held her for officers.

A routine search following the arrest at 1:37 p.m. revealed a plastic bag of suspected marijuana in her purse.

She was released on her own recognizance to appear Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

Innocent Plea To Auto Theft

Stephen Kent Solon, 26, of Larkspur, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of twice stealing a car from a Mill Valley rental agency.

A preliminary hearing has been set for Tuesday.

According to Mill Valley police, Solon apparently kept one of the keys to the car when he was arrested for first taking the car Jan. 7. While free on bail Saturday, he returned to the agency and stole the car again, police said.

A Half Billion Span Crossings

More than 500,000,000 vehicles now have crossed the Golden Gate Bridge since it opened in 1937, Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring reported today.

The count half way to one billion was passed on Jan. 10 between 6 and 7 p.m., Luehring said.

VOLUNTEER HONORED — Cassius Eugene Poole of 5 Bonita Street, Sausalito, has been named Marin County Firemen of the Year for 1970. Poole, a volunteer with the Sausalito and San Rafael fire departments since he was 17 years old in 1935, received an engraved plaque from the Marin County Association of Fire Departments at a dinner last week.

'Hole-Through' For BART Tube

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two years of tunneling for the major part of a subway system under Berkeley, Oakland, San Francisco and the Bay has been completed.

Working under compressed air and in mud and water, the 14-man groundhog crew completed the final "hole-through" Thursday at the Montgomery Street station in downtown San Francisco. That completed the entire "tube" system, including 33 tunnels, of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Thirty-two miles of new subway have been completed although the system is not scheduled for full-time operation until early 1972.

New Chief Of Interior Sworn In

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rogers C. B. Morton was sworn in as new secretary of interior today in a White House ceremony at which President Nixon urged him to meet the challenges of restoring beauty to America.

The oath of office was administered by Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart, a former classmate of Morton's at Yale.

Nixon pointed out that the Interior Department was established under President Theodore Roosevelt, a deeply concerned conservationist.

He said Morton was in the same mold as Roosevelt and commented: "The charge I give to you is not just conservation. The charge is restoration—restoration of the beauty of this country that has been so marred in recent years."

The President also said he wanted Morton to emphasize relevancy to the people in administrating the nation's parks system. "I want you to bring the parks to the people who cannot afford to travel to places like Yellowstone and Yosemite so that they can know how beautiful this country is," Nixon said.

Morton said Nixon had "given us great challenges to preserve our environment." He added: "Our challenge is to respond and the time has come to get on with our job."

Morton, who gave up a seat in the House to take the job, was confirmed by the Senate Thursday.

Plutonium Plant Shuts Reactors

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Atomic Energy Commission's great Hanford production plant at Richland, Wash., went out of the business of making plutonium for nuclear weapons today.

Many activities will continue at Hanford, but the plant's 26-year-old weapons career is now ended. President Nixon said in his budget message to Congress that Hanford's last operating reactors were being shut down because of a decline in military needs for plutonium.

About 1,500 of the plant's 7,000 employes will be discharged between now and June 30, and another 500 will lose their jobs several months hence.

In addition, 470 employes at the AEC's Fernald, Ohio, fuel manufacturing plant will be discharged. This will cut employment at Fernald, which also makes fuel elements for the commission's Savannah River, S.C., plant, by about half.

An AEC spokesman said later the "newer and more versatile" plutonium reactors at Savannah River would be able to meet all military requirements. Savannah River originally had five reactors, but only three are now operating.

At its peak, Hanford had nine reactors turning out plutonium, a man-made atomic explosive used in A-bombs and in triggers for H-bombs. Seven have been shut down since 1965. Now the last two have gone dead.

One of the two was a fairly new reactor which in addition to producing plutonium also generated 800,000 kilowatts of electricity. It started up in 1964. This reactor provided steam to run turbines of Washington state's Public Power Supply System.

Volunteer Call For Police Study

The Tiburon City Council, meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall, will call for volunteers to serve on a citizens committee to study merger of the Tiburon and Belvedere police departments.

The meeting was adjourned to next Tuesday after a quorum of councilmen failed to attend last Monday's regular meeting.

Councilmen also will discuss the possibility of calling a town meeting, and will hear reports on a recycling depot sponsored by the Belvedere and Tiburon and on Lower Raccoon Lane, which the city is considering closing to vehicles.

Standard 'No' Donor On Prop. 18

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. today identified the Standard Oil Co. of California as an anonymous donor in the campaign to defeat Proposition 18 in the November election.

Brown said Standard Oil made two anonymous contributions of $20,000 and $25,000 each. A group which worked to defeat the measure previously listed the company as having given $30,000 in an identified contribution.

Earlier this week the secretary of state announced that the Gulf Oil Co. was responsible for a $20,000 anonymous contribution.

The proposition, rejected by California's voters, would have permitted local governments to use portions of gas tax monies for public transit projects.

Brown said Standard Oil admitted the two anonymous contributions "several hours" after his office threatened to subpoena bank records to identify the donors of the $20,000 and $25,000 checks.

Prior to the disclosures by Brown his office filed a $250,000 lawsuit in Los Angeles Superior Court to discover the source of the three checks.

"We now know the identities of all so-called anonymous contributors to the 'No on 18 campaign, but the mystery is far from solved," Brown said

You are looking at Robert Musel, UPI correspondent for the I-J, who is looking at the familiar London scene. London today has been called the "swinging-est" city in the world. But it also swings with significant news which is Musel's forte as a correspondent.

Musel owns London

BUT HE'S MORE THAN WILLING TO SHARE IT

Robert Musel, our man in London, seems to have a mortgage on everything that happens of great moment in Britain's mother city. Which means not much will happen which you, in turn, won't know about by reading the I-J.

As UPI's senior editor there he has covered three wars. He was one of the first World War II correspondents to ride into combat with fighter pilots. He came under fire in two Arab-Israeli wars.

Inquisitive, aggressive, Musel has reported from every European country and most of the Middle East and Africa. He covered the German blitz of London in World War II, war crimes trials at Darmstadt, the Berlin airlift, the death of King George, the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. He has interviewed George Bernard Shaw and Albert Einstein, even the stripteasers of the Folies Bergere.

A confidante of entertainment personalities, Musel is also a top song writer. His "Band of Gold" ballad sold over one million records, and he did the background music of "To Paris With Love," starring Alex Guinness.

A man of many sides, Musel has unerring direction in homing in on matters of interest and concern to our readers. For news "Made in London", we suggest you turn to the I-J.

San Anselmo-Ross Path For Bikes Opens In April

The planned bicycle route through San Anselmo linking its neighboring cities will be open to traffic by April, the city's parks and recreation commission has been told.

Recreation Director Frank L. Quinn said the commission learned Monday the city would place its order for long-awaited bike route signs this week.

The bicycle route, to cover all city streets, will link Ross with Fairfax. The route was approved by the city council in October 1969.

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission also:

BASEBALL — Agreed to supply materials if the San Anselmo Little League supplied labor to repair bleachers at the baseball field at Memorial Park. The two groups also discussed replacing the field's turf.

ART — Approved allocating $250 to the Sunrise Art Guild, a group of about 45 high school students interested in art, to help meet supply costs. The group meets in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

TENNIS COURTS — Announced that the tennis courts at Memorial Park would be closed during March and April so they can be resurfaced.

BUDGET — Received preliminary budget information but delayed discussion until the next meeting.

LIBRARY — Announced the San Anselmo Library has approved space for a parks and recreation reference corner which will include commission minutes and other group documents.

Ordinance On Communes To Be Considered

An ordinance defining a family as being composed of no more than five unrelated persons will be considered on second reading Monday when the Mill Valley City Council meets at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The city planning commission last Monday recommended that the city council drop the proposed anticommune ordinance because the city has no business legislating intrafamily relationships.

The ordinance, similar to a Palo Alto law recently upheld in U.S. District Court in San Francisco, would prohibit communes from single family residential zones.

Also on the agenda are reports on lease negotiations on the city-owned Lytton Square bus depot and on progress of modifying the Crash Pad at the Mill Valley Methodist Church to conform to city code.

Training Funds Are Available

State funds are available for Marin firms interested in training persons with employment handicaps, the Department of Human Resources Development in San Rafael has announced.

The department said several "on-the-job" training programs can receive funding of up to one-half the training wage for up to 52 weeks.

Applicants for these programs, the department explained, must be school dropouts, under 22 or over 45 years of age, have a physical or mental handicap or other "obstacle to employment."

Employers or employees interested in participating in the program may contact the department at 580 Irwin Street.

'Thief Of Baghdad' Showings Saturday

"The Thief of Baghdad," the 1940 Academy Award-winning film, will be shown tomorrow at noon and 2 p.m. at the Formative Years Teaching School, 1046 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley.

The movie to benefit the school's scholarship fund stars Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Sabu. There will be an admission charge.

Townhouse Plan To Be Studied

The Novato Planning Commission will review plans by Standard Growth Properties to build 88 townhouses along both sides of San Marin Drive, east of San Carlos Way, at 8 p.m. Monday at Novato Community House.

The plans will be submitted at a public hearing on the firm's request to change the San Marin master plan designation for the lots from multiple-family residential to single-family townhouse.

The commission also will have a hearing on a proposal to prezone 29 parcels in the unincorporated area south of Center Road and east of Eucalyptus Avenue as single family or limited agriculture.

Air Time Issue Still Undecided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve black House members who boycotted President Nixon's State of the Union message say they are still waiting for word from the television networks about their request for free air time to respond to the President.

"We're not getting disappointed," said Rep. William Clay, D-Mo. "We still have confidence that we will get time one way or the other." The 12 asked for the air time Jan. 22.

23 Million Get Rubella Shots

ATLANTA (UPI)—The National Center for Disease Control says approximately 23 million children have been vaccinated against rubella (German measles) in the first 18 months of a national campaign.

The report said that 80 per cent of the children received vaccine in public programs while private doctors took care of the rest.

Dr. David J. Sencer, director of the NCDC said the figure represented the largest number of children ever immunized in this country within such a short time following the licensing of a new vaccine. The program has reached four out of 10 children in the target age of between one year and puberty.

Divorce Rate Drops In Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Officials blame liberalized divorce laws in California and New York for a drop in the Nevada divorce rate.

The State Health Division reported Wednesday 9,138 couples received divorces or annulments in Nevada last year, compared with 10,292 in 1969.

Hardest hit was Reno, where the 3,031 decrees represented a 20 per cent slash.

However, while divorces declined in Nevada, the state's marriage business is booming.

There were 97,606 marriage licenses issued in the state in 1970, about 3 per cent more than the 1969 figure.

GOP Council Sets Dinner-Dance

The annual dinner-dance of the Marin Republican Council will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 6 at Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Dancing will start at 9 p.m. Proceeds will go to the council, said John A. Lord of Ross, chairman of the event.

Belveron Homeowners Elect Batten

Donald L. Batten has been elected to his fourth term as president of the Belveron Homeowners Association. Kurtis W. Webb was chosen vice president for the third time.

Other officers elected are Reba Jones, secretary; Gloria Quinan, treasurer, and Beverly Ramblas, public relations officer.

The board, meeting Wednesday, also voted to remind the Tiburon City Council about its 1968 suggestion that a portion of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way near Trestle Glen Boulevard be converted into a tot lot.

Mrs. Ramblas said the board noted the city recently acquired the right-of-way and is in a good position to build a small park there.

YWCA Panel Urges 'Fair' Angela Trial

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Directors of the Young Women's Christian Association of San Francisco, with jurisdiction over Marin and other Bay Area YWCA units, have urged "equal and impartial justice" for black militant Angela Davis.

The board, endorsing the stance of national YWCA directors, voted to "express its concern that Angela Davis be granted a fair just trial."

"We exhort all concerned parties to maintain a climate in which this trial can be impartially conducted," directors said.

Miss Davis is in Marin County Jail charged in connection with the August Hall of Justice shootout in which Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and three others died.

San Anselmo-Ross Path For Bikes Opens In April

The planned bicycle route through San Anselmo linking its neighboring cities will be open to traffic by April, the city's parks and recreation commission has been told.

Recreation Director Frank L. Quinn said the commission learned Monday the city would place its order for long-awaited bike route signs this week.

The bicycle route, to cover all city streets, will link Ross with Fairfax. The route was approved by the city council in October 1969.

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission also:

BASEBALL — Agreed to supply materials if the San Anselmo Little League supplied labor to repair bleachers at the baseball field at Memorial Park. The two groups also discussed replacing the field's turf.

ART — Approved allocating $250 to the Sunrise Art Guild, a group of about 45 high school students interested in art, to help meet supply costs. The group meets in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

TENNIS COURTS — Announced that the tennis courts at Memorial Park would be closed during March and April so they can be resurfaced.

BUDGET — Received preliminary budget information but delayed discussion until the next meeting.

LIBRARY — Announced the San Anselmo Library has approved space for a parks and recreation reference corner which will include commission minutes and other group documents.

Belveron Homeowners Elect Batten

Donald L. Batten has been elected to his fourth term as president of the Belveron Homeowners Association. Kurtis W. Webb was chosen vice president for the third time.

Other officers elected are Reba Jones, secretary; Gloria Quinan, treasurer, and Beverly Ramblas, public relations officer.

The board, meeting Wednesday, also voted to remind the Tiburon City Council about its 1968 suggestion that a portion of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way near Trestle Glen Boulevard be converted into a tot lot.

Mrs. Ramblas said the board noted the city recently acquired the right-of-way and is in a good position to build a small park there.

Ordinance On Communes To Be Considered

An ordinance defining a family as being composed of no more than five unrelated persons will be considered on second reading Monday when the Mill Valley City Council meets at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The city planning commission last Monday recommended that the city council drop the proposed anticommune ordinance because the city has no business legislating intrafamily relationships.

The ordinance, similar to a Palo Alto law recently upheld in U.S. District Court in San Francisco, would prohibit communes from single family residential zones.

Also on the agenda are reports on lease negotiations on the city-owned Lytton Square bus depot and on progress of modifying the Crash Pad at the Mill Valley Methodist Church to conform to city code.

Training Funds Are Available

State funds are available for Marin firms interested in training persons with employment handicaps, the Department of Human Resources Development in San Rafael has announced.

The department said several "on-the-job" training programs can receive funding of up to one-half the training wage for up to 52 weeks.

Applicants for these programs, the department explained, must be school dropouts, under 22 or over 45 years of age, have a physical or mental handicap or other "obstacle to employment."

Employers or employees interested in participating in the program may contact the department at 580 Irwin Street.

'Thief Of Baghdad' Showings Saturday

"The Thief of Baghdad," the 1940 Academy Award-winning film, will be shown tomorrow at noon and 2 p.m. at the Formative Years Teaching School, 1046 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley.

The movie to benefit the school's scholarship fund stars Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Sabu. There will be an admission charge.

Townhouse Plan To Be Studied

The Novato Planning Commission will review plans by Standard Growth Properties to build 88 townhouses along both sides of San Marin Drive, east of San Carlos Way, at 8 p.m. Monday at Novato Community House.

The plans will be submitted at a public hearing on the firm's request to change the San Marin master plan designation for the lots from multiple-family residential to single-family townhouse.

The commission also will have a hearing on a proposal to prezone 29 parcels in the unincorporated area south of Center Road and east of Eucalyptus Avenue as single family or limited agriculture.

23 Million Get Rubella Shots

ATLANTA (UPI)—The National Center for Disease Control says approximately 23 million children have been vaccinated against rubella (German measles) in the first 18 months of a national campaign.

The report said that 80 per cent of the children received vaccine in public programs while private doctors took care of the rest.

Dr. David J. Sencer, director of the NCDC said the figure represented the largest number of children ever immunized in this country within such a short time following the licensing of a new vaccine. The program has reached four out of 10 children in the target age of between one year and puberty.

Air Time Issue Still Undecided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve black House members who boycotted President Nixon's State of the Union message say they are still waiting for word from the television networks about their request for free air time to respond to the President.

"We're not getting disappointed," said Rep. William Clay, D-Mo. "We still have confidence that we will get time one way or the other." The 12 asked for the air time Jan. 22.

Divorce Rate Drops In Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— Officials blame liberalized divorce laws in California and New York for a drop in the Nevada divorce rate.

The State Health Division reported Wednesday 9,138 couples received divorces or annulments in Nevada last year, compared with 10,292 in 1969.

Hardest hit was Reno, where the 3,031 decrees represented a 20 per cent slash.

However, while divorces declined in Nevada, the state's marriage business is booming.

There were 97,606 marriage licenses issued in the state in 1970, about 3 per cent more than the 1969 figure.

GOP Council Sets Dinner-Dance

The annual dinner-dance of the Marin Republican Council will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 6 at Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Dancing will start at 9 p.m. Proceeds will go to the council, said John A. Lord of Ross, chairman of the event.

YWCA Panel Urges 'Fair' Angela Trial

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Directors of the Young Women's Christian Association of San Francisco, with jurisdiction over Marin and other Bay Area YWCA units, have urged "equal and impartial justice" for black militant Angela Davis.

The board, endorsing the stance of national YWCA directors, voted to "express its concern that Angela Davis be granted a fair just trial."

"We exhort all concerned parties to maintain a climate in which this trial can be impartially conducted," directors said.

Miss Davis is in Marin County Jail charged in connection with the August Hall of Justice shootout in which Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and three others died.

Economic Bust Seen By Blough

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Roger Blough, former board chairman of U.S. Steel, said today a colossal economic bust could occur if inflation gets worse.

Blough suggested the federal government should crack down hard on organized labor in the construction industry, which he portrayed as the worst villain.

In testimony prepared for the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee, Blough proposed that the federal government, through the U.S. Employment Service, replace the union-controlled hiring hall. He said that would "remove much of the power local unions have to make or break contractors by granting or denying the contractor's request for competent employes."

He also suggested President Nixon declare inflation an "economic national emergency" and then suspend the Davis-Bacon Act under which the federal government, the biggest user of construction labor, must pay the prevailing wage "however high the wage rate" goes.

Blough spoke as chairman of the "Construction Users Anti-Inflation Roundtable," a group of employers who make heavy use of contractors.

Blough is well remembered in Washington for his confrontation with President John F. Kennedy nearly a decade ago when U.S. Steel posted price increases which Kennedy called excessive. The president forced the steel industry to backtrack.

In much the same way Blough implied, the federal government must now force construction labor to backtrack. The construction industry, with 3.4 million employes, he said, is larger than the auto and steel industry combined and accounts for 13 per cent of the total value of the nation's goods and services.

"If the question is raised as to why single out construction, there are adequate reasons," Blough said. "It is the source of much of what is wrong.

"If the trend of wage inflation in construction cannot be changed, the game is up for changing the trend in all wages. Even if only partially successful in changing the trend in construction, it would still be a big help," he said.

The longer the delay, he said, the more difficult will be the remedy.

Seattle To San Diego Train Saved

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Transportation Department, reacting to public pressure, has expanded the new national rail passenger train network to include almost every major long-distrance passenger route now in operation.

Although precise routes and schedules will not be known for some time, the final 21-route network of the semipublic Rail Passenger Corp. (RAILPAC) would eliminate only one long-distance link now served by first class streamlined passenger trains—New York to Montreal.

Despite the expansion, only about half the trains running today will be required to run the new system. This will be accomplished through elimination of secondary routes and a decrease in the member of trains on some routes.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe Thursday announced five new routes in addition to the 16 in the preliminary system announced in November—Seattle to San Diego, New Orleans to Los Angeles, Washington to Chicago, New York to Kansas City, and Norfolk to Cincinnati.

The most significant of the additions was the Seattle to San Diego route through Los Angeles and San Francisco. It was the elimination of this route that caused the most controversy in the original plan.

Mud, Slide Closes Off Tiny Town

By United Press International

A tiny town at the foot of Diablo dam in Washington state remained sealed today from the outside world—its only road out blocked by a rock and mud slide. And the only link with the outside for the town of 250-300 persons was a ham radio.

But the residents, lacking only some food items, were not the only victims in a nationwide assault of unusual weather.

Snow in the Northeast gave way to low temperatures, forcing power cutbacks in New England and hampering the search for four mountain climbers from New Jersey lost on Mount Washington, N.H.

Severe cold also halted a search for the wreckage of a private jet owned by Cousins Properties, Inc., of Atlanta, which crashed in Lake Champlain with five aboard shortly after take off Thursday from Burlington, Vt.

A blizzard in New York state Thursday dumped seven inches of snow in the Rochester area as winds of 35 to 50 miles per hour were recorded. Temperatures were near zero, and a state trooper said visibility in the blizzard was "like sitting in a glass of milk."

A doctor in Hilton, N.Y., had to go by snowmobile to his office Thursday morning to deliver an 8-pound, 7-ounce girl when the parents were unable to make it to the hospital.

New York state utilities cut electric voltage by 5 per cent, a 263-mile stretch of the New York State Thruway was opened to travel for the first time in two days, and Albany, N.Y., had a record low of 15 below zero Thursday.

In the Syracuse area schools were closed for the second day because of 10 inches of snow that had accumulated since Tuesday.

Two Hawaiian islands today were lashed by vicious storms. A tornado struck the famed "Kona Coast" on the island of Hawaii and tore roofs off buildings, demolished cars and injured at least four persons.

On the island of Maui, 25 miles southeast of Hawaii, wind and rain storms flooded homes and forced the evacuation of some residents.

Southern California, in contrast, had its third consecutive day of summery weather Thursday. Los Angeles had a record high —88 degrees—for the third consecutive day.

However, the Florida citrus industry, already operating under an embargo on fresh fruit, suffered another cold wave. Temperatures Thursday morning were as low as 14 degrees.

West Palm Beach also had problems today, as visibility in the area was reduced in half by smoke from brush fires in the Everglades.

Association president Rex Silvernale said that members of the public who wish to join the tribute to McCarthy can make dinner reservations at the association office at 1330 Lincoln Avenue.

Hot Round: Manson Slugs His Attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson slugged his attorney and bragged he could tear the prosecutor to pieces Thursday as the Tate murder-trial jury began hearing testmony on the punishment of the hippie leader and three young women.

With all of them convicted of first degree murder, Manson was hauled from the courtroom with his arms pinioned at his sides in an angry outburst shortly after the first witness took the stand for the penalty phase of the trial.

His attorney, Irving Kanarek, objected to the appearance of Bernard (Lotsapoppa) Crowe, 28, a Negro Manson allegedly shot and wounded a month before the Tate-LaBianca slayings. It was one of literally hundreds of objections by Kanarek and it set Manson off.

He turned in his seat, punched Kanarek on the arm and shoved him. The attorney shouted "your honor," and Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older had Manson taken out to an adjoining holding room where he continued to shout to Kanarek "shut up."

Manson earlier was boiling over Older's refusal of another demand that he be permitted to act as his own attorney and conduct his own defense in the penalty portion after which the jury will decide on life imprisonment or death for the four defendants.

The 36-year-old ex-convict continued to argue with the judge and Older advised him to sit down "in your own best interests."

"My own best interests?" said Manson. "You've already convicted me for something I didn't do."

Then he turned toward Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi who had prosecuted Manson, Patricia Krenwinkel, Leslie Van Houten and Susan Atkins during the seven month trial.

"You leave me alone in the courtroom and I'll tear that little boy (Bugliosi) to pieces," he said. "And you know it."

It was not clear whether Manson was referring to his physical or legal prowess but Bugliosi, smiling, took it as a legal challenge and cracked back: "I thought you called me a genius, Charlie."

Crowe, an admitted dealer in marijuana, said Manson shot him in a Hollywood apartment in July, 1969, a month before the Tate-LaBianca slayings after a dispute over purchase by Crowe of $2,400 worth of pot.

Crowe said Charles (Tex) Watson, another of those accused in the Tate-LaBianca murders, took the $2,400 and disappeared and that when he protested, Manson came to the apartment with a pistol resembling the one used in the murders.

Manson shot him in the abdomen and the bullet is still lodged in his back, Crowe said. His testimony was part of the state presentation of further evidence of Manson's violent nature.

Lufthansa Airlines On Strike

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The first strike in its 45-year history today brought West Germany's Lufthansa Airlines to a near-total shutdown.

Two unions representing 15,000 grounded personnel launched the strike at 9 a.m. They said it was of indefinite duration and would continue until management met demands for an 18 per cent across-the-board wage hike and other fringe benefits, bringing the demands to a maximum of 25 per cent.

The strike brought chaos to airports all over West Germany. Thousands of passengers milled in the concourses at Frankfurt, Munich, Cologne-Bonn, Duesseldorf and Hamburg trying to make alternative travel arrangements.

All domestic flights halted, although the company—75 per cent state-owned—hoped to get eight domestic flights off this evening. Two international flights—a Polar flight to Osaka, Japan, and one to the American West Coast by way of New York—got away from Frankfurt this morning after considerable delay.

The strike followed the collapse of negotiations between union and management Jan. 15. The Lufthansa management said it had offered increases amounting to between 13.5 and 15 per cent.

Flights by other international companies were not affected, but at Frankfurt's Rhein-Main Airport and at Munich kitchen and catering workers joined the strike, ending restaurant and bar services.

In Bonn, Transport Minister Georg Leber told a news conference the demands of the Lufthansa ground employees were impossibly high. He said they were far outside the limits set by the federal government in its struggle to curb inflation.

Leber warned the Lufthansa workers they were endangering their jobs. He said that similar wage demands faced by two U.S. airlines (TWA and Pan American) had pushed the American companies into deficits and forced them to fire 6,000 employees.

Though it was the first time Lufthansa had been hit by a strike since its founding in 1926, there have been several "work-to-rule" strikes by air controllers at German airports in recent years.

Belvedere To Appoint New Chief Of Police

The Belvedere City Council will appoint a new police chief when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall. The appointee will replace William S. Woodington, who retired Dec. 31 because of a recurring leg injury.

The council also will appoint three Belvedere citizens to a committee to study merger of police services in Belvedere and Tiburon. Tiburon's choices will be announced Feb. 9.

Also on the agenda is a report on damage to Belvedere's shoreline from the recent oil spill, and a request by Tiburon for financial assistance in developing a hiking and bicycle path on the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Theft From Boat

Liquor valued at about $35 was taken sometime between Monday and Wednesday from a boat docked at the Loch Lomond Marina on Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael police said yesterday. The boat is owned by Louis Joseph Servente of San Francisco.

But the residents, lacking only some food items, were not the only victims in a nationwide assault of unusual weather.

Snow in the Northeast gave way to low temperatures, forcing power cutbacks in New England and hampering the search for four mountain climbers from New Jersey lost on Mount Washington, N.H.

Severe cold also halted a search for the wreckage of a private jet owned by Cousins Properties, Inc., of Atlanta, which crashed in Lake Champlain with five aboard shortly after take off Thursday from Burlington, Vt.

A blizzard in New York state Thursday dumped seven inches of snow in the Rochester area as winds of 35 to 50 miles per hour were recorded. Temperatures were near zero, and a state trooper said visibility in the blizzard was "like sitting in a glass of milk."

A doctor in Hilton, N.Y., had to go by snowmobile to his office Thursday morning to deliver an 8-pound, 7-ounce girl when the parents were unable to make it to the hospital.

New York state utilities cut electric voltage by 5 per cent, a 263-mile stretch of the New York State Thruway was opened to travel for the first time in two days, and Albany, N.Y., had a record low of 15 below zero Thursday.

In the Syracuse area schools were closed for the second day because of 10 inches of snow that had accumulated since Tuesday.

Two Hawaiian islands today were lashed by vicious storms. A tornado struck the famed "Kona Coast" on the island of Hawaii and tore roofs off buildings, demolished cars and injured at least four persons.

On the island of Maui, 25 miles southeast of Hawaii, wind and rain storms flooded homes and forced the evacuation of some residents.

Southern California, in contrast, had its third consecutive day of summery weather Thursday. Los Angeles had a record high —88 degrees—for the third consecutive day.

However, the Florida citrus industry, already operating under an embargo on fresh fruit, suffered another cold wave. Temperatures Thursday morning were as low as 14 degrees.

West Palm Beach also had problems today, as visibility in the area was reduced in half by smoke from brush fires in the Everglades.

McCarthy To Be Key Speaker

Former state Sen. John F. McCarthy, who represented Marin for 20 years, will be the principal speaker at the Marin Property Owners Association dinner meeting at 7 p.m. today at Rancho Nicasio.

McCarthy will be presented at a special tribute by the association for his many years of public service in state government.

Association president Rex Silvernale said that members of the public who wish to join the tribute to McCarthy can make dinner reservations at the association office at 1330 Lincoln Avenue.

Hot Round: Manson Slugs His Attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson slugged his attorney and bragged he could tear the prosecutor to pieces Thursday as the Tate murder-trial jury began hearing testmony on the punishment of the hippie leader and three young women.

With all of them convicted of first degree murder, Manson was hauled from the courtroom with his arms pinioned at his sides in an angry outburst shortly after the first witness took the stand for the penalty phase of the trial.

His attorney, Irving Kanarek, objected to the appearance of Bernard (Lotsapoppa) Crowe, 28, a Negro Manson allegedly shot and wounded a month before the Tate-LaBianca slayings. It was one of literally hundreds of objections by Kanarek and it set Manson off.

He turned in his seat, punched Kanarek on the arm and shoved him. The attorney shouted "your honor," and Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older had Manson taken out to an adjoining holding room where he continued to shout to Kanarek "shut up."

Manson earlier was boiling over Older's refusal of another demand that he be permitted to act as his own attorney and conduct his own defense in the penalty portion after which the jury will decide on life imprisonment or death for the four defendants.

The 36-year-old ex-convict continued to argue with the judge and Older advised him to sit down "in your own best interests."

"My own best interests?" said Manson. "You've already convicted me for something I didn't do."

Then he turned toward Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi who had prosecuted Manson, Patricia Krenwinkel, Leslie Van Houten and Susan Atkins during the seven month trial.

"You leave me alone in the courtroom and I'll tear that little boy (Bugliosi) to pieces," he said. "And you know it."

It was not clear whether Manson was referring to his physical or legal prowess but Bugliosi, smiling, took it as a legal challenge and cracked back: "I thought you called me a genius, Charlie."

Crowe, an admitted dealer in marijuana, said Manson shot him in a Hollywood apartment in July, 1969, a month before the Tate-LaBianca slayings after a dispute over purchase by Crowe of $2,400 worth of pot.

Crowe said Charles (Tex) Watson, another of those accused in the Tate-LaBianca murders, took the $2,400 and disappeared and that when he protested, Manson came to the apartment with a pistol resembling the one used in the murders.

Manson shot him in the abdomen and the bullet is still lodged in his back, Crowe said. His testimony was part of the state presentation of further evidence of Manson's violent nature.

Lufthansa Airlines On Strike

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The first strike in its 45-year history today brought West Germany's Lufthansa Airlines to a near-total shutdown.

Two unions representing 15,000 grounded personnel launched the strike at 9 a.m. They said it was of indefinite duration and would continue until management met demands for an 18 per cent across-the-board wage hike and other fringe benefits, bringing the demands to a maximum of 25 per cent.

The strike brought chaos to airports all over West Germany. Thousands of passengers milled in the concourses at Frankfurt, Munich, Cologne-Bonn, Duesseldorf and Hamburg trying to make alternative travel arrangements.

All domestic flights halted, although the company—75 per cent state-owned—hoped to get eight domestic flights off this evening. Two international flights—a Polar flight to Osaka, Japan, and one to the American West Coast by way of New York—got away from Frankfurt this morning after considerable delay.

The strike followed the collapse of negotiations between union and management Jan. 15. The Lufthansa management said it had offered increases amounting to between 13.5 and 15 per cent.

Flights by other international companies were not affected, but at Frankfurt's Rhein-Main Airport and at Munich kitchen and catering workers joined the strike, ending restaurant and bar services.

In Bonn, Transport Minister Georg Leber told a news conference the demands of the Lufthansa ground employees were impossibly high. He said they were far outside the limits set by the federal government in its struggle to curb inflation.

Leber warned the Lufthansa workers they were endangering their jobs. He said that similar wage demands faced by two U.S. airlines (TWA and Pan American) had pushed the American companies into deficits and forced them to fire 6,000 employees.

Though it was the first time Lufthansa had been hit by a strike since its founding in 1926, there have been several "work-to-rule" strikes by air controllers at German airports in recent years.

Belvedere To Appoint New Chief Of Police

The Belvedere City Council will appoint a new police chief when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall. The appointee will replace William S. Woodington, who retired Dec. 31 because of a recurring leg injury.

The council also will appoint three Belvedere citizens to a committee to study merger of police services in Belvedere and Tiburon. Tiburon's choices will be announced Feb. 9.

Also on the agenda is a report on damage to Belvedere's shoreline from the recent oil spill, and a request by Tiburon for financial assistance in developing a hiking and bicycle path on the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Liquor valued at about $35 was taken sometime between Monday and Wednesday from a boat docked at the Loch Lomond Marina on Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael police said yesterday. The boat is owned by Louis Joseph Servente of San Francisco.

TEACHING DEPRIVED

They Rarely Laugh Or Smile

By PAT BALMES

"They come to school defiant and hostile from the Haight Ashbury without breakfast. They seem to say, 'We're here to try your patience, Teacher! Rarely do I see my kids laugh or even smile," says Mrs. Bill Smith, teacher of educable mentally handicapped children.

"I try to show them I give a damn about them," says the young Belvedere wife and mother. Her aim is to make these handicapped 9 to 11-year-olds capable, in the future, of keeping a job and supporting a family without reverting to welfare.

"They are not mentally handicapped, but emotionally disturbed because of their deprived home lives. They don't have a normal chance without parental support. At one home the mother wouldn't stop watching television the whole time I was there talking to her about her child. It was her defense," she explains.

EMOTIONAL HANG-UPS block their ability to concentrate, according to the special teacher. The slightest distraction in her classroom causes havoc. They haven't learned to get along with others, to share, to wait their turns or to accept disappointments. However, Jodie believes they could learn if their emotional problems could be cured. She wishes her students could have professional psychotherapy.

On standard IQ tests these children score between 60 and 75. But Mrs. Smith feels this is an unfair means of evaluating deprived children of limited experience.

According to the experienced teacher, a typical EMH child lives in a fatherless home of many children. His mother is his sole support. His family is likely to be on welfare. He has little supervision because the mother may be working two jobs. Often responsibility for a young child falls on an older one.

"He'll dress the little one, give him cola and Cracker Jacks for breakfast and worry about him getting to school, when the older child is still too young for such responsibility," says Jodie sadly.

SHE KNOWS that the EMH child's material wants are much better satisfied than his emotional needs. He has money for snacks at the store, but his mother is too tired to give him attention.

"She has no time or patience. The mother is just trying to keep her sanity," Jodie explains.

In contrast, Jodie Smith is full of energy and enthusiasm for her special education task. Trained under a John F. Kennedy Fellowship for Study of Mental Retardation at University of North Carolina, she came to San Francisco in 1966 and married Bill Smith, a controller for a San Francisco leasing company. A year later Jodie became first grade teacher at Lagunitus School in Woodacre. In 1968 she taught a special education class in Potrero Hills area of San Francisco.

"When I became pregnant, I knew it was my last chance to get my master's degree in special education," says Jodie who was nine-months pregnant at her final examinations at San Francisco State. "All my professors knew what hospital to take me to, in case!"

After Courtenay was born, Jodie returned to special education.

"I missed getting out in the world. We young marrieds can't rest on our homemaking laurels. I'm much more satisfied when I'm teaching, more fulfilled," says the 28-year-old native of Charlotte, N.C.

JODIE CHOOSES pantsuits for her energetic work in classroom and on playground. Her "inner city" children are bussed to her upper and middle-class school in the Twin Peaks area, because their school on the edge of the Haight Ashbury near Kezar Stadium was torn down.

"Normally, there would be 15 in my special classroom, but I have only five students now. There was a moritorium placed upon taking in more minority children because spokesmen for minority groups protested the high percentage of minority children in the EMH class," the teacher reports.

Realizing ther her handicapped students have limited horizons, Jodie teaches them, in realistic situations, practical skills they will need to function as independent adults.

"In all likelihood, my kids will never leave the Bay Area," she foresees.

So she teaches them to use public busses and cable cars on field trips, instructing them how to pay for their ride and how to ask directions from the driver.

"We don't learn subtraction, we learn to make change," she explains.

JODIE INTRODUCES the children to the geography of "their world," the Bay Area, by two or three field trips a month. With donated tickets from a boat tour company, Jodie led her noisy, uninhibited five on their first exploration of San Francisco Bay, locating Golden Gate Bridge, Alcatraz and Angel Island.

"Otherwise they might never know about these places. Later we made maps and talked about these places and how to get to them," says the teacher.

"Bill and I wanted them to know there are other ways you can live," says Jodie, explaining that her husband treated her students to lunch at a Chinatown restaurant. The children, not embarrassed by the public eye, were unruly at times in the restaurant. After lunch, Bill took the five students to the top of the Bank of America Building to look down on "their world."

Jodie knows they need to be able to use the telephone for necessities and emergencies. At her request, the telephone company installed a two-way phone in her EMH classroom where she practices calls to a doctor, a hospital, police, fire department and procedure for a long distance call with the children.

Another practical problem is shopping. Some of these children already have full responsibility for family shopping. Jody set up a store in their classroom. She taught them to ask, "What's on sale?" and to handle money and operate a cash register.

The young teacher often hears, "I didn't eat no breakfast," from her students. Because they are often on their own at breakfastime, she decided to get away from the idea of the typical, cooked American breakfast and just try to teach them to open the refrigerator and eat something, even leftovers.

"But not chips and cola!" pleads Jodie.

"It was a real triumph when a child told me that he went to the store and bought an apple instead of candy," Jodie smiles.

Her hardest problem is to teach these disturbed children to deal with one another with acceptable behavior.

"I give prizes if one compliments another," she says, hoping this will carry over into their lives at home.

Jodie feels EMH children should be in a regular classroom part-time, so they would have to cope with more realistic social situations. They could return to the security of a special teacher for arts and crafts and practical skills each afternoon.

"But it would be very hard on the regular teacher," she admits. "You can't stay in special education year after year. They take too much out of you!"

THE 77-YEAR-OLD two story house overlooking San Francisco Yacht Club is still unfinished. It's builder, Dan McLean, built a number of other Victorian homes on Belvedere when he moved there in 1892, bringing in materials by mule and barge. But he never finished his own home, where he and his wife reared five children, according to the new owners.

"It was in such a state of disrepair that neighborhood children thought it resembled a haunted house and wouldn't come here on Halloween," she laughs. The Smiths are stripping, sanding, painting, remodeling and decorating the historic house in authentic Victorian style.

Jodie points out Belvedere's first alarm on the front porch, reading its inscription, "In case of fire, break glass, 1892." Builder Dan McLean was organizer of Belvedere's Fire Department and for many years its chief. The busy man was also building inspector, city councilman and a director of Marin Municipal Water District and Marin Mosquito Abatement District.

IN A KNIT pantsuit for her strenuous work with educable mentally handicapped children from the Haight Ashbury, Mrs. Bill Smith of Belvedere teaches them to cope with practical problems of life. She aims to make them future self-supporting adults who will not depend on welfare.

Hand Made Items Are In Demand

NEW YORK (UPI)—Add to the revolutions going on quietly among young homemakers whose tastes often are taking them away from the mass-produced—handcrafted objects that "reflect mood and personality."

Paul J. Smith, director of the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York, says: "Young people's attitudes toward buying and owning are different from those of their parents. Their way of living is more casual and individualistic.

"Young people often want the unique object, the hand-made article as an expression of their personalities. Many are involved in handcrafts themselves.

Smith also attributes the growing appeal of the handcrafted art object to our "throwaway society." He said "we use paper plates, disposable items of various sorts. We pack up and move from one part of the country, or even world, to another.

"WE WANT to simplify what we own and not be tied down to possessions. This way of living tends to make us very selective about certain objects. We choose them carefully, want them to be very special if we are going to move them with us."

First Lady's Wide Range Of Interest

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In two years as First Lady, Mrs. Pat Nixon has established an image as an independent, decisive woman deferring only to her husband. Indications are she plans to keep it that way.

While she aspires to national identity, her staff director, Connie Stuart, says Mrs. Nixon has a wide range of interests "and she doesn't want to be boxed in."

Promoting volunteer public service still seems to have top priority with Mrs. Nixon. She gives her name to campaigns for such projects as "The Right to Read Program," "The Community School Concept," and all plans to attack the pollution problem.

SHE IMPRESSES the staff with her ability to cut through paper work. She gets up early and retires late. The memos she gets early in the morning often are returned to her staff early in the afternoon.

SHE has followed through on her idea that the White House should be opened to more and more Americans. At receptions for hundreds of guests, she never fails to stand in a receiving line shaking hands. She remembers faces and places. She looks at name cards and reminisces about locales where she has campaigned.

PAT NIXON

Disputing reports that Mrs. Nixon rarely touches base with the household staff or kitchen help, Mrs. Stuart reveals that the President and Mrs. Nixon met with the White House chefs the day they moved in.

IT'S NOT widely known, but the first lady gave Shirley Bailey, the White House housekeeper, a tour of the mansion the day Mrs. Bailey took on her demanding post.

"She's very proud of the White House," said Mrs. Stuart. "She feels it belongs to the American people."

Mrs. Nixon is embarking on a program to refurbish the state rooms whose elegant wall coverings and upholstery are beginning to show wear since former first lady Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis completed her restoration project in 1962.

Mrs. Nixon has tried to make the ground floor of the White House more interesting to the public visitors. On display, for example, are gifts the Nixons have received from state visitors.

LAST YEAR she decided the White House police guides looked too military. They now wear gray trousers and maroon blazers with the presidential seal.

Probably nothing has struck a more popular note than when she lit up the White House at night. In contrast to the Lyndon Johnson days of electric frugality, the mansion is now floodlighted like the Washington Monument and the Capitol.

It's builder, Dan McLean, built a number of other Victorian homes on Belvedere when he moved there in 1892, bringing in materials by mule and barge. But he never finished his own home, where he and his wife reared five children, according to the new owners.

"It was in such a state of disrepair that neighborhood children thought it resembled a haunted house and wouldn't come here on Halloween," she laughs. The Smiths are stripping, sanding, painting, remodeling and decorating the historic house in authentic Victorian style.

Jodie points out Belvedere's first alarm on the front porch, reading its inscription, "In case of fire, break glass, 1892." Builder Dan McLean was organizer of Belvedere's Fire Department and for many years its chief. The busy man was also building inspector, city councilman and a director of Marin Municipal Water District and Marin Mosquito Abatement District.

IN A KNIT pantsuit for her strenuous work with educable mentally handicapped children from the Haight Ashbury, Mrs. Bill Smith of Belvedere teaches them to cope with practical problems of life. She aims to make them future self-supporting adults who will not depend on welfare.

Hand Made Items Are In Demand

NEW YORK (UPI)—Add to the revolutions going on quietly among young homemakers whose tastes often are taking them away from the mass-produced—handcrafted objects that "reflect mood and personality."

Paul J. Smith, director of the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York, says: "Young people's attitudes toward buying and owning are different from those of their parents. Their way of living is more casual and individualistic.

"Young people often want the unique object, the hand-made article as an expression of their personalities. Many are involved in handcrafts themselves.

Smith also attributes the growing appeal of the handcrafted art object to our "throwaway society." He said "we use paper plates, disposable items of various sorts. We pack up and move from one part of the country, or even world, to another.

"WE WANT to simplify what we own and not be tied down to possessions. This way of living tends to make us very selective about certain objects. We choose them carefully, want them to be very special if we are going to move them with us."

First Lady's Wide Range Of Interest

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In two years as First Lady, Mrs. Pat Nixon has established an image as an independent, decisive woman deferring only to her husband. Indications are she plans to keep it that way.

While she aspires to national identity, her staff director, Connie Stuart, says Mrs. Nixon has a wide range of interests "and she doesn't want to be boxed in."

Promoting volunteer public service still seems to have top priority with Mrs. Nixon. She gives her name to campaigns for such projects as "The Right to Read Program," "The Community School Concept," and all plans to attack the pollution problem.

SHE IMPRESSES the staff with her ability to cut through paper work. She gets up early and retires late. The memos she gets early in the morning often are returned to her staff early in the afternoon.

SHE has followed through on her idea that the White House should be opened to more and more Americans. At receptions for hundreds of guests, she never fails to stand in a receiving line shaking hands. She remembers faces and places. She looks at name cards and reminisces about locales where she has campaigned.

PAT NIXON

Disputing reports that Mrs. Nixon rarely touches base with the household staff or kitchen help, Mrs. Stuart reveals that the President and Mrs. Nixon met with the White House chefs the day they moved in.

IT'S NOT widely known, but the first lady gave Shirley Bailey, the White House housekeeper, a tour of the mansion the day Mrs. Bailey took on her demanding post.

"She's very proud of the White House," said Mrs. Stuart. "She feels it belongs to the American people."

Mrs. Nixon is embarking on a program to refurbish the state rooms whose elegant wall coverings and upholstery are beginning to show wear since former first lady Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis completed her restoration project in 1962.

Mrs. Nixon has tried to make the ground floor of the White House more interesting to the public visitors. On display, for example, are gifts the Nixons have received from state visitors.

LAST YEAR she decided the White House police guides looked too military. They now wear gray trousers and maroon blazers with the presidential seal.

Probably nothing has struck a more popular note than when she lit up the White House at night. In contrast to the Lyndon Johnson days of electric frugality, the mansion is now floodlighted like the Washington Monument and the Capitol.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Sane Husband Suddenly Went Freaky On Home Protection

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is a sane man who has suddenly gone freaky on burglar alarms. He has every window wired so that if they're even jarred, screeching noises happen — and this can really shake you in the middle of the night when the wind or an animal sets one off.

He's got our sliding doors so well reinforced that I can't open them without major carpentry. Our back door has two bolts and a chain lock, and you should see the front door! I'm not supposed to open it unless I peek through the periscope type viewer, then communicate by intercom. Even so, I must never take the chain off unless I recognize the person.

Now he wants to equip our house with an alarm system that will light up at a central place where they'll call the police immediately. It costs into the thousands.

Helen, if we must live in such abject fear, why live at all? Isn't this big push for home protection something like the last scare about backyard bomb shelters? I realize a little caution is a good thing, but it seems to me promoters are overdoing it —they're hitting the fright button to make a bundle for themselves.

And some people, like my man, become "protection collectors." It's like a hobby — trying to see what gadget you'll get next to outdo your neighbor.

How about injecting a little sanity into the burgeoning burglar alarm business? — NOT THAT PARANOID

DEAR NOT:

I know a man who spent weeks burglar-proofing his home before a vacation, then in the rush of last minute alarm settings, walked off and forgot to lock his front door.

Three weeks later he returned to an un-hit house.

I know another family whose elaborate system of bells, lights, etc. only challenged intruders. They were burglarized twice, vandalized once, and now the man has a loaded gun by his bed — an extremely dangerous practice.

So what can I say? With break-ins increasing several hundred percent in many areas, home protection seems frighteningly necessary. But even the best is not fool-proof. And paranoia can (as you say) turn a sane person into a fear-freak.

Suggestions, anyone? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Ifeel silly, writing about this at my age, which is 47.

I'm still quite attractive, love to go out, enjoy life, and think my husband is great. He is very attentive to me, too.

But there's a fly in the ointment, or rather a cute blonde young neighbor whose husband is overseas. She was lonely so we befriended her. Now she can't light a cigarette without my husband's help. When we go out dancing, he even pays her sitter so she can go along. She's started calling me "Mom," but she calls him "Bill."

A friend told me last week she saw them together when I assumed Bill was at a lodge meeting. He explained that he ran into her at the club and bought her a drink, and I pretended it was no big thing.

But Helen, I'm scared. We've been married 23 years, and though Bill is most loving to me, he's at the well-publicized dangerous age. Should I continue treating our neighbor like a daughter —or like an intruder? — FRIEND OR RIVAL?

DEAR F OR R:

Be an alert friend. And don't include this cute neighbor in your evenings out, unless you can lose her later to people her own age. Introduce her to the young crowd, then plan several great weekend trips alone with your Bill.

And pray for her husband's early return. — H.

Hints For Taking Care Of Carpets

New carpeting is often affected by shedding and pilling, but a few weeks of regular vacuuming will end this problem. Remeber to never pull a tuft that extends above the carpet surface — always clip it.

Some worn spots can be camouflaged by covering with an area rug or rearranging the furniture. And to revive crushed or matted areas caused by furniture legs, hold a steam iron about a half inch above the marred area for about one minute.

Henning-Ingham Vows Are Said At St. Isabella's

A reception was given afterward for the couple at Marin Country Club. The couple will live in San Anselmo after a wedding trip to Los Angeles and Mexico.

THE LATE, LATE SHOW

Marc Bohan Scorns Shorts Craze For Styles Out Of The 1940s

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—The Christian Dior spring fashion show yesterday was like the late, late television show back to the 1940s with wide, padded shoulders, long Ginger Rogers hairdos and wartime tailored suits.

Designer Marc Bohan virtually scorned the new craze for short shorts. Although he started the fad in his ready-to-wear collection last October, yesterday's program announced that "agdgets such as short shorts have been intentionally omitted" from the high fashion collection.

"Although appropriate in boutique collections, they are incompatible with traditional haute couture elegance," the Dior program said, a jab at competitors such as Givenchy and Cardin who went all out for short shorts.

The Dior collection had only one knit, one-piece shorts dress under a knit skirt. Otherwise it featured what the program called knee-long shorts, but they actually were culotte skirts.

IN A TURN back to wartime days, shoulders in the Dior collection were downright padded. Journalists reached up to pinch them. Bohan revived the wide shouldered tailored suit with wide lapels and a contrasting blouse — a style not seen around Paris for at least a decade.

One pin striped suit with wide lapels could have been out of a Joan Crawford movie. The Dior girls' long frizzy hair, dark red lipstick and shaved eyebrows added to the look of another era.

For late afternoon and evening Bohan paraded georgette or chiffon dresses with short capes or flaring short bell sleeves that also looked very 1940.

Some coats were cut like trenchcoats with sash belts, extra wide lapels and those far out shoulders. With their long curly hair, bright lips and slouchy felt hats, all the Dior girls needed was a fellow in a 1940 "zoo suit" swaggering on a corner.

Some silk dresses in pansy or rose prints even had short puffed sleeves. But several dresses and suit skirts were split to way above the knee to prove that this is 1971 and that fashion never really duplicates itself, but revives ideas in a different way.

A YEAR AGO, designer Bohan chose the butterfly as his theme, launching a world-wide fad for butterfly pins and belt buckles, and for this collection his theme was the rose.

Roses in deep red were embroided on lapels of navy tailored suits, on a fitted white redingote coat and on the front of a collarless white culotte dress.

Blue crepe sheer cocktail dresses with those wide-shouldered capelets each had that one rose embroidered on the shoulder. Long narrow striped evening gowns also sported the rose signature and a long gold lame sheath was embroidered all over with white roses.

There was a clutch of Sadie Thompson-type bright printed crepe dresses dripping with bunches of flowers at the waist or on the shoulder or attached to the girl's long frizzy hair. With long flowered crepe gowns the girls' bushy curls were sprayed with bits of orange or blue to match.

ANOTHER DIOR theme was silk dresses with matching coats or dresses in red, white and blue prints of little anchors or ships with plastic anchors or ships as belt buckles.

Bohan also used Dufy prints after the artist so popular in the '30's and '40's.

Although American furriers and celebrities have agreed to stop making fur coats out of animals threatened with extinction, the Dior collection included a parade of leopard midi coats.

Kathleen Colla Engaged To Wed

The engagement of Kathleen Sylvia Colla to Robert Howard Ridge has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Jeanne A. Colla of San Rafael and Sylvester J. Colla of San Rafael.

Kathleen is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. She attended the College of Marin and is now employed by the First Hawaiian Bank in Honolulu. She is the sister of Mrs. Karen Becker, Wayne, Craig and Kim Colla.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Ridge of Hammond, Ind., is stationed in Honolulu with the Navy. He is a graduate of Oliver P. Morton High School in Indiana and is the brother of Burgess, Richard and John Ridge and Mrs. Steven Peck.

The couple plan to be married in San Rafael on March 20.

Natural Fabrics

Designer Calvin Klein feels the naturals have taken over in fabrics. The sturdy fabrics of farm and frontier life are the in fabrics of the season, he said, but only the knowhow of the 70s could have given them this year's fresh, revitalized ways.

ON BEING BLACK

Rock Song's Use Of 'Nigger' And 'Cracker' Enlightening Experience

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The other day my afternoon radio dial somehow found its way to a local rock station. As is usually the case, they play the Top-17 (or 100 or whatever) records across the nation. I seldom tune in because my surface recollection is that the music is rather loud, the beat somewhat monotonous and the lyrics often not particularly profound.

Anyway, after hearing the same records periodically for about three hours, I began to hear the lyrics: "Nigger, don't call me whitey; whitey, don't call me nigger . . ."

"What'd he say?" I asked my daughter who was absent-mindedly singing along with the record.

SHE REPEATED the words nonchalantly and went about her business.

Shortly, another record came on. The music was great and even had me jiggling a bit. The words: "Niggers! Crackers! Jews! If there's a hell below, we're all gonna go!"

"What'd he say?" I asked my 7-year-old authority.

She and her 4-year-old sister happily sang the song in its entirety.

". . . if there's a-hell below, we're all gonna go!" Hum, I thought, you can argue with that.

MY DAUGHTER was just a little exasperated with me. Was I just now hearing these records? They had been out for a long time.

Not only was I reminded that I was months behind the times, but Iwas amused at what a different time this is. Indeed, not too long ago, the words nigger and cracker were uttered only in hate and debasement or whispered behind people's backs. Today, in quite a grand style, they have been pushed into the open and subjected to sunshine and fresh air. The transformation is encouraging.

There is now a generation that no longer cringes at the mere mention of these racially oriented words. In fact, these young people find the words passe, even laughable.

Of course, realistically, I'm sure it still makes a difference who is doing the name callin'. That is, when a top recording artist, who is "dug" (appreciated and respected) by both blacks and whites, sings us a racial message with no malicious intent, the message is more readily absorbed.

NOT ONLY does it make a difference who is saying what, but also how one says what he is saying tempers the situation.

Anyway, some of us old fogies, who still are uncomfortable with the words nigger and cracker (those who are still glued to the talk-program stations), might do well to tune in to the Top-17 for about an hour. It might well be an enlightening experience.

Natural Fabrics

Designer Calvin Klein feels the naturals have taken over in fabrics. The sturdy fabrics of farm and frontier life are the in fabrics of the season, he said, but only the knowhow of the 70s could have given them this year's fresh, revitalized ways.

ON BEING BLACK

Rock Song's Use Of 'Nigger' And 'Cracker' Enlightening Experience

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The other day my afternoon radio dial somehow found its way to a local rock station. As is usually the case, they play the Top-17 (or 100 or whatever) records across the nation. I seldom tune in because my surface recollection is that the music is rather loud, the beat somewhat monotonous and the lyrics often not particularly profound.

Anyway, after hearing the same records periodically for about three hours, I began to hear the lyrics: "Nigger, don't call me whitey; whitey, don't call me nigger . . ."

"What'd he say?" I asked my daughter who was absent-mindedly singing along with the record.

SHE REPEATED the words nonchalantly and went about her business.

Shortly, another record came on. The music was great and even had me jiggling a bit. The words: "Niggers! Crackers! Jews! If there's a hell below, we're all gonna go!"

"What'd he say?" I asked my 7-year-old authority.

She and her 4-year-old sister happily sang the song in its entirety.

". . . if there's a-hell below, we're all gonna go!" Hum, I thought, you can argue with that.

MY DAUGHTER was just a little exasperated with me. Was I just now hearing these records? They had been out for a long time.

Not only was I reminded that I was months behind the times, but Iwas amused at what a different time this is. Indeed, not too long ago, the words nigger and cracker were uttered only in hate and debasement or whispered behind people's backs. Today, in quite a grand style, they have been pushed into the open and subjected to sunshine and fresh air. The transformation is encouraging.

There is now a generation that no longer cringes at the mere mention of these racially oriented words. In fact, these young people find the words passe, even laughable.

Of course, realistically, I'm sure it still makes a difference who is doing the name callin'. That is, when a top recording artist, who is "dug" (appreciated and respected) by both blacks and whites, sings us a racial message with no malicious intent, the message is more readily absorbed.

NOT ONLY does it make a difference who is saying what, but also how one says what he is saying tempers the situation.

Anyway, some of us old fogies, who still are uncomfortable with the words nigger and cracker (those who are still glued to the talk-program stations), might do well to tune in to the Top-17 for about an hour. It might well be an enlightening experience.

Special features you'll enjoy:

Before the massive and strangling oil slick hit Marin's beaches on Jan. 18, Marin Magazine editor Don Keown and Jon Winter of the Point Reyes Bird Observatory were already at work on a detailed report on Marin's birdlife. Now its importance has been underlined. And, even without the added havoc of the slick, the report is a grim one. If your interest in birds is not limited to spectacular crisis conditions, you will want to read this story.
Street names often reflect the past of a community as well as any history book. So it is with Sausalito. And the late historian Florence Donnelly left behind a manuscript detailing the origins of the names of Sausalito's streets and avenues – from pioneers, ships and organizations. The Marin Magazine will publish that article tomorrow as part of a continuing series of Marin histories done by Miss Donnelly prior to her death.

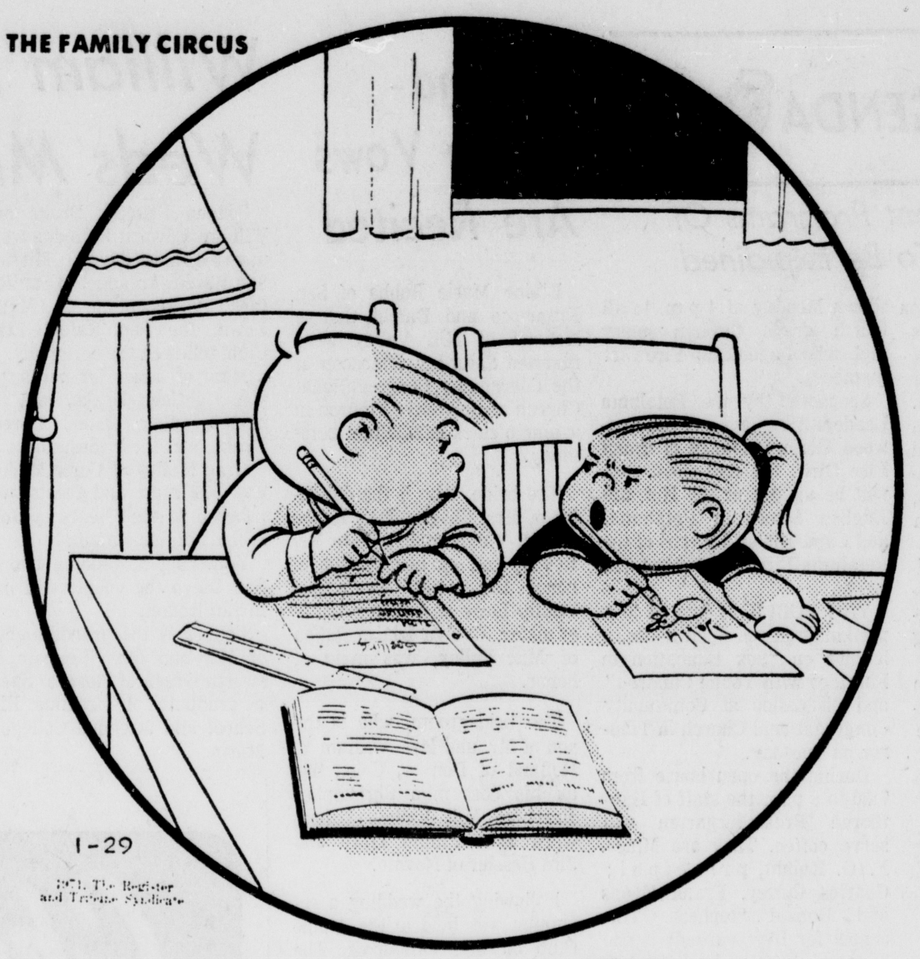
THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW

THE FAMILY CIRCUS



"Stop using up all the light, Billy!"

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Jan. 29, the 29th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this date in history:

In 1900 baseball's American League was founded.

In 1964 an unmanned Saturn rocket was launched. It crashed on the moon four days later.

In 1969 the Labor Department reported a jump in prices of nearly 5 per cent to mark the worst inflation since the Korean War year of 1951.

A thought for today: poet Ella Wilcox said, "It ever has been since time began, and ever will be, till time lose breath. That love is a moon . . . no more to a man . . . and love to a woman is life or death."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Overtricks Are Very Major In Playing Of Rubber Game

One of the important things to remember about rubber bridge is that overtricks are very unimportant. If you concentrate on making your contract you will be more successful in the long run than the player of equal skill who risks his contract in the attempt to win an extra trick or two. Today's hand is a typical case.

ACE OF HEARTS

West led the ace of hearts and continued with another heart to the king. South led a low trump, and West craftily played the jack.

South hoped that West held just the Doubleton A-J of spades. If so, he could win with dummy's queen and duck a spade on the return. West would have to win with his unguarded ace, and South would thus lose only one trump trick.

So declarer played the queen of spades from the dummy, and East punctured the dream by winning with the ace. Because of the bad trump break, West later got two more trump tricks to defeat the contract.

COULD PLAY SAFE

South could make sure of his contract as the cards lay by playing a low spade from dummy on the first round of trumps. East would have to win with the singleton ace, and declarer could win two trump tricks with the king and queen. West would eventually get a second trump trick, but the contract would be safe.

The point is that South will lose only two trump tricks if the five missing trumps divide 3-2. This is true whether declarer plays high or low from the dummy on the first round of trumps.

TRUMP BREAK

If the trumps break 4-1, South is in trouble unless the single-ton trump is the ace. Declarer can give himself the chance to make his contract against this 4-1 break by playing a low trump from both hands on the first round of trumps.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert Warren, a song writer, arranger and publisher, says he has kept track of all the time he has spent waiting for telephone dial tones, or waiting to get an operator or a business representative.

Warren says he has spent 3,675 minutes waiting in eight months. Since he values his time at $5 an hour, he is suing the New York Telephone Company for $306.25.

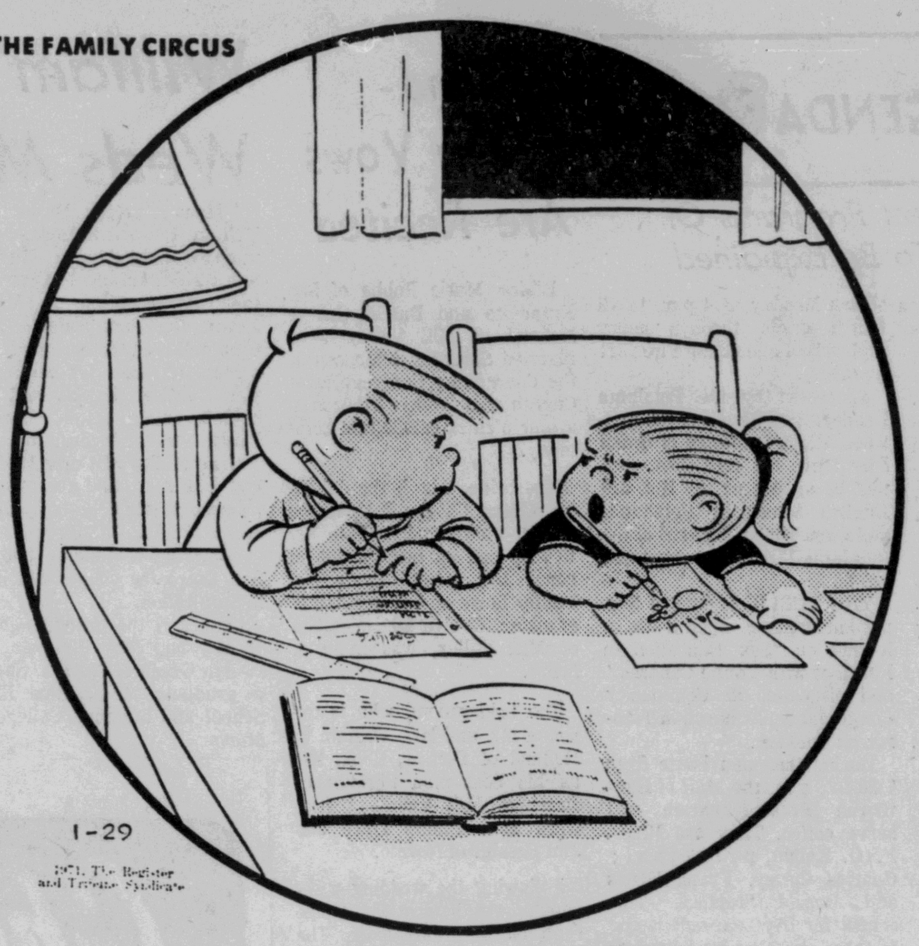
THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW

THE FAMILY CIRCUS



"Stop using up all the light, Billy!"

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Jan. 29, the 29th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this date in history:

In 1900 baseball's American League was founded.

In 1964 an unmanned Saturn rocket was launched. It crashed on the moon four days later.

In 1969 the Labor Department reported a jump in prices of nearly 5 per cent to mark the worst inflation since the Korean War year of 1951.

A thought for today: poet Ella Wilcox said, "It ever has been since time began, and ever will be, till time lose breath. That love is a moon . . . no more to a man . . . and love to a woman is life or death."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Overtricks Are Very Major In Playing Of Rubber Game

One of the important things to remember about rubber bridge is that overtricks are very unimportant. If you concentrate on making your contract you will be more successful in the long run than the player of equal skill who risks his contract in the attempt to win an extra trick or two. Today's hand is a typical case.

GAMES MASTER AND PLAYER

Graduation Pledge To Be Required

Parents of San Rafael High School students must sign a pledge that their youngsters will behave properly before student or parent will be allowed to attend graduation ceremonies in June.

The pledge requirement is an aftermath of last June's graduation rite demonstrations, according to John Donovan, assistant principal.

"Participation in the ceremony is strictly voluntary," he explained. "We have determined that most of the parents want a formal, traditional graduation."

Donovan said the behavior pledge was coupled with a request for tickets to the ceremony. Each graduate may have only two relatives in the audience because fire regulations limit the gymnasium — where the rite will be held — to 1,375 persons. With more than 400 graduates and 800-plus parents, the place will be filled, he explained.

Parents were asked to sign the pledge, the official added, because "children and parents disagree. We wanted an acknowledgement the parents clearly understood the rules."

The pledge requires that parents agree that "children will conduct themselves in an orderly fashion, that they will not demonstrate and that they conform to a traditional manner of dress."

During last year's demonstration, student peace signs were confiscated by school officials, although the board of education later agreed to reimburse a student-faculty coalition for part of their loss.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwide noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Twelve Chairs" — Slapstick historical comedy about family jewels that were hidden in a chair before the revolution in Russia. Motivated by pure greed the frantic search provides a delightfully entertaining treat. Don't miss it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Anne of a Thousand Days" — Magnificently staged and cast historical drama of the thousand days of courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn.

"Assassination Bureau" — A wittily directed rollicking comedy spoof of international intrigue in the 1900's. Delightful absurd chase through capitols of Europe is inspired by a Jack London store.

"Borsalino" — French gangster film about the 30's shows the violent exterminating practices to eliminating competition. The gory violence is almost continuous. Lavishly detailed sets produces a self conscious campy effect.

"Fools" — Two lonely people, one married, chance to meet and fall in love while exploring San Francisco. An interesting background and script make this romantic film entertaining. Some sex scenes well handled.

"Monte Walsh" — A western about the end of the cowboy era. An entertaining blend of humor and tragedy is uneven in pace but excellent in performance and photography.

"Rio Lobo" — A typical John Wayne vehicle with the exception that this time there is some nudity along with the usual blood and violence.

"You Only Live Twice" — In Japan, James Bond does a workman-like job of probing volcanic craters to discover the launching pad of a missile that is swallowing up U.S. and Russian space ships. Usual quota of girls, gunfights and gadgets.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Dirty Dingus Magee" — Slapstick humor becomes heavy handed as a desperado is chased through a series of dull absurd situations. The language used and the activities in the local brothel suggests the rating.

"Executioner" — Suspenseful international espionage in many beautiful places is entertaining but an incredible number of corpses pile up plus some nude scenes make it very mature fare.

"I Love My Wife" — Satirical comedy about sexual activities of young marrieds. Very well defined characterizations. Not a profound film but pleasantly entertaining. (Motion Picture Herald)

"Little Fauss and Big Halsy" — Contemporary motorcycle drama about two men who compete both off and on the track. Fast pace covers shallow content. Lots of nude girls, a Johnny Cash sound track and a predictable ending.

"Thunderball" — This time James Bond is underwater in the Bahamas trying to locate a NATO training plane and two atomic bombs. Sex is casual and salacious. Unpalatable cruelty is passed off as "spoof". Many amazing gadgets and much violence.

"WUSA" — Confused film about right wing politics and an odd lot of drifters. Characterizations and motivations are cloudy and lacks a responsible statement when it could and should have been made.

ADULTS ONLY

"Adventurers" — If you are looking for 3 hours of simple-mindedness, the dime store Freudian motivations, Hollywood dialogue, two dimensional acting and sensationalism and vulgarity and violence, they are all curdely supplied in this film.

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Five Easy Pieces" — Free-form portrait of an exile from a highbrow musical family who cops out of a routine lower middle class existence. Explicit six and frank dialogue.

"Joe" — Chilling but excellent tragi-comedy about our troubled society. Two men form an unlikely alliance founded on their envy and hatred of today's youth. Language and sex scenes are shockingly bold and violence of the ending will haunt the viewer.

"The Lawyer" — Violent, protracted courtroom drama reminiscent of the Sam Sheppard case with two additional ingredients; nudity and rough language. Some new and capable performers.

"What Do You Say To a Naked Lady" — Allen Funt brings the situation to the screen of the reactions of unsuspecting passersby to a naked woman. Some moments are humorous but generally it is just smut.

Apartment Plans Are Endorsed

The Marin City Council last night endorsed a young black contractor's proposal to build a 20-unit apartment complex next to the St. Andrew Presbyterian Church on Drake Avenue.

Marin City contractor Al Allen told the council he hoped to build eight one-bedroom units, eight two-bedroom units and four three-bedroom units.

He said rents would begin as low as $145 per month and run up to $195 per month for the three-bedroom apartments.

The council last night authorized letter of endorsement for Allen's project. The contractor had asked for the letter to aid in arranging financing for the apartments.

He said all units would have built-in ovens and stoves and that utilities would be included in the rent.

"I already have the names of 22 persons from Marin City who have said they would move into the apartments," Allen said.

Allen, when pressed, would say only that the group who hoped to finance the apartments "were individuals from Marin City."

Probation Department Is Sudying Report

The case of Steven Harris Millikan, 20, of Woodacre, has been referred to the probation department for a report Feb. 16 on whether he is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Millikan, charged with possession of marijuana and misdemeanor counts of resisting arrest and disturbing the peace, allegedly bit a San Rafael policeman when he was being booked Dec. 4 at the hall of justice.

Special Marin City Session On Housing

Irate Marin City residents and the Marin City Council — upset over Marin County Redevelopment Agency executive director Wallace K. Shepherd's decision not to attend last night's council meeting — called a special session for next Thursday to air complaints about conditions in the community's public housing.

The council has invited Shepherd to last night's meeting to discuss housing problems but he failed to show up or notify anyone that he wasn't coming.

The next meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in Manzanita Center and Shepherd will be notified by registered letter, the council decided.

Many residents in the public housing have brought their complaints to the council in recent months, so councilmen decided to ask Shepherd in to hear the grievances.

The general condition of the public units and rumors of forthcoming evictions have angered many residents and Shepherd's absence last night only served to increase hostilities.

One council member, Melvin Atkins, suggested the possibility of a rent strike until conditions were improved, but the council made no comment on this proposal.

Chamber Urges Ferryboat Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce urged the Golden Gate Bridge District yesterday to make no further commitment of district funds for commuter ferryboats for at least a year.

"The Chamber looks upon ferryboat service as providing only minimum—if not token—aid in alleviation of commute traffic on the bridge," the Chamber said in a letter to the District.

The Chamber's Golden Gate Corridor Committee, however, encouraged additional ferryboat service, if needed, in the interim period on a lease basis with boats already available.

Crazy Ladies

The De Castro Sisters. Whose outrageous antics you may have seen on television, on the continents of Europe, Asia and North America, or in a mess hall in Vietnam. Whom you soon may see in our Garden Bar.
Crazy Peggy specializes in the unexpected, a wry one liner, a virtuoso rendition of "Alfie", an elastic satire of the "Frug." Crazy Nancy sings, exceptionally well. And Crazy Pat, the kid sister, acts her age — at least according to Peggy and Nancy.
Together they're a happy extravaganza of singing, dancing and laughing. Now thru Saturday, February 27 they're together nightly except Sundays and Mondays in our Garden Bar. Show times: 9:30, 11 and 12:30 — with dancing in between. There's no cover or minimum, so you can afford a good dinner in our East-West Room and a parking space in our underground garage. That way you can spend the entire evening in one place. With the crazy ladies.

Parents of San Rafael High School students must sign a pledge that their youngsters will behave properly before student or parent will be allowed to attend graduation ceremonies in June.

The pledge requirement is an aftermath of last June's graduation rite demonstrations, according to John Donovan, assistant principal.

"Participation in the ceremony is strictly voluntary," he explained. "We have determined that most of the parents want a formal, traditional graduation."

Parents were asked to sign the pledge, the official added, because "children and parents disagree. We wanted an acknowledgement the parents clearly understood the rules."

The pledge requires that parents agree that "children will conduct themselves in an orderly fashion, that they will not demonstrate and that they conform to a traditional manner of dress."

During last year's demonstration, student peace signs were confiscated by school officials, although the board of education later agreed to reimburse a student-faculty coalition for part of their loss.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwide noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Twelve Chairs" — Slapstick historical comedy about family jewels that were hidden in a chair before the revolution in Russia. Motivated by pure greed the frantic search provides a delightfully entertaining treat. Don't miss it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Anne of a Thousand Days" — Magnificently staged and cast historical drama of the thousand days of courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn.

"Assassination Bureau" — A wittily directed rollicking comedy spoof of international intrigue in the 1900's. Delightful absurd chase through capitols of Europe is inspired by a Jack London store.

"Borsalino" — French gangster film about the 30's shows the violent exterminating practices to eliminating competition. The gory violence is almost continuous. Lavishly detailed sets produces a self conscious campy effect.

"Fools" — Two lonely people, one married, chance to meet and fall in love while exploring San Francisco. An interesting background and script make this romantic film entertaining. Some sex scenes well handled.

"Monte Walsh" — A western about the end of the cowboy era. An entertaining blend of humor and tragedy is uneven in pace but excellent in performance and photography.

"Rio Lobo" — A typical John Wayne vehicle with the exception that this time there is some nudity along with the usual blood and violence.

"You Only Live Twice" — In Japan, James Bond does a workman-like job of probing volcanic craters to discover the launching pad of a missile that is swallowing up U.S. and Russian space ships. Usual quota of girls, gunfights and gadgets.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Dirty Dingus Magee" — Slapstick humor becomes heavy handed as a desperado is chased through a series of dull absurd situations. The language used and the activities in the local brothel suggests the rating.

"Executioner" — Suspenseful international espionage in many beautiful places is entertaining but an incredible number of corpses pile up plus some nude scenes make it very mature fare.

"I Love My Wife" — Satirical comedy about sexual activities of young marrieds. Very well defined characterizations. Not a profound film but pleasantly entertaining. (Motion Picture Herald)

"Little Fauss and Big Halsy" — Contemporary motorcycle drama about two men who compete both off and on the track. Fast pace covers shallow content. Lots of nude girls, a Johnny Cash sound track and a predictable ending.

"Thunderball" — This time James Bond is underwater in the Bahamas trying to locate a NATO training plane and two atomic bombs. Sex is casual and salacious. Unpalatable cruelty is passed off as "spoof". Many amazing gadgets and much violence.

"WUSA" — Confused film about right wing politics and an odd lot of drifters. Characterizations and motivations are cloudy and lacks a responsible statement when it could and should have been made.

ADULTS ONLY

"Adventurers" — If you are looking for 3 hours of simplemindedness, the dime store Fresdian motivations, Hollywood dialogue, two dimensional acting and sensationalism and vulgarity and violence, they are all curdely supplied in this film.

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Five Easy Pieces" — Free-form portrait of an exile from a highbrow musical family who cops out of a routine lower middle class existence. Explicit six and frank dialogue.

"Joe" — Chilling but excellent tragi-comedy about our troubled society. Two men form an unlikely alliance founded on their envy and hatred of today's youth. Language and sex scenes are shockingly bold and violence of the ending will haunt the viewer.

"The Lawyer" — Violent, protracted courtroom drama reminiscent of the Sam Sheppard case with two additional ingredients; nudity and rough language. Some new and capable performers.

"What Do You Say To a Naked Lady" — Allen Funt brings the situation to the screen of the reactions of unsuspecting passersby to a naked woman. Some moments are humorous but generally it is just smut.

Apartment Plans Are Endorsed

The Marin City Council last night endorsed a young black contractor's proposal to build a 20-unit apartment complex next to the St. Andrew Presbyterian Church on Drake Avenue.

Marin City contractor Al Allen told the council he hoped to build eight one-bedroom units, eight two-bedroom units and four three-bedroom units.

He said rents would begin as low as $145 per month and run up to $195 per month for the three-bedroom apartments.

The council last night authorized letter of endorsement for Allen's project. The contractor had asked for the letter to aid in arranging financing for the apartments.

He said all units would have built-in ovens and stoves and that utilities would be included in the rent.

"I already have the names of 22 persons from Marin City who have said they would move into the apartments," Allen said.

Allen, when pressed, would say only that the group who hoped to finance the apartments "were individuals from Marin City."

Probation Department Is Sudying Report

The case of Steven Harris Millikan, 20, of Woodacre, has been referred to the probation department for a report Feb. 16 on whether he is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Millikan, charged with possession of marijuana and misdemeanor counts of resisting arrest and disturbing the peace, allegedly bit a San Rafael policeman when he was being booked Dec. 4 at the hall of justice.

Special Marin City Session On Housing

Irate Marin City residents and the Marin City Council — upset over Marin County Redevelopment Agency executive director Wallace K. Shepherd's decision not to attend last night's council meeting — called a special session for next Thursday to air complaints about conditions in the community's public housing.

The council has invited Shepherd to last night's meeting to discuss housing problems but he failed to show up or notify anyone that he wasn't coming.

The next meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in Manzanita Center and Shepherd will be notified by registered letter, the council decided.

Many residents in the public housing have brought their complaints to the council in recent months, so councilmen decided to ask Shepherd in to hear the grievances.

The general condition of the public units and rumors of forthcoming evictions have angered many residents and Shepherd's absence last night only served to increase hostilities.

One council member, Melvin Atkins, suggested the possibility of a rent strike until conditions were improved, but the council made no comment on this proposal.

Chamber Urges Ferryboat Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce urged the Golden Gate Bridge District yesterday to make no further commitment of district funds for commuter ferryboats for at least a year.

"The Chamber looks upon ferryboat service as providing only minimum—if not token—aid in alleviation of commute traffic on the bridge," the Chamber said in a letter to the District.

The Chamber's Golden Gate Corridor Committee, however, encouraged additional ferryboat service, if needed, in the interim period on a lease basis with boats already available.

Crazy Ladies

The De Castro Sisters. Whose outrageous antics you may have seen on television, on the continents of Europe, Asia and North America, or in a mess hall in Vietnam. Whom you soon may see in our Garden Bar.

Crazy Peggy specializes in the unexpected, a wry one liner, a virtuoso rendition of "Alfie", an elastic satire of the "Frug." Crazy Nancy sings, exceptionally well. And Crazy Pat, the kid sister, acts her age — at least according to Peggy and Nancy.

Together they're a happy extravaganza of singing, dancing and laughing. Now thru Saturday, February 27 they're together nightly except Sundays and Mondays in our Garden Bar. Show times: 9:30, 11 and 12:30 — with dancing in between. There's no cover or minimum, so you can afford a good dinner in our East-West Room and a parking space in our underground garage. That way you can spend the entire evening in one place. With the crazy ladies.

Ferryboat Vandalism Is Reported

I-J Sepcial Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Vandals broke into the Harbor Emperor, largest and newest of Harbor Tour's fleet of ferryboats, Wednesday night and extensively damaged the vessel's equipment.

W. C. Helman, the firm's general manager, called the damage "the worst one of our ferryboats has suffered in our 25-year history."

The vandals smashed the boat's compass, damaged its radar, broke several windows, stole the steering wheel, used up three fire extinguishers, threw a candy rack overboard and removed the door to the engine room, Helman reported.

The rampage took place while the ferry was berthed overnight at San Francisco's pier 43½. When the crew arrived at 5:30 this morning for the ferry's first commuter run, Helman said they discovered the triple-deck boat adrift, with its lines cut.

He said crewmen yesterday were checking the vessel's engine for possible damage and said it "appears the vandals wanted to stop the boat from operating." A tape recorder on the ship was not taken.

The general manager said the vandalism will have no effect on the firm's sightseeing tours or the Tiburon Ferry Service because the firm will use its other four boats. The Harbor Emperor was scheduled to go into drydock for repainting next week, he added.

Runaway Booked For Auto Theft

A 16-year-old runaway youth was arrested yesterday on suspicion of auto theft after a passing motorist notified San Rafael police the youth was acting suspiciously on Wellbrock Heights.

Officers said today Thomas Edward McCarter, of 28 Esmeyer Drive, San Rafael, was arrested at 1:40 a.m. when he was found on Wellbrock sitting in an auto owned by Sidney T. White of 736 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael.

McCarter, officers said, failed to have identification or registration for the auto.

He was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall.

It Left A Bad Taste In Mouth

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI)— Gov. Walter Peterson and his family tried eating on a welfare budget for a week. An aide said they had to cheat because they didn't like the menu.

Mrs. Peterson reported she found the budget provided for enough food but found eating "a la welfare' boring. The diet was part of a program sponsored by the New Hampshire Council of Churches.

The aide didn't say how much or on what meals the Petersons cheated.

To Build Pump

The Novato Fire Protection District board Wednesday night approved rebuilding a pump in a fire engine at a cost of about $2,000, with the work to be supervised by a mechanic from Seagraves Co., manufacturers of the engine.

CAN IT BE SAVED? — This is the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, which church officials and their architect say can't be saved. But another group, led by an architect from Mill Valley, says it can.

CAN CHURCH BE SAVED?

Argument Over Landmark

By DAVID DIETZ

The issue seemed settled last week when the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael voted overwhelmingly to raze the 74-year-old landmark and construct a new church.

Johnson, in an opinion sought by a former church official, sharply disagrees with the church's architect and declares the rock structure can be saved by means of a new interior wall. The cost, he said, would be less than building a new church.

"To tear this building down," he said yesterday, "is damn short of criminal. I seriously doubt the church authorities want to preserve it."

Church officials denied the allegations and said all possible means of saving the church — constructed in 1896 with stone quarried in San Rafael — have been investigated, including Johnson's proposal. The conclusion, they said, is that the stone is unstable and the church would collapse in an earthquake.

Johnson said he shared the fears claimed a "concrete lining," anchored flush to the rock wall by means of nails or dowels, would absorb the shock of a temblor, leaving the exterior virtually intact.

The contradictory opinions of both Johnson and the church architect, Donald L. Hardison of San Francisco, are supported by a swarm of engineering consultants. And each architect claims his consultants are "distinguished" in their field.

Johnson — saying he entered the picture in November at the request of a church session member who was unwilling to accept demolition — complained the recommendation of his group was not considered fully in meetings of church officials prior to the congregation vote.

He also insisted no mention of his report was made when the congregation met.

Attacking Johnson's involvement as meddling, Hardison said the Jan. 20 vote climaxed almost a year of study that opened when a structural engineer called upon to look at the church concluded its walls were unsound.

Despite planned demolition, Hardison said, many of the church's prized possessions will be saved, such as its stained glass windows, organ and some furnishings.

"I started out with a strong dedication to save that building," Hardison said, "and it was only when we started to get one negative report after another that we realized it was not possible."

Nicholas Forell, a San Francisco structural engineer, was consulted by Hardison after Johnson's report came to the attention of church leaders. At Forell's request, core samples of the church rock were taken and analyzed by a federal and a state geologist.

Observed Elmer J. Rice, a geologist with the state Division of Mines and Geology, "The chunks had to be handled very carefully to keep them from falling apart." He added he "doubted very much" that, from the samples he observed, the church rock would support the dowels that would be used under Johnson's plan.

Forell, who said his firm is experienced in restoration work, explained that Johnson's plan was a traditional one but wouldn't work at the First Presbyterian Church because of the lack of the rock's "integrity." He cited a recent state Division of Mines and Geology pamphlet which called the type of rock used in construction of the church unstable.

Hardison said the rock, a bluish-gray sandstone known as graywacke and known for its brittleness, probably should never have been used to build the church. He added the stone used in the church has further weakend after 74 years of weathering.

Michael Praszker, a civil engineer and former Marin planning commissioner, disagreed the stone is unsound.

Prazker, whose advice was sought by Johnson, said he had examined the church and the rock samplings and concluded the blocks are of "very high quality" and only slightly weathered.

Johnson estimated his plan would cost about $275,000, while the cost of a new church is put at $280,000. Hardison also had offered the congregation a proposal to restore the church, but with new stone, at $360,000.

Rev. Charles A. Griffin, minister of the church, and Paul H. Dane, chairman of the building committee, said they were convinced that restoration using the present stone is unfeasible.

"I have complete confidence in Mr. Hardison," Dane said. "On the basis of the information we have now, I am personally convinced it (saving the stone) is not possible."

Johnson said his opinion was requested by Robert Lloyd of San Rafael, a member of the Session until his term expired last month. Lloyd had questioned, the architect said, whether a thorough investigation of restoration possibilities was being made.

Johnson said Lloyd, to whom his group's report first was presented, sought not to press the issue in fear of irrevocably splitting the congregation.

Lloyd told the Independent-Journal, "I have completely withdrawn from the controversy. I don't believe the right thing to do is to demolish and rebuild."

Noting that a fund drive was planned to support construction of a new edifice, Lloyd said he didn't believe the congregation would endorse it, despite the overwhelming vote in favor of demolition.

A restored building would have wider donor appeal, regardless of cost, Lloyd believed.

Johnson challenged church officials and Hardison to consult a third party — "nobody I know and nobody Mr. Hardison knows" — for an opinion on the building. Further, he urged, church officials should conduct tests with dowels to erase their doubts about feasibility of his plan.

Water-Jet Ferryboats Suggested

The Golden Gate Bridge District's naval architect yesterday came up with a solution to the problem of ferry propellers striking out on floating debris — eliminate propellers entirely.

The district's four new ferries — planned for future use — instead may be propelled by giant water jets — sort of a super version of the gentle water pumps used as a massage in bathtubs.

Naval architect Philip F. Spaulding of Seattle said water jets also would allow the ferries to operate in shallower water, reduce dredging maintenance costs, allow higher speed in confined areas because of a smaller wake, and increase maneuverability. Tank tests of its application to the 165-footers he is designing for the district will be made next month.

Three of the $2.1 million ferries will serve Central Marin, and the fourth will be added to the Sausalito service.

Spaulding said that the change to water jets, which would be mounted in the transom, would cut the draft of the ferries from nine to five feet.

Spaulding, reviewing preliminary specifications for the ferries before the bridge district's transportation committee, won unanimous endorsement of a host of details, including a decision to power the ferries with gas turbines. He said that they would be virtually vibration-free, quiet and far lighter than diesels. An existing aircraft turbine would be used, he said.

Also endorsed were specifications for 636 seats, a capacity of 750 passengers including standees, and a level of interior decor "less Spartan than the present Sausalito ferry, but not as luxurious as the lobby of a top-price hotel."

Spaulding said that the upholstered seating would match those in the first-class section of an airliner, but would not recline because of the added expense. The seats will be 22 inches wide.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring suggested that the level of decor could vary the ferry price up or down by $200,000, but strongly favored an interior "somewhat austere but comfortable."

Spaulding suggested that carpeting was the "modern trend," but no committee recommendation was made on this proposal.

The committee also agreed to equip the ferries for service outside the Golden Gate, perhaps for recreational trips to Point Reyes National Seashore. Spaulding figured the cost of this equipment at up to $20,000 for each ferry.

The committee referred to district staff a proposal by two Marin designers to design the ferry interiors at a cost of $60,000. The proposal by David E. Stovel of Sausalito and Donald Clever of Tiburon envisioned an "astro-dome cocktail lounge" on each ferry and airline-type sound system of music, news and language studies.

They also suggested on-board telephone booths, coat racks and some place to put drinks while seated.

The committee recommended that the staff be authorized to negotiate with Harbor Carriers to lease one of its ferries to supplement the Sausalito service with one run each way during commute hours.

The committee also endorsed a staff recommendation that the district's ferry feeder bus from Mill Valley be diverted from the Tiburon ferry to the Sausalito ferry and to lease a fourth bus for the Sausalito feeder service from Greyhound Lines at a cost of $146 a month.

Transit Mgr. Donald White noted that the feeder bus patronage was growing, but that Sausalito's refusal to eliminate two parking spaces in the south end of the city to allow the bus to turn around may force termination of that bus run. White said that without the turnaround, the length of the run has to be more than doubled to four miles to turn around at Fort Baker.

Contenders For Bolinas Board Differ on Roles

By PAT ANGLE

Two contenders for a vacant seat on the Bolinas-Stinson School board agreed last night the district desperately needs more teachers and classrooms. But Barbara G. Wilson, a housewife and student, and Michael E. Aitken, a Marin County sheriff's deputy, differed on the roles they would play if elected to the board Tuesday.

A third candidate, Donna D. Fischer, withdrew from the race last night "for personal reasons," but announced she would run again in April for a board seat recently vacated by trustee Warren Fairbanks.

Mrs. Wilson and Aitken will compete in a district election Tuesday for the post formerly held by trustee Erik Lund, who moved to Oregon.

From the beginning, Aitken made it clear that he believes a board member should have some control on what is happening in the classroom. He said he was not pleased "at the way some of the classes are run." The children "are a little too free and run around the classroom more than necessary," he said.

If elected he said he would work for more organized classrooms and a larger school.

Mrs. Wilson disagreed with trustee involvement in the classroom. The candidate, who has often done volunteer work at the school, said she would probably visit the classrooms less often if chosen a trustee.

"The school needs peace and quiet to develop," Mrs. Wilson said. "It's going in a very good direction — toward individual instruction, but it's just beginning and needs time."

Aitken also expressed a strong interest in reading materials used in the school. He held up a list of books which included Eldredge Cleaver's "Soul on Ice" (which he said he has not read) and Norman Mailer's "Why We Are In Vietnam," and charged the books were being read to first, second and third graders.

"Two people who work at the school told me these books are used and I think it's time parents found out some of this fantastic reading material being read to (primary) students."

The school's two primary teachers, Linda O'Neil and Curtis Spurlin, who were in the audience of about 15 persons who attended the candidate's night, denied Aitken's claim. Spurlin said the school staff had decided the books in question should be on call in the library for seventh and eighth graders who wanted to use them. The teacher said books with "questionable" words or content could be checked out only with the approval of the school librarian.

Mrs. Wilson said she felt overcrowding and class size (currently about 25-30 students per teacher) were two of the district's biggest problems and indicated she would like to see the pupil/teacher ratio at about 15 to 1. Aitken agreed overcrowding was a problem, but thought class size was "generally good."

Mrs. Wilson also said the decision on whether classes should be structured or unstructured —a controversial issue in the district — should be left to the discretion of teachers and parents, with individual children and their needs always in mind.

Both were adamant about the need for more teachers and more teaching aides and both thought current teachers were doing a good job.

Aitken said the teachers should have "a lot more backing from the board when they need it. Talk around town shouldn't change a teacher's position, if he is a good teacher."

Mrs. Wilson concurred, saying the board should insure the privacy of teachers' private lives and refuse to discuss complaints about teachers which have nothing to do with their classroom performance.

Both candidates felt the spreading of rumors and controversy among different groups in the heterogeneous community should be thoroughly discouraged.

Mrs. Wilson said that, as a board member, she would strictly enforce the district's approved grievance procedure which requires parents with complaints to first go to the teacher, then the principal and come to the board only if all else fails.

Aitken said the persons "who spread most of the hate should be grabbed and brought into board meetings to hash it out."

Mrs. Wilson, a widow, is studying for a bachelor's degree in art from Dominican College. She has three children and her daughter, Rebecca, is a third grader at Bolinas School. She has lived in the community for two years.

The 27-year-old Aitken has been a summer resident of Bolinas most of his life. He and his wife and two children (his daughter Tina is a kindergarten student at the school) moved permanently to Bolinas five years ago.

Three More Special Rubella Clinics Set

The Marin County Department of Public Health has scheduled three special rubella vaccine clinics next month for children unable to take part in the vaccination program to date.

Two more clinics under which the regular vaccine will be administered also are scheduled.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, said the clinics are for children who are allergic to eggs or chicken or duck feathers and who could not be inoculated with the regular vaccine.

Dr. Albrecht cautioned, however, that inoculations cannot be administered at the special clinics to children allergic to rabbits or the antibiotic neomycin.

The special clinics will be: Feb. 8, 1:30 to 4 p.m.; Feb. 10, 4 to 7 p.m., and Feb. 22, 1:30 to 4 p.m., all at the county health office at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael. Regular vaccine also will be administered Monday from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and at the Feb. 22 clinic.

No fee will be charged for clinics but donations up to $1 per child will be accepted for the Marin medical socity rubella fund, Dr. Albrecht said.

The clinics will end after February. Beginning March 1, rubella vaccine will be given in Room 400 at the Civic Center, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays.

Canyon Ranch Benefit Concerts

Benefit concerts to help the Audubon Canyon Ranch will be given at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Little Theater at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The Country Fair, a folk music group, will be featured.

Clerin W. Zumwalt, naturalist for the Audubon Canyon Ranch, said Country Fair musicians turned up en masse during last week's waterfowl oil crisis to offer help at the ranch near Bolinas. Finding that the ranch was swamped with volunteers, the musicians decided they would assist by staging the fund-raising concerts, Zumwalt said.

Innocent Pleas To Marijuana

John Anthony Canales and Carl Glen Pickens, both 18 and from San Francisco; James Kardis Jr., 21, of Novato, and William Cody Smith, 19, of Sausalito, have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana.

Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 9.

They were arrested Jan. 17 by sheriff's deputies who were investigating a reported burglary at Kardis's residence.

Plea Date On Pot Charges

Guy Brodnax of San Rafael has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possession of marijuana and misdemeanor petty theft.

He will plead to the charges Feb. 10.

Brodnax was arrested Sunday at Mayfair Market in San Rafael on suspicion of shoplifting. Police later found a plastic bag containing marijuana in his possession.

Marin Music Switchboard Sets Meeting

Marin Music Switchboard, temporarily closed last year but now revived, has called a public meeting of musicians and supporters for 8 p.m. Wednesday in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

At the meeting, five new volunteer directors will be elected and installed. Present directors will continue to serve as advisors to the new board, according to David Hutchinson, Switchboard founder.

Marin Music Switchboard serves as a clearing house for Marin musicians seeking performance assignments, and for fans wanting to know where various musicians are to play.

The Switchboard, now located at 882 College Avenue, Kentfield, is open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Guilty Plea Is Entered

Richie Dave Hollingsworth, 19, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of assaulting a police officer.

He had earlier been charged with two counts of felony assault on a police officer and a misdemeanor charge of resisting arrest.

Judge Smallman set sentencing for March 12.

Hollingsworth was arrested Dec. 19 at a Novato restaurant after he began banging on a window with a cup. When three California Highway Patrol officers asked him to step outside, the youth struck two of them, the officers said.

Correct Date

The reinstatement hearing of former Petaluma policeman Robert C. Blagborne was continued to next Thursday in Sonoma County Superior Court, not yesterday, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

CAN CHURCH BE SAVED?

Argument Over Landmark

By DAVID DIETZ

The issue seemed settled last week when the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael voted overwhelmingly to raze the 74-year-old landmark and construct a new church.

Johnson, in an opinion sought by a former church official, sharply disagrees with the church's architect and declares the rock structure can be saved by means of a new interior wall. The cost, he said, would be less than building a new church.

"To tear this building down," he said yesterday, "is damn short of criminal. I seriously doubt the church authorities want to preserve it."

Church officials denied the allegations and said all possible means of saving the church — constructed in 1896 with stone quarried in San Rafael — have been investigated, including Johnson's proposal. The conclusion, they said, is that the stone is unstable and the church would collapse in an earthquake.

Johnson said he shared the fears claimed a "concrete lining," anchored flush to the rock wall by means of nails or dowels, would absorb the shock of a temblor, leaving the exterior virtually intact.

The contradictory opinions of both Johnson and the church architect, Donald L. Hardison of San Francisco, are supported by a swarm of engineering consultants. And each architect claims his consultants are "distinguished" in their field.

Johnson — saying he entered the picture in November at the request of a church session member who was unwilling to accept demolition — complained the recommendation of his group was not considered fully in meetings of church officials prior to the congregation vote.

He also insisted no mention of his report was made when the congregation met.

Attacking Johnson's involvement as meddling, Hardison said the Jan. 20 vote climaxed almost a year of study that opened when a structural engineer called upon to look at the church concluded its walls were unsound.

Despite planned demolition, Hardison said, many of the church's prized possessions will be saved, such as its stained glass windows, organ and some furnishings.

"I started out with a strong dedication to save that building," Hardison said, "and it was only when we started to get one negative report after another that we realized it was not possible."

Nicholas Forell, a San Francisco structural engineer, was consulted by Hardison after Johnson's report came to the attention of church leaders. At Forell's request, core samples of the church rock were taken and analyzed by a federal and a state geologist.

Observed Elmer J. Rice, a geologist with the state Division of Mines and Geology, "The chunks had to be handled very carefully to keep them from falling apart." He added he "doubted very much" that, from the samples he observed, the church rock would support the dowels that would be used under Johnson's plan.

Forell, who said his firm is experienced in restoration work, explained that Johnson's plan was a traditional one but wouldn't work at the First Presbyterian Church because of the lack of the rock's "integrity." Michael Praszker, a civil engineer and former Marin planning commissioner, disagreed the stone is unsound.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dead Actress' Husband Writes: Motherhood's Legacy Immortal

Actress Elizabeth York was only 46 years old when she died of lung cancer in California last spring. Her husband, Alvin Sapinsley, a successful television playwright, hoped that, perhaps, others might profit if he told of the last four months of her life. She was a good mother to Greg and Ann, their adopted children.

HERE ARE excerpts from the letter he wrote to the American Cancer Society. Parts of it appeared in the Society's Cancer News:

". . . I knew, and spent those terrible four months looking her straight in the eye and lying to her, telling that all she had was bad chronic fibrosis, and it would begin to get better very soon. And she believed me. She also believed that if we could get out of the smog she'd feel better, and so we started to build a house on the beach at Oxnard, a house I knew she would never live to see finished — or even properly begun."

ON THE DAY of her death, Mr. Sapinsley took the children into the garden ". . . And I told them what had happened, told them exactly what had happened, told them how they would never see their mother again, how she was dead, what happened to people when they died . . . They'll decide in their own time if they agree with me or not . . ."

"But as I said to them that afternoon in the garden, when you die all that if left of you is what you leave behind you. Your immortal soul is your music, your writings, your paintings, your statuary — there's nothing else. And although she was, I thought, a splendid actress and — when she gave it up and went back to college — a splendid scholar, the years she gave to Greg and Ann were her finest years, and they are her masterpieces. The burden becomes somewhat lighter when I think of the joy she would be feeling in them now."

"I KNOW SHE died of cancer. I don't know if she died of smoking. I don't know if she'd still be alive if she'd never smoked, or smoked less, or stopped sooner. I don't know what damage I've done to myself during the years I smoked, or how much damage has been repaired during the two years since I stopped."

Mr. Sapinsley's poignant letter speaks for itself and should offer food for thought to anyone indulging in self-inflicted internal pollution.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TRACES OF SUGAR

REPLY

No. Traces of sugar usually appear in the urine after the person has eaten a meal rich in carbohydrates. In others, the kidneys are more porous and sugar appears in the urine for mechanical reasons.

NECK PAIN AND TENSION

T. N. writes: Is a ruptured disk in the cervical area ever due to a long bout of nervous tension?

REPLY

No. but prolonged neck pain might cause nervous tension.

LOSE FAT, NOT HAIR

L.L. writes: would going on a reducing diet cause loss of hair?

REPLY

No. Many individuals grow bald regardless of how much they eat.

Board Halts Punishment

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Maryland School Board voted Wednesday night to ban corporal punishment as an acceptable disciplinary measure in the state's public schools.

Principals, or in their absense vice-principals, had been allowed to spank unruly students.

Dr. Ramsey Thomas, a board member who amended the measure tostop counties from overriding the state ban, said, "we cannot in this violent society continue to sanction man-to-man violence."

Stereo Tapes Stolen

Jack C. Bailey, 8 Baker Court, Petaluma, told police that 50 stereo tapes valued at $350 were stolen from his car yesterday while the vehicle was parked at his home.

Be our guest in the White House

You will know as much as anyone about what goes on in the White House and in the Presidency by the simple act of reading the I-J. (Only the President and intimates will know more).

(UPI) A TEAM REPORT

For the I-J, through its United Press International reporters, is virtually "in residence" as much as the President. Which makes you our welcome guest to the White House.

Our reporters are constantly alert to staff and cabinet meetings, to affairs of international import, to the diplomatic front, to the comings and goings which make the White House a world center of significant news. The job is sensitive. It requires a sixth sense to know when news of major concern is about to break. And concern in how to "break" it accurately and without bias.

Be our guest and stay as long as you like. Our columns lead right to the White House.

This is Eugene V. Risher, another member of the UPI team assigned to cover President Nixon. You'll be hearing from him.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dead Actress' Husband Writes: Motherhood's Legacy Immortal

Actress Elizabeth York was only 46 years old when she died of lung cancer in California last spring. Her husband, Alvin Sapinsley, a successful television playwright, hoped that, perhaps, others might profit if he told of the last four months of her life. She was a good mother to Greg and Ann, their adopted children.

HERE ARE excerpts from the letter he wrote to the American Cancer Society. Parts of it appeared in the Society's Cancer News:

". . . I knew, and spent those terrible four months looking her straight in the eye and lying to her, telling that all she had was bad chronic fibrosis, and it would begin to get better very soon. And she believed me. She also believed that if we could get out of the smog she'd feel better, and so we started to build a house on the beach at Oxnard, a house I knew she would never live to see finished — or even properly begun."

ON THE DAY of her death, Mr. Sapinsley took the children into the garden ". . . And I told them what had happened, told them exactly what had happened, told them how they would never see their mother again, how she was dead, what happened to people when they died . . . They'll decide in their own time if they agree with me or not . . ."

"But as I said to them that afternoon in the garden, when you die all that if left of you is what you leave behind you. Your immortal soul is your music, your writings, your paintings, your statuary — there's nothing else. And although she was, I thought, a splendid actress and — when she gave it up and went back to college — a splendid scholar, the years she gave to Greg and Ann were her finest years, and they are her masterpieces. The burden becomes somewhat lighter when I think of the joy she would be feeling in them now."

"I KNOW SHE died of cancer. I don't know if she died of smoking. I don't know if she'd still be alive if she'd never smoked, or smoked less, or stopped sooner. I don't know what damage I've done to myself during the years I smoked, or how much damage has been repaired during the two years since I stopped."

Mr. Sapinsley's poignant letter speaks for itself and should offer food for thought to anyone indulging in self-inflicted internal pollution.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TRACES OF SUGAR

S.R. writes: Is sugar in the urine a sure sign of diabetes?

REPLY

No. Traces of sugar usually appear in the urine after the person has eaten a meal rich in carbohydrates. In others, the kidneys are more porous and sugar appears in the urine for mechanical reasons.

NECK PAIN AND TENSION

T. N. writes: Is a ruptured disk in the cervical area ever due to a long bout of nervous tension?

REPLY

No. but prolonged neck pain might cause nervous tension.

LOSE FAT, NOT HAIR

L.L. writes: would going on a reducing diet cause loss of hair?

REPLY

No. Many individuals grow bald regardless of how much they eat.

Board Halts Punishment

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Maryland School Board voted Wednesday night to ban corporal punishment as an acceptable disciplinary measure in the state's public schools.

Principals, or in their absense vice-principals, had been allowed to spank unruly students.

Dr. Ramsey Thomas, a board member who amended the measure tostop counties from overriding the state ban, said, "we cannot in this violent society continue to sanction man-to-man violence."

Be our guest in the White House

You will know as much as anyone about what goes on in the White House and in the Presidency by the simple act of reading the I-J. (Only the President and intimates will know more).

For the I-J, through its United Press International reporters, is virtually "in residence" as much as the President. Which makes you our welcome guest to the White House.

UPI A TEAM REPORT

Our reporters are constantly alert to staff and cabinet meetings, to affairs of international import, to the diplomatic front, to the comings and goings which make the White House a world center of significant news. The job is sensitive. It requires a sixth sense to know when news of major concern is about to break. And concern in how to "break" it accurately and without bias.

Be our guest and stay as long as you like. Our columns lead right to the White House.

Boc Not Happy With Expo Offer

Johnny Boccabella of Terra Linda, utility man for the Montreal Expos of the National League, says he just might "hang 'em up if they (the Expos) don't come up with a fair offer."

Boccabella, the former Marin Catholic High and Santa Clara star who has been in professional baseball since 1963, says he has flatly rejected the Expos' first contract offer for the 1971 season.

Now a salesman for Taveggia-Brusati Sports and Saddle Shop in San Rafael, Boc said the Expos' contract "was not close to what I thought was fair. I talked to them after I received the contract and they offered more money, but not nearly enough to what I thought I deserved. For me I thought I had a pretty good season last year."

What's next? "Well," the good-looking, 29-year-old catcher-first baseman-outfielder said, "it's still up in the air and I'm just waiting. The closer we get to spring training the more serious the talks get. If they come closer to what I think I deserve, then we might work out a compromise. If not, then next baseball season I might still be working here at Taveggia-Brusati's."

Boccabella allowed as how he already has qualified for a baseball pension with four and one half years in the major league. "It takes four years to qualify and last year they had that to hold over my head during contract talks. But now I have a pension coming," he smiled.

SPEAKING OF big leaguers, there are now two more top athletes who call Marin County their home.

They are Frank Reberger, pitcher for the San Francisco Giants, and Robert Adams, end for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Reberger recently moved to Novato and Adams to Terra Linda. Adams, by the way, is brother of Novato City Recreation Director Ed Adams and is teaching seventh grade science at Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato.

GORDON TOVANI of San Rafael, the place kicking specialist who once tried out in vain for the Oakland Raiders, already is working on plans for his annual high school place kicking clinic scheduled for late in May, somewhere in Marin.

He may call it the "Tovani Boot Camp."

COUPLE OF PETERS in the news today:

Pete Carroll, star for last season's College of Marin football team, has been signed to a football scholarship by the University of Pacific and will enroll at the Stockton campus this spring.

And Peter Ashley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ashley of Greenbrae, has been chosen to represent the University of California at Santa Cruz in the epee event of the All-California Fencing tournament to be held in March in San Diego. Ashley, a Redwood High graduate, is a sophomore at Santa Cruz.

DOG LOVERS: Don't forget the Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show at the Cow Palace tomorrow and Sunday and any of you wise guys who mentions anything about Pup's Blue Ribbon will get 10 lashes by my poodle's tail.

Pro Golfers Continue Their Hot Shooting

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—If the weather continues fine — and the forecast is for warm, sunny days—the Andy Williams —San Diego Open could wind up as a replay of last week's Phoenix Open.

In the Phoenix, you'll recall, the cut for the final two rounds was set at five under par 139. In the San Diego Open, it could be almost as low when they trim the field after today's second round.

A total of 81 players in the starting field of 142 pros and two amateurs shot par or less in the opening round Thursday. When all the firing was over on a day tailor made for golf, Dave Eichelberger of Waco, Tex., and rookie Ralph Johnston of Jackson Heights, N.Y., were the leaders with six-under-par scores of 66.

The San Diego Open is being played over parts of Torrey Pines' two courses with the tourney layout a relatively flat 6,792-yards and par at 36-36—72.

Eichelberger, who missed making the 1971 exemption list by two places, sank a 198-yard, two iron shot for an eagle on the par four seventh hole. He also bagged birds on No. 2, 9, 11, 12, 13 and 18 and made his only mistake on the par three sixth when he three putted from 60 feet.

Johnston, who went to the PGA school five times before he finally picked up his playing card, had as spectacular a round as he sank birdie putts of every length on No. 1, 2, 6, 9, 13, 15 and 18 bogied 10 when he missed a putt of less than two feet. Eichelberger credited his fine round to his short game while Johnston said his putter made the big difference.

Australian Bob Shaw, another youngster trying to win fame on the American tour, led a group of seven players who had five-under 67s in the opening round. The others in that group were Los Angeles Open champ Bob Lunn, Charles Coody, Bob Dickson, Bill Garrett, Jack Montgomery and George Archer.

In with 68s were defending champ Pete Brown, Phoenix Open winner Miller Barber, Kermit Zarley, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Charles and Bobby Nichols, who eagled the par four fith hole. Ron Cerrudo of Napa had a disastroug openign round 76.

Big Wrestling Triumph For Terra Linda

Terra Linda High School wrestlers took a big step toward the Marin County Athletic League championship yesterday by beating San Rafael High, 28-17.

CHECKING THINGS OUT — Fred Hines gets some rock climbing gear ready while student Brian Witt watches. Today was Hines' last day of teaching after 33 years on the San Rafael High School staff.

FRED HINES RETIRES

After 33 Years, He's Going To Miss The Kids

By RALPH CHATOIAN

"It will be good to get away from that alarm clock, but I'm sure going to miss the kids."

So said Fred G. Hines who closed out his active teaching profession today, last day of the fall semester, after 33½ half years as physical education instructor at San Rafael High School.

Knowing he will miss the sights and sounds of San Rafael High School which have become so familiar to him, Hines has asked that his name be put on the substitute teaching list at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools.

"I hope I can still get in one or two days a month of teaching," he said.

Hines, who will turn 60 on July 1, has been an active outdoorsman all his life and as he says, "I don't ever want to vegetate." That's why he still jogs two or three miles daily. He used to run competitively with the Marin Athletic Club until 1965 when he was advised by a doctor to slow down because of a heart problem.

A diminutive man who looks as fit as a fiddle, Hines still is active in back packing and rock climbing, in addition to his jogging. And with retirement here, he will be spending more time on his number one hobby — a collection of electric trains.

The trains, numbering more than 100, are in the basement of his home, 86 Embarcadero Way. He dug out his own basement area a few years ago and has the trains in a 20 by 30 foot room.

"I'm expanding the storage area in the basement and I still have some pick and shovel work in front of me," said Hines. "I've been keeping track; in the last 18 months I've hauled out 115 tons of dirt from the basement. That's 1,855 wheelbarrows full." He said he usually works at it for an hour or two a day.

Hines is treasurer of the Northern California division, Train Collectors Association, a national organization, and meets monthly with his train colleagues.

He said he will be using his retirement time for "further expansion of my hobbies — trains, back packing and running. I've got some house repairs to do and some digging in the basement. I'm not planning any elaborate trips or anything like that."

And he can also beat the crowd on back-packing trips. "I can go to the mountains in September, now," he said, "when the weather is great and the crowds are back to school."

Hines, who heads a co-educational rock climbing class at San Rafael High and leads weekend hikes at Mount Tamalpais, is a grandfather four times. He and wife Gertrude have a son, Terry, living in Middletown, Lake County, and a daughter Mrs. Michael Geary, living in Kentucky. Although born in San Francisco, Hines has lived in Marin County most of his life.

He attended elementary school in San Rafael and then San Rafael High School. Then after Stanford University, he taught two years at Doris, Siskiyou County, and another year at Denair, near Fresno. Since then he has been teaching P.E. and coaching at San Rafael High. He was tennis coach at San Rafael for 25 years, with 13 championships, before quitting active coaching in 1967.

"There's no question about it — I'll really miss the kids," said Hines. "As a teacher you get to see all the kids so you realize there are so many good ones. People who aren't in teaching only seem to see the bad ones and don't realize that all kids aren't bad. We, as teachers, know there are a heck of a lot of great ones."

Marin 'Cats Slip Past Terra Linda

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Steve Vanni poured forth a free throw with eight seconds left last night to climax a game-long comeback that brought Marin Catholic High School a 45-44 Marin County Athletic League basketball victory over the Terra Linda Trojans.

The final margin was the only lead of the night for Dave Hennessy's Wildcats, who had trailed by 10 points at the end of the first quarter. A capacity crowd of 500 at the Marin gym in Kentfield reacted to the victory, which broke a two game losing streak, with unbridled joy, an unbounded cacaphony of emotion.

But if the applause of the crowd rewarded the Wildcats, it symbolized bitter disappointment for the Trojans, who, in losing their third of seven MCAL games, saw any chances they might have entertained for the championship practically ruined. Marin is now 3-4.

Vanni's final shot, coming on a one-and-one situation when Bill Berry fouled him in an attempt to steal the ball, was his only point of the game; he is a defensive specialist who seldom shoots, but he made the most important shot of his high school career. The Wildcats

Frosh Basketball

Darrold Elder scored 22 points to pace the Redwood High School freshman basketball team past Tamalpais yesterday 40-28. In another frosh contest Marin Catholic downed Terra Linda, 38-29.

Garner's Shooting Averts Drake Upset

An upset appeared in the making in San Anselmo last night when the lightly regarded Drake Pirates trailed the highly ranked Tamalpais Indians by a single point with 28 seconds to go.

But unbelievable Will Garner, who has come to the rescue of the Mill Valley team more than once this year, turned savior again with five points before the final buzzer to give Tam a 56-50 win in the Marin County Athletic League basketball game.

Drake was obviously feeling its oats after upsetting Marin Catholic Tuesday night, and a win in this one would have made the Pirates' season. As it is, they stand at 2-5 in league play. For Tam the game, as have been all league games, was a must win affair; the Indians remained in second place at 5-1, behind undefeated Redwood.

On paper, the Pirates had no business being in the same gym with Tam, the eighth ranked team in the Bay Area. The Indians had a tremendous size advantage, with four players at 6-foot-3 or over, while the Pirates had only one player that tall — sophomore Tom Carlisle.

Yet the Pirates not only made a game of it, but had Tam on the ropes much of the time. They led at halftime by five, and were within striking distance up until Garner's heroics. Specifically, the 6-foot-3 junior scored on a pair of tipins, the first of which he turned into a three point play. His total output for the game was 23 points.

Up until that time, the Indians had been carried throughout the second half by forward Clifford Hall, who hit for 11 points after the intermission. He had 13 altogether.

Drake was led, both on offense and defense, by senior forward Jim Forni, who scored 14. Mark Daubenfeld, whose 18 points on Tuesday dismantled Marin Catholic, contributed 11, and Jit Singh had nine.

Tamalpais	13	11	15	17	- 56
Drake	13	16	11	10	- 50

Tamalpais — Garner, 9-5-23; Huff, 3-5-11; McFerrin, 0-1-1; Locey, 3-0-6; Hall, 5-3-13; Eaton, 1-0-2; Totals — 21-14-56.

Drake — Forni, 6-2-14; Daubenfeld, 5-1-11; Gregg, 3-0-6; Singh, 4-1-9; Young, 2-1-5; Wilkinson, 1-3-5; Totals — 21-8-50.

'Who's He? Again Ask The 49er Fans

Ohio State Defender 1st Choice

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—When Forty Niners fans heard San Francisco had drafted someone named Tim Andersen as first round choice, their reaction probably was a puzzled "Who is he?"

A lot of football followers may not have heard of Anderson, but he's been a regular for three years at Ohio State as a cornerback. The problem is that most of the publicity went to Andersen's teammate, safety Jack Tatum, who was drafted earlier in the first round by the Oakland Raiders.

San Francisco followed its pattern Thursday of surprising choices in the draft selections, but coach Dick Nolan seemed to think that everyone should have known it all along.

"We went for the athlete, just as we said we would," Nolan said. "And we think Anderson is a great one."

Although the Forty Niners already have two solid cornerbacks, All-Pro Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor, Nolan said Anderson would be good insurance.

In the second round, San Francisco got two picks. They chose Ernie Janet, a 6-4, 241-pound offensive guard from the University of Washington and another surprise pick. This selection was made possible by a trade that sent Kevin Hardy to Green Bay.

San Francisco also picked Joe Orduna, a 6-1, 194-pound running back from Nebraska.

The Forty Niners again got two picks in the third round. On a choice acquired in the George Mira trade to Philadelphia, they drafted USC wide receiver Sam Dickerson, the Trojans' most dangerous long threat the past two seasons.

On the regular third round selection, San Francisco chose Willie Parker of North Texas State, a 6-3, 245-pound center.

Other choices by the Forty Niners in the seven rounds Thursday were Tony Harris, Toledo running back; Dean Shaternick, Kansas State tackle; George Wells, New Mexico State linebacker; Marty Huff, Michigan linebacker; Al Bresler, Auburn wide receiver; and John Watson, Oklahoma tackle.

FILLS NEED

Raiders Quickly Nab Jack Tatum

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders didn't ask questions when Jack Tatum was still available on the 19th pick in the football draft—they just nabbed the Ohio State star as quick as possible.

The raiders are in need of a safety now since the retirement of Dave Grayson, and Tatum, a two-time consensus All-America, may fill the bill.

"We sweated out the last few picks in front of us," coach John Madden said Thursday. "We were afraid someone else would take him."

Madden said he believes Tatum, a 6-0, 208-pounder, has the size and strength to play safety or cornerback. Since strong safety George Atkinson has been moved to Grayson's spot at free safety, Tatum probably will get a good chance at strong safety post.

The Raiders also obtained Bill (Earthquake) Enyart from the Buffalo Bills in a complex move. The Raiders gave the Bills kick returner Alvin Wyatt and their opening third round pick, which they had obtained in the Ike Lassiter trade from Boston. In addition to Enyart, the Raiders received the Bills' 10th round draft position.

Enyart, an All-America fullback at Oregon State, was a backup fullback to Wayne Patrick at Buffalo. But the Raiders may give Enyart a shot at a linebacker position with the Raiders.

"We've been talking to Buffalo about trading Enyart to us for almost two years," Madden said.

In the second round, the Raiders also selected Phil Villapiano, a 6-2, 216-pound linebacker from Bowling Green.

The Raiders also drafted two top West Coast products—Southern California halfback Clarence Davis in the fourth round and Stanford tight end Bob Moore in the fifth round.

Other choices by Oakland in the seven rounds Thursday were Penn State center Warren Koegel; Southern Cal linebacker Greg Slough; and Yale defensive back Don Martin.

Plunkett Is Ready To Learn From Kapp

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Plunkett, the Stanford quarterback selected No. 1 in the collegiate draft Thursday by the Boston Patriots, said he was "resigned to playing for any team that picked him and that he would be ready to play second string if necessary.

Plunkett was in New York when Boston coach John Mazur called him from Boston shortly after 10 a.m. to inform him that the Patriots had selected him. Plunkett said he would be very happy to play in Boston even though he grew up in California and has seldom played in cold weather.

"I just want to play pro ball and I've been resigned to the fact that I would play for the team that picked me," Plunkett said.

He added it would be a big help to go to a team which has a veteran quarterback like Joe Kapp, who signed a long-term contract with the Patriots last season.

"Kapp has been playing a long time and has quite a bit of knowledge and that's going to help someone new like me," Plunkett said.

When asked what his reaction will be if he winds up on the bench behind Kapp, Plunkett said, "Like everyone else I'd like to play right away, but if I've got to sit on the bench that's what I'll do."

When Plunkett was asked if he thought he might be asked to do some scrambling behind the Boston line he said, "I sure hope I get to stay in the pocket. I'm not much of a scrambler."

Rec Basketball

Four games were played in the San Rafael adult basketball league last night. The Centaurs beat the Harding Gophers, 40-27, Pinky's Pizza downed the Kennel Extraordinaire, 34-25, Southern Marin Towing took care of Dornbach Painting, 52-43 and Don Rumpf's Golf Shop defeated Cal's Steakhouse, 55-31.

Renault Drivers Win Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Sweden's Ove Andersson and British co-driver David Stone won the Monte Carlo Rally in a French Alpine Renault today after leading from start to finish.

The pair finished 40 seconds ahead of teammates Jean-Luc Therier and Marcel Callewaert as Alpine swept the first three places.

European rally champion Jean-Claude Andruet's Alpine finished third, tied with Sweden's Bjorn Waldegaard in the Works Porsche. Both were one minute, 51 seconds behind the leaders.

In fifth spot came the Japanese Datsun and Finn Rauno Aaltonen and Paul Easter.

It was the first victory for Andersson, a 32-year-old garage mechanic. Stone already won the event in 1968 with Vic Elford. It was also the first victory for the French cars in four years of trying.

Finn Simo Lampinen took sixth place in a Lancia, co-driven by Briton John Davenport.

"It was the biggest victory of my life," said Andersson, as he stepped wearily from his light blue car on the sunny Monte Carlo quayside.

"The only problem was, it was such a close thing. The car has been marvelous," he said.

Andersson and Stone led throughout the night of seven special speed trials despite some fierce opposition from Therier.

The rally was the toughest in many years, with fewer than 25 cars out of 224 starters crossing the finish line today.

Andersson got a big hug from his blonde wife on arrival. Both men poured champagne over each other in the traditional victory ceremony.

The closer we get to spring training the more serious the talks get. If they come closer to what I think I deserve, then we might work out a compromise. If not, then next baseball season I might still be working here at Taveggia-Brusati's."

Boccabella allowed as how he already has qualified for a baseball pension with four and one half years in the major league. "It takes four years to qualify and last year they had that to hold over my head during contract talks. But now I have a pension coming," he smiled.

SPEAKING OF big leaguers, there are now two more top athletes who call Marin County their home.

They are Frank Reberger, pitcher for the San Francisco Giants, and Robert Adams, end for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Reberger recently moved to Novato and Adams to Terra Linda. Adams, by the way, is brother of Novato City Recreation Director Ed Adams and is teaching seventh grade science at Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato.

GORDON TOVANI of San Rafael, the place kicking specialist who once tried out in vain for the Oakland Raiders, already is working on plans for his annual high school place kicking clinic scheduled for late in May, somewhere in Marin.

He may call it the "Tovani Boot Camp."

COUPLE OF PETERS in the news today:

Pete Carroll, star for last season's College of Marin football team, has been signed to a football scholarship by the University of Pacific and will enroll at the Stockton campus this spring.

And Peter Ashley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ashley of Greenbrae, has been chosen to represent the University of California at Santa Cruz in the epee event of the All-California Fencing tournament to be held in March in San Diego. Ashley, a Redwood High graduate, is a sophomore at Santa Cruz.

DOG LOVERS: Don't forget the Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show at the Cow Palace tomorrow and Sunday and any of you wise guys who mentions anything about Pup's Blue Ribbon will get 10 lashes by my poodle's tail.

Pro Golfers Continue Their Hot Shooting

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—If the weather continues fine — and the forecast is for warm, sunny days—the Andy Williams —San Diego Open could wind up as a replay of last week's Phoenix Open.

In the Phoenix, you'll recall, the cut for the final two rounds was set at five under par 139. In the San Diego Open, it could be almost as low when they trim the field after today's second round.

A total of 81 players in the starting field of 142 pros and two amateurs shot par or less in the opening round Thursday. When all the firing was over on a day tailor made for golf, Dave Eichelberger of Waco, Tex., and rookie Ralph Johnston of Jackson Heights, N.Y., were the leaders with six-under-par scores of 66.

The San Diego Open is being played over parts of Torrey Pines' two courses with the tourney layout a relatively flat 6,792-yards and par at 36-36—72.

Eichelberger, who missed making the 1971 exemption list by two places, sank a 198-yard, two iron shot for an eagle on the par four seventh hole. He also bagged birds on No. 2, 9, 11, 12, 13 and 18 and made his only mistake on the par three sixth when he three putted from 60 feet.

Johnston, who went to the PGA school five times before he finally picked up his playing card, had as spectacular a round as he sank birdie putts of every length on No. 1, 2, 6, 9, 13, 15 and 18 bogied 10 when he missed a putt of less than two feet. Eichelberger credited his fine round to his short game while Johnston said his putter made the big difference.

Australian Bob Shaw, another youngster trying to win fame on the American tour, led a group of seven players who had five-under 67s in the opening round. The others in that group were Los Angeles Open champ Bob Lunn, Charles Coody, Bob Dickson, Bill Garrett, Jack Montgomery and George Archer.

In with 68s were defending champ Pete Brown, Phoenix Open winner Miller Barber, Kermit Zarley, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Charles and Bobby Nichols, who eagled the par four fith hole. Ron Cerrudo of Napa had a disastroug openign round 76.

FRED HINES RETIRES

After 33 Years, He's Going To Miss The Kids

By RALPH CHATOIAN

"It will be good to get away from that alarm clock, but I'm sure going to miss the kids."

So said Fred G. Hines who closed out his active teaching profession today, last day of the fall semester, after 33½ half years as physical education instructor at San Rafael High School.

Knowing he will miss the sights and sounds of San Rafael High School which have become so familiar to him, Hines has asked that his name be put on the substitute teaching list at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools.

"I hope I can still get in one or two days a month of teaching," he said.

Hines, who will turn 60 on July 1, has been an active outdoorsman all his life and as he says, "I don't ever want to vegetate." That's why he still jogs two or three miles daily. He used to run competitively with the Marin Athletic Club until 1965 when he was advised by a doctor to slow down because of a heart problem.

A diminutive man who looks as fit as a fiddle, Hines still is active in back packing and rock climbing, in addition to his jogging. And with retirement here, he will be spending more time on his number one hobby — a collection of electric trains.

The trains, numbering more than 100, are in the basement of his home, 86 Embarcadero Way. He dug out his own basement area a few years ago and has the trains in a 20 by 30 foot room.

"I'm expanding the storage area in the basement and I still have some pick and shovel work in front of me," said Hines. "I've been keeping track; in the last 18 months I've hauled out 115 tons of dirt from the basement. That's 1,855 wheelbarrows full." He said he usually works at it for an hour or two a day.

Hines is treasurer of the Northern California division, Train Collectors Association, a national organization, and meets monthly with his train colleagues.

He said he will be using his retirement time for "further expansion of my hobbies — trains, back packing and running. I've got some house repairs to do and some digging in the basement. I'm not planning any elaborate trips or anything like that."

And he can also beat the crowd on back-packing trips. "I can go to the mountains in September, now," he said, "when the weather is great and the crowds are back to school."

Hines, who heads a co-educational rock climbing class at San Rafael High and leads weekend hikes at Mount Tamalpais, is a grandfather four times. He and wife Gertrude have a son, Terry, living in Middletown, Lake County, and a daughter Mrs. Michael Geary, living in Kentucky. Although born in San Francisco, Hines has lived in Marin County most of his life.

He attended elementary school in San Rafael and then San Rafael High School. Then after Stanford University, he taught two years at Doris, Siskiyou County, and another year at Denair, near Fresno. Since then he has been teaching P.E. and coaching at San Rafael High. He was tennis coach at San Rafael for 25 years, with 13 championships, before quitting active coaching in 1967.

"There's no question about it — I'll really miss the kids," said Hines. "As a teacher you get to see all the kids so you realize there are so many good ones. People who aren't in teaching only seem to see the bad ones and don't realize that all kids aren't bad. We, as teachers, know there are a heck of a lot of great ones."

Marin 'Cats Slip Past Terra Linda

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Steve Vanni poured forth a free throw with eight seconds left last night to climax a game-long comeback that brought Marin Catholic High School a 45-44 Marin County Athletic League basketball victory over the Terra Linda Trojans.

The final margin was the only lead of the night for Dave Hennessy's Wildcats, who had trailed by 10 points at the end of the first quarter. A capacity crowd of 500 at the Marin gym in Kentfield reacted to the victory, which broke a two game losing streak, with unbridled joy, an unbounded cacaphony of emotion.

But if the applause of the crowd rewarded the Wildcats, it symbolized bitter disappointment for the Trojans, who, in losing their third of seven MCAL games, saw any chances they might have entertained for the championship practically ruined. Marin is now 3-4.

Vanni's final shot, coming on a one-and-one situation when Bill Berry fouled him in an attempt to steal the ball, was his only point of the game; he is a defensive specialist who seldom shoots, but he made the most important shot of his high school career. The Wildcats

Frosh Basketball

Darrold Elder scored 22 points to pace the Redwood High School freshman basketball team past Tamalpais yesterday 40-28. In another frosh contest Marin Catholic downed Terra Linda, 38-29.

Garner's Shooting Averts Drake Upset

An upset appeared in the making in San Anselmo last night when the lightly regarded Drake Pirates trailed the highly ranked Tamalpais Indians by a single point with 28 seconds to go.

But unbelievable Will Garner, who has come to the rescue of the Mill Valley team more than once this year, turned savior again with five points before the final buzzer to give Tam a 56-50 win in the Marin County Athletic League basketball game.

Drake was obviously feeling its oats after upsetting Marin Catholic Tuesday night, and a win in this one would have made the Pirates' season. As it is, they stand at 2-5 in league play. For Tam the game, as have been all league games, was a must win affair; the Indians remained in second place at 5-1, behind undefeated Redwood.

On paper, the Pirates had no business being in the same gym with Tam, the eighth ranked team in the Bay Area. The Indians had a tremendous size advantage, with four players at 6-foot-3 or over, while the Pirates had only one player that tall — sophomore Tom Carlisle.

Yet the Pirates not only made a game of it, but had Tam on the ropes much of the time. They led at halftime by five, and were within striking distance up until Garner's heroics. Specifically, the 6-foot-3 junior scored on a pair of tipins, the first of which he turned into a three point play. His total output for the game was 23 points.

Up until that time, the Indians had been carried throughout the second half by forward Clifford Hall, who hit for 11 points after the intermission. He had 13 altogether.

Drake was led, both on offense and defense, by senior forward Jim Forni, who scored 14. Mark Daubenfeld, whose 18 points on Tuesday dismantled Marin Catholic, contributed 11, and Jit Singh had nine.

Big Wrestling Triumph For Terra Linda

Terra Linda High School wrestlers took a big step toward the Marin County Athletic League championship yesterday by beating San Rafael High, 28-17.

'Who's He? Again Ask The 49er Fans

Ohio State Defender 1st Choice

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—When Forty Niners fans heard San Francisco had drafted someone named Tim Andersen as first round choice, their reaction probably was a puzzled "Who is he?"

A lot of football followers may not have heard of Anderson, but he's been a regular for three years at Ohio State as a cornerback. The problem is that most of the publicity went to Andersen's teammate, safety Jack Tatum, who was drafted earlier in the first round by the Oakland Raiders.

San Francisco followed its pattern Thursday of surprising choices in the draft selections, but coach Dick Nolan seemed to think that everyone should have known it all along.

"We went for the athlete, just as we said we would," Nolan said. "And we think Anderson is a great one."

Although the Forty Niners already have two solid cornerbacks, All-Pro Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor, Nolan said Anderson would be good insurance.

In the second round, San Francisco got two picks. They chose Ernie Janet, a 6-4, 241-pound offensive guard from the University of Washington and another surprise pick. This selection was made possible by a trade that sent Kevin Hardy to Green Bay.

San Francisco also picked Joe Orduna, a 6-1, 194-pound running back from Nebraska.

The Forty Niners again got two picks in the third round. On a choice acquired in the George Mira trade to Philadelphia, they drafted USC wide receiver Sam Dickerson, the Trojans' most dangerous long threat the past two seasons.

On the regular third round selection, San Francisco chose Willie Parker of North Texas State, a 6-3, 245-pound center.

Other choices by the Forty Niners in the seven rounds Thursday were Tony Harris, Toledo running back; Dean Shaternick, Kansas State tackle; George Wells, New Mexico State linebacker; Marty Huff, Michigan linebacker; Al Bresler, Auburn wide receiver; and John Watson, Oklahoma tackle.

The draft resumed today. Seventeen rounds are scheduled.

FILLS NEED

Raiders Quickly Nab Jack Tatum

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders didn't ask questions when Jack Tatum was still available on the 19th pick in the football draft—they just nabbed the Ohio State star as quick as possible.

The raiders are in need of a safety now since the retirement of Dave Grayson, and Tatum, a two-time consensus All-America, may fill the bill.

"We sweated out the last few picks in front of us," coach John Madden said Thursday. "We were afraid someone else would take him."

Madden said he believes Tatum, a 6-0, 208-pounder, has the size and strength to play safety or cornerback. Since strong safety George Atkinson has been moved to Grayson's spot at free safety, Tatum probably will get a good chance at strong safety post.

The Raiders also obtained Bill (Earthquake) Enyart from the Buffalo Bills in a complex move. The Raiders gave the Bills kick returner Alvin Wyatt and their opening third round pick, which they had obtained in the Ike Lassiter trade from Boston. In addition to Enyart, the Raiders received the Bills' 10th round draft position.

Enyart, an All-America fullback at Oregon State, was a backup fullback to Wayne Patrick at Buffalo. But the Raiders may give Enyart a shot at a linebacker position with the Raiders.

"We've been talking to Buffalo about trading Enyart to us for almost two years," Madden said.

In the second round, the Raiders also selected Phil Villapiano, a 6-2, 216-pound linebacker from Bowling Green.

The Raiders also drafted two top West Coast products—Southern California halfback Clarence Davis in the fourth round and Stanford tight end Bob Moore in the fifth round.

Other choices by Oakland in the seven rounds Thursday were Penn State center Warren Koegel; Southern Cal linebacker Greg Slough; and Yale defensive back Don Martin.

Plunkett Is Ready To Learn From Kapp

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Plunkett, the Stanford quarterback selected No. 1 in the collegiate draft Thursday by the Boston Patriots, said he was "resigned to playing for any team that picked him and that he would be ready to play second string if necessary.

Plunkett was in New York when Boston coach John Mazur called him from Boston shortly after 10 a.m. to inform him that the Patriots had selected him. Plunkett said he would be very happy to play in Boston even though he grew up in California and has seldom played in cold weather.

"I just want to play pro ball and I've been resigned to the fact that I would play for the team that picked me," Plunkett said.

He added it would be a big help to go to a team which has a veteran quarterback like Joe Kapp, who signed a long-term contract with the Patriots last season.

"Kapp has been playing a long time and has quite a bit of knowledge and that's going to help someone new like me," Plunkett said.

When asked what his reaction will be if he winds up on the bench behind Kapp, Plunkett said, "Like everyone else I'd like to play right away, but if I've got to sit on the bench that's what I'll do."

When Plunkett was asked if he thought he might be asked to do some scrambling behind the Boston line he said, "I sure hope I get to stay in the pocket. I'm not much of a scrambler."

Rec Basketball

Four games were played in the San Rafael adult basketball league last night. The Centaurs beat the Harding Gophers, 40-27, Pinky's Pizza downed the Kennel Extraordinaire, 34-25, Southern Marin Towing took care of Dornbach Painting, 52-43 and Don Rumpf's Golf Shop defeated Cal's Steakhouse, 55-31.

Renault Drivers Win Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Sweden's Ove Andersson and British co-driver David Stone won the Monte Carlo Rally in a French Alpine Renault today after leading from start to finish.

The pair finished 40 seconds ahead of teammates Jean-Luc Therier and Marcel Callewaert as Alpine swept the first three places.

European rally champion Jean-Claude Andruet's Alpine finished third, tied with Sweden's Bjorn Waldegaard in the Works Porsche. Both were one minute, 51 seconds behind the leaders.

In fifth spot came the Japanese Datsun and Finn Rauno Aaltonen and Paul Easter.

It was the first victory for Andersson, a 32-year-old garage mechanic. Stone already won the event in 1968 with Vic Elford. It was also the first victory for the French cars in four years of trying.

Finn Simo Lampinen took sixth place in a Lancia, co-driven by Briton John Davenport.

"It was the biggest victory of my life," said Andersson, as he stepped wearily from his light blue car on the sunny Monte Carlo quayside.

"The only problem was, it was such a close thing. The car has been marvelous," he said.

Andersson and Stone led throughout the night of seven special speed trials despite some fierce opposition from Therier.

The rally was the toughest in many years, with fewer than 25 cars out of 224 starters crossing the finish line today.

Andersson got a big hug from his blonde wife on arrival. Both men poured champagne over each other in the traditional victory ceremony.

FISH AND GAME

New Regulations May Change Some Lives

By AL GIDDINGS

The new fishing regulations booklet has recently been released! Some of the changes may alter the course of your life! The changes go into effect onMarch 1, 1971. The change of the greatest magnitude is the one on Page 12, Article 5, No. 18 which reads: "General Trout and Salmon Seasons and Limits: (a) All lakes and reservoirs except those in Alpine, Inyo, and Mono Counties:

1. Open season: All year except for special closures and special seasons in Sections 20 through 34.95.

2. Limit: Five trout or salmon in combination except that from May 1 through Nov. 15, the limit is ten trout or salmon in combination, but not more than ten pounds and one fish (See sections 25 through 34.95 for reduced limits in certain waters.)

My comments: The above, in general, means that all lakes and reservoirs in the state except for those in Mono, Inyo and Alpine counties will be open year around starting March 1 of this year, except for the special closures listed in Sections 20 through 34.95. The limit will be five trout except from May 1 through Nov. 15 when most of the streams of the state will open and the limit becomes 10 trout.

Stream opening exceptions are in Del Norte, Humbolt, Mendocino and parts of Trinity and Lake counties. They open May 29 to Nov. 15.

In reading through the regulations, I notice that Lakes Phoenix, Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Rodeo Lagoon of Marin County now will have a five fish limit the year around. There is no mention of Alpine Lake and Kent Lake under the special regulations so the limit will be ten trout there from May 1 through Nov. 15 but five trout otherwise. At Berryessa, in Napa County, the limit is three trout, and at Davis Lake in Plumas County, the all year daily limit is five trout.

With the lakes in the Sierra opening March 1, fishermen will be actually fishing through the ice which is now legal in California. Some people will be going into areas that are far different from the areas they know in the late spring and summer. Vacation dates will be changed; and the snow, ice, and high waters will be something to really contend with!

Jeeps and snow mobiles may become the rage for trout fishermen. It's certainly something to think about! I usually go to Webber Lake in Sierra County. The ice breaks each year about May 1. I wonder just what I would do there March 1?

ARE YOU salt water fishermen laughing? Wait until you read Page 27, Article 2, titled "Fin Fish." It looks like a simple regulation, but it changes limits on all salt water fish except those listed to 15 per person with not more than 10 of any one species. We'll discuss it in the next column.

FISHING IN the San Pablo Bay area has been slow probably because the bay water is so cold. I'm sure the bass are around, but just not feeding with great desire. Our gang, Sam Knoles, Frank Sue, Marty Medin, Bob Wilson and I plus other occasional friends have averaged about one fish to the boat each trip. The fish have been good ones with the catches being divided evenly between sturgeon and bass. It figures out to about 20 fish for 20 trips, 10 bass and 10 sturgeon. Bob Wilson is sturgeon champ with one monster last Sunday that weighed 115 pounds on the Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor scales. He caught it south of the Richmond Bridge using ghost shrimp as bait on Marty Medin's Fenwick Fly Rod and 20-pound test monofilament. The fish had 21¼-pounds of roe that Bob and I are trying to make into caviar! The largest bass was a 30-35 pounder taken off China Camp last week. Who caught it? The little old wine maker — ME!

THE DEPARTMENT of Fish and Game boys who ran the bird receiving station at Terra Linda (4290 Redwood Highway) would like to express their thanks to all the people who helped make the station workable during the oil spill.

Special thanks go to Ben Oatlind, who donated the use of his warehouse and much of his time; and to Mr. Sthymmel for his jovial assistance. Most helpful were the following young people: Lisa Adrianne, Shelley Munson, Cindy Krier, Susan Anderson, Craig and Lauren Marston, plus many others' young and old whose names were never learned during those hectic hours.

Business firms helping out were The Fairchild Corp. of Terra Linda, Gotellis Rentals; Allied, Sausalito; Global and Atlas Moving and Storage Companies, Tam Lumber Co. of Mill Valley, Aquarian Beautiful and Weyerhauser Co. of Alameda.

Veterinarian R. N. Bromman of San Rafael gave a great deal of help and useful advice. To all who pitched in, we again say thanks.

National Hockey League Referee Bruce Hood spent a brief time on the Detroit Red Wings' bench last night during a game between the Red Wings and St. Louis in Detroit. Hood had been knocked over the boards when caught between two colliding players in the first period, and Detroit's Larry Brown (left), didn't appear too happy with the sudden visit. The game ended in a 1-1 tie.

had tied the game, also for the first time, on a bank shot by Jim Sullivan, his fifth and sixth points of the final quarter, with 1:24 left.

The comeback actually began in the second quarter, when Marin cut the deficit to five, but stalled in the third quarter, as Terra Linda's Larry Kerr singlehandedly kept the Wildcats at bay. When Bill Donellan, Marin's leader with 16 points, hit back-to-back baskets early in the period to close the score to 30-29, Kerr responded with a layup and two free throws to put the Trojans back in front by five. He ended with 17 points high for the game.

But the seeds of victory were sown in that third quarter, as the Wildcats' defense tightened behind Jack Stahl, Dennis Stone and Vanni. The latter, at 6-foot-3 the tallest man on the club, did a yeoman job of covering Joe Casteel, the Trojans' best shooter. He got only two points in the period, and nine in the game.

And the defense held in the final quarter, allowing the visitors just six points while Donellan, Sullivan, Stone and Vanni combined for 12 as the Wildcats twice pulled within two points, once within one, and finally ahead.

Laver Defeats Ashe For Another 10 G's

NEW YORK (UPI) — It took Rod Laver a little longer than usual to get cranked up Thursday night, but once he did the result was the same — another check for $10,000.

Laver picked up his seventh $10,000 check of the month by whipping Arthur Ashe, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4, in their winner-take-all match in Tennis Champions Classic at Madison Square Garden, and the red-haired Australian admitted it took him longer than it should have.

"I was a bit too loose at the start. It took me a little while to get keyed up this time," said Laver, who will try for another 10 grand against British lefthander Roger Taylor in Los Angeles on Feb. 3.

Reluctant Bather In The Hot Water

SOBOBA HOT SPRINGS — To me, the word "baths" in the sense of natural mineral springs always conjured up visions of fat old Prussians with monocles, brush hair cuts, mutton-chop whiskers, and dueling scars.

THEY WOULD carriage down to Bad Nauheim, or Marienbad, there to lower their corpulent bodies into vats of bubbling mud or reeking sulfur. Then, they would lumber over to crystal dining rooms to eat Sacher Torte or sauerbraten soaked in wine and mushroom sauce, washed down by flagons of Rhine wine. Then, they would sit out on the porch and belch all night.

Two weeks of this, and they would put on their spiked helmets and go out and slaughter somebody.

THEIR FAITH in the curative power of "the waters" was unshakable. They knew their diet was a formidable test of liver (there was those who thought the Germany war, like character, was more culinary than military), and gastro-intestinal disorders ran close on the heels of rheumatism and varicosities as an excuse for a visit to the baths.

In this country, railroad barons, copper kings and dry goods merchants made vulgar displays of their wealth at spas like Saratoga, White Sulphur and French Lick Springs, but they largely ignored the baths in favor of 50-cent cigars, $2 race horses, and no-limit card rooms. But hypochondriacs, to a man, have always been convinced that the fountain of youth has sulfur in it.

AS AN American city kid, I always figured these places were for Count Metternich or General Von Moltke or Diamond Jim Brady or Crown Prince Rudolph and I have studiously avoided anything that opened the pores on purpose, or raised the body temperature or increased circulation. I mean, boiling water is for turnips. The subway in August is sauna enough for anyone. If sweating makes you healthy, get an attic room in Connecticut any summer and you'll live forever. The only sulfur bath I ever took was when I fell in the Hog River there. All I got was scarlet fever.

YOU CAN see how I balked when my commanding general, the one with the brown eyes, called out, "We're going to a fat farm with Katie and Bill Huber when they come in town from Boston. It's a health resort run by their friend, Dr. Ben Thompson, called Soboba Hot Springs. It's got seven natural minerals running down the mountain."

"I can't," I said. "I can't go to a spa. I just sent my monocle out to be buffed. And I don't even have a spiked helmet."

"YOU'VE GOT TO," she told me firmly. "You're getting too fat."

"It's a civil right," I told her. "Right under the freedom of worship," 'The Congress shall make no laws to abridge the freedom of the people peacefully to get fat.' Listen! Let me tell you something, the potato chip was invented by a guy who ran a health resort. So was the mashed potato. Think about THAT, for a minute. In fact, I think a guy who ran an alcoholics cure invented the martini."

"There's an Indian legend that a whole tribe got sick and was dying and they followed a blue lizard to the baths where they were all cured," she told me.

"THERE'S ALWAYS an Indian legend," I told her wearily. "They're made up by guy on Madison Avenue whose idea of a smoke signal is a cigaret ad. Just remember, Ramona was written by a songwriter in Brooklyn."

Well, it didn't work. It never does. But when I got there, I got Dr. Thompson aside. I thought we best have the argument over with right then and there.

"LISTEN," I SAID. "I know this stuff is OK for a lot of bilious, liverish old European Rasputins, but I'm a busy man, and I'm not about to get down in a tub full of rotten eggs. If it was so great for the Indians, how's come we're not talking in sign language?"

Ben was gracious. "OK," he said cheerily, "why don't you just go down and have a beer?"

"WELL," I SAID, "I DO have this bad back. And didn't someone say Gene Tunney used to love it here?"

"Look," said Ben patiently, "Don't put yourself out. The baths have been here for hundreds of years. Most of the Indians ignored them. Only the chiefs used them."

He let that sink in. A few moments later, I did, too — into the deep vats of boiling sulfur. I have now launched a new career. Rhinestone Jim Murray, the boulevardier of the baths. I plan to get a vest, and spread a gold watch chain across it, or a tuxedo with a red sash. I plan to sit around discussing gas symptoms. After only two hot baths, already I'm beginning to feel like one of the Hapsburgs.

THE MOTION PICTURE THE WHOLE COUNTRY IS TALKING ABOUT!

More than 200,000 people of all ages and walks of life were recently guests at a special nationwide premiere of WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS' THE WILD COUNTRY.

The gripping story of a pioneering family who take on every challenge of the untamed Wyoming frontier brought thrills, tears and laughter to young and old alike, who were caught up in its excitement.

They sat on the edge of their chairs as a cyclone tore across the screen; they laughed at a little tenderfoot's amazing menagerie; they were moved by the inspiring scene of the birth of a colt; and they cheered as a family stood together to fight for their dream.

THEY HAD A WONDERFUL TIME AT THE MOVIES!

Now, the motion picture that brought them so much enjoyment, WALT DISNEY PRODUCTIONS' THE WILD COUNTRY, is yours to share with your entire family.

FISH AND GAME

New Regulations May Change Some Lives

By AL GIDDINGS

The new fishing reguiations booklet has recently been released! Some of the changes may alter the course of your life! The changes go into effect onMarch 1, 1971. The change of the greatest magnitude is the one on Page 12, Article 5, No. 18 which reads: "General Trout and Salmon Seasons and Limits: (a) All lakes and reservoirs except those in Alpine, Inyo, and Mono Counties:

1. Open season: All year except for special closures and special seasons in Sections 20 through 34.95.

2. Limit: Five trout or salmon in combination except that from May 1 through Nov. 15, the limit is ten trout or salmon in combination, but not more than ten pounds and one fish (See sections 25 through 34.95 for reduced limits in certain waters.)

My comments: The above, in general, means that all lakes and reservoirs in the state except for those in Mono, Inyo and Alpine counties will be open year around starting March 1 of this year, except for the special closures listed in Sections 20 through 34.95. The limit will be five trout except from May 1 through Nov. 15 when most of the streams of the state will open and the limit becomes 10 trout.

Stream opening exceptions are in Del Norte, Humbolt, Mendocino and parts of Trinity and Lake counties. They open May 29 to Nov. 15.

In reading through the regulations, I notice that Lakes Phoenix, Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Rodeo Lagoon of Marin County now will have a five fish limit the year around. There is no mention of Alpine Lake and Kent Lake under the special regulations so the limit will be ten trout there from May 1 through Nov. 15 but five trout otherwise. At Berryessa, in Napa County, the limit is three trout, and at Davis Lake in Plumas County, the all year daily limit is five trout.

With the lakes in the Sierra opening March 1, fishermen will be actually fishing through the ice which is now legal in California. Some people will be going into areas that are far different from the areas they know in the late spring and summer. Vacation dates will be changed; and the snow, ice, and high waters will be something to really contend with!

Jeeps and snow-mobiles may become the rage for trout fishermen. It's certainly something to think about! I usually go to Webber Lake in Sierra County. The ice breaks each year about May 1. I wonder just what I would do there March 1?

ARE YOU salt water fishermen laughing? Wait until you read Page 27, Article 2, titled "Fin Fish." It looks like a simple regulation, but it changes limits on all salt water fish except those listed to 15 per person with not more than 10 of any one species. We'll discuss it in the next column.

FISHING IN the San Pablo Bay area has been slow probably because the bay water is so cold. I'm sure the bass are around, but just not feeding with great desire. Our gang, Sam Knoles, Frank Sue, Marty Medin, Bob Wilson and I plus other occasional friends have averaged about one fish to the boat each trip. The fish have been good ones with the catches being divided evenly between sturgeon and bass. It figures out to about 20 fish for 20 trips, 10 bass and 10 sturgeon. Bob Wilson is sturgeon champ with one monster last Sunday that weighed 115 pounds on the Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor scales. He caught it south of the Richmond Bridge using ghost shrimp as bait on Marty Medin's Fenwick Fly Rod and 20-pound test monofilament. The fish had 21¼-pounds of roe that Bob and I are trying to make into caviar! The largest bass was a 30-35 pounder taken off China Camp last week. Who caught it? The little old wine maker — ME!

THE DEPARTMENT of Fish and Game boys who ran the bird receiving station at Terra Linda (4290 Redwood Highway) would like to express their thanks to all the people who helped make the station workable during the oil spill.

Special thanks go to Ben Oatlind, who donated the use of his warehouse and much of his time; and to Mr. Sthymmel for his jovial assistance. Most helpful were the following young people: Lisa Adrianne, Shelley Munson, Cindy Krier, Susan Anderson, Craig and Lauren Marston, plus many others' young and old whose names were never learned during those hectic hours.

Business firms helping out were The Fairchild Corp. of Terra Linda, Gotellis Rentals; Allied, Sausalito; Global and Atlas Moving and Storage Companies, Tam Lumber Co. of Mill Valley, Aquarian Beautiful and Weyerhauser Co. of Alameda.

Veterinarian R. N. Bromman of San Rafael gave a great deal of help and useful advice. To all who pitched in, we again say thanks.

GLAD YOU DROPPED IN

National Hockey League Referee Bruce Hood spent a brief time on the Detroit Red Wings' bench last night during a game between the Red Wings and St. Louis in Detroit. Hood had been knocked over the boards when caught between two colliding players in the first period, and Detroit's Larry Brown (left), didn't appear too happy with the sudden visit. The game ended in a 1-1 tie.

MARIN

The comeback actually began in the second quarter, when Marin cut the deficit to five, but stalled in the third quarter, as Terra Linda's Larry Kerr singlehandedly kept the Wildcats at bay. When Bill Donellan, Marin's leader with 16 points, hit back-to-back baskets early in the period to close the score to 30-29, Kerr responded with a layup and two free throws to put the Trojans back in front by five. He ended with 17 points high for the game.

But the seeds of victory were sown in that third quarter, as the Wildcats' defense tightened behind Jack Stahl, Dennis Stone and Vanni. The latter, at 6-foot-3 the tallest man on the club, did a yeoman job of covering Joe Casteel, the Trojans' best shooter. He got only two points in the period, and nine in the game.

And the defense held in the final quarter, allowing the visitors just six points while Donellan, Sullivan, Stone and Vanni combined for 12 as the Wildcats twice pulled within two points, once within one, and finally ahead.

Laver Defeats Ashe For Another 10 G's

NEW YORK (UPI) — It took Rod Laver a little longer than usual to get cranked up Thursday night, but once he did the result was the same — another check for $10,000.

Laver picked up his seventh $10,000 check of the month by whipping Arthur Ashe, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4, in their winner-take-all match in Tennis Champions Classic at Madison Square Garden, and the red-haired Australian admitted it took him longer than it should have.

"I was a bit too loose at the start. It took me a little while to get keyed up this time," said Laver, who will try for another 10 grand against British lefthander Roger Taylor in Los Angeles on Feb. 3.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Consumer Stocks: Long-Term Gains

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I wonder how many readers write you in appreciation for your clear answers to their investment questions? Anyway I wish to express my personal thanks to you for helping me, as well as others, solve our seemingly complex financial problems. Would you list a few good quality long-range growth stocks? — G. D.

A. It is always gratifying to hear that my efforts have benefited an investor. In my opinion, consumer-oriented stocks are the most dependable issues for steady growth over the longer term.

In this group Warner-Lambert, recently merged with Parke, Davis, has an excellent record and above-average potential. Other equally appealing issues include: American Hospital Supply, Avon Products, Bristol Myers, Consolidated Foods, Eastmen Kodak, Plough, Inc., Tampax, H. J. Heinz and Weyerhaeuser.

Q. Can you give me information on a risk stock called Realty Income Trust? — F. C.

A. This company, in order to qualify as a real estate investment trust, must distribute at least 90 per cent of income and 100 per cent of capital gains to stockholders. While this exempts the company from Federal income taxes, it does not affect the tax status of distributions received by shareholders.

In 1970, $1.22 a share was paid out, for a 9.1 per cent current yield. However, since dividends are tied to earnings this high rate of return is subject to modification. A drop in second quarter — ended October 31, 1970 — results, pulled six-month earnings to 56 cents a share, 8.2 per cent below year-earlier results!

Properties owned include: secured notes, 39 per cent of assets at the 1970 year end; land under hotels and offices, 30 per cent industrial properties, 13 per cent parking garages, 9 per cent cash and unimproved land, 9 per cent. Late in 1970 Realty entered into an agreement, subject to stockholder approval, with a subsidiary of Industrial National Bank.

If approved, the latter, with 24.6 per cent of the stock, would be RIT's largest shareholder. Another group presently owns 12 per cent of the outstanding stock. There are several companies in this industry with longer and more consistent earnings records which I would prefer.

Navy Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — General Dynamics Corp. has received a $21 million navy contract for production of sonar systems and associated equipment. Lockheed Aircraft Corp. received a $6 million addition to a Navy contract for gunfire control systems.

Stock Market Sets Mark For Busiest Trade Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks were strong in heavy trading late Friday.

With about an hour to go, advances were leading declines, 919 to 431, while the Dow Jnes industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 3½ points. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index showed a gain of 0.64 at 95.85.

A four-hour volume of 15,880,000 shares brought volume for the week to around 95,000,000 shares, a new record. The previous record turnover for a single week was 92,282,680 shares set in the first week of December last year.

Helping spur demand for stocks was favorable reaction to President Nixon's budget message to congress and a Labor Department report that inflation slowed a bit in 1970 because of a sharp leveling off of food prices.

Oil Talks Open Between Arabs, Western Firms

TEHRAN (UPI) — Negotiations have opened between representatives of major Western oil companies and the Persian Gulf states aimed at averting a crisis in the oil industry.

Iran's Minister of Finance Jamshid Amouzegar said the talks progressed satisfactorily during the first four-hour session involving ministers from Iran, Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

He said the oil company representatives agreed to restrict the negotiations to the Persian Gulf area.

At least three members of the 10-nation oil exporting countries have threatened to cut off supplies to Western Europe and Japan if their demands are not met.

Recycling May Produce Profit

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — If the public keeps those cans and bottles coming, the Coca Cola Co. may just be able to profit from crunching them up and recycling them.

The Madison plant pays a penny a pound for bottles and cans from their product. They will accept, but not pay for, containers of other products.

The plant flattens the cans and pulverizes the bottles, then uses them in making new containers.

For a while the process didn't do so well — it has lost $9.190 since it opened last September. But losses were cut to $1,063 in December and this month the firm expects 91,000 pounds of cans and bottles.

Lube Oil Out

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Atlantic Richfield Co. has announced plans to discontinue production of lubricating oils at its refinery here, a move that will cut the 2,400-man work force by 375.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Pensions Are Usually Taxed, But Sometimes They're Exempt

Pensions are usually taxed.

Sometimes they are tax exempt. Sometimes a part is tax exempt. Sometimes it is all tax exempt until you have recovered your investment in the contract and then it is all taxed.

If you get compensation for a disability received during the performance of your job and where the payments are in the nature of workmen's compensation, then the amount received is not taxed.

If you did not pay into the pension plan, then the full amount received is included in your income.

Where you did pay into the pension, the amounts received are taxed under the annuity rules.

That is, part of the payments are excluded to the extent that they are a return of your payments into the plan.

The part excluded is the payment received during the year multiplied by the total you paid in and divided by the total amount you expect to receive from the plan.

The total you expect to receive is figured by multiplying the total received annually by your life expectancy, or by the number of years the payments will be made. The life expectancy figures are in tables provided by the IRS.

If the total you will receive in the first three years is more than the total you paid in, a special rule applies. All payments you receive are not taxed until you have fully recovered all that you have paid in. After that, all payments are taxed.

Did you retire in 1970 and receive a lump sum distribution from your employer's qualified pension, profit sharing or stock bonus plan?

If you did, part of it will be taxed as long term capital gains and part as ordinary income and part will be tax free.

How does that work?

Any amount contributed by your employer and the appreciation on such amounts prior to January 1, 1970, will be taxed at long term capital gains rates.

Any contributions by your employer after January 1, 1970, will be taxed as ordinary income.

Any contributions that you made to the plan, you will receive back tax free.

There is a ceiling on the ordinary income tax limiting your total tax if you have been in the plan five years or more.

Some wage continuation plans are part of the employee's pension or profit-sharing plan. If you are permanently disabled, you get your pension immediately. If so, your benefits from the plan would not be an ordinary pension. It would be a wage continuation plan and subject to the sick pay exclusion until you reach retirement age. Any further sums received after retirement age under the plan would be taxed as a pension.

If you are receiving a pension, you can now have the tax withheld. All you have to do is file form W-4P with the payor of the pension or annuity, stating the amount you want withheld and the other information required.

These forms are available at local IRS offices.

The payor of your pension will start making these deductions for withholding within three months after your request. They may start sooner if they can.

Also, you can have them deduct more than the tax on your pension so that you won't have to file an estimate at all. In other words, you can have enough deducted from your pension so that it will cover the tax on your interest, dividends and other income.

The only thing is: the withholding must be at least $5 per month and it can't be so large that it reduces the net amount of any payment you receive to less than $10. Here's a good way to save yourself the trouble of filing an estimated tax return.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Manufactures In Production Drop

California's manufactures accumulated $25.24 billion in 1970 — but the increase was so slim as to represent a decline in production.

The gain was only eight 10ths of 1 per cent and the effects of inflation more than cancelled that out, according to a report from the Bank of California. Manufacturing's share of total output of goods and services slipped from 23.6 per cent in 1969 to 22.8 per cent in 1970.

The loss was entirely in durable production, which declined 1.8 per cent. Nondurable production advanced 5.7 per cent — but there wasn't enough of it to swing the pendulum ahead. A 16-per cent decline in transportation equipment production accounted for most of the decrease.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF CALIFORNIA net income for 1970 is estimated at $454.8 million or $5.36 a share — just a shade above 1969's $453.8 million or $5.35 a share. The fourth quarter saved the year with net income of $126.9 million a 12-per cent gain from the previous year.

ALBERTSON'S, INC. of Boise, Idaho, western state supermarket chain, and the Skaggs Companies, Inc. have initiated preliminary discussions on a possible merger. Seven new units opened by Albertson's in Texas are already combination Skaggs-Albertson stores operated in a joint venture.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORP. directors have declared a dividend of 60 cents per share of common stock, payable March 10. Income for the fourth quarter is reported at $39 million or 72 cents per common share on sales of $1,242.8 million. Last year's income totaled $147.5 million or $2.72 per share — compared with $217.2 million or $4.01 per share in 1969. The General Motors strike, slowdown of the general economy and rising imports during the second half of the year are said to be responsible for the decline.

R. H. MACY AND CO., INC. has elected Edward Finkelstein, president of Macy's of California, to its board of directors. He joined Macy's New York in 1948 and has been president of the California division since 1968.

CONSOLIDATED FREIGHTWAYS, INC. sales and earnings dropped sharply in 1970. Net income was $7.86 million, down 45 per cent from $14.4 million in 1969. Earnings per share slipped from $2.59 to $1.39 and 1970 sales of $397 million were off 12 per cent from the previous year.

KIMBERLY-CLARK CORP. 1970 sales and earnings were adversely affected by strikes and economic conditions. While sales increased to $866 million in 1969, net income was only $38.3 million or $1.64 per share, compared with $49.9 million or $2.31 per share for the previous year.

GULF OIL CORP. has estimated that its consolidated net income for 1970 was $550.4 million, a decline of 9.9 per cent from earnings in 1969. Per share earnings were $2.65, down from $2.95 for the previous year. Gulf's total revenues for 1970 are estimated at $6.7 billion, up more than 8 per cent over the $6.2 billion in 1969.

HIBERNIA BANK, San Francisco has elected senior vice president Ernest O. McCormick to succeed retiring chairman of the board J. O. Tobin. McCormick has been with the bank 39 years.

WILSON AND CO., INC., food industry subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., reported preliminary unaudited figures showing record sales of $1,463 million and record earnings of $12.6 million or $2.50 per share for 1970. Sales for 1969 were $1,285 million. Net income (before extraordinary charges) in 1969 was $8.3 million or $1.51 per share.

Free World Worries About Oil Supplies

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—The Free World had good cause to worry about conditions in the Middle East. Reserves from the Mideast and North Africa dominate the world's oil supply system.

"Of the known oil reserves of the non-communist world today, more than 80 per cent are contained in the North Africa-Middle East area," Wilson M. Laird, director of the Office of Oil and Gas of the U.S. Department of Labor, says.

"Nearly every country of the Free World is dependent to some degree on oil from the Middle East and North Africa," Laird adds. "In particular, Western Europe relies on oil from these areas to the extent of 85 per cent of its total oil supply, and more than half of its total energy supply."

Laird says Japan relies on the Mideast for nearly 90 per cent of its oil supply and 60 per cent of its total energy, and the United States relies on Mideast-North Africa sources to meet 3 per cent of its oil needs.

Though the U.S. figure isn't startling alone, it takes on significance when you consider the East Coast of this country relies on oil from those two sources for one-fifth of its total energy needs.

Laird feels declining exploration and development in the United States is dimming prospects for retaining "significant unused capacity in the future," and adds those prospects emphasize the need for Alaskan oil from that state's North Slope.

"No longer is the United States self-sufficient in oil," Laird observes.

"Without renewed efforts to add to our productive capacity, this dependence on foreign oil sources will rise to a precarious level.

"According to present estimates, even if one million barrels per day of North Slope oil should be available by 1975, we will need to import four million barrels per day of oil — equivalent to a 24 per cent of our demand.

"The greater portion of this probably will come from Western Hemisphere sources, but we will be depending on Eastern Hemisphere sources to supply 7 per cent of our demand."

He said without North Slope oil, that dependency would rise to 13 per cent, and that by 1980, with two million barrels per day of North Slope oil available, dependency on Eastern Hemisphere imports would be 6 per cent. Without Alaskan oil, it would rise to 17 per cent.

"The importance to the U.S. of a healthy, expanding domestic oil industry is great indeed," Laird said. "We have seen how a couple of minor disturbances in the Free World oil supply can knock the entire balance askew."

He added that what was not becoming apparent, was "a revival of prospecting and development in the lower 48 states of the scale and quality needed to assure the expansion we require in the historic producing provinces that have until now provided us with the bulk of our supplies of oil and gas."

GM Losses: $135 Million For Quarter

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors Corp. said it lost $135 million in the final quarter of 1970 because of the United Auto Workers' strike but still had a $609 million profit for the year.

For 1970, the company's profits sank to almost one-third of its 1969 net income of $1.71 billion, Board Chairman James M. Roche and President Edward N. Cole said.

In the third quarter, the company lost $88 million as a result of the strike, which began Sept. 15 and lasted 67 days.

GM's earnings in 1970 worked out to $2.09 per share of common stock, compared with $5.95 in 1969. Worldwide sales totaled $18.8 billion, compared with $24.3 billion in 1969.

Electric Fan

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Electric Power System plans to spend more than $475 million for construction and upgrading of generation, transmission and other electrical service facilities in 1971. Capital expenditures last year totaled $498 million.

Motor Home Move

TOLEDO (UPI) — Sheller Globe Corp. says Chrysler Corp. will market its motor homes on markets outside the United States and Canada. Terms of the agreement were not disclosed. Chrysler will market the recreational vehicles through its subsidiary, Chrysler International.

FHA Fee Hike For Loan Application

WASHINGTON — The Federal Housing Administration has announced a $5 increase in the application fee for FHA home loans.

The increase boosts the fee for an existing house from $35 to $40 and the fee for homes under construction from $45 to $50.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Consumer Stocks: Long-Term Gains

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I wonder how many readers write you in appreciation for your clear answers to their investment questions? Anyway I wish to express my personal thanks to you for helping me, as well as others, solve our seemingly complex financial problems. Would you list a few good quality long-range growth stocks? — G. D.

A. It is always gratifying to hear that my efforts have benefited an investor. In my opinion, consumer-oriented stocks are the most dependable issues for steady growth over the longer term.

In this group Warner-Lambert, recently merged with Parke, Davis, has an excellent record and above-average potential. Other equally appealing issues include: American Hospital Supply, Avon Products, Bristol Myers, Consolidated Foods, Eastmen Kodak, Plough, Inc., Tampax, H. J. Heinz and Weyerhaeuser.

Q. Can you give me information on a risk stock called Realty Income Trust? — F. C.

A. This company, in order to qualify as a real estate investment trust, must distribute at least 90 per cent of income and 100 per cent of capital gains to stockholders. While this exempts the company from Federal income taxes, it does not affect the tax status of distributions received by shareholders.

In 1970, $1.22 a share was paid out, for a 9.1 per cent current yield. However, since dividends are tied to earnings this high rate of return is subject to modification. A drop in second quarter — ended October 31, 1970 — results, pulled six-month earnings to 56 cents a share, 8.2 per cent below year-earlier results!

Properties owned include: secured notes, 39 per cent of assets at the 1970 year end; land under hotels and offices, 30 per cent industrial properties, 13 per cent parking garages, 9 per cent cash and unimproved land, 9 per cent. Late in 1970 Realty entered into an agreement, subject to stockholder approval, with a subsidiary of Industrial National Bank.

If approved, the latter, with 24.6 per cent of the stock, would be RIT's largest shareholder. Another group presently owns 12 per cent of the outstanding stock. There are several companies in this industry with longer and more consistent earnings records which I would prefer.

Navy Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — General Dynamics Corp. has received a $21 million navy contract for production of sonar systems and associated equipment. Lockheed Aircraft Corp. received a $6 million addition to a Navy contract for gunfire control systems.

Stock Market Sets Mark For Busiest Trade Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks were strong in heavy trading late Friday.

With about an hour to go, advances were leading declines, 919 to 431, while the Dow Jnes industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 3½ points. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index showed a gain of 0.64 at 95.85.

A four-hour volume of 15,880,000 shares brought volume for the week to around 95,000,000 shares, a new record. The previous record turnover for a single week was 92,282,680 shares set in the first week of December last year.

Helping spur demand for stocks was favorable reaction to President Nixon's budget message to congress and a Labor Department report that inflation slowed a bit in 1970 because of a sharp leveling off of food prices.

Oil Talks Open Between Arabs, Western Firms

TEHRAN (UPI) — Negotiations have opened between representatives of major Western oil companies and the Persian Gulf states aimed at averting a crisis in the oil industry.

Iran's Minister of Finance Jamshid Amouzegar said the talks progressed satisfactorily during the first four-hour session involving ministers from Iran, Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

He said the oil company representatives agreed to restrict the negotiations to the Persian Gulf area.

At least three members of the 10-nation oil exporting countries have threatened to cut off supplies to Western Europe and Japan if their demands are not met.

Recycling May Produce Profit

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — If the public keeps those cans and bottles coming, the Coca Cola Co. may just be able to profit from crunching them up and recycling them.

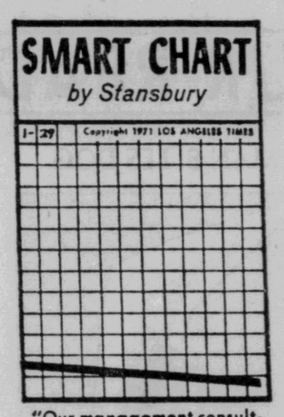
The Madison plant pays a penny a pound for bottles and cans from their product. They will accept, but not pay for, containers of other products.

The plant flattens the cans and pulverizes the bottles, then uses them in making new containers.

For a while the process didn't do so well — it has lost $9.190 since it opened last September. But losses were cut to $1,063 in December and this month the firm expects 91,000 pounds of cans and bottles.

Lube Oil Out

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Atlantic Richfield Co. has announced plans to discontinue production of lubricating oils at its refinery here, a move that will cut the 2,400-man work force by 375.



"Our management consultants took two years to tell us what we already know . . . we have a sales problem."

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Pensions Are Usually Taxed, But Sometimes They're Exempt

Pensions are usually taxed.

Sometimes they are tax exempt. Sometimes a part is tax exempt. Sometimes it is all tax exempt until you have recovered your investment in the contract and then it is all taxed.

If you get compensation for a disability received during the performance of your job and where the payments are in the nature of workmen's compensation, then the amount received is not taxed.

If you did not pay into the pension plan, then the full amount received is included in your income.

Where you did pay into the pension, the amounts received are taxed under the annuity rules.

That is, part of the payments are excluded to the extent that they are a return of your payments into the plan.

The part excluded is the payment received during the year multiplied by the total you paid in and divided by the total amount you expect to receive from the plan.

The total you expect to receive is figured by multiplying the total received annually by your life expectancy, or by the number of years the payments will be made. The life expectancy figures are in tables provided by the IRS.

If the total you will receive in the first three years is more than the total you paid in, a special rule applies. All payments you receive are not taxed until you have fully recovered all that you have paid in. After that, all payments are taxed.

Did you retire in 1970 and receive a lump sum distribution from your employer's qualified pension, profit sharing or stock bonus plan?

If you did, part of it will be taxed as long term capital gains and part as ordinary income and part will be tax free.

How does that work?

Any amount contributed by your employer and the appreciation on such amounts prior to January 1, 1970, will be taxed at long term capital gains rates.

Any contributions by your employer after January 1, 1970, will be taxed as ordinary income.

Any contributions that you made to the plan, you will receive back tax free.

There is a ceiling on the ordinary income tax limiting your total tax if you have been in the plan five years or more.

Some wage continuation plans are part of the employee's pension or profit-sharing plan. If you are permanently disabled, you get your pension immediately. If so, your benefits from the plan would not be an ordinary pension. It would be a wage continuation plan and subject to the sick pay exclusion until you reach retirement age. Any further sums received after retirement age under the plan would be taxed as a pension.

If you are receiving a pension, you can now have the tax withheld. All you have to do is file form W-4P with the payor of the pension or annuity, stating the amount you want withheld and the other information required.

These forms are available at local IRS offices.

The payor of your pension will start making these deductions for withholding within three months after your request. They may start sooner if they can.

Also, you can have them deduct more than the tax on your pension so that you won't have to file an estimate at all. In other words, you can have enough deducted from your pension so that it will cover the tax on your interest, dividends and other income.

The only thing is: the withholding must be at least $5 per month and it can't be so large that it reduces the net amount of any payment you receive to less than $10. Here's a good way to save yourself the trouble of filing an estimated tax return.

THE WEEK'S BUSINESS

Manufactures In Production Drop

California's manufactures accumulated $25.24 billion in 1970 — but the increase was so slim as to represent a decline in production.

The gain was only eight 10ths of 1 per cent and the effects of inflation more than cancelled that out, according to a report from the Bank of California. Manufacturing's share of total output of goods and services slipped from 23.6 per cent in 1969 to 22.8 per cent in 1970.

The loss was entirely in durable production, which declined 1.8 per cent. Nondurable production advanced 5.7 per cent — but there wasn't enough of it to swing the pendulum ahead. A 16-per cent decline in transportation equipment production accounted for most of the decrease.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF CALIFORNIA net income tor 1970 is estimated at $454.8 million or $5.36 a share — just a shade above 1969's $453.8 million or $5.35 a share. The fourth quarter saved the year with net income of $126.9 million a 12-per cent gain from the previous year.

ALBERTSON'S, INC. of Boise, Idaho, western state supermarket chain, and the Skaggs Companies, Inc. have initiated preliminary discussions on a possible merger. Seven new units opened by Albertson's in Texas are already combination Skaggs-Albertson stores operated in a joint venture.

UNITED STATES STEEL CORP. directors have declared a dividend of 60 cents per share of common stock, payable March 10. Income for the fourth quarter is reported at $39 million or 72 cents per common share on sales of $1,242.8 million. Last year's income totaled $147.5 million or $2.72 per share — compared with $217.2 million or $4.01 per share in 1969. The General Motors strike, slowdown of the general economy and rising imports during the second half of the year are said to be responsible for the decline.

R. H. MACY AND CO., INC. has elected Edward Finkelstein, president of Macy's of California, to its board of directors. He joined Macy's New York in 1948 and has been president of the California division since 1968.

CONSOLIDATED FREIGHTWAYS, INC. sales and earnings dropped sharply in 1970. Net income was $7.86 million, down 45 per cent from $14.4 million in 1969. Earnings per share slipped from $2.59 to $1.39 and 1970 sales of $397 million were off 12 per cent from the previous year.

KIMBERLY-CLARK CORP. 1970 sales and earnings were adversely affected by strikes and economic conditions. While sales increased to $866 million in 1969, net income was only $38.3 million or $1.64 per share, compared with $49.9 million or $2.31 per share for the previous year.

GULF OIL CORP. has estimated that its consolidated net income for 1970 was $550.4 million, a decline of 9.9 per cent from earnings in 1969. Per share earnings were $2.65, down from $2.95 for the previous year. Gulf's total revenues for 1970 are estimated at $6.7 billion, up more than 8 per cent over the $6.2 billion in 1969.

HIBERNIA BANK, San Francisco has elected senior vice president Ernest O. McCormick to succeed retiring chairman of the board J. O. Tobin. McCormick has been with the bank 39 years.

WILSON AND CO., INC., food industry subsidiary of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., reported preliminary unaudited figures showing record sales of $1,463 million and record earnings of $12.6 million or $2.50 per share for 1970. Sales for 1969 were $1,285 million. Net income (before extraordinary charges) in 1969 was $8.3 million or $1.51 per share.

Free World Worries About Oil Supplies

TULSA, Okla. (UPI)—The Free World had good cause to worry about conditions in the Middle East. Reserves from the Mideast and North Africa dominate the world's oil supply system.

"Of the known oil reserves of the non-communist world today, more than 80 per cent are contained in the North Africa-Middle East area," Wilson M. Laird, director of the Office of Oil and Gas of the U.S. Department of Labor, says.

"Nearly every country of the Free World is dependent to some degree on oil from the Middle East and North Africa," Laird adds. "In particular, Western Europe relies on oil from these areas to the extent of 85 per cent of its total oil supply, and more than half of its total energy supply."

Laird says Japan relies on the Mideast for nearly 90 per cent of its oil supply and 60 per cent of its total energy, and the United States relies on Mideast-North Africa sources to meet 3 per cent of its oil needs.

Though the U.S. figure isn't startling alone, it takes on significance when you consider the East Coast of this country relies on oil from those two sources for one-fifth of its total energy needs.

Laird feels declining exploration and development in the United States is dimming prospects for retaining "significant unused capacity in the future," and adds those prospects emphasize the need for Alaskan oil from that state's North Slope.

"No longer is the United States self-sufficient in oil," Laird observes.

"Without renewed efforts to add to our productive capacity, this dependence on foreign oil sources will rise to a precarious level.

"According to present estimates, even if one million barrels per day of North Slope oil should be available by 1975, we will need to import four million barrels per day of oil — equivalent to a 24 per cent of our demand.

"The greater portion of this probably will come from Western Hemisphere sources, but we will be depending on Eastern Hemisphere sources to supply 7 per cent of our demand."

He said without North Slope oil, that dependency would rise to 13 per cent, and that by 1980, with two million barrels per day of North Slope oil available, dependency on Eastern Hemisphere imports would be 6 per cent. Without Alaskan oil, it would rise to 17 per cent.

"The importance to the U.S. of a healthy, expanding domestic oil industry is great indeed," Laird said. "We have seen how a couple of minor disturbances in the Free World oil supply can knock the entire balance askew."

He added that what was not becoming apparent, was "a revival of prospecting and development in the lower 48 states of the scale and quality needed to assure the expansion we require in the historic producing provinces that have until now provided us with the bulk of our supplies of oil and gas."

FHA Fee Hike For Loan Application

WASHINGTON — The Federal Housing Administration has announced a $5 increase in the application fee for FHA home loans.

The increase boosts the fee for an existing house from $35 to $40 and the fee for homes under construction from $45 to $50.

Change Of Purpose For Proposed District

Residents of Sleepy Hollow will vote next April 20 on whether to replace one limited-purpose taxing district with another.

The proposal is for a community services district, to include the 1,574 acres which comprise the Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District. The new district would take over responsibility for fire protection. Presumably it would, at least initially, continue to contract with the City of San Anselmo for such protection, as the fire district has done. It would also provide community debris boxes. But it would have the power — though not the money — to do many other things.

INTERESTINGLY enough, the community services district was proposed initially neither for fire protection nor for debris removal. There was no volume of complaint about the fire protection provided by San Anselmo, which built a new firehouse on Butterfield Road a decade ago especially to improve its Sleepy Hollow service. Debris boxes could be contracted by the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association — the organization promoting the community services district.

The whole thing started because a group of developers took an option on the 15.5-acre Sleepy Hollow Stables property and disclosed plans to convert it into a private riding and swimming club.

Sleepy Hollow residents expressed concern over the change in their bucolic neighborhood that such a club would create. And last June 18, a majority of those attending a meeting called by the homes association voted in favor of creating a community services district to buy and develop the stables property on behalf of the residents.

A committee from the association went to work on the idea. As its plan emerged in November, it made no mention of the stables property. Instead, it proposed the new district take over fire protection.

THERE IS AN excellent reason why purchase of the stables property that started all the discussion was eliminated. The district would not have funds to do it.

The community services district would be set up with a tax rate of $1.15 per $100 assessed valuation, or eight cents more than the tax levied this year by Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District.

Assuming it continued to contract with San Anselmo for fire protection, this probably would give it enough money to install debris boxes. But it would allow no money for purchase or development of Sleepy Hollow Stables.

Anything beyond fire protection and debris boxes would require an additional tax, which could be levied only by vote of the residents.

HEREIN LIES the difficulty of special destricts. Unlike the county or the city, they have no income from sales taxes, business licenses, cigarette taxes, state or federal subventions. Their sole source of support is the property tax.

A community services district is empowered by law to do most of the things a city does. But in practice, such a district usually performs only one or two services — because that is all that it can finance.

Essentially, the choice before Sleepy Hollow voters April 20 will be whether they want to change the fire protection district into a community services district which could have expanded usefulness to them if they were willing to increase their taxes to pay for its expansion.

A consideration not on the ballot will be whether such expanded services could be provided at less cost to Sleepy Hollow residents by annexing the 1,574 acres to San Anselmo.

As for Sleepy Hollow Stables, formation of the community services district will do nothing to prevent its conversion to a private club. Control of the land use will remain vested with the County of Marin.

Care Pays Off For Injured Birds

We want to thank you (the I-J) for a beautiful and detailed report on the bird situation at the Humane Society in Novato. On Monday, we carefully packed each of our birds and had them carefully shipped to the bird care center in Richmond. There at Richmond, they have a very good system for birds, and are going to take care of our birds with good care. We're glad of that. They also commended us for the fact that out of all the bird care centers unexpectedly set up last Tuesday, ours had the lowest death rate, the healthiest birds (and the happiest workers). That shows what tender, loving care can do. Believe us, if there is another oil spill in this area, we'll be there at Novato, and, because of our first experience, we'll save a lot more lives.

Higher Taxes For Same Service

On April 20 the people of Sleepy Hollow will have the opportunity to vote for an 11 cents increase in their property tax rate to provide the same services they are now receiving.

The proposal being presented to the voters with this increase is the formation of a community services district to provide collection of garbage and refuse, fire protection, public recreation including parks, police protection, and conversion of utilities to underground locations, but to provide all of these services except underground utilities (for which no estimate of cost has been given), the proponents estimate a minimum tax rate of approximately $2 per $100 will have to be levied or an additional tax of $200 per year on a $40,000 home.

A "yes" vote on this proposal increasing your fire protection tax from $1.04 to a community service tax rate of $1.15 will give you the same fire protection you are getting and none of the other services listed.

Aren't our taxes high enough without our requesting they be increased for no additional service?

Lottery, Not Open Gambling

I just read under "Affairs of State" by Henry C. MacArthur about "Drive to Legalize Gambling," and it seems to me he is awfully negative in his thinking.

In the first place, as far as I know nobody really wants legalized gambling; if this comes up for vote now it will be killed again. There is talk about a state lottery which is a different thing altogether. A lottery run by the state government will not invite the shady characters to California.

If the state printed tickets with numbers and sold them directly to the public... and had a drawing every six weeks or so there would be lots of money...

Look at the stream of people going to Nevada to lose their money; that kind of gambling can certainly take many a paycheck. But legalize a state lottery, and maybe raffles by charity organizations. This would be clean, sound money for the state...

And I do not agree with Mr. MacArthur about the bit of "someone wants to run the lives of others." It should not be made easy for people to blow their paychecks on gambling as it involves other people — a wife, or husband or the welfare department — after all, we do take care of murderers and thieves!

I have hoped for years the state would see the light but maybe this again is just talk, and will go with the wind, with new taxes again 'til the balloon does bust.

Reed Teacher Exodus Slowed

On Jan. 20, the Independent-Journal stated that Mrs. (Carolyn S.) Hunter and Mrs. (Ann B.) Goff (filers of the Reed recall) blamed the chairman of the Reed board, Mr. Gordon Wright, with contributing to the exodus of one-fifth of district's teachers. As usual, the Rule or Ruin Clique of Reed District are guilty of gross misstatement of fact. The actual figures as released by the superintendent's office are:

'66-67	15 out of 83	18%
'67-68	14 out of 100	14%
'68-69	22 out of 100	22%
'70-71	6 out of 94	6.4%

The past big turnover prior to Mr. Wright's election has slowed to considerably less than normal in an average school district. It seems a pity that so much time, talent, and money is spent attempting to tear Reed district down instead of putting that effort into building up academic excellence for all the children. By the way, Reed, where oh where are your reading test scores? The Trustees have asked for them many times but have never received them.

College Braille Course Separate

I enjoyed your article about Mrs. Phyllis Deaton, braille transcriber. (Jan. 25). However, I would like to point out one mistake. The College of Marin sponsors a class in braille transcribing at the San Anselmo Center on Wednesdays 9:30 a.m. — 12:30 p.m. —not a workshop as you mentioned. The Transcribing Mariners hold their workshops for binding and reproducing work for the blind on Thursday mornings. Anyone interested in taking a year-long course in the braille code may register at the College of Marin in the fall. It is a satisfying and worthwhile work as Mrs. Deaton so enthusiastically described.

Trouble With Revenue Sharing: It Just Means More Taxes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Much discussion, pro and con, is being carried on concerning President Nixon's six-point program to "give America the foundation for a new greatness."

The point under the most discussion is the $16 billion "sharing" of federal money with the states, presumably to ease the burden on state and local governments.

No doubt the program is offered in all sincerity — a President could do no less — but there are some questions that must be asked, and no doubt will be before the idea reaches the stage where it is something besides an idea, if it ever does.

IT'S REASONABLY obvious that if the federal government shares $16 billion in revenues with the states, which in turn would be expected to share the same with local governments, that the $16 billion has to come from someplace.

And there are only three places the federal government can get it. Either cut it off federal projects already under way or contemplated, print more currency, or raise federal taxes.

It's not realistic to ditch federal projects. This would hurt too many congressmen and senators. Neither is it realistic to print more money, although this is done at various times.

Consequently, only one source is left, and guess what? Raise taxes, the inevitable solution of all politicians from presidents on down to city councilmen.

Thus, the president's "foundation for a new greatness" turns out to be the foundation for new taxes.

THE PRESIDENT'S plan to share revenues with no strings attached is an open invitation to sticky-fingered city and county officials. The federal government in the past has at least made a pretense of overseeing the expenditure of federal funds, even though it has permitted waste and in some instances, graft.

The idea of paying taxes to the federal government, to have less than those taxes returned to the states after the federals have siphoned off expenses to take care of the federal bureaucracy, will not sit well with most taxpayers, Republicans or Democrats, so it is quite likely that the president will have a difficult time getting his "foundation for a new greatness' through the Congress.

California, reportedly, would derive the biggest share of the shared revenue, which theoretically might make that point of the President's program highly acceptable in this state, especially when it would get Governor Reagan off the hook as far as his budget troubles are concerned.

But then again, it might not be so acceptable when the taxpaying public discovered they are to pay more federal taxes, with little, if any reduction in state taxes.

THE DRUMMONDS

Presidential Candidacy Race Already Muskie Vs. The Pack

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The race for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination is not so confused as it appears.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, who says he is not yet a candidate, and Sen. George McGovern, who says he is, are already off and running. Before long a half-dozen or more lesser hopefuls will be wistfully passing their hats into a crowded ring.

But the event to come already seems foreseeable. We are not suggesting that nothing could intervene to change the picture, but we offer these judgments:

1—There is nobody and nothing on the horizon to take the nomination away from Senator Muskie. He is already way ahead and he will likely remain there.

2—Muskie's commanding position is rendered more secure by the near certainty that Sen. Edward Kennedy, now deposed by his colleagues as assistant majority leader, will not seek the '72 nomination, and without seeking it he will have no chance of getting it.

3—Neither McGovern nor Sen. Hubert Humphrey nor any of the run-of-mind dark horses will have any chance of getting the nomination unless a Nixon Vietnamization policy is in the midst of catastrophe and the nation is in the midst of severe depression.

MUSKIE HAS ASSETS which no single Democratic competitor can match.

He became a national figure when he was Humphrey's running mate in 1968 and he visibly impressed the voters as a mature, intelligent and calm political leader.

He stands nearer to the political center of his party than any of his active opponents. While his foreign policy positions are scanty, he is at this point neither hawk nor extreme dove, and he obviously handled himself well on his trip to the Middle East, Moscow and Bonn.

Muskie has a record of good legislation to his credit as a senator, especially in the field of antipollution.

In the opinion polls he continues to lead the pack, with Kennedy second, and he runs strongly when pitted against President Nixon.

Muskie is not likely to blunder nor to fade. He is far more than just another senator.

BUT WHO IS going to keep Kennedy from getting into the race; and if he does get into it, won't his name, his money and his youth-appeal simply overwhelm Muskie?

The answer is that only Kennedy will keep Kennedy from running.

There are three factors which persuade us that he won't seek the 1972 nomination.

First, his own statement. He has said he won't. He has stated explicitly that he "will serve his six-year term as senator" to which he was elected last fall. He has also said he would not seek the presidency in 1972 "because the uncertainty of higher office would place a great burden upon my family."

The second factor is Chappaquiddick. Senator Kennedy's conduct after the accident raised doubts about his ability to stand up under pressure. Kennedy could conclude that it would be well to let this incident recede further into the past before seeking national office.

Finally, Kennedy does not relish running against an incumbent President. He knows Nixon is resourceful; he knows the initiative in many directions is with the President, and he sees it as not improbable that circumstances will be favorable to Nixon's re-election next year.

AS TO THE baker's dozen of dark-horse hopefuls, from the earnest George McGovern to the improbable Mayor John Lindsay, they are all on the dark side of foreign policy and we doubt that the Democratic party is going to repudiate the record of its four past presidents.

Unless everything falls apart in the next 18 months, we doubt that the Democratic party will choose a left-wing, semi-pacifist, semi-isolationist as its presidential nominee.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Striking Police, Vehement Critics Are Both Wrong

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

NEW YORK — Now that the wildcat strike of New York policemen is over, everything looks the same as it did before — and during — the walkout. There were no riots, epidemics of robberty or rape just because 85 per cent of the city's patrolmen stayed out six days. They were never far away, and presumably the potential rioters and rapers assumed that if things started getting chaotic they would race back to duty.

Maybe so, or maybe it was just the cold weather that kept the criminals indoors. Either way, what happened on the streets was not the most impressive thing about the strike. Eventually, the issue of back pay will be settled, and technically it all will be an unpleasantness in the past. But other more lasting effects of the strike are not so tangible, and they are the ones with broad implications not only for New York but for the rest of the country.

IN A SOCIETY where so many major factions are falling out with each other — youth vs. middle age, silent majority vs. loud minority, ghetto vs. suburbs — it is absolutely demanded of those charged with public order to set an example of abiding by the law. The stability of the community, every community, depends on it.

Thus when 21,000 of the 25,000 police officers in the nation's biggest city walk off their jobs, without even the authority of a formal strike vote and the sanction of their union, they are endangering not only the blocks where they are absent from their beats but, in the symbolism of their action, they are further shaking the stability of the whole United States.

They were wrong, flat wrong, in walking out. If the letter of the law demands that they be dunned for their unauthorized absence from duty, then they should be dunned.

But it doesn't end there. There were others at fault in the whole dangerous fiasco. And they include leaders in politics and public opnion whose words and actions in any other strike would have been mindboggling. The difference was that in this case the cops were the villains.

NEW YORK WITNESSED an unprecedented outpouring of wrath against the police, from ostensibly responsible people who for the past few years have been cheering on students and radicals for breaking the law much more violently. This was vindictiveness that has been saved up and finally could come out in hublic instead of merely at fund-raising cocktails for the Black Panthers, for example.

Witness Pete Hamill, writing in the New York Post: "They (the police) have reneged on their oaths of office, declared themselves outlaws and given away whatever rights they had to the respect of New Yorkers... These men should be prosecuted with the same degree of hardness, even nastiness, that they reserve for the tracking down of blacks, longhairs, Puero Ricans and anyone else they do not personally care for...

"They have spit in the faces of the citizens of this city and helped erode the tender fabric of civilized law with more success than the poor fools in Weatherman every dreamed they could. All the student revolutionaries of the past three years combined haven't done more to wreck the society of humans we call New York than the cops have in the past five days. The cops should know better and be punished even more firmly."

Well, that may sing as rhetoric and may draw raves at some in-type saloon on the Upper East Side, but it also demonstrates just what, beyond back pay, underlay the striking policemen's attitude. It sets forth a double standard for lawbreakers of the left and those of the right (where it is perfectly legitimate to classify the police).

OF COURSE the police should know better; several thousand detectives and senior officers stayed on duty and proved they did. But about 40 per cent of New York's patrolmen now are under 30. If the impetuosity of youth is an excuse for bomb-throwing by a Ph.D., doesn't it at least help explain the nonviolent wrongdoing of a rookie copy who is asked to risk his life in the cold for peanuts?

Care Pays Off For Injured Birds

We want to thank you (the I-J) for a beautiful and detailed report on the bird situation at the Humane Society in Novato. On Monday, we carefully packed each of our birds and had them carefully shipped to the bird care center in Richmond. There at Richmond, they have a very good system for birds, and are going to take care of our birds with good care. We're glad of that. They also commended us for the fact that out of all the bird care centers unexpectedly set up last Tuesday, ours had the lowest death rate, the healthiest birds (and the happiest workers). That shows what tender, loving care can do. Believe us, if there is another oil spill in this area, we'll be there at Novato, and, because of our first experience, we'll save a lot more lives.

Higher Taxes For Same Service

On April 20 the people of Sleepy Hollow will have the opportunity to vote for an 11 cents increase in their property tax rate to provide the same services they are now receiving.

The proposal being presented to the voters with this increase is the formation of a community services district to provide collection of garbage and refuse, fire protection, public recreation including parks, police protection, and conversion of utilities to underground locations, but to provide all of these services except underground utilities (for which no estimate of cost has been given), the proponents estimate a minimum tax rate of approximately $2 per $100 will have to be levied or an additional tax of $200 per year on a $40,000 home.

A "yes" vote on this proposal increasing your fire protection tax from $1.04 to a community service tax rate of $1.15 will give you the same fire protection you are getting and none of the other services listed.

Aren't our taxes high enough without our requesting they be increased for no additional service?

Lottery, Not Open Gambling

I just read under "Affairs of State" by Henry C. MacArthur about "Drive to Legalize Gambling," and it seems to me he is awfully negative in his thinking.

In the first place, as far as I know nobody really wants legalized gambling; if this comes up for vote now it will be killed again. There is talk about a state lottery which is a different thing altogether. A lottery run by the state government will not invite the shady characters to California.

If the state printed tickets with numbers and sold them directly to the public... and had a drawing every six weeks or so there would be lots of money...

Look at the stream of people going to Nevada to lose their money; that kind of gambling can certainly take many a paycheck. But legalize a state lottery, and maybe raffles by charity organizations. This would be clean, sound money for the state...

And I do not agree with Mr. MacArthur about the bit of "someone wants to run the lives of others." It should not be made easy for people to blow their paychecks on gambling as it involves other people — a wife, or husband or the welfare department — after all, we do take care of murderers and thieves!

I have hoped for years the state would see the light but maybe this again is just talk, and will go with the wind, with new taxes again 'til the balloon does bust.

Reed Teacher Exodus Slowed

On Jan. 20, the Independent-Journal stated that Mrs. (Carolyn S.) Hunter and Mrs. (Ann B.) Goff (filers of the Reed recall) blamed the chairman of the Reed board, Mr. Gordon Wright, with contributing to the exodus of one-fifth of district's teachers. As usual, the Rule or Ruin Clique of Reed District are guilty of gross misstatement of fact. The actual figures as released by the superintendent's office are:

'66-67	15 out of 83	18%
'67-68	14 out of 100	14%
'68-69	22 out of 100	22%
'70-71	6 out of 94	6.4%

The past big turnover prior to Mr. Wright's election has slowed to considerably less than normal in an average school district. It seems a pity that so much time, talent, and money is spent attempting to tear Reed district down instead of putting that effort into building up academic excellence for all the children. By the way, Reed, where oh where are your reading test scores? The Trustees have asked for them many times but have never received them.

College Braille Course Separate

I enjoyed your article about Mrs. Phyllis Deaton, braille transcriber. (Jan. 25). However, I would like to point out one mistake. The College of Marin sponsors a class in braille transcribing at the San Anselmo Center on Wednesdays 9:30 a.m. — 12:30 p.m. —not a workshop as you mentioned. The Transcribing Mariners hold their workshops for binding and reproducing work for the blind on Thursday mornings. Anyone interested in taking a year-long course in the braille code may register at the College of Marin in the fall. It is a satisfying and worthwhile work as Mrs. Deaton so enthusiastically described.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Trouble With Revenue Sharing: It Just Means More Taxes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Much discussion, pro and con, is being carried on concerning President Nixon's six-point program to "give America the foundation for a new greatness."

The point under the most discussion is the $16 billion "sharing" of federal money with the states, presumably to ease the burden on state and local governments.

No doubt the program is offered in all sincerity — a President could do no less — but there are some questions that must be asked, and no doubt will be before the idea reaches the stage where it is something besides an idea, if it ever does.

IT'S REASONABLY obvious that if the federal government shares $16 billion in revenues with the states, which in turn would be expected to share the same with local governments, that the $16 billion has to come from someplace.

And there are only three places the federal government can get it. Either cut it off federal projects already under way or contemplated, print more currency, or raise federal taxes.

It's not realistic to ditch federal projects. This would hurt too many congressmen and senators. Neither is it realistic to print more money, although this is done at various times.

Consequently, only one source is left, and guess what? Raise taxes, the inevitable solution of all politicians from presidents on down to city councilmen.

Thus, the president's "foundation for a new greatness" turns out to be the foundation for new taxes.

THE PRESIDENT'S plan to share revenues with no strings attached is an open invitation to sticky-fingered city and county officials. The federal government in the past has at least made a pretense of overseeing the expenditure of federal funds, even though it has permitted waste and in some instances, graft.

The idea of paying taxes to the federal government, to have less than those taxes returned to the states after the federals have siphoned off expenses to take care of the federal bureaucracy, will not sit well with most taxpayers, Republicans or Democrats, so it is quite likely that the president will have a difficult time getting his "foundation for a new greatness' through the Congress.

California, reportedly, would derive the biggest share of the shared revenue, which theoretically might make that point of the President's program highly acceptable in this state, especially when it would get Governor Reagan off the hook as far as his budget troubles are concerned.

But then again, it might not be so acceptable when the taxpaying public discovered they are to pay more federal taxes, with little, if any reduction in state taxes.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Striking Police, Vehement Critics Are Both Wrong

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

NEW YORK — Now that the wildcat strike of New York policemen is over, everything looks the same as it did before — and during — the walkout. There were no riots, epidemics of robberty or rape just because 85 per cent of the city's patrolmen stayed out six days. They were never far away, and presumably the potential rioters and rapers assumed that if things started getting chaotic they would race back to duty.

Maybe so, or maybe it was just the cold weather that kept the criminals indoors. Either way, what happened on the streets was not the most impressive thing about the strike. Eventually, the issue of back pay will be settled, and technically it all will be an unpleasantness in the past. But other more lasting effects of the strike are not so tangible, and they are the ones with broad implications not only for New York but for the rest of the country.

IN A SOCIETY where so many major factions are falling out with each other — youth vs. middle age, silent majority vs. loud minority, ghetto vs. suburbs — it is absolutely demanded of those charged with public order to set an example of abiding by the law. The stability of the community, every community, depends on it.

Thus when 21,000 of the 25,000 police officers in the nation's biggest city walk off their jobs, without even the authority of a formal strike vote and the sanction of their union, they are endangering not only the blocks where they are absent from their beats but, in the symbolism of their action, they are further shaking the stability of the whole United States.

They were wrong, flat wrong, in walking out. If the letter of the law demands that they be dunned for their unauthorized absence from duty, then they should be dunned.

But it doesn't end there. There were others at fault in the whole dangerous fiasco. And they include leaders in politics and public opnion whose words and actions in any other strike would have been mindboggling. The difference was that in this case the cops were the villains.

NEW YORK WITNESSED an unprecedented outpouring of wrath against the police, from ostensibly responsible people who for the past few years have been cheering on students and radicals for breaking the law much more violently. This was vindictiveness that has been saved up and finally could come out in hublic instead of merely at fund-raising cocktails for the Black Panthers, for example.

Witness Pete Hamill, writing in the New York Post: "They (the police) have reneged on their oaths of office, declared themselves outlaws and given away whatever rights they had to the respect of New Yorkers... These men should be prosecuted with the same degree of hardness, even nastiness, that they reserve for the tracking down of blacks, longhairs, Puero Ricans and anyone else they do not personally care for...

"They have spit in the faces of the citizens of this city and helped erode the tender fabric of civilized law with more success than the poor fools in Weatherman every dreamed they could. All the student revolutionaries of the past three years combined haven't done more to wreck the society of humans we call New York than the cops have in the past five days. The cops should know better and be punished even more firmly."

Well, that may sing as rhetoric and may draw raves at some in-type saloon on the Upper East Side, but it also demonstrates just what, beyond back pay, underlay the striking policemen's attitude. It sets forth a double standard for lawbreakers of the left and those of the right (where it is perfectly legitimate to classify the police).

OF COURSE the police should know better; several thousand detectives and senior officers stayed on duty and proved they did. But about 40 per cent of New York's patrolmen now are under 30. If the impetuosity of youth is an excuse for bomb-throwing by a Ph.D., doesn't it at least help explain the nonviolent wrongdoing of a rookie copy who is asked to risk his life in the cold for peanuts?

Questionnaire Responses Show 'Hill People' Not Unanimous

The Sausalito Citizens Council, which recently surveyed the city's "Hill People" on community issues and problems, has released a detailed report on the results.

Questionnaires were mailed to 400 residents and about 150 (which the citizens council says represents about 420 opinions) were returned.

Basic yes-no results were released at a town meeting in November, but comments from those replying are included also in the final report.

ONE SURPRISE, contained in a supplement to the survey, is that residents appear to be aligned with businessmen in opposing the city's plan to turn municipal parking lot No. 1 into a park. Alan Conner, president of the citizens group, pointed out that most of the 150 who attended the town meeting reacted hostilely to the plan.

Persons who returned the questionnaires say they patronize downtown businesses, although 72 per cent said they shop less downtown than two years ago and 65 per cent shop less than before the city's parking ban on Bridgeway was put into effect in May.

One hundred said they used downtown banks, 92 patronize hardware stores, 114 shop at drugstores, 41 at liquor stores and 71 at bakeries.

The comments on the parking ban ranged from "Bridgeway should be landscaped like Golden Gate Park" to "I would shop downtown if parking were available."

OTHER COMMENTS: On panhandling: "Roust the bums," "Get rid of hippies and dogs," Panhandlers should pay stiff fines and be refused welfare payments if they are on welfare," "Clamp down," "Let's keep cool, a very minor problem," "Use our police department for important crimes, not panhandling."

On unrelated persons living in single-family homes: "Prefer unrelated persons living together to one couple with 10 kids," "Hippie pads are dens of crime and dope," "I may not like communes living next door, but it's none my damned business how others live."

On a swimming pool for Sausalito: "Sausalito is no place for children," "Who wants to share a swimming pool with 'doped up' dirty bums?" "It's too cold."

Ferry: "Greatest event in Sausalito," "Should be used as a commute vehicle only," "Tourists arriving by ferry are preferable to tourists on tour buses."

Parking ban: "For the first time the buildings and stores aren't obscured by a pile of parked junk," "Very inconvenienient when trying to pick up items from drugstore or bakery or go to bank,"

IN GENERAL comments at the end of the questionnaire, one person accused the citizens council, by its manner of asking questions, of "trying to split business people and residents for a last-ditch stand."

"Sorry, but Sausalito is not primarily residential in character any more" wrote this respondent. "Once we all realize this, we may be able to look at other problems in a better light."

Democrats Win Top Chairmanships

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrats were named chairmen of most major state Senate committees today with veteran Sen. Randolph Collier obtaining the top prize as head of the powerful Finance Committee.

New Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, announced the new committee structure and told his colleagues "it is time for the Senate to work together."

Marin's senator, Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was named vice chairman of the public utilities and corporations committee and also was appointed to seats on the local government, health and welfare and water resources committees.

The reorganization seemed to strengthen the control of Democrats and Mills over the Senate, which has been badly split the past two years during a series of coups and counter-coups.

Democrats were named chairmen of 10 of the Senate's 16 committees. Democrats will hold majorities on 10 of the committees — including such major panels as Education, Reapportionment, Finance, Judiciary and Revenue and Taxation.

The committees, which Mills said represented "very little factionalism," technically were appointed by the five-man Rules Committee which he heads as president pro tem.

Collier, a Democrat from rural Yreka who is dean of the legislature, will chair a Finance Committee controlled 7-6 by Democrats. It will review all legislation containing money—including the state budget and any tax reform.

Democratic Sen. Mervyn Dymally of Los Angeles, the Senate's only Negro, was appointed chairman of the Elections and Reapportionment Committee. This panel will draw new district boundaries this year for legislative and congressional seats.

Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, will head the Transportation Committee, which handles legislation on mass transit and gasoline tax apportionment. This committee traditionally has gone to a Northern Californian in the post.

Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, a foe last year of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax revision program, was named chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee. The panel will hold hearings on new tax reform plans this year.

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, author of the 1967 act which liberalized abortion laws, was reappointed chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee.

Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach, an unsuccessful candidate for the GOP attorney general nomination last year, was named to head the Business and Professions Committee.

Earlier this session when Democrats toppled GOP President Pro Tempore Jack Schrade and installed James R. Mills in the top leadership post, sources said Deukmejian voted for Mills.

Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, was named chairman of the Agriculture Committee. Way—the Senate leader briefly who was ousted by Schrade—also reportedly voted for Democrat Mills.

Sen. Albert S. Rodda, a liberal Sacramento Democrat, was reappointed chairman of the Education Committee.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, was renamed to head the Industrial Relations Committee, which handles labor legislation.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, the only GOP senator last year to vote against Reagan's tax program, was appointed by the new Democratic leadership to chair the Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee.

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, will head the Governmental Organization Committee, a panel given a new name two years ago after it became infamous as the Senate "graveyard" committee. It formerly was called the Governmental Efficiency Committee.

Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, was named chairman of the Judiciary Committee, which hears all crime-related legislation.

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, also a Mills backer, received the chairmanship of the Local Government Committee.

Freshman Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, one of the upper house's leading conservationists, was appointed chairman of the Natural Resources Committee. He also voted for Mills, sources said.

Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor last year, was appointed chairman of the Public Utilities and Corporations Committee.

Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, a Southern Californian, was named chairman of the Water Resources Committee.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Administrator Plays Different Tune After 11 Years On Job

Fusselman

On Feb. 5, 1965, in this column, I presented to you a transcript of a communication from Alan Bruce to me just before I became chairman of the board of supervisors for 1961. Today I will repeat sections of it. You will understand why as you read along.

"Statement of principles of office of county administrator by Alan Bruce, assistant administrator, Nov. 14, 1960."

"I am a firm believer in our democratic form of government and therefore in the complete responsibility and and authority of the elected representatives of the people. The members of the board of supervisors are the policy-makers and the decision-makers. It is for them to assess the political consequences of governmental action: It is for them to determine what the people are ready to accept . . ."

". . . THE ADMINISTRATOR'S recommendations should be based primarily on administrative feasibility, i.e., on what he thinks would work effectively to give maximum value to the taxpayers. At the same time he should expect the members of the board of supervisors to be in a better position than he to take a broad view of the needs of the community as a whole and therefore to make final decisions which often would differ from his recommendations. His success should not be measured by the degree to which his recommendations are accepted. In fact, if all his recommendations are uniformly and routinely accepted, he would worry that either he was usurping the functions of the board or that the board was falling down on the job . . . He should have political sense and some sense of timing, while realizing that the sense of the board members is always better than his."

Now read this and shudder. On Jan. 13 just past the man who is ". . . going to run this country and don't you ever forget it" wrote a three-page letter to the board of supervisors. The first paragraph follows:

"GENTLEMEN: This letter is an attempt to put the security problem in perspective." (He broke it down into three perspectives. For the purpose of this column I am presenting only the first.)

"Perspective 1: Responsibility of Reperesentative Government"

"The January hearing on security in one sense will be a test of the republican or representative form of government under which we live. As you do not need to be reminded but many seem to forget, you are not in office to respond to numbers in a hearing room, or to the articulation of vocal members of the public, or to a mob ruly or unruly. Nor are you in office to determine scientifically or magically a popular consensus, and then proceed on it. To the contrary, you were elected by the people because your individual judgment was trusted, and because you were trusted to use your judgment responsibly, no matter how lonely or difficult,"

Yes, gentlemen, you were elected as were the preceding boards of supervisors with the understanding that you would not abdicate and permit a power hungry one like this to insult you and the people who did elect you, with such an arrogancy as this. Your personal pride if nothing else, I would think, would cause you to put a permanent stop to this continuing performance.

Warning On Use of Solvents In the Home

Flammable cleaning solvents should never be used in the home because of extreme fire danger, the captain of the Tamalpais Fire Department warned yesterday.

In the last two weeks, according to Capt. William Canlett, his department has handled two blazes which occurred when gasoline —used for cleaning oil spots in garages — was ignited by appliance pilot lights.

"People often don't realize how many ways volatile solvents can be ignited," he said, "and they are often unaware of the hazards of using these cleaning solvents in closed areas."

The fire captain said the following solvents are dangerous for home use: gasoline, cleaning solvent obtained from service stations, alcohol, white gas, and diesel fuel.

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, author of the 1967 act which liberalized abortion laws, was reappointed chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee.

Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach, an unsuccessful candidate for the GOP attorney general nomination last year, was named to head the Business and Professions Committee.

Earlier this session when Democrats toppled GOP President Pro Tempore Jack Schrade and installed James R. Mills in the top leadership post, sources said Deukmejian voted for Mills.

Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, was named chairman of the Agriculture Committee. Way—the Senate leader briefly who was ousted by Schrade—also reportedly voted for Democrat Mills.

Sen. Albert S. Rodda, a liberal Sacramento Democrat, was reappointed chairman of the Education Committee.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, was renamed to head the Industrial Relations Committee, which handles labor legislation.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, the only GOP senator last year to vote against Reagan's tax program, was appointed by the new Democratic leadership to chair the Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee.

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, will head the Governmental Organization Committee, a panel given a new name two years ago after it became infamous as the Senate "graveyard" committee. It formerly was called the Governmental Efficiency Committee.

Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, was named chairman of the Judiciary Committee, which hears all crime-related legislation.

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, also a Mills backer, received the chairmanship of the Local Government Committee.

Freshman Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, one of the upper house's leading conservationists, was appointed chairman of the Natural Resources Committee. He also voted for Mills, sources said.

Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor last year, was appointed chairman of the Public Utilities and Corporations Committee.

Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, a Southern Californian, was named chairman of the Water Resources Committee.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Administrator Plays Different Tune After 11 Years On Job

Fusselman

On Feb. 5, 1965, in this column, I presented to you a transcript of a communication from Alan Bruce to me just before I became chairman of the board of supervisors for 1961. Today I will repeat sections of it. You will understand why as you read along.

"Statement of principles of office of county administrator by Alan Bruce, assistant administrator, Nov. 14, 1960."

"I am a firm believer in our democratic form of government and therefore in the complete responsibility and and authorty of the elected representatives of the people. The members of the board of supervisors are the policy-makers and the decision-makers. It is for them to assess the political consequences of governmental action: It is for them to determine what the people are ready to accept . . ."

". . . THE ADMINISTRATOR'S recommendations should be based primarily on administrative feasibility, i.e., on what he thinks would work effectively to give maximum value to the taxpayers. At the same time he should expect the members of the board of supervisors to be in a better position than he to take a broad view of the needs of the community as a whole and therefore to make final decisions which often would differ from his recommendations. His success should not be measured by the degree to which his recommendations are accepted. In fact, if all his recommendations are uniformly and routinely accepted, he would worry that either he was usurping the functions of the board or that the board was falling down on the job . . . He should have political sense and some sense of timing, while realizing that the sense of the board members is always better than his."

Now read this and shudder. On Jan. 13 just past the man who is ". . . going to run this country and don't you ever forget it" wrote a three-page letter to the board of supervisors. The first paragraph follows:

"GENTLEMEN: This letter is an attempt to put the security problem in perspective." (He broke it down into three perspectives. For the purpose of this column I am presenting only the first.)

"Perspective 1: Responsibility of Reperesentative Government"

"The January hearing on security in one sense will be a test of the republican or representative form of government under which we live. As you do not need to be reminded but many seem to forget, you are not in office to respond to numbers in a hearing room, or to the articulation of vocal members of the public, or to a mob ruly or unruly. Nor are you in office to determine scientifically or magically a popular consensus, and then proceed on it. To the contrary, you were elected by the people because your individual judgment was trusted, and because you were trusted to use your judgment responsibly, no matter how lonely or difficult,"

Yes, gentlemen, you were elected as were the preceding boards of supervisors with the understanding that you would not abdicate and permit a power hungry one like this to insult you and the people who did elect you, with such an arrogancy as this. Your personal pride if nothing else, I would think, would cause you to put a permanent stop to this continuing performance.

Warning On Use of Solvents In the Home

Flammable cleaning solvents should never be used in the home because of extreme fire danger, the captain of the Tamalpais Fire Department warned yesterday.

In the last two weeks, according to Capt. William Canlett, his department has handled two blazes which occurred when gasoline —used for cleaning oil spots in garages — was ignited by appliance pilot lights.

"People often don't realize how many ways volatile solvents can be ignited," he said, "and they are often unaware of the hazards of using these cleaning solvents in closed areas."

The fire captain said the following solvents are dangerous for home use: gasoline, cleaning solvent obtained from service stations, alcohol, white gas, and diesel fuel.

Cable TV Firm Indicted: Bribe

NEW YORK (UPI)—The federal government has charged TelePrompter Corp. paid $15,000 in bribes to the mayor and two politicians in Johnstown, Pa. to gain a cable television franchise.

The indictments announced Thursday by U.S. Attorney Whitney North Seymour Jr. named Tele-Prompter, the nation's largest cable television company: its president and board chairman, Irving B. Kahn; Johnstown Mayor Kenneth O. Tompkins; Councilman Robert P. McKee, and former councilman J. Howard Deardorff on conspiracy and bribery charges.

TelePrompter issued a statement after Seymour announced the indictments claiming it and its executives were extortion victims. The firm said it bought an existing system in Johnstown for $500,000 in 1961 and then ran into extortionate demands.

The indictments charge Kahn, 53, went to Johnstown in January, 1966 and agreed to pay $15,000 in bribes to the city officials for their votes on the five-member city council.

The council voted 4-1 to approve TelePrompter's bid over competitors. The indictment charged the three Johnstown politicians approved an ordinance giving a 10-year exclusive franchise with a 10-year renewal option to Johnstown Cable T.V., a TelePrompter subsidiary.

The government charged Kahn had a $7,000 check sent to Tompkins, 62, on Feb. 25 and then other checks later with which the mayor passed on $4,000 each to McKee, 50, and Deardorff, 64.

The indicted are to be arraigned in U.S. district Court here Monday. Convictions on the charges of bribery and conspiracy to travel in interstate commerce and use the mail to carry out bribery carry maximum penalties of five years in jail and $10,000 in fines. The company could be fined $10,000.

TelePrompter attorney Milton S. Gould, replying to the indictments, said "TelePrompter was subjected to extortionate demands by corrupt local officials who threatened to destroy its investment in Johnstown." He predicted Kahn and the company would be vindicated.

Prosecutors said their investigation was initiated by an Internal Revenue agent who uncovered the alleged bribery checks during another investigaton.

White Collar Halt Looms For Chrysler

DETROIT (UPI)—The Chrysler Corp. has been given a deadline of next Tuesday morning to settle with its unionized white collar workers or face a strike.

Meanwhile, General Motors announced Thursday that because of its 67-day strike last year, it suffered the greatest quarterly loss in its history.

Douglas Fraser, a United Auto Workers vice president and director of the union's Chrysler Department, said Thursday the 10,000 unionized white collar workers at Chrysler will walk off their jobs at 10 a.m. next Tuesday unless a new contract is worked out by then. He said the strike deadline was set because the negotiations on a pact covering the salaried workers "are not going quickly enough."

Fraser told newsmen the 110,000 production and maintenance workers at Chrysler plants in the United States and Canada —who now are voting on a tentative agreement reached Jan. 19 —would remain on the job if the salaried workers struck. But he predicted a strike by salaried Chrysler workers would shut down the nation's third-largest auto maker within six days.

G.M. said the 67-day strike by its UAW-represented production workers last fall resulted in a $135 million loss in the final quarter of 1970. But the company noted it still had a $609 million profit for the year. The walkout also took its toll on G.M. profits in the third quarter of last year, with the company reporting a $77 million loss.

For -1970, the company's profits sank to almost one-third 1969 net income of $1.71 billion, board chairman James M. Roche and president Edward N. Cole said.

G.M.'s financial performances for 1970 reflected a slowdown in vehicle sales due to "the general slowdown in the United States and Canadian economies and, more importantly, to the strike against General Motors," Roche and Cole said.

The main issue separating negotiators at Chrysler is retroactive pay increases, Fraser said. The union has demanded pay increases retroactive to last Nov. 2, the same date the production and maintenance workers won from Chrysler. Fraser said Chrysler has not offered to make pay hikes retroactive.

Connally Hearing Gets Underway

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's nominee for secretary of the Treasury, Texas Democrat John B. Connally, says he will lose "several hundred thousand dollars" when he sells off holdings to avoid any conflict of interest.

The Senate Finance Committee Thursday started hearings on confirmation of the former Texas governor's appointment. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the committee chairman, estimated Connally would be taxed about $1 million when he sells the holdings. He asked Connally if he thought the job was worth it.

"Senator, I suppose you can't put any price on public service ... I have no regret about the financial sacrifice," Connally said.

Reagan Believes Nixon Will Uphold CRLA Policy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says the Nixon Administration would be "rather dishonest" if it overrode his veto of the California Rural Legal Assistance program.

Reagan disclosed to newsmen he conferred directly with President Nixon about the CRLA last Saturday during a 90-minute conversation in the White House.

The governor said Nixon did not indicate how his administration would rule in the case — regarded as a crucial policy test —but added he believed the president would be "very reluctant" to personally intervene.

The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) planned to announce a decision sometime between today and Monday.

Reagan last month vetoed the CRLA's $1.8 million federal financing grant for 1971, contending the organization had violated its federal mandate and had not truly represented the rural poor.

Acting OEO Director Frank Carlucci could override Reagan's veto and fund the program anyway. The decision has been looked upon as a probably indicator of Nixon Administration policy toward legal assistance programs.

Reagan wants to abolish CRLA and establish a privately financed system called "Ajudicare." This would be administered by local bar associations, staffed with volunteer help and funded by private foundations.

Reagan said he was "perfectly willing" to let the federal government finance "Ajudicare" as an OEO project.

Inventory On Delta Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Resources Secretary Norman Livermore has been urged by a legislative committee to prepare an inventory of factors affecting the environment of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

The request was one of six recommendations made Thursday by the Senate Select Committee on Salinity Intrusion in Agricultural Soils. The committee's proposals were based on one year of studying the inroads made by San Francisco Bay salt water into the agriculturally fertile delta.

The committee, headed by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, also suggested Livermore "insure the preparation of a development plan for the Suisun Marsh, which will insure the restoration and preservation of the marsh as one of the principal waterfowl wintering areas in California."

Senate leader James R. Mills Thursday announced the committee was being disbanded.

Inflation Slowing Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The pace of the worst inflation since the Korean War eased a bit in 1970, mainly because of a sharp leveling off of food prices, the Labor Department reported today.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said consumer prices rose one-half of 1 per cent in December, putting the cost of living 5.5 per cent above what it was in December, 1969, and was likely to be cited in support of administration claims that President Nixon's policies are curbing inflation.

However, the December-to-December rise still was far more than the 4 per cent to which the administration had hoped to hold the living cost increase during the second year of Nixon's term.

The BLS said further evidence of an easing of inflation was that consumer prices rose during the last six months of 1970 at an annual rate of only 4.9 per cent compared to a 6 per cent rate during the first half of last year.

But the increase for 1970 would have been much larger had it not been for smaller food price increases. The cost of food in supermarkets increased only 1.2 per cent from the previous December, far under the 7.2 per cent jump during 1969.

the smaller food price rise helped offset big boosts in 1970 in the cost of a number of other items:

—Home ownership costs, up 10.3 per cent.

— Insurance and interest charges, up 12 per cent.

—Medical care, up 7.4 per cent.

—Various services, up 8.2 per cent.

—Public transportation 15.2 per cent higher.

—Private transportation, up 6.3 per cent.

—Restaurants meals, up 6.2 per cent.

The 0.5 per cent over-all advance in December put the consumer price index at 138.5. That meant it took $13.85 last month to purchase what $10 bought in 1957-59.

The December increase compared to rises of 0.3 per cent in November, and 0.6 per cent in October.

The BLS said the increased cost of living in December was due largely to price hikes for household services (up 0.6 per cent), medical care services (up 0.8 per cent), food (up 0.3 per cent), housing (up 0.7 per cent), gasoline (up 1.2 per cent) and new cars (up 1.4 per cent).

Officials said the 0.3 per cent food price increase was more than usual for December. It was paced by a 1.1 per cent jump for fruits and vegetables. Prices of eggs, cereal and bakery products, dairy products, fish and poultry also rose more than their seasonal patterns.

STORM LEAVES A PICTURESQUE SCENE

Various degrees of weather have plagued the nation this week — from blizzards in the Midwest to sunshine in Florida and Southern California. In South Bend, Ind., this scene emerged in near zero weather on Brandywine Creek, which empties into the St. Joseph River. The freezing weather on the East Coast has also forced President Nixon to seek sunshine, so he flew to a resort in the Virgin Islands for the weekend. (UPI Telephoto)

Prosperity Budget Goes To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon today sent Congress a $229.2 billion budget calling for $11.6 billion of deficit spending which he said would spur the lagging economy into prosperity "without war and without runaway inflation." (See other budget stories, page 3.)

The President made no effort to pare the deficit with higher taxes. The only major tax change he proposed was a $2.8 billion boost in social security payroll levies to pay for a 6 per cent increase in benefits.

Never since World War II has a President deliberately budgeted for such a large deficit and no Republican President ever has done so. But Nixon adopted the economic theory that deficit spending will help restore prosperity. If it does not work out that way within a year, his own budget figures indicated the deficit could be far bigger.

As usual, the spending figure was a record, reflecting the growth in population and the economy.

Nixon said his budget for the 1972 fiscal year which begins July 1 breaks down to 34 per cent for national defense, 42 per cent for human resources, 11 per cent for physical resources, 8 per cent for interest on the national debt and 5 per cent for other programs.

His emphasis throughout, was on reviving the sluggish economy.

"The 1972 budget reaffirms the determination of the federal government to take an activist role in bringing about the kind of prosperity that has rarely existed in the American economy —a prosperity without war and without runaway inflation," he said.

outlays	212.8	229.2
revenue	194.2	217.6
deficit	18.6	11.6

It was the first time the administration publicly had estimated the size of the deficit for the current 12 months ending June 30. When the 1971 budget went to Congress a year ago, Nixon foresaw a $1.3 billion surplus. Since then, projected spending has increased by $12 billion while anticipated revenues have declined by $7.9 billion.

The chief executive unveiled no major new programs in the budget.

As he did in his State of the Union speech a week ago, he stressed domestic issues. Less than two pages of the 22-page budget message were devoted to defense and that was headed "Toward a Full Generation of Peace."

He proposed spending $77.5 billion for national defense, an increase of $1.1 billion over the current fiscal year but still $2.7 billion below spending in the 1970 fiscal year.

For the second straight year, there was no specific figure for the cost of the war in Indochina. An administration

Oregon's Mate Testifies He Saw Arizona On Radar

By MARY LEYDECKER

SAN FRANCISCO — The second mate on the Oregon Standard testified today he didn't see the radar image of his sister ship until the vessels were a half-mile apart in the Golden Gate.

The testimony by Olaf Mykle, 63, came as a Cost Guard inquiry into the Jan. 18 collision between Arizona Standard and Oregon Standard neared a conclusion. The crash, in foggy darkness, spilled more than 800,000 gallons of oil into bay and ocean waters, fouling beaches and killing wildlife.

Mykle, in a thick Norwegian accent, told a three-man hearing board today that his ship's captain, Morris E. English, saw the image of the Arizona Standard before he did and had gone out on the bridge to blow a hand whistle.

At the time of the collision, Mykle said, he was "scared" because he thought his ship might explode. He said he heard the breaking of steel and added that "hot gases coming up in my face almost knocked me out."

Yesterday, the board heard the captain of the Oregon Standard blame the collision of the captain of the Arizona Standard.

Later today, Lt. James L. MacDonald, 29, is expected to tell how he helplessly watched as the Oregon Standard and the Arizona Standard headed on a collision course just west of the Golden Gate Bridge.

Lt. MacDonald's testimoney should pinpoint the site of the collision. The two ship captains have not agreed in their testimony about where the accident occurred. Each has claimed he was on his own side of the narrow channel.

The investigating board will also probably consider whether radar sets aboard each ship were being used to their fullest capacity. Another issue is why the two ships were tuned to different radio channels, making it impossible ..for them to contact each other.

The incoming Arizona's captain should have known where the outbound Oregon Standard was, Captain English said yesterday. Furthermore, the Arizona was too far to the north on the Oregon Standard's side of the passage, Capt. English said.

The 59-year-old skipper conceded, however, that he was farther south than he intended to be. He also admitted that he might have picked up the Arizona Standard earlier on his two radar sets if he had had them set at a higher range.

He explained that he had the radar set to pick up only objects within a 1.5-mile range until just before he got to the bridge. Flipping the radar to a six-mile range, he spotted the Arizona Standard less than a mile away.

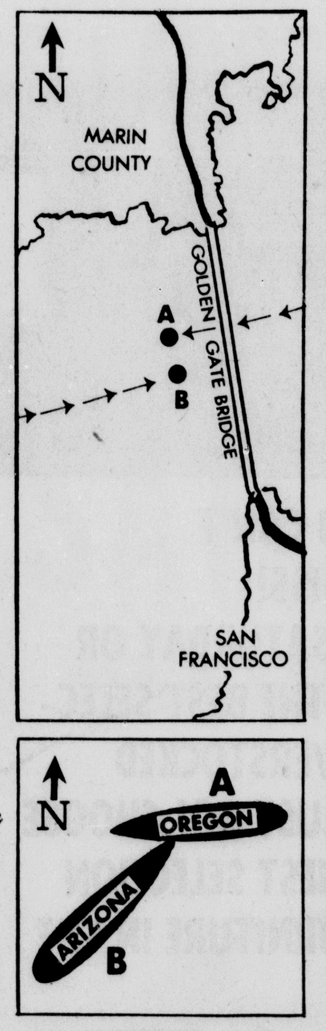
He began blowing prolonged blasts on his whistle as he turned to try to get north by two-tenths of a mile past the bridge he saw lights of the other ship and ordered his own vessels full astern. It was too late to avoid the collision.

As to why the captain never responded to radio calls from the Arizona Standard, English explained he had his radio set at two channels used commercially. He was not tuned in to channel 18, the one recommended for such communication and used by the Arizona Standard.

When board president Capt. Joseph E. Gould asked Capt. English yesterday for his explanation of why he felt the accident happened, the Oregon Standard's master answered:

"I feel that's a hard question. I was on my side. . . there was not enough space between the two routes."

Asked whether he thought the master of the other vessel should have know where he was, Capt. English, replied, "Yes, sir."



DISAGREEMENT — The captains of the Arizona Standard and the Oregon Standard — whose shops crashed as shown (diagram below) — disagree as to where they collided. Oregon's captain gives position A (above diagram); Arizona's says position B, much farther south.

Transit Plans Bring A Mill Valley 'No'

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

All five proposed routes would depend on using the existing railroad right-of-way through the city's marshland — where construction already is under way on a school and small craft harbor.

More than a dozen speakers stressed that while they would welcome transit, it would have to go somewhere else, probably up Highway 101.

Bridge district consultants said that they had been aware of Mill Valley's opposition when they drafted the plans, but warned that using the freeway corridor for transit would "wipe out the whole (Strawberry Town and Country) shopping center, take out 50 to 60 houses in Corte Madera and offer poorer station access from both Mill Valley and Tiburon."

Several bridge directors assured the audience of some 85 persons in City Hall that district consultants had gotten their message, but director Michael Wornum added that "local goals are not the only thing to be considered."

Bridge directors were flanked by brilliantly lit maps of their consultants' plans, while behind them was displayed a map of city policies, including one "to acquire railroad right-of-way when available."

Bridge officials assured the audience that the transit plans still were not yet firm, and that the purpose of the hearing was to get community reaction before adopting a plan for presentation to the Legislature in April. The 1969 Legislature ordered the plan, which cost the district almost $700,000.

Last night's hearing was the 19th in the six-county district. The final hearings will be at 8 p.m. Tuesday in San Francisco City Hall and at 8 p.m. Wednesday in San Rafael City Hall.

The city's opposition was

State Lifts Offshore Oil Ban, Permits Standard To Drill Again

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — The state Lands Commission lifted its two-year ban on offshore drilling yesterday by granting Standard Oil Co. permission to drill another well on a man-made island off the coast of Orange County.

If was the second anniversary of the disastrous Santa Barbara oil platform accident, which coated coastal and channel island beaches with raw petroleum.

The action was protested by state Sen. Peter Behr, R-Mill Valley, and other conservationists in the Legislature as well as the Orange County Board of Supervisors.

Behr made a personal appearance before the commission on another matter. The commission granted a three-months extension of permits to conduct exploratory geophysical surveys along the entire California coastline, to Humble and Phillips oil companies. Exploration had been allowed to continue even though drilling was banned for the past two years.

Standard was granted permission to drill on its "Esther Island" off Seal Beach, adding another well to the 75 holes drilled before the moratorium.

State Controller Houston I. Flournoy, chairman of the lands commission, said he was convinced Standard's proposal met all the stringent new safety regulations imposed by the commission.

F. J. Hortig, the commission's executive secretary, said the proposed drilling operation had two sets of safety equipment and was as "fail-safe as possible." He added that the Orange County coast was not plagued by "geological surprises" that have caused sea-bottom oil leakage off Santa Barbara.

Behr unsuccessfully argued that the commissioners were too busy with other state duties "to give detailed attention both to policy and the particular applications that are before them." He said the "commission should appreciate" watchdog action "by those who have no selfish interests to foster, namely someone other than the applicants."

The commission consists of Flournoy, Lt. Governor Ed Reinecke and state Director of Finance Verne Orr. Reinecke was absent yesterday; Orr joined Flournoy in approving the new well on grounds it was "entirely different" from the platform drilling technique that caused trouble off Santa Barbara.

Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, chairman of the Senate Natural Resources and Wildlife Committee, and Assemblyman Edwin Z'berg, D-Sacrmento, chairman of the lower house's Natural Resources and Conservation Committee, both reacted strongly when they learned of the commission action.

"It's incredible that now with all the evidence" that ecological protection cannot be guaranteed in offshore drilling, the well should be permitted, Nejedly declared. Z'berg called for a ban of "offshore drilling, period."

Behr also fought the exploration survey permit as "only the first link in a chain reaction" leading to more oil drilling.

Gov. Ronald Reagan later defended the Commission's actions. He said the commission voted only after being satisfied the drilling would be "no hazard."

Troupe Harassed

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Carnegie Hall opening performance of a Soviet dance and singing ensemble was disrupted Thursday night when Jewish militants scattered open bottles of ammonia throughout the theater and planted a fake bomb under a sixth-row seat.

It was the latest incident of a harassment campaign directed at Russian nationals by activist Jewish organizations protesting alleged oppression of Soviet Jewry. The Soviet Union has retaliated with harassment of Americans in Moscow straining Soviet-American cultural ties.

The gaily costumed Siberian Dancers and Singers of Omsk were midway through their third number when bomb squad police, reacting to a telephoned threat, evacuated 1,000 orchestra floor spectators to the rear of the white walled auditorium.

Similar In Age

MOSCOW (UPI)—The vice president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences says the moon rock samples returned to Earth by Soviet and American lunar probes at three different sites are similar in age, mineral content and chemical structure.

Alexander Vinogradov, the academy vice president, told the unmanned Soviet Luna 16 and the manned U.S. Apollo 11 and 12 flights "have very similar absolute age."

Vinogradov said in the interview Thursday that he believes the moon has the same age as the Earth—about 4.5 billion years.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—Prof. G.S. Singh, an Indian, has been appointed to the chair of Italian at Belfast's Queen's University, a university spokesman said. Queen's University also has a Swiss professor of Gaelic.

On Full Alert

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Egypt, Jordan, Syria and Iraq have placed their armies on full emergency footing in preparation for the end of the cease-fire with Israel next Friday, Western diplomatic sources said in Beirut today.

Diplomats said the alert was precautionary and did not signal an intention to launch an attack when the truce expires.

The sources said the order for full alert was given by Egyptian War Minister Gen. Mohammed Fawzi. Iraq, which has refused to take orders from Fawzi, mobilized on its own initiative.

Travelers in North Jordan reported seeing Jordanian troops with Land Rovers, tanks, tank transports and trucks moving toward the cease-fire line.

More Boats Seized

WASHINGTON (UPI)—State Department spokesmen have confirmed Ecuador has seized three more American fishing boats, bringing the number taken off Ecuador's coasts since Jan. 11 to 17.

The new seizures Wednesday night came as foreign ministers from the Western Hemisphere prepared for a Saturday meeting which will discuss Ecuador's charges that U.S. tuna boats have violated the South American nation's territorial waters.

The State Department said the boats were seized Wednesday night about 55 miles off the Ecuadorian coast and were taken to the port of Salines.

Visits Truman

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Vice Lresident Spiro T. Agnew met the only person more candid than his mother-in-law Thursday. He said former president Harry S. Truman "looked wonderful."

"He looked very well indeed," Agnew said. "I was so very pleased to see both the President and Mrs. Truman alert and very relaxed. It was the first time I had a chance to meet either of them and I enjoyed it very much."

Truman is in research hospital recovering from an intestinal ailment. Doctors still described his condition as "good" Thursday night and still refused to say when the 86-year-old former President will be released.

Car Center Burgled

Burglars took tires and hand tools valued at $725 from Marin Volvo Center, 20 Shoreline Highway, near Mill Valley, Jan. 16, Marin County Sheriff's Office reported Wednesday.

CRAZED GUNMAN SUBDUED

A 17-year-old psychiatric patient armed with a pistol yesterday in St. Paul, Minn., allegedly shot and killed a deputy sheriff, then took Dr. Stephen Pliska, 25, (above left) hostage by holding the gun to his head. Reds Bomb Market, Killing Nine; Plot To Blow Up Bridge Foiled

SAIGON (UPI) — Military spokesmen said today Communist terrorists set off a bomb that killed nine civilians and wounded 22 others in a market on South Vietnam's coast. It was the second bombing in a crowded public place in two days.

The U.S. Command said action involving American troops fell to a 2 1-2-month low and the Tet Chinese lunar new year holiday period had proved the quietest since the massive American buildup of 1965.

U.S. military spokesmen said no American troops were killed in Vietnam in the 24 hours ended at midnight Thursday. The three-day Tet holiday officially ends at midnight and one hour later, a Communist-proclaimed cease-fire was to expire.

The explosion Thursday in Mo Duc, 316 miles northeast of Saigon was touched off only about 18 hours after a grenade attack that killed 10 Vietnamese and wounded 19 others in a movie theater in An Nhon.

Communiques from Phnom Penh said the Cambodian High Command had foiled a Communist plot to blow up a main bridge in Phnom Penh.

Military spokesmen in Saigon reported South Vietnamese infantrymen Thursday killed at least 27 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops in fighting in the Mekong Delta near the U Minh Forest, 140 miles southwest of Saigon.

The South Vietnamese forces were supported by air strikes and artillery. They seized 28,000 pounds of rice and destroyed 17 sampans.

The Cambodian Command said troops discovered 440 pounds of TNT tied to a truck tire inner tube and camouflaged with grass on a rver bank 2 1-2 miles from one of Phnom Penh's main bridges.

Rogers In Disavowal On Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers has promised a skeptical Senate Foreign Relations Committee a congressional ban upon the use of U.S. ground troops in Cambodia will be followed to the letter.

Rogers testified for more than three hours Thursday at a closed meeting of the committee, trying to quiet concern over the increased use of American air power in Cambodia.

Critics of the American role in Indochina contended stepped up American air operations were deepening the American commitment to the Cambodian regime that overthrew Prince Norodom Sihanouk last March.

"The administration stands in a quagmire saying it will only permit itself to sink as deep as its ankles and then, when it's in up to its calves, declares that it will not sink below its knees," Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, told reporters after the hearng.

The secretary of state said American use of helicopter gunships and fighter-bombers in support of Cambodian and South Vietnamese ground forces in Cambodia were isolated raids which had the purpose of helping to open Route 4 which connects the capital of Phnom Penh with the seaport of Kompong Som. He said the main purpose of using American air power in Cambodia still was to interdict Communist supply lines leading to South Vietnam

Church, however, argued the United States had scrapped its interdiction mission and now was fighting not to protect U.S. forces in Vietnam but to protect Cambodia.

Evidence Persists On U.S. Presence

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Officials insist the congressional amendment barring U.S. advisers and troops in Cambodia is not being violated. But there is growing evidence of the American presence in this embattled Asian nation.

During the week these events underscored the use of American men and materiel:

—Four U.S. soldiers, dressed in civilian clothes, were seen at a number of places in Phnom Penh defusing or touching off explosives. They were identified as demolition experts and, among other things, they helped clean up the explosives left scattered after the attack on Phnom Penh airport last Friday by Communists and also defused a terrorist bomb left at the South Vietnamese consulate last week.

—Nineteen GIs dressed in civilian clothes flown into Phnom Penh airport to rig damaged American-built helicopters for recovery. U.S. officials said they were on Cambodian soil for only an hour.

—Official American sources acknowledged that some U.S. soldiers will be authorized to go into the field to check on the use of American military aid. These men, the sources said, will belong to the U.S. embassy and if they see U.S.-granted equipment is not being properly used, they can advise the embassy. In other words, they will not be acting as advisers to the Cambodians using the equipment.

—The arrival in Cambodia of military equipment, including two new UH1 Huey helicopters, eight river patrol boats, and 1,400 tons of military equipment and aid flown in after the Communist attack on the airport. All equipment was for use by Cambodians.

Meanwhile, unofficial reports that U.S. military men are operating clandestinely in Cambodia coordinating U.S. air support persisted. As early as November Cambodian officers told UPI correspondents that American close air support is called for by Cambodian officers in the field and it is relayed to American military officers operating in Phnom Penh.

U.S. officials have declined comment on whether or not radio transmissions involving air strikes go through the military attache's command. They also denied the embassy has any command or operational control of the air support.

Savio Runs For Berkeley Mayor

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Mario Savio, leader of the 1964 Free Speech Movement at the University of California, and his wife Suzanne have registered as candidates for the Berkeley mayoralty election.

Savio, 27, father of two small children, led the nation's first student revolt six years ago on the UC Berkeley campus.

He dropped out of school for about six years and quietly reentered Berkeley last year as a biology student.

His wife, the former Suzanne Goldberg, also was active in the 1964 student uprising. She is now devoting her time to her children.

Attack On Great Society, New Frontier

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon's revenue sharing plan to relax federal controls over $9.6 billion in special purpose aid funds for states and cities also would erase a long list of New Frontier and Great Society social programs.

Nixon's effort to dump some of the Democrats' proudest programs into his new revenue-sharing pool emphasized one of the sharpest points of difference between the two major parties: whether government works best from Washington or from the statehouses and city halls.

The President's fiscal 1972 budget, presented to Congress today showed that more than half of the dollars proposed for the Nixon "special revenue sharing" plan now are being paid out in federal programs first enacted during the Kennedy and Johnson administrations.

Programs that would lose their identities included Model Cities, Appalachia assistance, Depressed Areas aid' the Safe Streets Act, manpower training, antipoverty community action, school aid for poor neighborhoods and Lady Bird Johnson's highway beautification.

About $5.1 billion of the funds in the Nixon plan would come from Democratic-originated programs.

The special revenue sharing seems likely to arouse the Democratic-controlled Congress because its recent predecessors gave birth to the programs involved and wrote into them the strong federal controls that Nixon now seeks to loosen.

The issue is not whether state and local governments will get the $9.6 billon, but under what conditions. In most of the aid programs approved during the 1960's, Congress earmakred the funds for specific purposes and gave federal agencies authority to keep close check on them.

The idea of "block grants," as the special revenue sharing proposal originally was called, grew from the complaints of governors and mayors that the aid programs gave them no leeway in meeting their needs and that the federal bureaucracy was too snarled in red tape to distribute the funds efficiently.

Republicans repeatedly tried to substitute the block grant approach for the Democratic "categorical grants" during the 1960's, but succeeded only on one substantial program —the Safe Streets or Law Enforcement Assistance Act. That program originally called for states to decide on the distribution of federal crime-fighting funds, a system that pleased governors but irked many mayors.

The $9.6 billion in special revenue sharing funds would have to be spent in general areas specified by the federal government, but local governments would determine specific programs. The less controversial $4 billion "general revenue sharing" plan would go to states with no strings attached.

The administration originally proposed $10 billion in special funds and $6 billion in general funds, but that was scaled down in the budget because the program is not scheduled to start until after the fiscal year begins July 1.

As outlined in his State of the Union message, the Nixon proposal would divide use of the $9.6 billion into six areas — urban development, rural development, education, manpower training, law enforcement and transportation. State and local governments would get grants for these broad purposes, but would be free to use them within those areas as they wished.

Giving an example, the President said in his budget message:

"Although the federal government would designate the total amount of special revenue sharing for education, the state or local area would decide how much is to be spent on new textbooks, new schools, equipment or other matters of priority to it in the field of education."

6 Pct. Hike In Social Security Benefits Proposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon today proposed a 6 per cent increase in Social Security benefits for 26 million Americans retroactive to Jan. .. Congress is likely to boost this to at least 10 per cent.

Nixon also called for $2.8 billion in new taxes on workers and their employers to pay for the raise.

In his budget message to Congress, Nixon asked for automatic increases in Social Security benefits to keep pace with the cost of living, with the first installment being a retroactive 6 per cent boost.

Leaders of the new 92nd Congress have committed themselves to raising benefits for pensioners, widows and disabled workers but nearly all the legislation introduced thus far would provide for a minimum 10 per cent increase.

Last year, the House passed a 5 per cent increase with an automatic cost-of-living escalator. The Senate approved a 10 per cent boost and Congress adjourned without reconciling the differences.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has promised the House will pass a 10 per cent increase by March. The Senate is expected to go along.

A retired worker covered by Social Security now gets an average of about $118 a month and a couple $180 monthly in Social Security. Nixon's plan would raise this to $125 and $190.80. A 10 per cent hike would bring the figures to about $130 and $198.

To pay for the higher benefits, Nixon asked that the amount of earnings subject to Social Security taxes be increased from $7,800 a year to $9,000. He indicated that he wanted to keep the current tax rate of 5.2 per cent on both employees and employers.

Under present law, a man earning at least $7,800 would pay $405.60 in Social Security taxes this year. Raising the earnings base to $9,000 would mean he would pay $468 —or $62.40 more —with the employer putting up a matching amount.

Nixon's plan for future automatic cost-of-living increases also called for future increases in the earnings base as average U.S. earnings rise.

Nixon also indicated the administration will ask Congress to raise the $680 limit a retired worker can earn before losing benefits. But he did not spell out the increase.

Last year, the House raised this ceiling to $2,000 and the Senate to $2,400 before the measures died.

Nixon also proposed increased benefits for widows but again did not go into details.

Leaded Gas Plan Is Off

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The controversial tax on lead in gasoline, one of President Nixon's priority legislative goals last year, was dropped from his proposed fiscal 1972 budget.

The tax would have added 2 to 3 cents a gallon to the price of leaded gas. It got no further last year than hearings before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nixon proposed the tax as a way of prompting a reduction in lead in gasoline, a factor in air pollution. But critics said the tax wouldn't accomplish the purpose.

There was no mention of the tax in the budget Nixon presented to Congress today.

Fund Plea For Urban Transit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A $7.7 billion transportation budget was proposed today by President Nixon, with emphasis on helping to revitalize urban mass transit systems, get the drunk driver off the road, and keep the passenger train from highballing into oblivion.

To cut government expenses, however, he proposed in his fiscal 1972 budget to sell two government operated airports —Washington National, one of the busiest in the nation, and ultra-modern Dulles International.

Both airports are located in the Viriginia suburbs outside Washington.

The Highway Trust Fund took the biggest slice from the transportation budget —$4.6 billion for continued construction of the Interstate Highway System.

Nixon told Congress in his budget message that he wanted $327 million for mass transit grants in 1972. "A comprehensive and efficient urban transit system is essential to the revitalization of our cities," he said.

WITH FUND PLEA

Two-Year Draft Extension Asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President Nixon has asked Congress to extend the draft for another two years, and to authorize spending $1.5 billion to help make another extension unnecessary when that time period is up.

But key lawmakers remained skeptical that the draft could ever really be abolished. John C. Stennis, Chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said he thought a volunteer Army was "a long way off," while his counterpart in the House, Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., dismissed the idea as a "Utopian dream."

Stennis said Senate hearings on the draft would begin Tuesday while Hebert said his committee would consider the draft as its "first priority."

Nixon told Congress his objective was to "reduce draft calls to zero" through a long range enhancement of military life. He also proposed a national lottery call each month to ensure relatively equitable draft liability throughout the country.

Stennis recommended a longer draft extension than to July 1, 1973 as requested by the President, while Hebert said he does not think a volunteer Army ever will be possible. The current draft authority expires July 1.

Hebert also claimed Nixon already has the authority to end mandatory draft deferments for undergraduates, which Nixon asked for Thursday, but "if they say they don't have the power we will give them the power as soon as possible."

Nixon's request for legislation to abolish undergraduate deferments and exemptions for divinity students was ignored last year by the House and Senate.

"The objective of this administration is to reduce draft calls to zero, subject to the overriding considerations of national security, and as long as we need the draft to make it fair and equitable as we can," the President said.

He did not set a target date for an end to the draft and he said that the most optimistic observers "agree we would not be able to end the draft in the next year or so without seriously weakening our military forces and impairing our ability to forestall threats to the peace."

Congress Receives Prosperity Budget

official said the budget assumed that the cost would decline during the fiscal year as U.S. troops continue to be withdrawn.

Nixon placed emphasis on his revenue sharing plan, saying it would "return power to the people" by eliminating most of the strings on about one-third of the budget's $38 billion in federal aid to state and local governments.

The President announced last week that revenue sharing would total $16 billion a year including $6 billion in new money. But the budget called for spending $13.6 billion next year, including $4 billion in new funds because the proposed starting date has been delayed beyond the start of the new fiscal year.

The budget proposed that $9.6 billion in existing federal aid grants for more than 100 specific programs be converted into general purpose block grants. Many of the programs initiated by Democratic former Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson, would lose their specific identity. About half of the funds earmarked for revenue sharing come from New Frontier and Great Society programs.

If the President's estmate of an $11.6 billion deficit proves accurate, it will be the fourth largest federal deficit since World War II. The $18.6 billion in red ink projected for this year would be the second largest deficit since then, exceeded only by the $25.1 billion recorded in the 1968 fiscal year.

Nixon argued that his deficit was not inflationary because spending would not "exceed revenues the economy could generate under the existing tax system at a time of full employment." He said that if the economy were operating at full blast now, the new budget would show a $100 million surplus instead of the big deficit.

Even the $11.6 billion deficit forecast could be too optimistic. Nixon's revenue predictions are based on the assumption that the Gross National Product — the total value of all goods and services produced in the nation —will grow to $1.065 trillion in this calendar year, an increase of 9 per cent over 1970.

If the GNP comes out closer to $1.045 trillion, as many private economists believe, the deficit would climb higher. The administration overestimated the GNP for 1970 by almost $10 billion and as a result, revenues for this fiscal year fell below original estimates.

Nixon asked for a $2.8 billion increase in Social Security payroll taxes by increasing from $7,800 to $9,000 the base on which the 5.2 per cent tax would be applied. That would cost all workers earning $9,000 or more an additional $62.40 a year in social security taxes with the employer putting up an equal amount.

A similar presidential request last year was approved by Congress but failed to become law because the two chambers differed on other details of the bill. The President asked that the increase be made retroactive to Jan. 1.

He also resubmitted a proposed 2 cent a gallon increase in the tax on diesel fuel to yield less than $10 million a year.

Offsetting, almost dollar for dollar, the $2.8 billion revenue increase for social security would be a loss of $2.7 billion in revenue during the 1972 fiscal year as a result of Nixon's plan to liberalize the depreciation rules for business equipment.

The tax on the air polluting lead in gasoline which the President sought last year was not resubmitted.

He proposed an additional $100 million to search for a cure for cancer. Only [illegible] million would be spent in the 1972 fiscal year. The rest would be used later.

Nixon also promised a new effort to find a cure for sickle cell anemia, a usually fatal disease which affects mostly Negroes, although he put no price tag on that.

Nixon proposed a boost of $95 million in federal aid to schools training doctors, nurses and other health personnel. And he said he would seek "reforms" in Medicate and Medicaid to control rising costs.

There was no price tag on the health insurance Nixon is expected to send to Congress later. He merely said he would propose "a new health insurance program for all low-income families with children." Administration officials said it was hoped the program would start in the 1973 fiscal year.

The budget calls for an increase of $5.2 billion in expenditures on "incomes maintenance" to a record $60.7 billion. Included was a $3 billion boost in social security benefits and $502 million for start-up costs of Nixon's proposed family assistance program.

Nixon repeated his frequent urging for Congress to approve his bill to place a $1,600 floor under the income of every family of four. But, possibly anticipating long congressional battles, he postponed the effective date of the program until Jan. 1, 1973.

The President proposed outlays of $408 million, an increase of 32 per cent, for law enforcement. Most of the money would got for grants to states and cities to help pay for better police forces.

Nixon asked for $4.8 billion for highways; $128 million for highway safety including a new effort to get drunken drivers off the roads; $57 million to improve rail passenger service; and $327 million, an increase of $112 million, for urban mass transit.

Community development and housing outlays were set at $4.5 billion, up $637 million. Most of the increase would go into subsidies for low and middle income housing.

No Lights On Cycle

The Independent-Journal erred in its report of a fatal motorcycle-auto collision which killed motorcyclist James L. Long Jr., 23, of San Rafael Tuesday night.

The story, as it appeared, indicated that motorist Leslie M. Booth, 32, of Fairfax, saw the lights of Long's approaching motorcycle in the fog, as Booth was passing other traffic. However, according to the California Highway Patrol reports, Booth said he saw nothing until "an object appeared in my headlights, coming at me."

Booth told the I-J today that "as a matter of fact, there were no lights on the motorcycle."

OBITUARIES

Frank L. Brown Dies At 92

Masonic service for Frank L. Brown of San Rafael, former Marin County purchasing agent and a veteran of the Boxer Rebellion in China, will be held at 10 a.m. Monday at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Brown, of 207 D Street, died Wednesday in a local hospital after a short illness. He was 92.

Brown served during the Spanish-American War, and in July 1900, his unit joined British, French and Japanese forces which took the walled city of Tientsin from Chinese imperial troops. It was one of the major battles of the Boxer Rebellion.

After Tientsin, Brown's unit marched to Peking, where it remained 10 months.

Brown returned to his hometown of Detroit in 1903 and became a machinist. He came West to Bakersfield in 1908 and had lived in California since.

During World War I, Brown worked at Mare Island in Vallejo, and an interest in music — he played the saxophone and clarinet — led him to conduct a 55-piece band formed at the Navy base.

Brown, a resident of Marin since 1922, subsequently left the machinist's trade and became a real estate agent. In addition to the purchasing agent's post, he served on the San Rafael Board of Education.

Brown was director of the Mason's Sciots Band and a 50-year member of their Marin Lodge 191. He also was a life member of the Musicians Union Local 6.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Walter Boland of Stinson Beach; a granddaughter and three great-grandchildren.

Burial will be at Golden Gate Cemetery in San Bruno.

Memorial contributions to the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, San Francisco, are preferred.

stated by Mayor George Wickham, who acknowledged that "transit has to be taken care of," but urged the line be elsewhere "if there is any other possible way."

City Councilman Jerome C. Hauke, suggesting that the price tag of almost $1 billion on four of the five transit plans was excessive, said it would be enough to give everyone in Marin $5,000 "to go back to the mid-West." He favored the $495 million bus rapid transit plan.

Mill Valley Planning Commissioner Robert E. Burton raised another objection to the plans' use of the railroad alignment. It would put the transit "right next to rather high-class homes," he argued.

William Everts Jr., a trustee of the Mill Valley School District, declared his board's "unalterable opposition" to the using the railroad alignment for transit. He said it would cut school property in half. Everts argued it was unfair to solve commuters' problems "at the expense of the schools."

Ivan Poutiatine, a city planning commissioner, told bridge directors "you cannot destroy one community and say it's a tradeoff" for benefits elsewhere. To say this, he said, was "an admission of a less than adequate plan."

Poutiatine branded the plans as "an engineering solution" to the need for transit. This need, he declared, "doesn't mean we have to have a corridor of urban sprawl from here to Novato."

Only one speaker favored doing nothing about transit. He was Pat Goggins of the Marin Ecology Center in Mill Valley. He suggested that society should be changed instead to avoid the necessity for transit.

The general manager of the bridge district, Dale W. Luehring, cautioned that doing nothing about transit would force Highway 101 to become an 18-lane freeway. "We have to move pretty fast just to stay no worse than we are now," Luehring said.

Gifford Randall, who headed the engineering consultants on the transit plans, defended the Mill Valley railroad alignment as providing the best access to a station just north of East Blithedale Avenue.

DEAR ANGELA

Michael Marvier, receiving clerk at the Marin County Hall of Justice, looks over some of the thousands of letters which are arriving daily addressed to Angela Davis. Sheriff's officials estimated that Miss Davis has received between 100,000 and 105,000 letters since she was extradited to Marin Dec. 22. They said the letters were coming from all over the world, with the most from East Germany and Italy. All of the mail, including that in the sacks behind Marvier which arrived yesterday, must be screened by the sheriff's office before it is passed on to Miss Davis. One official estimated there were 70,000 unopened letters waiting to be screened.

Nun In Kissinger Plot Case Released

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—A three-judge appeals court today ordered the release of a Roman Catholic nun who was jailed on contempt charges for refusing to testify before a federal grand jury investigating an alleged kidnap-bomb plot.

The U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals, after hearing a plea for bail from Attorney Jack Levine of Philadelphia, ordered Sister Jogues Egan released from the York County jail in York, Pa., on her own recognizance.

Sister Jogues was ordered jail last Tuesday by Federal Judge R. Dixon Herman in Harrisburg, where the grand jury has been sitting. The panel earlier indicted the Rev. Philip F. Berrigan and five others of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger and blow up the heating systems of five government buildings in Washington.

The order said Sister Jogues, 52, was free to travel within the court's jurisdiction in Eastern Pennsylvania, Southern New Jersey, Delaware and New York City. She was released into the custody of Sister Edmund Harvey of New York City.

Sister Edmund and Sister Jogues are both members of the Order of the Sacred Heart of Mary in New York. Sister Jogues, a former provincial superior of the order, was not in the courtroom when the three-judge coart handed down its ruling.

Nixon Off To Island Resort For Sun, Rest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —President and Mrs. Nixon flew to the Virgin Islands today for a quiet weekend at Caneel Bay Plantation, an island resort developed by Laurance Rockefeller and operated by a conservation foundation.

The Nixons left Andrews Air Force Base, Md., on Air Force One after the President signed his new budget for transmittal to Congress and attended the swearing-in of Rogers C. B. Morton as his new interior secretary.

Nixon and his party planned to return to Washington Sunday or Monday.

For the President, it marks the first vacation in the sun since early November when he went to his estate at Key Biscayne, Fla. That stay was cut short when he flew to Paris after the death of Gen. Charles de Gaulle.

Since then, except for a trip to the western White House in San Clemente, Calif.—when the weather was mostly bad—Nixon has been busy with the budget, the State of the Union message and his economic report that goes to Congress at noon Monday.

His press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, said the President planned to do some work during his Caribbean stay, including reviews of other messages he will be sending to Congress on domestic matters the coming weeks.

Portions Of Indictment Still Sealed

Portions of the transcript of the Marin County Grand Jury proceedings which indicted Angela Y. Davis and Ruchell Magee remained sealed today by agreement of prosecution and defense attorneys.

The still secret sections include testimony by Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary W. Thomas, paralyzed from the waist down since being wounded in the Aug. 7 shoot-out at the Marin Hall of Justice.

Most of the transcript was made public Jan. 15, but some sections were withheld on a motion by attorney A. Leonard Bjorklund, court-appointed counsel for San Quentin inmate Magee.

A court hearing on Bjorklund's motion was scheduled for today, but Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court extended the seal on the secret testimony until Feb. 26 by agreement of Bjorklund, Allan Brotsky, attorney for Miss Davis, and Asst. State Atty. Gen. Albert W. Harris Jr., who is prosecuting the case.

Miss Davis and Magee are charged with murder, kidnapping and conspiracy in connection with the death of Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and the abduction from his courtroom of the judge, three women jurors and Thomas.

Park Near School Is Being Asked

The Corte Madera Park and Recreation Commission will ask the town council to consider creation of a small park near Granada School in cooperation with the Reed School District.

According to Jacqueline A. Branch, recreation director, the proposed park would cost about $70,000. It would include tennis courts, picnic areas, a spray pool and parking facilities.

She said the Reed district administration has said a park might be possible on about two acres of district property adjacent to Granada School in East Corte Madera.

The matter was brought before the commission Wednesday by East Corte Madera homeowners' groups which for several years have been unsuccessfully asking town officials to build a park in the eastern section of the town.

The commission also approved an application from the Marin County Dog Training Club for use of the town park May 22, approved a request from the American Red Cross for canoe storage at the town's corporation yard and use of Corte Madera Creek for canoe lessions, and recommended that the town council pave the path along the High Canal linking the town park with Redwood High School.

FIIIa Jet Cracks During Testing

The break occurred during a press showing of the Air Force's test program Monday, but newsmen were not told immediately what happened. The flaw was similar to those which have been blamed for a half-dozen losses of the $15 million supersonic jet.

The Sacramento Union reported today that McClellan officials confirmed that Monday's test was halted when an 18-inch-thick piece of the fuselage cracked during the test witnessed by newsmen.

An Air Force spokesman told the Union that had it cracked during flight, "there's a strong possibility the wings would have come off of the plane."

Sign Suit Is Resumed

Testimoney resumed yesterday in Marin Superior Court in a suit aimed at preventing the City of Sausalito from removing "Sausalito" signs at the southern entrance to the city from Highway 101.

The action has been brought against the city and the state Division of Highways by Sally Stanford, owner of the Valhalla Inn in Sausalito, who claims her business will be seriously hurt by the city's plans.

Miss Stanford, testifying yesterday, was asked by Leland H. Jordan, attorney for Sausalito, whether she thought most people from the Bay Area knew how to get to Sausalito and her restaurant.

"They don't all have seeing eye dogs," she replied.

Miss Stanford's attorney, Richard Gladstein, compared the city's efforts to control its traffic problems to a man cutting off his arm because of a boil.

Deniel Faustman, a Sacramento consulting traffic engineer, who has prepared a traffic plan for the city, was scheduled to continue testifying on behalf of the city today.

Throwing Shoe After Bride An Old Custom

DETROIT (UPI)—Women's lib groups which still believe in marriage would decry one old wedding tradition, that of casting a shoe after a bride, if they knew its origin.

In Anglo-Saxon time, according to "Curious Questions," published by Gale Research Co., the father delivered the bride's shoe to the bridegroom, who touched her on the head with it to show his authority.

Bay Area Market Shutdown Averted

I-J Special Report

RICHMOND — Threat of a supermarket shutdown in eight Bay Area counties was averted yesterday when members of Contra Costa Local 1179 joined Marin, Sonoma and four other locals of the Retail Clerks Union in approving a new three-year contract with supermarket owners.

The Conta Costa local turned down the contract on a vote Jan. 24, although the other locals approved it. Had the East Bay clerks struck, all Bay Area supermarkets would have closed, according to John Bacon, negotiator for the Food Employees Council.

Yesterday's vote by Local 1179 was 968 to 370 in favor of the contract, the pact raised pay 75 cents an hour retroactive to Jan. 1, and provided 25-cent raises in 1972 and 1973, plus increased benefits.

BILLBOARD LAID TO REST

The controversial Bon Air Apartments billboard, perched for years on the hill overlooking Highway 101's Greenbrae interchange, lies torn from its frame. The sign was ordered demolished yesterday by its owner, Niels J. Schultz Jr., who said he made the decision two weeks ago. The sign is one of two Schultz billboards that have stirred controversy since they were ordered destroyed by the Larkspur City Council in December. The other sign, east of the interchange, still stands but Schultz hopes to save it by offering modifications to the city reducing the sign's size "by at least half."

Inmate Pleads To Murder To Get Off Death Row

A San Quentin Prison inmate, charged in the 1965 fatal stabbing of a prison guard, has been sentenced to life imprisonment, ending five years on death row.

The sentence Wednesday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson came after the inmate, Armando Sanchez, a 38-year-old former laborer, pleaded guilty to a murder charge in the slaying of Ralph Canning, 54, a factory foreman at the prison.

Sanchez had then been convicted of assault by a life prisoner— which automatically carries the death peanlty — but the conviction was overturned by the State Supreme Court.

The high court ruled Sanchez's confession was obtained by coercion.

A second trial started in Marin Superior Court last February but a mistrial was declared when it was found the jury had been misinstructed during impaneling proceedings.

Upon returning to court Wednesday, the district attorney's office filed the murder complaint, which does not carry the automatic death sentence. It was reported represented by the Marin public defender's office, had agreed to plead guilty to the murder charge to get off death row.

At the time of the slaying, Sanchez was serving a five-year-to-life term for narcotics sales.

Teen-Agers Hurt As Cycle Flips

Two San Rafael teen-agers were treated for minor injuries yesterday at Marin General Hospital after the motorcycle they were riding overturned at 5:55 p.m. on Corrillo Avenue in San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Officers said the cycle, driven by Michael D. Bridges, 19, of 205 Mirada Avenue, was southbound on Corrillo and attempted to turn onto Mirada when a tire went flat, causing the vehicle to overturn.

Bridges was treated for bruises and a cut hand and eyebrow and a passenger, Laura Keller, 13, of 19 Glenwood Drive, was treated for a bruised knee.

Two Airlines Report Losses

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two major airline operators, UAL Inc. and KLM, have reported sharp losses for the year and third quarter, respectively, while Delta Airlines reported a 37 per cent drop in December net income.

UAL Inc. announced it incurred a consolidated net loss of $40,877,000, compared with the net earnings of $47,682,000 or $2.12 a share in 1969. As a result, the company said the first quarter dividend on the common would be omitted.

KLM reported a $6,100,000,000 loss for the third quarter ending Dec. 31, compared to a loss of $2,500,000 in 1969. The carrier Delta said its December net tumbled 37 per cent or $3.3 million.

Saw-ful Music Earns Encore

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) — The 1,500 fans at the Boulder Philharmonic presentation Thursday night demanded an encore. So Jim Turner got out his saw and played again.

Turner, 30, who has been playing the saw since his high school days, offered the audience his rendition of "Serenade for Musical Saw and Orchestra."

Dr. David Burge, conductor of the Boulder Philharmonic, wrote the serenade, believed to be the first musical piece ever written specifically to be played on a saw.

"The saw is one of the oldest folk instruments, but it produces one of the most contemporary sounds," Turner said.

It does create one problem, however. "There appears to be some hesitancy over whether I should join the musicians or the carpenters union," Turner said.

Memorial Celebration In Varda's Honor Set Sunday

A memorial celebration for Jean Varda, Sausalito's grand old man of art, will be held Sunday from noon to 3 p.m. at Varda's home, the ferryboat Vallejo at Gate 5 in Sausalito.

"His friends are gathering together to honor the man and everything he did for us and what he gave us to live up to," Victor diSuvero, a friend explained.

The artist's close friends, philosopher Alan Watts and Scott Beach, will tell their favorite Varda stories at the ceremony which will end with a memorial flotilla sailing out the Golden Gate.

Music will be provided by the Golden Toad, diSuvero said.

Varda, one of California's most beloved characters and a man whose paintings and collages have been shown in museums and at festivals and shows all over the world, died Jan. 11 while vacationing in Mexico. He was 77.

6-Year-Old Hit By Car, Injured

Andrew Carrino, 6, of 5 Meadow Avenue, San Rafael, suffered minor injuries yesterday when he was struck by a car in front of 343 Irwin Street, San Rafael.

San Rafael police reported the boy ran across the street into the path of a northbound car driven by Edmund J. Wasp, 17, of 2 Mountain View Avenue, at 3:58 p.m.

Misdemeanors Against Four Dropped In Strike Hearings

I-J Special Report

VALLEJO — Misdemeanor charges against four men arrested in connection with various episodes in the printers' strike against the Independent-Journal were dismissed yesterday.

Two other defendants pleaded guilty; five waived jury trial and will be tried before Judge William E. Jensen in Vallejo Municipal Court, and two other cases were continued.

On motions by Marin County Deputy Dist. Atty. Gary Ragghianti, Judge Jensen dismissed five charges against Frank D. Chism, 36, of Fremont, a deaf-mute printer. He was arrested at the scene of the riotous demonstration Feb. 14, 1970, called in support of the International Typographical Union Local 21 strike that began at the I-J Jan. 7, 1970.

Ragghianti said there was insufficient evidence to identify Chism as a participant in the unlawful actions.

Charges against David Bruce Hockins of Alameda and Martin L. Frates of Oakland also were dismissed. They had been accused of "tormenting" an I-J guard dog while walking the picket line May 2, 1970. Ragghianti said they were simply teasing the dog while walking outside the I-J windows.

Two counts against Donald H. Abrams, 45, Local 21 vice president, also were dismissed. Ragghianti said the count of battery Feb. 5, 1970 against Nor-Cal Security Lt. Forrest J. Morais would be impossible to prosecute because Morais cannot be brought to court. He is in custody in Minnesota on another matter. A trespass charge against Abrams was only a "technical violation," and the union official already faces a $750 fine and 15 days in jail because of conviction in another I-J related case, Ragghianti added.

Gary William Levy, 27, of Daly City was fined $30 by Judge Jensen, after he pleaded guilty to placing nails beneath the tire of an I-J employee's car while on picket duty. The Vehicle Code charge technically involved "littering." A second count was dismissed.

Renaldo R. Batz, 22, of 101 Carlotta Circle, Mill Valley, pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to disperse from the scene of the Feb. 14 riot after being warned. He was ordered to appear Feb. 18 for probation report and sentencing; other charges were dismissed.

James P. Martin of Redwood City was ordered to return Feb. 11 for resetting of a jury trial on a malicious mischief charge. Robert Stephen Tanner, 25, of San Pablo, and Neoma Ruth Higman of Burlingame waived jury trial yesterday, Judge Jensen set their tirals for Feb. 11.

Donald B. Goodfellow of Kentfield reportedly has died since he was arrested last Feb. 18 on charges of disturbing the peace and brandishing a firearm, Ragghianti reported. Judge Jensen continued the case to Feb. 11, for presentation of a death certificate and dismissal of the charges.

William A. Cogswell, 36, of Rio Linda, was ordered to return to court Feb. 11 for formal change of plea. Ragghianti said defense attorney Robert D. Carrow had arranged for Cogswell to make restitution for breaking a radio antenna from a Nor-Cal guard's auto last March 20, and would plead guilty to a charge of hitting another Nor-Cal guard with a picket sign last Feb. 9.

Carrow waived jury trials for three other defendants on various charges. Judge Jensen set trials for Feb. 23, on Michael John Clancy of San Bruno, Gary Corvello of 1441 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, and Bruce Bauer of Redwood City.

They said Vincent and Philippe, two boys weighing respectively one and two pounds on birth, died. Still surviving were a boy and two girls born to Mrs. Michele Riondet, 29.

The father is Jean-Francois Riondet, 29, an industrial draftsman. They also have a son, 3.

Plan Approved On Apartments

Plans for a 20-unit apartment complex were approved last night by the Cotati Planning Commission.

Plans for the apartments to be built on Olaf Street were submitted by Feature Homes Inc. of Santa Rosa.

Commission secretary Gayle Hill said a rezoning request to permit apartments at Old Redwood Highway and Valparaiso Street had been withdrawn by the applicants, Louise Santero and Lawrence J. Forno. Mrs. Hill said the applicants would await completion of the Cotati General Plan before pursuing the rezoning request.

Party Leads To Arrest Of Eight

Five Marin County men and three Larkspur girls were arrested yesterday on suspicion of a variety of misdeeds stemming from a beer drinking party at a Larkspur lumber yard.

Officers said today the eight were arrested after an official of the Larkspur Lumber Co. at 554 Magnolia Avenue reported seeing them trespassing on company property.

Officers said they found the group sitting in a close circle inside a shed and passing arund a beer bottle.

A pat search produced on one man a ballon of suspected heroin, hypodermic kit and a bag of suspected marijuana. Randolph Tichenor Guerin, 24, of 437 Riviera Circle, Larkspur, was booked into Marin County Jail for that and on suspicion of contributing to the delinquency of minors and trespassing were Morris Charles Tombler, 27, of 96 Madrone Avenue, Larkspur; Peter Donald Tibbitts, 18, of 465 Woodland Avenue, Kentfield; Donald Paul Cleary, 24, of 221 McAllister Avenue, Kentfield, and David Westey Hansen, 25, of 118 Acacia Avenue, Larkspur.

They were released on $625 bail each and with exception of Cleary, are to appear in municipal court Wednesday. Cleary will appeal Monday.

The three girls, two aged 13 and one 14 were booked into Marin Juvenile Hall on suspicion of trespassing and possession of alcohol.

Space Ordnance In Apollo Test Of Lunar Crust

SAUGUS, Calif. (BW) — Space Ordnance Systems Inc. has expanded its role in the Apollo program to include the active seismic experiment planned for performance by the Apollo 14 astronauts while on the lunar surface.

The experiement will utilize seismic grenades, mortar box and associated electronics designed by Space Ordnance under a $1.5 million contract to Bendix Aerospace, Ann Arbor, Mich.

The astronauts will use a special device called a thumper to create small seismic waves for detection by a line of geophones. The astronauts will also set out a mortar armed to launch four rocket-propelled grenades after the astronauts return to earth.

From the detonation on impact, scientists hope to obtain new information on the shape, structure and thickness of the lunar outer crust. Vibrations from the detonation will be detected by geophones placed on the surface of the moon.

Opposition To Hospital Plan Heard

The medical staff at Hillcrest Hospital told the directors last night that a new hospital should be built at one time, rather than in phases as has been proposed.

Dr. Harold A Brown, president of the medical staff, said the group was nearly unanimous in support of building a new hospital closer to the population center of the district.

Joseph Horner, hospital administrator, said the building program discussion and vote came at a joint meeting of the medical staffs of Hillcrest and Petaluma General Hospital. He said the group also recommended that only one central medical facility be built in Petaluma.

Dr. Daniel P. Krakora contradicted Horner and told the board that by his count the vote had not been near unanimous and that a third of the doctors preferred expansion at the present Hillcrest site rather than a move to a new hospital.

The Hillcrest Hospital directors also:

GARDENING — Approved an agreement with Petaluma Senior High School to permit gardening students to use the hospital grounds as a laboratory.

SERVICES — Heard Horner report that weekend pharmacy service will begin soon; that a middle management training program has begun; and that a nurses' library and doctors' library will be started.

PLAN — Heard a report that consultants will complete work on the long range master plan at the end of February.

Quentin Escaper Is Nabbed; Wild Chase

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — A San Quentin escapee and another man were caught by Berkeley police after a 20-minute high speed chase and shoot-out yesterday afternoon.

The escapee, Ronald L. Krueger, 28, and his companion Thomas A. Perry, 26, of Los Angeles were booked into Berkely City Jail on suspicion of attempted murder. They surrendered after their car collided with another at Virginia and Sacramento Streets in Berkeley and hit a nearby tree.

Krueger, who walked away from his minimum custody maintenance job outside the walls of San Quentin on Jan. 7, was also held for San Quentin authorities. He had been serving a term for receiving stolen property.

Highway Patrolman Gary L. Peterson reported that the two fired at him during the chase from Albany to Berkeley.

Peterson said that Krueger continued to fire at him after their car collided with another auto and hit a tree. He said the driver of the car, Perry, was slumped over the wheel.

The chase started, Peterson reported, when he stopped to check the car with three men inside and parked on the shoulder of the Eastshore Freeway near the Buchanan Street ramp.

Peterson said he smelled marijuana and asked the driver to get out of the car.

Perry, who was left in the car with Krueger, slid behind the wheel and drove off, Peterson said.

The third man was left standing by the road when Peterson started the chase. Peterson said this man fired at him also.

The chase went from Albany along the Eastshore freeway and into Berkeley at the Gilman street exit.

Police reported that a search around the Golden Gate Fields failed to locate the third man.

Krueger and Perry were taken to Herrick Hospital in Berkeley for minor cuts and then booked into jail between 4 p.m. and 5 p.m., Berkeley police reported.

Sales Down On Savings Bonds

Marin County residents bought $118,326 worth of U.S. Savings Bonds during December, according to William P. Murray Jr., county bonds chairman for the Department of the Treasury.

The monthly total was slightly above December 1969 sales of $117,918, but the total sales for 1970 were $1,516,247, more than $200,000 below the 1969 total of $1,730,055.

Murray estimated that Marin County residents hold a total of $16.6 million in savings bonds.

Six Months For Selling Grass

George William Beale, 22, of San Rafael, has been sentenced in Marin Superior Court to six months in the Marin County Jail for his conviction on three counts of selling marijuana.

Judge Henry J. Broderick also placed him on probation for two years.

Beale was convicted by a jury last month of selling pot to drug agents in January, March and May of 1969.

DINING OUT AND INNS

On A Foray Into Sonoma County, Visit Lena's Or The Heidelberg

If fair weather continues, Marinites are bound to start extending their dining forays into Sonoma County, and there are two places in the Santa Rosa area we consider worthy of your attention.

Near downtown Santa Rosa, west of the highway at West Sixth and Adams Streets is Lena's, owned by Alfred and Alvin Bonfigli. It is noted for its Italian food and is a favorite of many Sonoma County businessmen and their families and of city and county officials.

Lunches through the week are from noon until 3 p.m. The menu changes each day, but offers a dozen different selections priced from $1.40 to $3.25 — Italian dishes, breakfast steaks and seafoods.

Dinners are from 3 to 10 p.m. and from noon on Sundays. They run from $2.25 to $6.50 (50 cents less a la carte), with a wide range of entrees. There's dance music Friday and Saturday nights from 9 to 1. And organist Dorothy Snead entertains Thursdays and Sundays. That good looking fellow you'll probably see at the bar is Pete Marcucci. He's like one of the family.

FURTHER OUT, near East Windsor on the Old Redwood Highway, is Kleist's Heidelberg — a colorful German restaurant that's open only four days a week — Thursdays through Sundays — for lunches and dinners.

Hours are from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays and Sundays, and to 2 a.m. on Saturday nights. There's an appetizing smorgasbord table here for $1.10 at lunchtime and $1.60 at night. Dinners start at 3 p.m. and highlight Sauerbraten, rouladen, schnitzel and steaks, including salads from the smorgasbord table, and are priced from $2.75 to $3.95. There's German and American music for dancing Saturdays from 8:30 p.m. to 1:30 a.m. and on Sundays from 3:30 to 9 p.m.

This is a family operation of George and Hilda Kleist, who have been doing it for the past 20 years. George is chef, Hilda handles the dining room and bar. There are a gift shop and different rooms and ells — all very picturesque. A biergarten is open during the summer.

OVER IN SEBASTOPOL, Fred and Silvie Vast have been making some changes at their Goobler's Roosteraunt — although they won't show up until April 10 when it opens for the spring and summer. They are now closed for the winter season.

They now have a private banquet room which will seat up to 70 and if you ever take a group here, consider the smoked stuffed pig buffet which many find so appetizing. The Vasts do their own smoking.

More about the fare here in the spring.

CAL AND MADELYN WHITE are selling their popular Cal's Steak House at Third and C Streets, San Rafael after enjoying several years of a very successful operation.

New owners Ray and Gladys Hoeflein of San Rafael plan to continue the same type of restaurant and under the same name as before. This is their first experience as restaurant owners and we wish them well.

The Whites have in mind leaving Marin and moving to Paso Robles. I'm not sure about their planning to open another restaurant there, but Cal did say something about doing a lot of fishing.

DON FANDRE AND YORK Fischer opened their second Fondue Pot this week (in Mill Valley), and not content with that they plan on opening another one next month in San Francisco.

The Mill Valley spot is in El Paseo Building, near the Sunnyside entrance. It will be open for lunches Mondays through Fridays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and for dinners from 5 p.m. seven days a week. They will be serving the same type of food as at their Corte Madera place — which by the way, has discontinued lunches. But they do have a guitarist here Friday and Saturday nights from 8 p.m.

In San Francisco they will open on Nob Hill at 1319 California Street. This was formerly the Fireside and will now be known as the Fireside Fondue Pot. It will have a full general on sale liquor license.

SUGGESTED FOR DINNER on Fridays at Le Chalet Basque in Santa Venetia, where there are so many entrees available that it's often difficult to make up your mind:

Either the coquille St. Jacques or the prawns en brochette (marinated in white wine and broiled).

And if you think the chef, young Roger Minhondo, does a good job on these, try his crepes Suzette for dessert. He's right from the Basque country, by the way, brought here by his boss Raymond Coscarat.

THERE ARE BIG DOINGS of interest to Dixieland jazz fans this Sunday at Alvarado Inn, Ignacio.

Jimmy Diamond, who will be playing from 3 p.m. has some real notables in his group — Jack Weeks (Anson Weeks son), Al Wolcott on clarinet, John Rae on drums, Jimmy Price on trombone (he also arranges), Sammy Blank (21 years with Ted Lewis), John Marcum, Ross Bennett, Eddie Durand and some I may have forgotten, plus many more invited as guests, who are coming from all over.

If parking seems to be taken up in the front, don't be dismayed. There is room for 170 cars in the rear.

CORRECTION: We erroneously gave the price of Tiburon Lodge's buffet dinner last week as $1.50. Prices haven't been that low in years. The correct figure is $3.75, which is quite reasonable for the array of food and considering that it also includes wine.

AT HOLIDAY INN in Terra Linda, Don Regan and his group close after tomorrow night and a new group of entertainers, the Steve Corley Trio comes in. Steve will play at the piano bar Wednesday nights from 7:30 to 11:30, starting Feb. 3, and his entire group will play Thursday and Friday nights for dancing from 8 to midnight and on Saturdays from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

CURRENTLY ENTERTAINING at the Deck House in Sausalito is multi-talented Chet De Milo — vocal stylist, trombonist, pianist and guitar player. His repertoire is several grand wide and he's featured Wednesdays through Sundays from 9 a.m. to 1 a.m. as "The Tom Jones of the West Coast."

TRUE MEXICAN ATMOSPHERE is enhanced at Tio Mario's, 300 Valley Street, Sausalito with a strolling troubador, El Chacarero, on Fridays and Saturday nights from 8 to 11.

Mexican food is served Mondays through Thursdays from 5 to 11 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays to midnight and Sundays from 2 to 10 p.m. Mexican steaks, combination plates and a la carte dishes are served.

NEXT MONTH, Gate 5 Restaurant, located in Marinship, near Juanita Musson's former Galley location, plans on starting dinners up to about 11 p.m. The full menu hasn't been laid out, but there should be a la carte items up to about $4.75 and several dinner specials.

Meanwhile it is open for breakfast and lunch Mondays through Fridays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. and Saturdays to 6 or 7 p.m. Omelets are a specialty. There's also a $1.50 merchants lunch, and roast beef and steak sandwiches.

Ecologists Plan Six Recyclings

Marin Ecology Center has announced plans for six one-day recycling drives in Central and Southern Marin during February.

Hours for each drive will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. The collection points will be:

Feb. 6 — Fairfax, St. Augustine's Episcopal Church on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard; Feb. 7 — Santa Venetia, Jewish Community Center on North San Pedro Road; Feb. 10 — Mill Valley, Prime Market at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue; Feb. 13 — Kentfield, College of Marin parking lot on College Avenue; Feb. 20 — Corte Madera, parking lot of the Co-op Market on Tamal Vista Boulevard; Feb. 27 — Mill Valley, the Ali Baba Cafe at Dolan's Corners.

Ecology Center volunteers will be collecting tied bundles of newspapers; clean, crushed aluminum cans; bottles sorted by color, with lids and labels and rings removed, and tin cans, flattened with lids and labels removed.

Cash Drawer At Tailor Shop Looted

Someone took $15 from a cash drawer at Zofia's Tailor Shop, 856 Grant Avenue, Novato, yesterday while the proprietor, Zofia Czubak, was out of the store, police reported.

The money was taken between 3 and 3:20 p.m. after someone entered the shop through an unlocked door, officers said.

7 Children Die In House Fire

DERMOTT, Ark. (UPI)—A house fire caused by an overloaded wood-burning stove killed seven children of one family Thursday night.

The children ranged in age from 5 to 12. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Woods, were visiting friends about a block away when the fire broke out.

Firemen said when they arrived at the burning house shortly before midnight it was too late to rescue anyone. The roof had already caved in, said Fire Chief Morris Parker.

Parker said the children had apparently become cold before going to bed and had piled too much wood in the stove. Temperatures were in the low 30s.

The dead were Daisy Mae, 12, Juanita, 10, Dorothy, 10, Dora, 9, Larry, Grant Jr., 5, and Carolyn, 4.

My Lai Cover-Up Charges Dropped

A Pentagon announcement said the charges against Koster were dismissed by Lt. Gen. Jonathan O. Seaman, commander of the First Army on grounds that five of the specifications were "not supported by the available evidence."

Koster was the highest-ranked officer accused in connection with the deaths at the South Vietnamese village on March 16, 1968.

The Pentagon said Seaman determined that there was some evidence to support two of the specifications, but ruled that court martial would not be appropriate because they did not involve "any intentional abrogation of responsibilities on the part of Gen. Koster."

"Taking all of these factors into consideration, Gen. Seaman concluded that it would be in the best interest of justice to dismiss all of the charges," the announcement said.

The evidence for the two specifications for which Seaman found some support established "that Gen. Koster did not report civilian casualties at My Lai," the Army said.

But the announcement added: "It further disclosed that Gen. Koster's knowledge was limited to credible information of about 20 civilians killed as an unfortunate incident in a contested combat action with the enemy, and that he did not insure a proper and thorough initial investigation of the reported civilian casualties."

Koster was commander of the Americal Division, which was involved in operations in the My Lai region, at the time of the incident. He later became commander of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, a post he resigned as soon as cover-up charges were placed against him by the Army.

Since then, he has been assigned to Ft. Meade, Md.

Girl Booked For Shoplifting, Pot

A 19-year-old Mill Valley girl was booked into Marin County Jail yesterday on suspicion of petty theft and possessing marijuana after she was arrested on a shoplifting complaint in the Golden Valley Market on East Blithedale Avenue.

Mill Valley police said Ninette Ann Agliaoro, of 395 Throckmorton Avenue, was apprehended for taking a two-ounce jar of cold cream by a store employee who held her for officers.

A routine search following the arrest at 1:37 p.m. revealed a plastic bag of suspected marijuana in her purse.

She was released on her own recognizance to appear Thursday in Marin Municipal Court.

Innocent Plea To Auto Theft

Stephen Kent Solon, 26, of Larkspur, has pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to a charge of twice stealing a car from a Mill Valley rental agency.

A preliminary hearing has been set for Tuesday.

According to Mill Valley police, Solon apparently kept one of the keys to the car when he was arrested for first taking the car Jan. 7. While free on bail Saturday, he returned to the agency and stole the car again, police said.

A Half Billion Span Crossings

More than 500,000,000 vehicles now have crossed the Golden Gate Bridge since it opened in 1937, Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring reported today.

The count half way to one billion was passed on Jan. 10 between 6 and 7 p.m., Luehring said.

VOLUNTEER HONORED — Cassius Eugene Poole of 5 Bonita Street, Sausalito, has been named Marin County Firemen of the Year for 1970. Poole, a volunteer with the Sausalito and San Rafael fire departments since he was 17 years old in 1935, received an engraved plaque from the Marin County Association of Fire Departments at a dinner last week.

'Hole-Through' For BART Tube

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Two years of tunneling for the major part of a subway system under Berkeley, Oakland, San Francisco and the Bay has been completed.

Working under compressed air and in mud and water, the 14-man groundhog crew completed the final "hole-through" Thursday at the Montgomery Street station in downtown San Francisco. That completed the entire "tube" system, including 33 tunnels, of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District.

Thirty-two miles of new subway have been completed although the system is not scheduled for full-time operation until early 1972.

New Chief Of Interior Sworn In

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Rogers C. B. Morton was sworn in as new secretary of interior today in a White House ceremony at which President Nixon urged him to meet the challenges of restoring beauty to America.

The oath of office was administered by Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart, a former classmate of Morton's at Yale.

Nixon pointed out that the Interior Department was established under President Theodore Roosevelt, a deeply concerned conservationist.

He said Morton was in the same mold as Roosevelt and commented: "The charge I give to you is not just conservation. The charge is restoration—restoration of the beauty of this country that has been so marred in recent years."

The President also said he wanted Morton to emphasize relevancy to the people in administrating the nation's parks system. "I want you to bring the parks to the people who cannot afford to travel to places like Yellowstone and Yosemite so that they can know how beautiful this country is," Nixon said.

Morton said Nixon had "given us great challenges to preserve our environment." He added: "Our challenge is to respond and the time has come to get on with our job."

Morton, who gave up a seat in the House to take the job, was confirmed by the Senate Thursday.

Plutonium Plant Shuts Reactors

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Atomic Energy Commission's great Hanford production plant at Richland, Wash., went out of the business of making plutonium for nuclear weapons today.

Many activities will continue at Hanford, but the plant's 26-year-old weapons career is now ended. President Nixon said in his budget message to Congress that Hanford's last operating reactors were being shut down because of a decline in military needs for plutonium.

About 1,500 of the plant's 7,000 employes will be discharged between now and June 30, and another 500 will lose their jobs several months hence.

In addition, 470 employes at the AEC's Fernald, Ohio, fuel manufacturing plant will be discharged. This will cut employment at Fernald, which also makes fuel elements for the commission's Savannah Ricer,S.C., plant, by about half.

An AEC spokesman said later the "newer and more versatile" plutonium reactors at Savannah River would be able to meet all military requirements. Savannah River originally had five reactors, but only three are now operating.

At its peak, Hanford had nine reactors turning out plutonium, a man-made atomic explosive used in A-bombs and in triggers for H-bombs. Seven have been shut down since 1965. Now the last two have gone dead.

One of the two was a fairly new reactor which in addition to producing plutonium also generated 800,000 kilowatts of electricity. It started up in 1964. This reactor provided steam to run turbines of Washington state's Public Power Supply System.

Volunteer Call For Police Study

The Tiburon City Council, meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall, will call for volunteers to serve on a citizens committee to study merger of the Tiburon and Belvedere police departments.

The meeting was adjourned to next Tuesday after a quorum of councilmen failed to attend last Monday's regular meeting.

Councilmen also will discuss the possibility of calling a town meeting, and will hear reports on a recycling depot sponsored by the Belvedere and Tiburon and on Lower Raccoon Lane, which the city is considering closing to vehicles.

Standard 'No' Donor On Prop. 18

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Secretary of State Edmund G. Brown Jr. today identified the Standard Oil Co. of California as an anonymous donor in the campaign to defeat Proposition 18 in the November election.

Brown said Standard Oil made two anonymous contributions of $20,000 and $25,000 each. A group which worked to defeat the measure previously listed the company as having given $30,000 in an identified contribution.

Earlier this week the secretary of state announced that the Gulf Oil Co. was responsible for a $20,000 anonymous contribution.

The proposition, rejected by California's voters, would have permitted local governments to use portions of gas tax monies for public transit projects.

Brown said Standard Oil admitted the two anonymous contributions "several hours" after his office threatened to subpoena bank records to identify the donors of the $20,000 and $25,000 checks.

Prior to the disclosures by Brown his office filed a $250,000 lawsuit in Los Angeles Superior Court to discover the source of the three checks.

"We now know the identities of all so-called anonymous contributors to the 'No on 18 campaign, but the mystery is far from solved," Brown said

You are looking at Robert Musel, UPI correspondent for the I-J, who is looking at the familiar London scene. London today has been called the "swinging-est" city in the world. But it also swings with significant news which is Musel's forte as a correspondent.

Musel owns London

BUT HE'S MORE THAN WILLING TO SHARE IT

Robert Musel, our man in London, seems to have a mortgage on everything that happens of great moment in Britain's mother city. Which means not much will happen which you, in turn, won't know about by reading the I-J.

As UPI's senior editor there he has covered three wars. He was one of the first World War II correspondents to ride into combat with fighter pilots. He came under fire in two Arab-Israeli wars.

Inquisitive, aggressive, Musel has reported from every European country and most of the Middle East and Africa. He covered the German blitz of London in World War II, war crimes trials at Darmstadt, the Berlin airlift, the death of King George, the coronation of Queen Elizabeth. He has interviewed George Bernard Shaw and Albert Einstein, even the stripteasers of the Folies Bergere.

A confidante of entertainment personalities, Musel is also a top song writer. His "Band of Gold" ballad sold over one million records, and he did the background music of "To Paris With Love," starring Alex Guinness.

A man of many sides, Musel has unerring direction in homing in on matters of interest and concern to our readers. For news "Made in London", we suggest you turn to the I-J.

San Anselmo-Ross Path For Bikes Opens In April

The planned bicycle route through San Anselmo linking its neighboring cities will be open to traffic by April, the city's parks and recreation commission has been told.

Recreation Director Frank L. Quinn said the commission learned Monday the city would place its order for long-awaited bike route signs this week.

The bicycle route, to cover all city streets, will link Ross with Fairfax. The route was approved by the city council in October 1969.

The San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission also:

BASEBALL — Agreed to supply materials if the San Anselmo Little League supplied labor to repair bleachers at the baseball field at Memorial Park. The two groups also discussed replacing the field's turf.

ART — Approved allocating $250 to the Sunrise Art Guild, a group of about 45 high school students interested in art, to help meet supply costs. The group meets in the basement of the First Presbyterian Church.

TENNIS COURTS — Announced that the tennis courts at Memorial Park would be closed during March and April so they can be resurfaced.

BUDGET — Received preliminary budget information but delayed discussion until the next meeting.

LIBRARY — Announced the San Anselmo Library has approved space for a parks and recreation reference corner which will include commission minutes and other group documents.

Ordinance On Communes To Be Considered

An ordinance defining a family as being composed of no more than five unrelated persons will be considered on second reading Monday when the Mill Valley City Council meets at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The city planning commission last Monday recommended that the city council drop the proposed anticommune ordinance because the city has no business legislating intrafamily relationships.

The ordinance, similar to a Palo Alto law recently upheld in U.S. District Court in San Francisco, would prohibit communes from single family residential zones.

Also on the agenda are reports on lease negotiations on the city-owned Lytton Square bus depot and on progress of modifying the Crash Pad at the Mill Valley Methodist Church to conform to city code.

Training Funds Are Available

State funds are available for Marin firms interested in training persons with employment handicaps, the Department of Human Resources Development in San Rafael has announced.

The department said several "on-the-job" training programs can receive funding of up to one-half the training wage for up to 52 weeks.

Applicants for these programs, the department explained, must be school dropouts, under 22 or over 45 years of age, have a physical or mental handicap or other "obstacle to employment."

Employers or employees interested in participating in the program may contact the department at 580 Irwin Street.

'Thief Of Baghdad' Showings Saturday

"The Thief of Baghdad," the 1940 Academy Award-winning film, will be shown tomorrow at noon and 2 p.m. at the Formative Years Teaching School, 1046 Redwood Highway, Mill Valley.

The movie to benefit the school's scholarship fund stars Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Sabu. There will be an admission charge.

Townhouse Plan To Be Studied

The Novato Planning Commission will review plans by Standard Growth Properties to build 88 townhouses along both sides of San Marin Drive, east of San Carlos Way, at 8 p.m. Monday at Novato Community House.

The plans will be submitted at a public hearing on the firm's request to change the San Marin master plan designation for the lots from multiple-family residential to single-family townhouse.

The commission also will have a hearing on a proposal to prezone 29 parcels in the unincorporated area south of Center Road and east of Eucalyptus Avenue as single family or limited agriculture.

Air Time Issue Still Undecided

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Twelve black House members who boycotted President Nixon's State of the Union message say they are still waiting for word from the television networks about their request for free air time to respond to the President.

"We're not getting disappointed," said Rep. William Clay, D-Mo. "We still have confidence that we will get time one way or the other." The 12 asked for the air time Jan. 22.

23 Million Get Rubella Shots

ATLANTA (UPI)—The National Center for Disease Control says approximately 23 million children have been vaccinated against rubella (German measles) in the first 18 months of a national campaign.

The report said that 80 per cent of the children received vaccine in public programs while private doctors took care of the rest.

Dr. David J. Sencer, director of the NCDC said the figure represented the largest number of children ever immunized in this country within such a short time following the licensing of a new vaccine. The program has reached four out of 10 children in the target age of between one year and puberty.

Divorce Rate Drops In Nevada

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)—Officials blame liberalized divorce laws in California and New York for a drop in the Nevada divorce rate.

The State Health Division reported Wednesday 9,138 couples received divorces or annulments in Nevada last year, compared with 10,292 in 1969.

Hardest hit was Reno, where the 3,031 decrees represented a 20 per cent slash.

However, while divorces declined in Nevada, the state's marriage business is booming.

There were 97,606 marriage licenses issued in the state in 1970, about 3 per cent more than the 1969 figure.

GOP Council Sets Dinner-Dance

The annual dinner-dance of the Marin Republican Council will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 6 at Meadow Club in Fairfax.

Dancing will start at 9 p.m. Proceeds will go to the council, said John A. Lord of Ross, chairman of the event.

Belveron Homeowners Elect Batten

Donald L. Batten has been elected to his fourth term as president of the Belveron Homeowners Association. Kurtis W. Webb was chosen vice president for the third time.

Other officers elected are Reba Jones, secretary; Gloria Quinan, treasurer, and Beverly Ramblas, public relations officer.

The board, meeting Wednesday, also voted to remind the Tiburon City Council about its 1968 suggestion that a portion of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way near Trestle Glen Boulevard be converted into a tot lot.

Mrs. Ramblas said the board noted the city recently acquired the right-of-way and is in a good position to build a small park there.

YWCA Panel Urges 'Fair' Angela Trial

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Directors of the Young Women's Christian Association of San Francisco, with jurisdiction over Marin and other Bay Area YWCA units, have urged "equal and impartial justice" for black militant Angela Davis.

The board, endorsing the stance of national YWCA directors, voted to "express its concern that Angela Davis be granted a fair just trial."

"We exhort all concerned parties to maintain a climate in which this trial can be impartially conducted," directors said.

Miss Davis is in Marin County Jail charged in connection with the August Hall of Justice shootout in which Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court and three others died.

Economic Bust Seen By Blough

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Roger Blough, former board chairman of U.S. Steel, said today a colossal economic bust could occur if inflation gets worse.

Blough suggested the federal government should crack down hard on organized labor in the construction industry, which he portrayed as the worst villain.

In testimony prepared for the House-Senate Joint Economic Committee, Blough proposed that the federal government, through the U.S. Employment Service, replace the union-controlled hiring hall. He said that would "remove much of the power local unions have to make or break contractors by granting or denying the contractor's request for competent employes."

He also suggested President Nixon declare inflation an "economic national emergency" and then suspend the Davis-Bacon Act under which the federal government, the biggest user of construction labor, must pay the prevailing wage "however high the wage rate" goes.

Blough spoke as chairman of the "Construction Users Anti-Inflation Roundtable," a group of employers who make heavy use of contractors.

Blough is well remembered in Washington for his confrontation with President John F. Kennedy nearly a decade ago when U.S. Steel posted price increases which Kennedy called excessive. The president forced the steel industry to backtrack.

In much the same way Blough implied, the federal government must now force construction labor to backtrack. The construction industry, with 3.4 million employes, he said, is larger than the auto and steel industry combined and accounts for 13 per cent of the total value of the nation's goods and services.

"If the question is raised as to why single out construction, there are adequate reasons," Blough said. "It is the source of much of what is wrong.

"If the trend of wage inflation in construction cannot be changed, the game is up for changing the trend in all wages. Even if only partially successful in changing the trend in construction, it would still be a big help," he said.

The longer the delay, he said, the more difficult will be the remedy.

Hot Round: Manson Slugs His Attorney

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Charles Manson slugged his attorney and bragged he could tear the prosecutor to pieces Thursday as the Tate murder-trial jury began hearing testmony on the punishment of the hippie leader and three young women.

With all of them convicted of first degree murder, Manson was hauled from the courtroom with his arms pinioned at his sides in an angry outburst shortly after the first witness took the stand for the penalty phase of the trial.

His attorney, Irving Kanarek, objected to the appearance of Bernard (Lotsapoppa) Crowe, 28, a Negro Manson allegedly shot and wounded a month before the Tate-LaBianca slayings. It was one of literally hundreds of objections by Kanarek and it set Manson off.

He turned in his seat, punched Kanarek on the arm and shoved him. The attorney shouted "your honor," and Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older had Manson taken out to an adjoining holding room where he continued to shout to Kanarek "shut up."

Manson earlier was boiling over Older's refusal of another demand that he be permitted to act as his own attorney and conduct his own defense in the penalty portion after which the jury will decide on life imprisonment or death for the four defendants.

The 36-year-old ex-convict continued to argue with the judge and Older advised him to sit down "in your own best interests."

"My own best interests?" said Manson. "You've already convicted me for something I didn't do."

Then he turned toward Deputy District Attorney Vincent Bugliosi who had prosecuted Manson, Patricia Krenwinkel, Leslie Van Houten and Susan Atkins during the seven month trial.

"You leave me alone in the courtroom and I'll tear that little boy (Bugliosi) to pieces," he said. "And you know it."

It was not clear whether Manson was referring to his physical or legal prowess but Bugliosi, smiling, took it as a legal challenge and cracked back: "I thought you called me a genius, Charlie."

Crowe, an admitted dealer in marijuana, said Manson shot him in a Hollywood apartment in July, 1969, a month before the Tate-LaBianca slayings after a dispute over purchase by Crowe of $2,400 worth of pot.

Crowe said Charles (Tex) Watson, another of those accused in the Tate-LaBianca murders, took the $2,400 and disappeared and that when he protested, Manson came to the apartment with a pistol resembling the one used in the murders.

Manson shot him in the abdomen and the bullet is still lodged in his back, Crowe said. His testimony was part of the state presentation of further evidence of Manson's violent nature.

Lufthansa Airlines On Strike

FRANKFURT, Germany (UPI)—The first strike in its 45-year history today brought West Germany's Lufthansa Airlines to a near-total shutdown.

Two unions representing 15,000 grounded personnel launched the strike at 9 a.m. They said it was of indefinite duration and would continue until management met demands for an 18 per cent across-the-board wage hike and other fringe benefits, bringing the demands to a maximum of 25 per cent.

The strike brought chaos to airports all over West Germany. Thousands of passengers milled in the concourses at Frankfurt, Munich, Cologne-Bonn, Duesseldorf and Hamburg trying to make alternative travel arrangements.

All domestic flights halted, although the company—75 per cent state-owned—hoped to get eight domestic flights off this evening. Two international flights—a Polar flight to Osaka, Japan, and one to the American West Coast by way of New York—got away from Frankfurt this morning after considerable delay.

The strike followed the collapse of negotiations between union and management Jan. 15. The Lufthansa management said it had offered increases amounting to between 13.5 and 15 per cent.

Flights by other international companies were not affected, but at Frankfurt's Rhein-Main Airport and at Munich kitchen and catering workers joined the strike, ending restaurant and bar services.

In Bonn, Transport Minister Georg Leber told a news conference the demands of the Lufthansa ground employees were impossibly high. He said they were far outside the limits set by the federal government in its struggle to curb inflation.

Leber warned the Lufthansa workers they were endangering their jobs. He said that similar wage demands faced by two U.S. airlines (TWA and Pan American) had pushed the American companies into deficits and forced them to fire 6,000 employees.

Though it was the first time Lufthansa had been hit by a strike since its founding in 1926, there have been several "work-to-rule" strikes by air controllers at German airports in recent years.

Belvedere To Appoint New Chief Of Police

The Belvedere City Council will appoint a new police chief when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall. The appointee will replace William S. Woodington, who retired Dec. 31 because of a recurring leg injury.

The council also will appoint three Belvedere citizens to a committee to study merger of police services in Belvedere and Tiburon. Tiburon's choices will be announced Feb. 9.

Also on the agenda is a report on damage to Belvedere's shoreline from the recent oil spill, and a request by Tiburon for financial assistance in developing a hiking and bicycle path on the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad right-of-way.

Theft From Boat

Liquor valued at about $35 was taken sometime between Monday and Wednesday from a boat docked at the Loch Lomond Marina on Point San Pedro Road, San Rafael police said yesterday. The boat is owned by Louis Joseph Servente of San Francisco.

Seattle To San Diego Train Saved

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Transportation Department, reacting to public pressure, has expanded the new national rail passenger train network to include almost every major long-distrance passenger route now in operation.

Although precise routes and schedules will not be known for some time, the final 21-route network of the semipublic Rail Passenger Corp. (RAILPAC) would eliminate only one long-distance link now served by first class streamlined passenger trains—New York to Montreal.

Despite the expansion, only about half the trains running today will be required to run the new system. This will be accomplished through elimination of secondary routes and a decrease in the member of trains on some routes.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe Thursday announced five new routes in addition to the 16 in the preliminary system announced in November—Seattle to San Diego, New Orleans to Los Angeles, Washington to Chicago, New York to Kansas City, and Norfolk to Cincinnati.

The most significant of the additions was the Seattle to San Diego route through Los Angeles and San Francisco. It was the elimination of this route that caused the most controversy in the original plan.

Mud, Slide Closes Off Tiny Town

By United Press International

A tiny town at the foot of Diablo dam in Washington state remained sealed today from the outside world—its only road out blocked by a rock and mud slide. And the only link with the outside for the town of 250-300 persons was a ham radio.

But the residents, lacking only some food items, were not the only victims in a nationwide assault of unusual weather.

Snow in the Northeast gave way to low temperatures, forcing power cutbacks in New England and hampering the search for four mountain climbers from New Jersey lost on Mount Washington, N.H.

Severe cold also halted a search for the wreckage of a private jet owned by Cousins Properties, Inc., of Atlanta, which crashed in Lake Champlain with five aboard shortly after take off Thursday from Burlington, Vt.

A blizzard in New York state Thursday dumped seven inches of snow in the Rochester area as winds of 35 to 50 miles per hour were recorded. Temperatures were near zero, and a state trooper said visibility in the blizzard was "like sitting in a glass of milk."

A doctor in Hilton, N.Y., had to go by snowmobile to his office Thursday morning to deliver an 8-pound, 7-ounce girl when the parents were unable to make it to the hospital.

New York state utilities cut electric voltage by 5 per cent, a 263-mile stretch of the New York State Thruway was opened to travel for the first time in two days, and Albany, N.Y., had a record low of 15 below zero Thursday.

In the Syracuse area schools were closed for the second day because of 10 inches of snow that had accumulated since Tuesday.

Two Hawaiian islands today were lashed by vicious storms. A tornado struck the famed "Kona Coast" on the island of Hawaii and tore roofs off buildings, demolished cars and injured at least four persons.

On the island of Maui, 25 miles southeast of Hawaii, wind and rain storms flooded homes and forced the evacuation of some residents.

Southern California, in contrast, had its third consecutive day of summery weather Thursday. Los Angeles had a record high —88 degrees—for the third consecutive day.

However, the Florida citrus industry, already operating under an embargo on fresh fruit, suffered another cold wave. Temperatures Thursday morning were as low as 14 degrees.

West Palm Beach also had problems today, as visibility in the area was reduced in half by smoke from brush fires in the Everglades.

TEACHING DEPRIVED

They Rarely Laugh Or Smile

By PAT BALMES

"They come to school defiant and hostile from the Haight Ashbury without breakfast. They seem to say, 'We're here to try your patience, Teacher! Rarely do I see my kids laugh or even smile," says Mrs. Bill Smith, teacher of educable mentally handicapped children.

"I try to show them I give a damn about them," says the young Belvedere wife and mother. Her aim is to make these handicapped 9 to 11-year-olds capable, in the future, of keeping a job and supporting a family without reverting to welfare.

"They are not mentally handicapped, but emotionally disturbed because of their deprived home lives. They don't have a normal chance without parental support. At one home the mother wouldn't stop watching television the whole time I was there talking to her about her child. It was her defense," she explains.

EMOTIONAL HANG-UPS block their ability to concentrate, according to the special teacher. The slightest distraction in her classroom causes havoc. They haven't learned to get along with others, to share, to wait their turns or to accept disappointments. However, Jodie believes they could learn if their emotional problems could be cured. She wishes her students could have professional psychotherapy.

On standard IQ tests these children score between 60 and 75. But Mrs. Smith feels this is an unfair means of evaluating deprived children of limited experience.

According to the experienced teacher, a typical EMH child lives in a fatherless home of many children. His mother is his sole support. His family is likely to be on welfare. He has little supervision because the mother may be working two jobs. Often responsibility for a young child falls on an older one.

"He'll dress the little one, give him cola and Cracker Jacks for breakfast and worry about him getting to school, when the older child is still too young for such responsibility," says Jodie sadly.

SHE KNOWS that the EMH child's material wants are much better satisfied than his emotional needs. He has money for snacks at the store, but his mother is too tired to give him attention.

"She has no time or patience. The mother is just trying to keep her sanity," Jodie explains.

In contrast, Jodie Smith is full of energy and enthusiasm for her special education task. Trained under a John F. Kennedy Fellowship for Study of Mental Retardation at University of North Carolina, she came to San Francisco in 1966 and married Bill Smith, a controller for a San Francisco leasing company. A year later Jodie became first grade teacher at Lagunitus School in Woodacre. In 1968 she taught a special education class in Potrero Hills area of San Francisco.

"When I became pregnant, I knew it was my last chance to get my master's degree in special education," says Jodie who was nine-months pregnant at her final examinations at San Francisco State. "All my professors knew what hospital to take me to, in case!"

After Courtenay was born, Jodie returned to special education.

"I missed getting out in the world. We young marrieds can't rest on our homemaking laurels. I'm much more satisfied when I'm teaching, more fulfilled," says the 28-year-old native of Charlotte, N.C.

JODIE CHOOSES pantsuits for her energetic work in classroom and on playground. Her "inner city" children are bussed to her upper and middle-class school in the Twin Peaks area, because their school on the edge of the Haight Ashbury near Kezar Stadium was torn down.

"Normally, there would be 15 in my special classroom, but I have only five students now. There was a moritorium placed upon taking in more minority children because spokesmen for minority groups protested the high percentage of minority children in the EMH class," the teacher reports.

Realizing ther her handicapped students have limited horizons, Jodie teaches them, in realistic situations, practical skills they will need to function as independent adults.

"In all likelihood, my kids will never leave the Bay Area," she foresees.

So she teaches them to use public busses and cable cars on field trips, instructing them how to pay for their ride and how to ask directions from the driver.

"We don't learn subtraction, we learn to make change," she explains.

JODIE INTRODUCES the children to the geography of "their world," the Bay Area, by two or three field trips a month. With donated tickets from a boat tour company, Jodie led her noisy, uninhibited five on their first exploration of San Francisco Bay, locating Golden Gate Bridge, Alcatraz and Angel Island.

"Otherwise they might never know about these places. Later we made maps and talked about these places and how to get to them," says the teacher.

"Bill and I wanted them to know there are other ways you can live," says Jodie, explaining that her husband treated her students to lunch at a Chinatown restaurant. The children, not embarrassed by the public eye, were unruly at times in the restaurant. After lunch, Bill took the five students to the top of the Bank of America Building to look down on "their world."

Jodie knows they need to be able to use the telephone for necessities and emergencies. At her request, the telephone company installed a two-way phone in her EMH classroom where she practices calls to a doctor, a hospital, police, fire department and procedure for a long distance call with the children.

Another practical problem is shopping. Some of these children already have full responsibility for family shopping. Jody set up a store in their classroom. She taught them to ask, "What's on sale?" and to handle money and operate a cash register.

The young teacher often hears, "I didn't eat no breakfast," from her students. Because they are often on their own at breakfastime, she decided to get away from the idea of the typical, cooked American breakfast and just try to teach them to open the refrigerator and eat something, even leftovers.

"But not chips and cola!" pleads Jodie.

"It was a real triumph when a child told me that he went to the store and bought an apple instead of candy," Jodie smiles.

Her hardest problem is to teach these disturbed children to deal with one another with acceptable behavior.

"I give prizes if one compliments another," she says, hoping this will carry over into their lives at home.

Jodie feels EMH children should be in a regular classroom part-time, so they would have to cope with more realistic social situations. They could return to the security of a special teacher for arts and crafts and practical skills each afternoon.

"But it would be very hard on the regular teacher," she admits. "You can't stay in special education year after year. They take too much out of you!"

THE 77-YEAR-OLD two story house overlooking San Francisco Yacht Club is still unfinished. It's builder, Dan McLean, built a number of other Victorian homes on Belvedere when he moved there in 1892, bringing in materials by mule and barge. But he never finished his own home, where he and his wife reared five children, according to the new owners.

"It was in such a state of disrepair that neighborhood children thought it resembled a haunted house and wouldn't come here on Halloween," she laughs. The Smiths are stripping, sanding, painting, remodeling and decorating the historic house in authentic Victorian style.

Jodie points out Belvedere's first alarm on the front porch, reading its inscription, "In case of fire, break glass, 1892." Builder Dan McLean was organizer of Belvedere's Fire Department and for many years its chief. The busy man was also building inspector, city councilman and a director of Marin Municipal Water District and Marin Mosquito Abatement District.

IN A KNIT pantsuit for her strenuous work with educable mentally handicapped children from the Haight Ashbury, Mrs. Bill Smith of Belvedere teaches them to cope with practical problems of life. She aims to make them future self-supporting adults who will not depend on welfare.

Hand Made Items Are In Demand

NEW YORK (UPI)—Add to the revolutions going on quietly among young homemakers whose tastes often are taking them away from the mass-produced—handcrafted objects that "reflect mood and personality."

Paul J. Smith, director of the Museum of Contemporary Crafts in New York, says: "Young people's attitudes toward buying and owning are different from those of their parents. Their way of living is more casual and individualistic.

"Young people often want the unique object, the hand-made article as an expression of their personalities. Many are involved in handcrafts themselves.

Smith also attributes the growing appeal of the handcrafted art object to our "throwaway society." He said "we use paper plates, disposable items of various sorts. We pack up and move from one part of the country, or even world, to another.

"WE WANT to simplify what we own and not be tied down to possessions. This way of living tends to make us very selective about certain objects. We choose them carefully, want them to be very special if we are going to move them with us."

First Lady's Wide Range Of Interest

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In two years as First Lady, Mrs. Pat Nixon has established an image as an independent, decisive woman deferring only to her husband. Indications are she plans to keep it that way.

While she aspires to national identity, her staff director, Connie Stuart, says Mrs. Nixon has a wide range of interests "and she doesn't want to be boxed in."

Promoting volunteer public service still seems to have top priority with Mrs. Nixon. She gives her name to campaigns for such projects as "The Right to Read Program," "The Community School Concept," and all plans to attack the pollution problem.

SHE IMPRESSES the staff with her ability to cut through paper work. She gets up early and retires late. The memos she gets early in the morning often are returned to her staff early in the afternoon.

Sometimes she gets on the telephone after receiving a note from a staff member and says, "Let's talk about it."

SHE has followed through on her idea that the White House should be opened to more and more Americans. At receptions for hundreds of guests, she never fails to stand in a receiving line shaking hands. She remembers faces and places. She looks at name cards and reminisces about locales where she has campaigned.

Sprucing up the White House is an important, continuing job for her.

PAT NIXON

Disputing reports that Mrs. Nixon rarely touches base with the household staff or kitchen help, Mrs. Stuart reveals that the President and Mrs. Nixon met with the White House chefs the day they moved in.

IT'S NOT widely known, but the first lady gave Shirley Bailey, the White House housekeeper, a tour of the mansion the day Mrs. Bailey took on her demanding post.

"She's very proud of the White House," said Mrs. Stuart. "She feels it belongs to the American people."

Mrs. Nixon is embarking on a program to refurbish the state rooms whose elegant wall coverings and upholstery are beginning to show wear since former first lady Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis completed her restoration project in 1962.

Mrs. Nixon has tried to make the ground floor of the White House more interesting to the public visitors. On display, for example, are gifts the Nixons have received from state visitors.

LAST YEAR she decided the White House police guides looked too military. They now wear gray trousers and maroon blazers with the presidential seal.

Probably nothing has struck a more popular note than when she lit up the White House at night. In contrast to the Lyndon Johnson days of electric frugality, the mansion is now floodlighted like the Washington Monument and the Capitol.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Sane Husband Suddenly Went Freaky On Home Protection

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is a sane man who has suddenly gone freaky on burglar alarms. He has every window wired so that if they're even jarred, screeching noises happen — and this can really shake you in the middle of the night when the wind or an animal sets one off.

He's got our sliding doors so well reinforced that I can't open them without major carpentry. Our back door has two bolts and a chain lock, and you should see the front door! I'm not supposed to open it unless I peek through the periscope type viewer, then communicate by intercom. Even so, I must never take the chain off unless I recognize the person.

Now he wants to equip our house with an alarm system that will light up at a central place where they'll call the police immediately. It costs into the thousands.

Helen, if we must live in such abject fear, why live at all? Isn't this big push for home protection something like the last scare about backyard bomb shelters? I realize a little caution is a good thing, but it seems to me promoters are overdoing it —they're hitting the fright button to make a bundle for themselves.

And some people, like my man, become "protection collectors." It's like a hobby — trying to see what gadget you'll get next to outdo your neighbor.

How about injecting a little sanity into the burgeoning burglar alarm business? — NOT THAT PARANOID

DEAR NOT:

I know a man who spent weeks burglar-proofing his home before a vacation, then in the rush of last minute alarm settings, walked off and forgot to lock his front door.

Three weeks later he returned to an un-hit house.

I know another family whose elaborate system of bells, lights, etc. only challenged intruders. They were burglarized twice, vandalized once, and now the man has a loaded gun by his bed — an extremely dangerous practice.

So what can I say? With break-ins increasing several hundred percent in many areas, home protection seems frighteningly necessary. But even the best is not fool-proof. And paranoia can (as you say) turn a sane person into a fear-freak.

Suggestions, anyone? — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Ifeel silly, writing about this at my age, which is 47.

I'm still quite attractive, love to go out, enjoy life, and think my husband is great. He is very attentive to me, too.

But there's a fly in the ointment, or rather a cute blonde young neighbor whose husband is overseas. She was lonely so we befriended her. Now she can't light a cigarette without my husband's help. When we go out dancing, he even pays her sitter so she can go along. She's started calling me "Mom," but she calls him "Bill."

A friend told me last week she saw them together when I assumed Bill was at a lodge meeting. He explained that he ran into her at the club and bought her a drink, and I pretended it was no big thing.

But Helen, I'm scared. We've been married 23 years, and though Bill is most loving to me, he's at the well-publicized dangerous age. Should I continue treating our neighbor like a daughter —or like an intruder? — FRIEND OR RIVAL?

DEAR F OR R:

Be an alert friend. And don't include this cute neighbor in your evenings out, unless you can lose her later to people her own age. Introduce her to the young crowd, then plan several great weekend trips alone with your Bill.

And pray for her husband's early return. — H.

THE LATE, LATE SHOW

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—The Christian Dior spring fashion show yesterday was like the late, late television show back to the 1940s with wide, padded shoulders, long Ginger Rogers hairdos and wartime tailored suits.

Designer Marc Bohan virtually scorned the new craze for short shorts. Although he started the fad in his ready-to-wear collection last October, yesterday's program announced that "agdgets such as short shorts have been intentionally omitted" from the high fashion collection.

"Although appropriate in boutique collections, they are incompatible with traditional haute couture elegance," the Dior program said, a jab at competitors such as Givenchy and Cardin who went all out for short shorts.

The Dior collection had only one knit, one-piece shorts dress under a knit skirt. Otherwise it featured what the program called knee-long shorts, but they actually were culotte skirts.

IN A TURN back to wartime days, shoulders in the Dior collection were downright padded. Journalists reached up to pinch them. Bohan revived the wide shouldered tailored suit with wide lapels and a contrasting blouse — a style not seen around Paris for at least a decade.

One pin striped suit with wide lapels could have been out of a Joan Crawford movie. The Dior girls' long frizzy hair, dark red lipstick and shaved eyebrows added to the look of another era.

For late afternoon and evening Bohan paraded georgette or chiffon dresses with short capes or flaring short bell sleeves that also looked very 1940.

Some coats were cut like trenchcoats with sash belts, extra wide lapels and those far out shoulders. With their long curly hair, bright lips and slouchy felt hats, all the Dior girls needed was a fellow in a 1940 "zoo suit" swaggering on a corner.

Some silk dresses in pansy or rose prints even had short puffed sleeves. But several dresses and suit skirts were split to way above the knee to prove that this is 1971 and that fashion never really duplicates itself, but revives ideas in a different way.

A YEAR AGO, designer Bohan chose the butterfly as his theme, launching a world-wide fad for butterfly pins and belt buckles, and for this collection his theme was the rose.

Roses in deep red were embroided on lapels of navy tailored suits, on a fitted white redingote coat and on the front of a collarless white culotte dress.

Blue crepe sheer cocktail dresses with those wide-shouldered capelets each had that one rose embroidered on the shoulder. Long narrow striped evening gowns also sported the rose signature and a long gold lame sheath was embroidered all over with white roses.

There was a clutch of Sadie Thompson-type bright printed crepe dresses dripping with bunches of flowers at the waist or on the shoulder or attached to the girl's long frizzy hair. With long flowered crepe gowns the girls' bushy curls were sprayed with bits of orange or blue to match.

ANOTHER DIOR theme was silk dresses with matching coats or dresses in red, white and blue prints of little anchors or ships with plastic anchors or ships as belt buckles.

Bohan also used Dufy prints after the artist so popular in the '30's and '40's.

Although American furriers and celebrities have agreed to stop making fur coats out of animals threatened with extinction, the Dior collection included a parade of leopard midi coats.

Kathleen Colla Engaged To Wed

The engagement of Kathleen Sylvia Colla to Robert Howard Ridge has been announced by her parents, Mrs. Jeanne A. Colla of San Rafael and Sylvester J. Colla of San Rafael.

Kathleen is a graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School. She attended the College of Marin and is now employed by the First Hawaiian Bank in Honolulu. She is the sister of Mrs. Karen Becker, Wayne, Craig and Kim Colla.

The future bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burgess Ridge of Hammond, Ind., is stationed in Honolulu with the Navy. He is a graduate of Oliver P. Morton High School in Indiana and is the brother of Burgess, Richard and John Ridge and Mrs. Steven Peck.

The couple plan to be married in San Rafael on March 20.

Natural Fabrics

Designer Calvin Klein feels the naturals have taken over in fabrics. The sturdy fabrics of farm and frontier life are the in fabrics of the season, he said, but only the knowhow of the 70s could have given them this year's fresh, revitalized ways.

Hints For Taking Care Of Carpets

New carpeting is often affected by shedding and pilling, but a few weeks of regular vacuuming will end this problem. Remeber to never pull a tuft that extends above the carpet surface — always clip it.

Some worn spots can be camouflaged by covering with an area rug or rearranging the furniture. And to revive crushed or matted areas caused by furniture legs, hold a steam iron about a half inch above the marred area for about one minute.

ON BEING BLACK

Rock Song's Use Of 'Nigger' And 'Cracker' Enlightening Experience

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

The other day my afternoon radio dial somehow found its way to a local rock station. As is usually the case, they play the Top-17 (or 100 or whatever) records across the nation. I seldom tune in because my surface recollection is that the music is rather loud, the beat somewhat monotonous and the lyrics often not particularly profound.

Anyway, after hearing the same records periodically for about three hours, I began to hear the lyrics: "Nigger, don't call me whitey; whitey, don't call me nigger . . ."

"What'd he say?" I asked my daughter who was absent-mindedly singing along with the record.

SHE REPEATED the words nonchalantly and went about her business.

Shortly, another record came on. The music was great and even had me jiggling a bit. The words: "Niggers! Crackers! Jews! If there's a hell below, we're all gonna go!"

"What'd he say?" I asked my 7-year-old authority.

She and her 4-year-old sister happily sang the song in its entirety.

". . . if there's a hell below, we're all gonna go!" Hum, I thought, you can argue with that.

MY DAUGHTER was just a little exasperated with me. Was I just now hearing these records? They had been out for a long time.

Not only was I reminded that I was months behind the times, but Iwas amused at what a different time this is. Indeed, not too long ago, the words nigger and cracker were uttered only in hate and debasement or whispered behind people's backs. Today, in quite a grand style, they have been pushed into the open and subjected to sunshine and fresh air. The transformation is encouraging.

There is now a generation that no longer cringes at the mere mention of these racially oriented words. In fact, these young people find the words passe, even laughable.

Of course, realistically, I'm sure it still makes a difference who is doing the name callin'. That is, when a top recording artist, who is "dug" (appreciated and respected) by both blacks and whites, sings us a racial message with no malicious intent, the message is more readily absorbed.

NOT ONLY does it make a difference who is saying what, but also how one says what he is saying tempers the situation.

Anyway, some of us old fogies, who still are uncomfortable with the words nigger and cracker (those who are still glued to the talk-program stations), might do well to tune in to the Top-17 for about an hour. It might well be an enlightening experience.

Before the massive and strangling oil slick hit Marin's beaches on Jan. 18, Marin Magazine editor Don Keown and Jon Winter of the Point Reyes Bird Observatory were already at work on a detailed report on Marin's birdlife. Now its importance has been underlined. And, even without the added havoc of the slick, the report is a grim one. If your interest in birds is not limited to spectacular crisis conditions, you will want to read this story.

Street names often reflect the past of a community as well as any history book. So it is with Sausalito. And the late historian Florence Donnelly left behind a manuscript detailing the origins of the names of Sausalito's streets and avenues — from pioneers, ships and organizations. The Marin Magazine will publish that article tomorrow as part of a continuing series of Marin histories done by Miss Donnelly prior to her death.

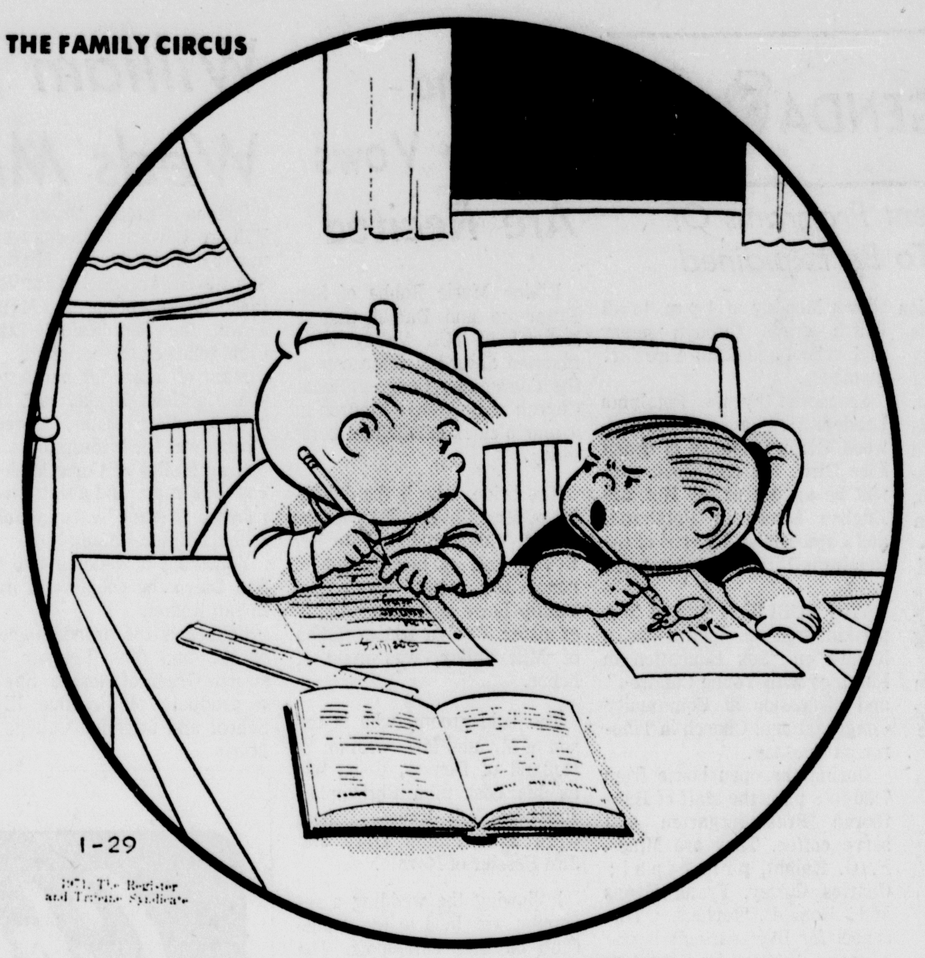
THERE OUGHT TO BE A LAW

THE FAMILY CIRCUS



"Stop using up all the light, Billy!"

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Jan. 29, the 29th day of 1971.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Aquarius.

On this date in history:

In 1900 baseball's American League was founded.

In 1964 an unmanned Saturn rocket was launched. It crashed on the moon four days later.

In 1969 the Labor Department reported a jump in prices of nearly 5 per cent to mark the worst inflation since the Korean War year of 1951.

A thought for today: poet Ella Wilcox said, "It ever has been since time began, and ever will be, till time lose breath. That love is a moon . . . no more to a man . . . and love to a woman is life or death."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Overtricks Are Very Major In Playing Of Rubber Game

One of the important things to remember about rubber bridge is that overtricks are very unimportant. If you concentrate on making your contract you will be more successful in the long run than the player of equal skill who risks his contract in the attempt to win an extra trick or two. Today's hand is a typical case.

ACE OF HEARTS

West led the ace of hearts and continued with another heart to the king. South led a low trump, and West craftily played the jack.

South hoped that West held just the Doubleton A-J of spades. If so, he could win with dummy's queen and duck a spade on the return. West would have to win with his unguarded ace, and South would thus lose only one trump trick.

So declarer played the queen of spades from the dummy, and East punctured the dream by winning with the ace. Because of the bad trump break, West later got two more trump tricks to defeat the contract.

COULD PLAY SAFE

South could make sure of his contract as the cards lay by playing a low spade from dummy on the first round of trumps. East would have to win with the singleton ace, and declarer could win two trump tricks with the king and queen. West would eventually get a second trump trick, but the contract would be safe.

The point is that South will lose only two trump tricks if the five missing trumps divide 3-2. This is true whether declarer plays high or low from the dummy on the first round of trumps.

TRUMP BREAK

If the trumps break 4-1, South is in trouble unless the singleton trump is the ace. Declarer can give himself the chance to make his contract against this 4-1 break by playing a low trump from both hands on the first round of trumps.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - J 10 9 8
♥ - A 9 8 7 5
♦ - 8 7
♣ - 10 5.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts.

Despite the impressive trump support your hand is not strong enough for a jump to four hearts.

Writer Suing For Lost Time

NEW YORK (UPI)—Robert Warren, a song writer, arranger and publisher, says he has kept track of all the time he has spent waiting for telephone dial tones, or waiting to get an operator or a business representative.

Warren says he has spent 3,675 minutes waiting in eight months. Since he values his time at $5 an hour, he is suing the New York Telephone Company for $306.25.

GAMES MASTER AND PLAYER

Graduation Pledge To Be Required

Parents of San Rafael High School students must sign a pledge that their youngsters will behave properly before student or parent will be allowed to attend graduation ceremonies in June.

The pledge requirement is an aftermath of last June's graduation rite demonstrations, according to John Donovan, assistant principal.

"Participation in the ceremony is strictly voluntary," he explained. "We have determined that most of the parents want a formal, traditional graduation."

Donovan said the behavior pledge was coupled with a request for tickets to the ceremony. Each graduate may have only two relatives in the audience because fire regulations limit the gymnasium — where the rite will be held — to 1,375 persons. With more than 400 graduates and 800-plus parents, the place will be filled, he explained.

Parents were asked to sign the pledge, the official added, because "children and parents disagree. We wanted an acknowledgement the parents clearly understood the rules."

The pledge requires that parents agree that "children will conduct themselves in an orderly fashion, that they will not demonstrate and that they conform to a traditional manner of dress."

During last year's demonstration, student peace signs were confiscated by school officials, although the board of education later agreed to reimburse a student-faculty coalition for part of their loss.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and the Parent's Magazine unless otherwide noted. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY

"Twelve Chairs" — Slapstick historical comedy about family jewels that were hidden in a chair before the revolution in Russia. Motivated by pure greed the frantic search provides a delightfully entertaining treat. Don't miss it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Anne of a Thousand Days" — Magnificently staged and cast historical drama of the thousand days of courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn.

"Assassination Bureau" — A wittily directed rollicking comedy spoof of international intrigue in the 1900's. Delightful absurd chase through capitols of Europe is inspired by a Jack London store.

"Borsalino" — French gangster film about the 30's shows the violent exterminating practices to eliminating competition. The gory violence is almost continuous. Lavishly detailed sets produces a self conscious campy effect.

"Fools" — Two lonely people, one married, chance to meet and fall in love while exploring San Francisco. An interesting background and script make this romantic film entertaining. Some sex scenes well handled.

"Monte Walsh" — A western about the end of the cowboy era. An entertaining blend of humor and tragedy is uneven in pace but excellent in performance and photography.

"Rio Lobo" — A typical John Wayne vehicle with the exception that this time there is some nudity along with the usual blood and violence.

"You Only Live Twice" — In Japan, James Bond does a workman-like job of probing volcanic craters to discover the launching pad of a missile that is swallowing up U.S. and Russian space ships. Usual quota of girls, gunfights and gadgets.

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Dirty Dingus Magee" — Slapstick humor becomes heavy handed as a desperado is chased through a series of dull absurd situations. The language used and the activities in the local brothel suggests the rating.

"Executioner" — Suspenseful international espionage in many beautiful places is entertaining but an incredible number of corpses pile up plus some nude scenes make it very mature fare.

"I Love My Wife" — Satirical comedy about sexual activities of young marrieds. Very well defined characterizations. Not a profound film but pleasantly entertaining. (Motion Picture Herald)

"Little Fauss and Big Halsy" — Contemporary motorcycle drama about two men who compete both off and on the track. Fast pace covers shallow content. Lots of nude girls, a Johnny Cash sound track and a predictable ending.

"Thunderball" — This time James Bond is underwater in the Bahamas trying to locate a NATO training plane and two atomic bombs. Sex is casual and salacious. Unpalatable cruelty is passed off as "spoof". Many amazing gadgets and much violence.

"WUSA" — Confused film about right wing politics and an odd lot of drifters. Characterizations and motivations are cloudy and lacks a responsible statement when it could and should have been made.

ADULTS ONLY

"Adventurers" — If you are looking for 3 hours of simple-mindedness, the dime store Freudian motivations, Hollywood dialogue, two dimensional acting and sensationalism and vulgarity and violence, they are all curdely supplied in this film.

"Diary of a Mad Housewife" — Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Five Easy Pieces" — Free-form portrait of an exile from a highbrow musical family who cops out of a routine lower middle class existence. Explicit six and frank dialogue.

"Joe" — Chilling but excellent tragi-comedy about our troubled society. Two men form an unlikely alliance founded on their envy and hatred of today's youth. Language and sex scenes are shockingly bold and violence of the ending will haunt the viewer.

"The Lawyer" — Violent, protracted courtroom drama reminiscent of the Sam Sheppard case with two additional ingredients; nudity and rough language. Some new and capable performers.

"What Do You Say To a Naked Lady" — Allen Funt brings the situation to the screen of the reactions of unsuspecting passersby to a naked woman. Some moments are humorous but generally it is just smut.

"Where's Poppa" — A vulgar black comedy presents an outrageous picture of a monstrous mother and her guilt ridden harassed son. Wild scenes of rape, nudity, heavily sprinkled with gutter talk are unrestrained and brutally frank and may prove offensive.

Apartment Plans Are Endorsed

The Marin City Council last night endorsed a young black contractor's proposal to build a 20-unit apartment complex next to the St. Andrew Presbyterian Church on Drake Avenue.

Marin City contractor Al Allen told the council he hoped to build eight one-bedroom units, eight two-bedroom units and four three-bedroom units.

He said rents would begin as low as $145 per month and run up to $195 per month for the three-bedroom apartments.

The council last night authorized letter of endorsement for Allen's project. The contractor had asked for the letter to aid in arranging financing for the apartments.

He said all units would have built-in ovens and stoves and that utilities would be included in the rent.

"I already have the names of 22 persons from Marin City who have said they would move into the apartments," Allen said.

Allen, when pressed, would say only that the group who hoped to finance the apartments "were individuals from Marin City."

Special Marin City Session On Housing

Irate Marin City residents and the Marin City Council — upset over Marin County Redevelopment Agency executive director Wallace K. Shepherd's decision not to attend last night's council meeting — called a special session for next Thursday to air complaints about conditions in the community's public housing.

The council has invited Shepherd to last night's meeting to discuss housing problems but he failed to show up or notify anyone that he wasn't coming.

The next meeting will begin at 8 p.m. in Manzanita Center and Shepherd will be notified by registered letter, the council decided.

Many residents in the public housing have brought their complaints to the council in recent months, so councilmen decided to ask Shepherd in to hear the grievances.

The general condition of the public units and rumors of forthcoming evictions have angered many residents and Shepherd's absence last night only served to increase hostilities.

One council member, Melvin Atkins, suggested the possibility of a rent strike until conditions were improved, but the council made no comment on this proposal.

Chamber Urges Ferryboat Ban

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco Chamber of Commerce urged the Golden Gate Bridge District yesterday to make no further commitment of district funds for commuter ferryboats for at least a year.

"The Chamber looks upon ferryboat service as providing only minimum—if not token—aid in alleviation of commute traffic on the bridge," the Chamber said in a letter to the District.

The Chamber's Golden Gate Corridor Committee, however, encouraged additional ferryboat service, if needed, in the interim period on a lease basis with boats already available.

Probation Department Is Sudying Report

The case of Steven Harris Millikan, 20, of Woodacre, has been referred to the probation department for a report Feb. 16 on whether he is acceptable to Marin Juvenile Court.

Millikan, charged with possession of marijuana and misdemeanor counts of resisting arrest and disturbing the peace, allegedly bit a San Rafael policeman when he was being booked Dec. 4 at the hall of justice.

The De Castro Sisters. Whose outrageous antics you may have seen on television, on the continents of Europe, Asia and North America, or in a mess hall in Vietnam. Whom you soon may see in our Garden Bar.

Crazy Peggy specializes in the unexpected, a wry one liner, a virtuoso rendition of "Alfie", an elastic satire of the "Frug." Crazy Nancy sings, exceptionally well. And Crazy Pat, the kid sister, acts her age — at least according to Peggy and Nancy.

Together they're a happy extravaganza of singing, dancing and laughing. Now thru Saturday, February 27 they're together nightly except Sundays and Mondays in our Garden Bar. Show times: 9:30, 11 and 12:30 — with dancing in between. There's no cover or minimum, so you can afford a good dinner in our East-West Room and a parking space in our underground garage. Ferryboat Vandalism Is Reported

I-J Sepcial Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Vandals broke into the Harbor Emperor, largest and newest of Harbor Tour's fleet of ferryboats, Wednesday night and extensively damaged the vessel's equipment.

W. C. Helman, the firm's general manager, called the damage "the worst one of our ferryboats has suffered in our 25-year history."

The vandals smashed the boat's compass, damaged its radar, broke several windows, stole the steering wheel, used up three fire extinguishers, threw a candy rack overboard and removed the door to the engine room, Helman reported.

The rampage took place while the ferry was berthed overnight at San Francisco's pier 43½. When the crew arrived at 5:30 this morning for the ferry's first commuter run, Helman said they discovered the triple-deck boat adrift, with its lines cut.

He said crewmen yesterday were checking the vessel's engine for possible damage and said it "appears the vandals wanted to stop the boat from operating." A tape recorder on the ship was not taken.

The general manager said the vandalism will have no effect on the firm's sightseeing tours or the Tiburon Ferry Service because the firm will use its other four boats. The Harbor Emperor was scheduled to go into drydock for repainting next week, he added.

Helman could give no dollar estimate of the damage.

Runaway Booked For Auto Theft

A 16-year-old runaway youth was arrested yesterday on suspicion of auto theft after a passing motorist notified San Rafael police the youth was acting suspiciously on Wellbrock Heights.

Officers said today Thomas Edward McCarter, of 28 Esmeyer Drive, San Rafael, was arrested at 1:40 a.m. when he was found on Wellbrock sitting in an auto owned by Sidney T. White of 736 Bamboo Terrace, San Rafael.

McCarter, officers said, failed to have identification or registration for the auto.

He was booked into Marin Juvenile Hall.

The aide didn't say how much or on what meals the Petersons cheated.

CAN IT BE SAVED? — This is the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael, which church officials and their architect say can't be saved. But another group, led by an architect from Mill Valley, says it can.

CAN CHURCH BE SAVED?

Argument Over Landmark

By DAVID DIETZ

The issue seemed settled last week when the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael voted overwhelmingly to raze the 74-year-old landmark and construct a new church.

But Howard Johnson, a buoyant architect from Mill Valley who specialized in building restoration in his native England, is determined to reopen the matter.

Johnson, in an opinion sought by a former church official, sharply disagrees with the church's architect and declares the rock structure can be saved by means of a new interior wall. The cost, he said, would be less than building a new church.

"To tear this building down," he said yesterday, "is damn short of criminal. I seriously doubt the church authorities want to preserve it."

Church officials denied the allegations and said all possible means of saving the church — constructed in 1896 with stone quarried in San Rafael — have been investigated, including Johnson's proposal. The conclusion, they said, is that the stone is unstable and the church would collapse in an earthquake.

Johnson said he shared the fears claimed a "concrete lining," anchored flush to the rock wall by means of nails or dowels, would absorb the shock of a temblor, leaving the exterior virtually intact.

The contradictory opinions of both Johnson and the church architect, Donald L. Hardison of San Francisco, are supported by a swarm of engineering consultants. And each architect claims his consultants are "distinguished" in their field.

Johnson — saying he entered the picture in November at the request of a church session member who was unwilling to accept demolition — complained the recommendation of his group was not considered fully in meetings of church officials prior to the congregation vote.

He also insisted no mention of his report was made when the congregation met.

Attacking Johnson's involvement as meddling, Hardison said the Jan. 20 vote climaxed almost a year of study that opened when a structural engineer called upon to look at the church concluded its walls were unsound.

Despite planned demolition, Hardison said, many of the church's prized possessions will be saved, such as its stained glass windows, organ and some furnishings.

"I started out with a strong dedication to save that building," Hardison said, "and it was only when we started to get one negative report after another that we realized it was not possible."

Nicholas Forell, a San Francisco structural engineer, was consulted by Hardison after Johnson's report came to the attention of church leaders. At Forell's request, core samples of the church rock were taken and analyzed by a federal and a state geologist.

Observed Elmer J. Rice, a geologist with the state Division of Mines and Geology, "The chunks had to be handled very carefully to keep them from falling apart." He added he "doubted very much" that, from the samples he observed, the church rock would support the dowels that would be used under Johnson's plan.

Forell, who said his firm is experienced in restoration work, explained that Johnson's plan was a traditional one but wouldn't work at the First Presbyterian Church because of the lack of the rock's "integrity." He cited a recent state Division of Mines and Geology pamphlet which called the type of rock used in construction of the church unstable.

Hardison said the rock, a bluish-gray sandstone known as graywacke and known for its brittleness, probably should never have been used to build the church. He added the stone used in the church has further weakend after 74 years of weathering.

Michael Praszker, a civil engineer and former Marin planning commissioner, disagreed the stone is unsound.

Prazker, whose advice was sought by Johnson, said he had examined the church and the rock samplings and concluded the blocks are of "very high quality" and only slightly weathered.

Johnson estimated his plan would cost about $275,000, while the cost of a new church is put at $280,000. Hardison also had offered the congregation a proposal to restore the church, but with new stone, at $360,000.

Rev. Charles A. Griffin, minister of the church, and Paul H. Dane, chairman of the building committee, said they were convinced that restoration using the present stone is unfeasible.

"I have complete confidence in Mr. Hardison," Dane said. "On the basis of the information we have now, I am personally convinced it (saving the stone) is not possible."

Johnson said his opinion was requested by Robert Lloyd of San Rafael, a member of the Session until his term expired last month. Lloyd had questioned, the architect said, whether a thorough investigation of restoration possibilities was being made.

Johnson said Lloyd, to whom his group's report first was presented, sought not to press the issue in fear of irrevocably splitting the congregation.

Lloyd told the Independent-Journal, "I have completely withdrawn from the controversy. I don't believe the right thing to do is to demolish and rebuild."

Noting that a fund drive was planned to support construction of a new edifice, Lloyd said he didn't believe the congregation would endorse it, despite the overwhelming vote in favor of demolition.

A restored building would have wider donor appeal, regardless of cost, Lloyd believed.

Johnson challenged church officials and Hardison to consult a third party — "nobody I know and nobody Mr. Hardison knows" — for an opinion on the building. Further, he urged, church officials should conduct tests with dowels to erase their doubts about feasibility of his plan.

HAZEL

Guilty Plea Is Entered

Richie Dave Hollingsworth, 19, of Novato, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of assaulting a police officer.

He had earlier been charged with two counts of felony assault on a police officer and a misdemeanor charge of resisting arrest.

Judge Smallman set sentencing for March 12.

Hollingsworth was arrested Dec. 19 at a Novato restaurant after he began banging on a window with a cup. When three California Highway Patrol officers asked him to step outside, the youth struck two of them, the officers said.

Marin Music Switchboard Sets Meeting

Marin Music Switchboard, temporarily closed last year but now revived, has called a public meeting of musicians and supporters for 8 p.m. Wednesday in Olney Hall at the College of Marin.

At the meeting, five new volunteer directors will be elected and installed. Present directors will continue to serve as advisors to the new board, according to David Hutchinson, Switchboard founder.

Marin Music Switchboard serves as a clearing house for Marin musicians seeking performance assignments, and for fans wanting to know where various musicians are to play.

The Switchboard, now located at 882 College Avenue, Kentfield, is open from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily except Sunday.

The reinstatement hearing of former Petaluma policeman Robert C. Blagborne was continued to next Thursday in Sonoma County Superior Court, not yesterday, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Water-Jet Ferryboats Suggested

The Golden Gate Bridge District's naval architect yesterday came up with a solution to the problem of ferry propellers striking out on floating debris — eliminate propellers entirely.

The district's four new ferries — planned for future use — instead may be propelled by giant water jets — sort of a super version of the gentle water pumps used as a massage in bathtubs.

Naval architect Philip F. Spaulding of Seattle said water jets also would allow the ferries to operate in shallower water, reduce dredging maintenance costs, allow higher speed in confined areas because of a smaller wake, and increase maneuverability. Tank tests of its application to the 165-footers he is designing for the district will be made next month.

Three of the $2.1 million ferries will serve Central Marin, and the fourth will be added to the Sausalito service.

Spaulding said that the change to water jets, which would be mounted in the transom, would cut the draft of the ferries from nine to five feet.

Spaulding, reviewing preliminary specifications for the ferries before the bridge district's transportation committee, won unanimous endorsement of a host of details, including a decision to power the ferries with gas turbines. He said that they would be virtually vibration-free, quiet and far lighter than diesels. An existing aircraft turbine would be used, he said.

Also endorsed were specifications for 636 seats, a capacity of 750 passengers including standees, and a level of interior decor "less Spartan than the present Sausalito ferry, but not as luxurious as the lobby of a top-price hotel."

Spaulding said that the upholstered seating would match those in the first-class section of an airliner, but would not recline because of the added expense. The seats will be 22 inches wide.

Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring suggested that the level of decor could vary the ferry price up or down by $200,000, but strongly favored an interior "somewhat austere but comfortable."

Spaulding suggested that carpeting was the "modern trend," but no committee recommendation was made on this proposal.

The committee also agreed to equip the ferries for service outside the Golden Gate, perhaps for recreational trips to Point Reyes National Seashore. Spaulding figured the cost of this equipment at up to $20,000 for each ferry.

The committee referred to district staff a proposal by two Marin designers to design the ferry interiors at a cost of $60,000. The proposal by David E. Stovel of Sausalito and Donald Clever of Tiburon envisioned an "astro-dome cocktail lounge" on each ferry and airline-type sound system of music, news and language studies.

They also suggested on-board telephone booths, coat racks and some place to put drinks while seated.

The committee recommended that the staff be authorized to negotiate with Harbor Carriers to lease one of its ferries to supplement the Sausalito service with one run each way during commute hours.

The committee also endorsed a staff recommendation that the district's ferry feeder bus from Mill Valley be diverted from the Tiburon ferry to the Sausalito ferry and to lease a fourth bus for the Sausalito feeder service from Greyhound Lines at a cost of $146 a month.

Transit Mgr. Donald White noted that the feeder bus patronage was growing, but that Sausalito's refusal to eliminate two parking spaces in the south end of the city to allow the bus to turn around may force termination of that bus run. White said that without the turnaround, the length of the run has to be more than doubled to four miles to turn around at Fort Baker.

Contenders For Bolinas Board Differ on Roles

By PAT ANGLE

Two contenders for a vacant seat on the Bolinas-Stinson School board agreed last night the district desperately needs more teachers and classrooms. But Barbara G. Wilson, a housewife and student, and Michael E. Aitken, a Marin County sheriff's deputy, differed on the roles they would play if elected to the board Tuesday.

A third candidate, Donna D. Fischer, withdrew from the race last night "for personal reasons," but announced she would run again in April for a board seat recently vacated by trustee Warren Fairbanks.

Mrs. Wilson and Aitken will compete in a district election Tuesday for the post formerly held by trustee Erik Lund, who moved to Oregon.

From the beginning, Aitken made it clear that he believes a board member should have some control on what is happening in the classroom. He said he was not pleased "at the way some of the classes are run." The children "are a little too free and run around the classroom more than necessary," he said.

If elected he said he would work for more organized classrooms and a larger school.

Mrs. Wilson disagreed with trustee involvement in the classroom. The candidate, who has often done volunteer work at the school, said she would probably visit the classrooms less often if chosen a trustee.

"The school needs peace and quiet to develop," Mrs. Wilson said. "It's going in a very good direction — toward individual instruction, but it's just beginning and needs time."

Aitken also expressed a strong interest in reading materials used in the school. He held up a list of books which included Eldredge Cleaver's "Soul on Ice" (which he said he has not read) and Norman Mailer's "Why We Are In Vietnam," and charged the books were being read to first, second and third graders.

"Two people who work at the school told me these books are used and I think it's time parents found out some of this fantastic reading material being read to (primary) students."

The school's two primary teachers, Linda O'Neil and Curtis Spurlin, who were in the audience of about 15 persons who attended the candidate's night, denied Aitken's claim. Spurlin said the school staff had decided the books in question should be on call in the library for seventh and eighth graders who wanted to use them. The teacher said books with "questionable" words or content could be checked out only with the approval of the school librarian.

Mrs. Wilson said she felt overcrowding and class size (currently about 25-30 students per teacher) were two of the district's biggest problems and indicated she would like to see the pupil/teacher ratio at about 15 to 1. Aitken agreed overcrowding was a problem, but thought class size was "generally good."

Mrs. Wilson also said the decision on whether classes should be structured or unstructured —a controversial issue in the district — should be left to the discretion of teachers and parents, with individual children and their needs always in mind.

Both were adamant about the need for more teachers and more teaching aides and both thought current teachers were doing a good job.

Aitken said the teachers should have "a lot more backing from the board when they need it. Talk around town shouldn't change a teacher's position, if he is a good teacher."

Mrs. Wilson concurred, saying the board should insure the privacy of teachers' private lives and refuse to discuss complaints about teachers which have nothing to do with their classroom performance.

Both candidates felt the spreading of rumors and controversy among different groups in the heterogeneous community should be thoroughly discouraged.

Mrs. Wilson said that, as a board member, she would strictly enforce the district's approved grievance procedure which requires parents with complaints to first go to the teacher, then the principal and come to the board only if all else fails.

Aitken said the persons "who spread most of the hate should be grabbed and brought into board meetings to hash it out."

Mrs. Wilson, a widow, is studying for a bachelor's degree in art from Dominican College. She has three children and her daughter, Rebecca, is a third grader at Bolinas School. She has lived in the community for two years.

The 27-year-old Aitken has been a summer resident of Bolinas most of his life. He and his wife and two children (his daughter Tina is a kindergarten student at the school) moved permanently to Bolinas five years ago.

Canyon Ranch Benefit Concerts

Benefit concerts to help the Audubon Canyon Ranch will be given at 8 p.m. today and tomorrow in the Little Theater at Sir Francis Drake High School.

The Country Fair, a folk music group, will be featured.

Clerin W. Zumwalt, naturalist for the Audubon Canyon Ranch, said Country Fair musicians turned up en masse during last week's waterfowl oil crisis to offer help at the ranch near Bolinas. Finding that the ranch was swamped with volunteers, the musicians decided they would assist by staging the fund-raising concerts, Zumwalt said.

Innocent Pleas To Marijuana

John Anthony Canales and Carl Glen Pickens, both 18 and from San Francisco; James Kardis Jr., 21, of Novato, and William Cody Smith, 19, of Sausalito, have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges of possessing marijuana.

Preliminary hearing was set for Feb. 9.

They were arrested Jan. 17 by sheriff's deputies who were investigating a reported burglary at Kardis's residence.

Three More Special Rubella Clinics Set

The Marin County Department of Public Health has scheduled three special rubella vaccine clinics next month for children unable to take part in the vaccination program to date.

Two more clinics under which the regular vaccine will be administered also are scheduled.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, health officer, said the clinics are for children who are allergic to eggs or chicken or duck feathers and who could not be inoculated with the regular vaccine.

Dr. Albrecht cautioned, however, that inoculations cannot be administered at the special clinics to children allergic to rabbits or the antibiotic neomycin.

The special clinics will be: Feb. 8, 1:30 to 4 p.m.; Feb. 10, 4 to 7 p.m., and Feb. 22, 1:30 to 4 p.m., all at the county health office at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael. Regular vaccine also will be administered Monday from 1:30 to 4 p.m. and at the Feb. 22 clinic.

No fee will be charged for clinics but donations up to $1 per child will be accepted for the Marin medical socity rubella fund, Dr. Albrecht said.

The clinics will end after February. Beginning March 1, rubella vaccine will be given in Room 400 at the Civic Center, from 1:30 to 4 p.m. on Mondays, Tuesdays and Fridays.

Plea Date On Pot Charges

Guy Brodnax of San Rafael has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on charges of possession of marijuana and misdemeanor petty theft.

He will plead to the charges Feb. 10.

Brodnax was arrested Sunday at Mayfair Market in San Rafael on suspicion of shoplifting. Police later found a plastic bag containing marijuana in his possession.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Dead Actress' Husband Writes: Motherhood's Legacy Immortal

Actress Elizabeth York was only 46 years old when she died of lung cancer in California last spring. Her husband, Alvin Sapinsley, a successful television playwright, hoped that, perhaps, others might profit if he told of the last four months of her life. She was a good mother to Greg and Ann, their adopted children.

HERE ARE excerpts from the letter he wrote to the American Cancer Society. Parts of it appeared in the Society's Cancer News:

". . . I knew, and spent those terrible four months looking her straight in the eye and lying to her, telling that all she had was bad chronic fibrosis, and it would begin to get better very soon. And she believed me. She also believed that if we could get out of the smog she'd feel better, and so we started to build a house on the beach at Oxnard, a house I knew she would never live to see finished — or even properly begun."

ON THE DAY of her death, Mr. Sapinsley took the children into the garden ". . . And I told them what had happened, told them exactly what had happened, told them how they would never see their mother again, how she was dead, what happened to people when they died . . . They'll decide in their own time if they agree with me or not . . ."

"But as I said to them that afternoon in the garden, when you die all that if left of you is what you leave behind you. Your immortal soul is your music, your writings, your paintings, your statuary — there's nothing else. And although she was, I thought, a splendid actress and — when she gave it up and went back to college — a splendid scholar, the years she gave to Greg and Ann were her finest years, and they are her masterpieces. The burden becomes somewhat lighter when I think of the joy she would be feeling in them now."

"I KNOW SHE died of cancer. I don't know if she died of smoking. I don't know if she'd still be alive if she'd never smoked, or smoked less, or stopped sooner. I don't know what damage I've done to myself during the years I smoked, or how much damage has been repaired during the two years since I stopped."

Mr. Sapinsley's poignant letter speaks for itself and should offer food for thought to anyone indulging in self-inflicted internal pollution.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

TRACES OF SUGAR

S.R. writes: Is sugar in the urine a sure sign of diabetes?

REPLY

No. Traces of sugar usually appear in the urine after the person has eaten a meal rich in carbohydrates. In others, the kidneys are more porous and sugar appears in the urine for mechanical reasons.

NECK PAIN AND TENSION

T. N. writes: Is a ruptured disk in the cervical area ever due to a long bout of nervous tension?

REPLY

No. but prolonged neck pain might cause nervous tension.

LOSE FAT, NOT HAIR

L.L. writes: would going on a reducing diet cause loss of hair?

REPLY

No. Many individuals grow bald regardless of how much they eat.

Today's Health Hint — A retired person needs several hobbies, one of which should afford physical activity.

Board Halts Punishment

BALTIMORE (UPI) — The Maryland School Board voted Wednesday night to ban corporal punishment as an acceptable disciplinary measure in the state's public schools.

Principals, or in their absense vice-principals, had been allowed to spank unruly students.

Dr. Ramsey Thomas, a board member who amended the measure tostop counties from overriding the state ban, said, "we cannot in this violent society continue to sanction man-to-man violence."

Stereo Tapes Stolen

Jack C. Bailey, 8 Baker Court, Petaluma, told police that 50 stereo tapes valued at $350 were stolen from his car yesterday while the vehicle was parked at his home.

Shown here is Helen Thomas, one of the UPI Washington reporters who cover the White House

Be our guest in the White House

You will know as much as anyone about what goes on in the White House and in the Presidency by the simple act of reading the I-J. (Only the President and intimates will know more).

For the I-J, through its United Press International reporters, is virtually "in residence" as much as the President. Which makes you our welcome guest to the White House.

Our reporters are constantly alert to staff and cabinet meetings, to affairs of international import, to the diplomatic front, to the comings and goings which make the White House a world center of significant news. Boc Not Happy With Expo Offer

Johnny Boccabella of Terra Linda, utility man for the Montreal Expos of the National League, says he just might "hang 'em up if they (the Expos) don't come up with a fair offer."

Boccabella, the former Marin Catholic High and Santa Clara star who has been in professional baseball since 1963, says he has flatly rejected the Expos' first contract offer for the 1971 season.

Now a salesman for Taveggia-Brusati Sports and Saddle Shop in San Rafael, Boc said the Expos' contract "was not close to what I thought was fair. I talked to them after I received the contract and they offered more money, but not nearly enough to what I thought I deserved. For me I thought I had a pretty good season last year."

What's next? "Well," the good-looking, 29-year-old catcher-first baseman-outfielder said, "it's still up in the air and I'm just waiting. The closer we get to spring training the more serious the talks get. If they come closer to what I think I deserve, then we might work out a compromise. If not, then next baseball season I might still be working here at Taveggia-Brusati's."

Boccabella allowed as how he already has qualified for a baseball pension with four and one half years in the major league. "It takes four years to qualify and last year they had that to hold over my head during contract talks. But now I have a pension coming," he smiled.

SPEAKING OF big leaguers, there are now two more top athletes who call Marin County their home.

They are Frank Reberger, pitcher for the San Francisco Giants, and Robert Adams, end for the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Reberger recently moved to Novato and Adams to Terra Linda. Adams, by the way, is brother of Novato City Recreation Director Ed Adams and is teaching seventh grade science at Sinaloa Junior High School in Novato.

GORDON TOVANI of San Rafael, the place kicking specialist who once tried out in vain for the Oakland Raiders, already is working on plans for his annual high school place kicking clinic scheduled for late in May, somewhere in Marin.

He may call it the "Tovani Boot Camp."

COUPLE OF PETERS in the news today:

Pete Carroll, star for last season's College of Marin football team, has been signed to a football scholarship by the University of Pacific and will enroll at the Stockton campus this spring.

And Peter Ashley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ashley of Greenbrae, has been chosen to represent the University of California at Santa Cruz in the epee event of the All-California Fencing tournament to be held in March in San Diego. Ashley, a Redwood High graduate, is a sophomore at Santa Cruz.

DOG LOVERS: Don't forget the Golden Gate Kennel Club Dog Show at the Cow Palace tomorrow and Sunday and any of you wise guys who mentions anything about Pup's Blue Ribbon will get 10 lashes by my poodle's tail.

TERRY SCHANK, 9, of San Rafael was one of 24 winners in last Saturday night's special drawing at the indoor midget auto races in Santa Rosa. As a souvenir, young Terry has a picture of himself with one of the star drivers — a nice prize for a 9-year-old.

CHECKING THINGS OUT — Fred Hines gets some rock climbing gear ready while student Brian Witt watches. Today was Hines' last day of teaching after 33 years on the San Rafael High School staff.

FRED HINES RETIRES

After 33 Years, He's Going To Miss The Kids

By RALPH CHATOIAN

"It will be good to get away from that alarm clock, but I'm sure going to miss the kids."

So said Fred G. Hines who closed out his active teaching profession today, last day of the fall semester, after 33½ half years as physical education instructor at San Rafael High School.

Knowing he will miss the sights and sounds of San Rafael High School which have become so familiar to him, Hines has asked that his name be put on the substitute teaching list at San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools.

"I hope I can still get in one or two days a month of teaching," he said.

Hines, who will turn 60 on July 1, has been an active outdoorsman all his life and as he says, "I don't ever want to vegetate." That's why he still jogs two or three miles daily. He used to run competitively with the Marin Athletic Club until 1965 when he was advised by a doctor to slow down because of a heart problem.

A diminutive man who looks as fit as a fiddle, Hines still is active in back packing and rock climbing, in addition to his jogging. And with retirement here, he will be spending more time on his number one hobby — a collection of electric trains.

The trains, numbering more than 100, are in the basement of his home, 86 Embarcadero Way. He dug out his own basement area a few years ago and has the trains in a 20 by 30 foot room.

"I'm expanding the storage area in the basement and I still have some pick and shovel work in front of me," said Hines. "I've been keeping track; in the last 18 months I've hauled out 115 tons of dirt from the basement. That's 1,855 wheelbarrows full." He said he usually works at it for an hour or two a day.

Hines is treasurer of the Northern California division, Train Collectors Association, a national organization, and meets monthly with his train colleagues.

He said he will be using his retirement time for "further expansion of my hobbies — trains, back packing and running. I've got some house repairs to do and some digging in the basement. I'm not planning any elaborate trips or anything like that."

And he can also beat the crowd on back-packing trips. "I can go to the mountains in September, now," he said, "when the weather is great and the crowds are back to school."

Hines, who heads a co-educational rock climbing class at San Rafael High and leads weekend hikes at Mount Tamalpais, is a grandfather four times. He and wife Gertrude have a son, Terry, living in Middletown, Lake County, and a daughter Mrs. Michael Geary, living in Kentucky. Although born in San Francisco, Hines has lived in Marin County most of his life.

He attended elementary school in San Rafael and then San Rafael High School. Then after Stanford University, he taught two years at Doris, Siskiyou County, and another year at Denair, near Fresno. Since then he has been teaching P.E. and coaching at San Rafael High. He was tennis coach at San Rafael for 25 years, with 13 championships, before quitting active coaching in 1967.

"There's no question about it — I'll really miss the kids," said Hines. "As a teacher you get to see all the kids so you realize there are so many good ones. People who aren't in teaching only seem to see the bad ones and don't realize that all kids aren't bad. We, as teachers, know there are a heck of a lot of great ones."

The enthusiastic Mr. Hines is a good example of retiring young — in spirit he's still a young man.

Pro Golfers Continue Their Hot Shooting

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—If the weather continues fine — and the forecast is for warm, sunny days—the Andy Williams—San Diego Open could wind up as a replay of last week's Phoenix Open.

In the Phoenix, you'll recall, the cut for the final two rounds was set at five under par 139. In the San Diego Open, it could be almost as low when they trim the field after today's second round.

A total of 81 players in the starting field of 142 pros and two amateurs shot par or less in the opening round Thursday. When all the firing was over on a day tailor made for golf, Dave Eichelberger of Waco, Tex., and rookie Ralph Johnston of Jackson Heights, N.Y., were the leaders with six-under-par scores of 66.

The San Diego Open is being played over parts of Torrey Pines' two courses with the tourney layout a relatively flat 6,792-yards and par at 36-36—72.

Eichelberger, who missed making the 1971 exemption list by two places, sank a 198-yard, two iron shot for an eagle on the par four seventh hole. He also bagged birds on No. 2, 9, 11, 12, 13 and 18 and made his only mistake on the par three sixth when he three putted from 60 feet.

Johnston, who went to the PGA school five times before he finally picked up his playing card, had as spectacular a round as he sank birdie putts of every length on No. 1, 2, 6, 9, 13, 15 and 18 bogied 10 when he missed a putt of less than two feet. Eichelberger credited his fine round to his short game while Johnston said his putter made the big difference.

Australian Bob Shaw, another youngster trying to win fame on the American tour, led a group of seven players who had five-under 67s in the opening round. The others in that group were Los Angeles Open champ Bob Lunn, Charles Coody, Bob Dickson, Bill Garrett, Jack Montgomery and George Archer.

In with 68s were defending champ Pete Brown, Phoenix Open winner Miller Barber, Kermit Zarley, Dow Finsterwald, Bob Charles and Bobby Nichols, who eagled the par four fith hole. Ron Cerrudo of Napa had a disastroug openign round 76.

Marin 'Cats Slip Past Terra Linda

By DAVID EINSTEIN

Steve Vanni poured forth a free throw with eight seconds left last night to climax a game-long comeback that brought Marin Catholic High School a 45-44 Marin County Athletic League basketball victory over the Terra Linda Trojans.

The final margin was the only lead of the night for Dave Hennessy's Wildcats, who had trailed by 10 points at the end of the first quarter. A capacity crowd of 500 at the Marin gym in Kentfield reacted to the victory, which broke a two game losing streak, with unbridled joy, an unbounded cacaphony of emotion.

But if the applause of the crowd rewarded the Wildcats, it symbolized bitter disappointment for the Trojans, who, in losing their third of seven MCAL games, saw any chances they might have entertained for the championship practically ruined. Marin is now 3-4.

Vanni's final shot, coming on a one-and-one situation when Bill Berry fouled him in an attempt to steal the ball, was his only point of the game; he is a defensive specialist who seldom shoots, but he made the most important shot of his high school career. The Wildcats

An upset appeared in the making in San Anselmo last night when the lightly regarded Drake Pirates trailed the highly ranked Tamalpais Indians by a single point with 28 seconds to go.

But unbelievable Will Garner, who has come to the rescue of the Mill Valley team more than once this year, turned savior again with five points before the final buzzer to give Tam a 56-50 win in the Marin County Athletic League basketball game.

Drake was obviously feeling its oats after upsetting Marin Catholic Tuesday night, and a win in this one would have made the Pirates' season. As it is, they stand at 2-5 in league play. For Tam the game, as have been all league games, was a must win affair; the Indians remained in second place at 5-1, behind undefeated Redwood.

On paper, the Pirates had no business being in the same gym with Tam, the eighth ranked team in the Bay Area. The Indians had a tremendous size advantage, with four players at 6-foot-3 or over, while the Pirates had only one player that tall — sophomore Tom Carlisle.

Yet the Pirates not only made a game of it, but had Tam on the ropes much of the time. They led at halftime by five, and were within striking distance up until Garner's heroics. Specifically, the 6-foot-3 junior scored on a pair of tipins, the first of which he turned into a three point play. His total output for the game was 23 points.

Up until that time, the Indians had been carried throughout the second half by forward Clifford Hall, who hit for 11 points after the intermission. He had 13 altogether.

Drake was led, both on offense and defense, by senior forward Jim Forni, who scored 14. Mark Daubenfeld, whose 18 points on Tuesday dismantled Marin Catholic, contributed 11, and Jit Singh had nine.

'Who's He? Again Ask The 49er Fans

Ohio State Defender 1st Choice

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—When Forty Niners fans heard San Francisco had drafted someone named Tim Andersen as first round choice, their reaction probably was a puzzled "Who is he?"

A lot of football followers may not have heard of Anderson, but he's been a regular for three years at Ohio State as a cornerback. The problem is that most of the publicity went to Andersen's teammate, safety Jack Tatum, who was drafted earlier in the first round by the Oakland Raiders.

San Francisco followed its pattern Thursday of surprising choices in the draft selections, but coach Dick Nolan seemed to think that everyone should have known it all along.

"We went for the athlete, just as we said we would," Nolan said. "And we think Anderson is a great one."

Although the Forty Niners already have two solid cornerbacks, All-Pro Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor, Nolan said Anderson would be good insurance.

In the second round, San Francisco got two picks. They chose Ernie Janet, a 6-4, 241-pound offensive guard from the University of Washington and another surprise pick. This selection was made possible by a trade that sent Kevin Hardy to Green Bay.

San Francisco also picked Joe Orduna, a 6-1, 194-pound running back from Nebraska.

The Forty Niners again got two picks in the third round. On a choice acquired in the George Mira trade to Philadelphia, they drafted USC wide receiver Sam Dickerson, the Trojans' most dangerous long threat the past two seasons.

On the regular third round selection, San Francisco chose Willie Parker of North Texas State, a 6-3, 245-pound center.

Other choices by the Forty Niners in the seven rounds Thursday were Tony Harris, Toledo running back; Dean Shaternick, Kansas State tackle; George Wells, New Mexico State linebacker; Marty Huff, Michigan linebacker; Al Bresler, Auburn wide receiver; and John Watson, Oklahoma tackle.

The draft resumed today. Seventeen rounds are scheduled.

FILLS NEED

Raiders Quickly Nab Jack Tatum

OAKLAND (UPI)—The Oakland Raiders didn't ask questions when Jack Tatum was still available on the 19th pick in the football draft—they just nabbed the Ohio State star as quick as possible.

The raiders are in need of a safety now since the retirement of Dave Grayson, and Tatum, a two-time consensus All-America, may fill the bill.

"We sweated out the last few picks in front of us," coach John Madden said Thursday. "We were afraid someone else would take him."

Madden said he believes Tatum, a 6-0, 208-pounder, has the size and strength to play safety or cornerback. Since strong safety George Atkinson has been moved to Grayson's spot at free safety, Tatum probably will get a good chance at strong safety post.

The Raiders also obtained Bill (Earthquake) Enyart from the Buffalo Bills in a complex move. The Raiders gave the Bills kick returner Alvin Wyatt and their opening third round pick, which they had obtained in the Ike Lassiter trade from Boston. In addition to Enyart, the Raiders received the Bills' 10th round draft position.

Enyart, an All-America fullback at Oregon State, was a backup fullback to Wayne Patrick at Buffalo. But the Raiders may give Enyart a shot at a linebacker position with the Raiders.

"We've been talking to Buffalo about trading Enyart to us for almost two years," Madden said.

In the second round, the Raiders also selected Phil Villapiano, a 6-2, 216-pound linebacker from Bowling Green.

The Raiders also drafted two top West Coast products—Southern California halfback Clarence Davis in the fourth round and Stanford tight end Bob Moore in the fifth round.

Other choices by Oakland in the seven rounds Thursday were Penn State center Warren Koegel; Southern Cal linebacker Greg Slough; and Yale defensive back Don Martin.

Plunkett Is Ready To Learn From Kapp

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Plunkett, the Stanford quarterback selected No. 1 in the collegiate draft Thursday by the Boston Patriots, said he was "resigned to playing for any team that picked him and that he would be ready to play second string if necessary.

Plunkett was in New York when Boston coach John Mazur called him from Boston shortly after 10 a.m. to inform him that the Patriots had selected him. Plunkett said he would be very happy to play in Boston even though he grew up in California and has seldom played in cold weather.

"I just want to play pro ball and I've been resigned to the fact that I would play for the team that picked me," Plunkett said.

He added it would be a big help to go to a team which has a veteran quarterback like Joe Kapp, who signed a long-term contract with the Patriots last season.

"Kapp has been playing a long time and has quite a bit of knowledge and that's going to help someone new like me," Plunkett said.

When asked what his reaction will be if he winds up on the bench behind Kapp, Plunkett said, "Like everyone else I'd like to play right away, but if I've got to sit on the bench that's what I'll do."

When Plunkett was asked if he thought he might be asked to do some scrambling behind the Boston line he said, "I sure hope I get to stay in the pocket. I'm not much of a scrambler."

Rec Basketball

Four games were played in the San Rafael adult basketball league last night. The Centaurs beat the Harding Gophers, 40-27, Pinky's Pizza downed the Kennel Extraordinaire, 34-25, Southern Marin Towing took care of Dornbach Painting, 52-43 and Don Rumpf's Golf Shop defeated Cal's Steakhouse, 55-31.

Renault Drivers Win Monte Carlo

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (UPI)—Sweden's Ove Andersson and British co-driver David Stone won the Monte Carlo Rally in a French Alpine Renault today after leading from start to finish.

The pair finished 40 seconds ahead of teammates Jean-Luc Therier and Marcel Callewaert as Alpine swept the first three places.

European rally champion Jean-Claude Andruet's Alpine finished third, tied with Sweden's Bjorn Waldegaard in the Works Porsche. Both were one minute, 51 seconds behind the leaders.

In fifth spot came the Japanese Datsun and Finn Rauno Aaltonen and Paul Easter.

It was the first victory for Andersson, a 32-year-old garage mechanic. Stone already won the event in 1968 with Vic Elford. It was also the first victory for the French cars in four years of trying.

Finn Simo Lampinen took sixth place in a Lancia, co-driven by Briton John Davenport.

"It was the biggest victory of my life," said Andersson, as he stepped wearily from his light blue car on the sunny Monte Carlo quayside.

"The only problem was, it was such a close thing. The car has been marvelous," he said.

Andersson and Stone led throughout the night of seven special speed trials despite some fierce opposition from Therier.

The rally was the toughest in many years, with fewer than 25 cars out of 224 starters crossing the finish line today.

Andersson got a big hug from his blonde wife on arrival. Both men poured champagne over each other in the traditional victory ceremony.

Frosh Basketball

Darrold Elder scored 22 points to pace the Redwood High School freshman basketball team past Tamalpais yesterday 40-28. In another frosh contest Marin Catholic downed Terra Linda, 38-29.

FISH AND GAME

New Regulations May Change Some Lives

By AL GIDDINGS

The new fishing regulations booklet has recently been released! Some of the changes may alter the course of your life! The changes go into effect onMarch 1, 1971. The change of the greatest magnitude is the one on Page 12, Article 5, No. 18 which reads: "General Trout and Salmon Seasons and Limits: (a) All lakes and reservoirs except those in Alpine, Inyo, and Mono Counties:

1. Open season: All year except for special closures and special seasons in Sections 20 through 34.95.

2. Limit: Five trout or salmon in combination except that from May 1 through Nov. 15, the limit is ten trout or salmon in combination, but not more than ten pounds and one fish (See sections 25 through 34.95 for reduced limits in certain waters.)

My comments: The above, in general, means that all lakes and reservoirs in the state except for those in Mono, Inyo and Alpine counties will be open year around starting March 1 of this year, except for the special closures listed in Sections 20 through 34.95. The limit will be five trout except from May 1 through Nov. 15 when most of the streams of the state will open and the limit becomes 10 trout.

Stream opening exceptions are in Del Norte, Humbolt, Mendocino and parts of Trinity and Lake counties. They open May 29 to Nov. 15.

In reading through the regulations, I notice that Lakes Phoenix, Bon Tempe, Lagunitas and Rodeo Lagoon of Marin County now will have a five fish limit the year around. There is no mention of Alpine Lake and Kent Lake under the special regulations so the limit will be ten trout there from May 1 through Nov. 15 but five trout otherwise. At Berryessa, in Napa County, the limit is three trout, and at Davis Lake in Plumas County, the all year daily limit is five trout.

With the lakes in the Sierra opening March 1, fishermen will be actually fishing through the ice which is now legal in California. Some people will be going into areas that are far different from the areas they know in the late spring and summer. Vacation dates will be changed; and the snow, ice, and high waters will be something to really contend with!

Jeeps and snow mobiles may become the rage for trout fishermen. It's certainly something to think about! I usually go to Webber Lake in Sierra County. The ice breaks each year about May 1. I wonder just what I would do there March 1?

ARE YOU salt water fishermen laughing? Wait until you read Page 27, Article 2, titled "Fin Fish." It looks like a simple regulation, but it changes limits on all salt water fish except those listed to 15 per person with not more than 10 of any one species. We'll discuss it in the next column.

FISHING IN the San Pablo Bay area has been slow probably because the bay water is so cold. I'm sure the bass are around, but just not feeding with great desire. Our gang, Sam Knoles, Frank Sue, Marty Medin, Bob Wilson and I plus other occasional friends have averaged about one fish to the boat each trip. The fish have been good ones with the catches being divided evenly between sturgeon and bass. It figures out to about 20 fish for 20 trips, 10 bass and 10 sturgeon. Bob Wilson is sturgeon champ with one monster last Sunday that weighed 115 pounds on the Loch Lomond Yacht Harbor scales. He caught it south of the Richmond Bridge using ghost shrimp as bait on Marty Medin's Fenwick Fly Rod and 20-pound test monofilament. The fish had 21¼-pounds of roe that Bob and I are trying to make into caviar! The largest bass was a 30-35 pounder taken off China Camp last week. Who caught it? The little old wine maker — ME!

THE DEPARTMENT of Fish and Game boys who ran the bird receiving station at Terra Linda (4290 Redwood Highway) would like to express their thanks to all the people who helped make the station workable during the oil spill.

Special thanks go to Ben Oatlind, who donated the use of his warehouse and much of his time; and to Mr. Sthymmel for his jovial assistance. Most helpful were the following young people: Lisa Adrianne, Shelley Munson, Cindy Krier, Susan Anderson, Craig and Lauren Marston, plus many others' young and old whose names were never learned during those hectic hours.

Business firms helping out were The Fairchild Corp. of Terra Linda, Gotellis Rentals; Allied, Sausalito; Global and Atlas Moving and Storage Companies, Tam Lumber Co. of Mill Valley, Aquarian Beautiful and Weyerhauser Co. of Alameda.

Veterinarian R. N. Bromman of San Rafael gave a great deal of help and useful advice. To all who pitched in, we again say thanks.

GLAD YOU DROPPED IN

National Hockey League Referee Bruce Hood spent a brief time on the Detroit Red Wings' bench last night during a game between the Red Wings and St. Louis in Detroit. Hood had been knocked over the boards when caught between two colliding players in the first period, and Detroit's Larry Brown (left), didn't appear too happy with the sudden visit. The game ended in a 1-1 tie.

had tied the game, also for the first time, on a bank shot by Jim Sullivan, his fifth and sixth points of the final quarter, with 1:24 left.

The comeback actually began in the second quarter, when Marin cut the deficit to five, but stalled in the third quarter, as Terra Linda's Larry Kerr singlehandedly kept the Wildcats at bay. When Bill Donellan, Marin's leader with 16 points, hit back-to-back baskets early in the period to close the score to 30-29, Kerr responded with a layup and two free throws to put the Trojans back in front by five. He ended with 17 points high for the game.

But the seeds of victory were sown in that third quarter, as the Wildcats' defense tightened behind Jack Stahl, Dennis Stone and Vanni. The latter, at 6-foot-3 the tallest man on the club, did a yeoman job of covering Joe Casteel, the Trojans' best shooter. He got only two points in the period, and nine in the game.

And the defense held in the final quarter, allowing the visitors just six points while Donellan, Sullivan, Stone and Vanni combined for 12 as the Wildcats twice pulled within two points, once within one, and finally ahead.

Laver Defeats Ashe For Another 10 G's

NEW YORK (UPI) — It took Rod Laver a little longer than usual to get cranked up Thursday night, but once he did the result was the same — another check for $10,000.

Laver picked up his seventh $10,000 check of the month by whipping Arthur Ashe, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4, in their winner-take-all match in Tennis Champions Classic at Madison Square Garden, and the red-haired Australian admitted it took him longer than it should have.

"I was a bit too loose at the start. It took me a little while to get keyed up this time," said Laver, who will try for another 10 grand against British lefthander Roger Taylor in Los Angeles on Feb. 3.

Warriors Vs. Buffalo, Then Lakers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco Warriors, back on the winning track after a three-game losing streak, meet Buffalo tonight in the Civic Auditorium, but Coach Al Attles' players may find it hard to keep their minds off Saturday night.

The Warriors, who are trailing Los Angeles by three games in the National Basketball Association Pacific Division, battle the Lakers Saturday night in an important contest in the Oakland Coliseum Arena.

Buffalo, which is on the bottom in the East division, will be trying to make up some ground on Detroit. The Seals will be working to move up on the Los Angeles Kings, who are four points ahead of them.

The Seals are hoping that left winger Gary Croteau will have an encore of his Wednesday night performance.

Reluctant Bather In The Hot Water

SOBOBA HOT SPRINGS — To me, the word "baths" in the sense of natural mineral springs always conjured up visions of fat old Prussians with monocles, brush hair cuts, mutton-chop whiskers, and dueling scars.

THEY WOULD carriage down to Bad Nauheim, or Marienbad, there to lower their corpulent bodies into vats of bubbling mud or reeking sulfur. Then, they would lumber over to crystal dining rooms to eat Sacher Torte or sauerbraten soaked in wine and mushroom sauce, washed down by flagons of Rhine wine. Then, they would sit out on the porch and belch all night.

Two weeks of this, and they would put on their spiked helmets and go out and slaughter somebody.

THEIR FAITH in the curative power of "the waters" was unshakable. They knew their diet was a formidable test of liver (there was those who thought the Germany war, like character, was more culinary than military), and gastro-intestinal disorders ran close on the heels of rheumatism and varicosities as an excuse for a visit to the baths.

In this country, railroad barons, copper kings and dry goods merchants made vulgar displays of their wealth at spas like Saratoga, White Sulphur and French Lick Springs, but they largely ignored the baths in favor of 50-cent cigars, $2 race horses, and no-limit card rooms. But hypochondriacs, to a man, have always been convinced that the fountain of youth has sulfur in it.

AS AN American city kid, I always figured these places were for Count Metternich or General Von Moltke or Diamond Jim Brady or Crown Prince Rudolph and I have studiously avoided anything that opened the pores on purpose, or raised the body temperature or increased circulation. I mean, boiling water is for turnips. The subway in August is sauna enough for anyone. If sweating makes you healthy, get an attic room in Connecticut any summer and you'll live forever. The only sulfur bath I ever took was when I fell in the Hog River there. All I got was scarlet fever.

YOU CAN see how I balked when my commanding general, the one with the brown eyes, called out, "We're going to a fat farm with Katie and Bill Huber when they come in town from Boston. It's a health resort run by their friend, Dr. Ben Thompson, called Soboba Hot Springs. It's got seven natural minerals running down the mountain."

"I can't," I said. "I can't go to a spa. I just sent my monocle out to be buffed. And I don't even have a spiked helmet."

"YOU'VE GOT TO," she told me firmly. "You're getting too fat."

"It's a civil right," I told her. "Right under the freedom of worship," 'The Congress shall make no laws to abridge the freedom of the people peacefully to get fat.' Listen! Let me tell you something, the potato chip was invented by a guy who ran a health resort. So was the mashed potato. Think about THAT, for a minute. In fact, I think a guy who ran an alcoholics cure invented the martini."

"There's an Indian legend that a whole tribe got sick and was dying and they followed a blue lizard to the baths where they were all cured," she told me.

"THERE'S ALWAYS an Indian legend," I told her wearily. "They're made up by guy on Madison Avenue whose idea of a smoke signal is a cigaret ad. Just remember, Ramona was written by a songwriter in Brooklyn."

Well, it didn't work. It never does. But when I got there, I got Dr. Thompson aside. I thought we best have the argument over with right then and there.

"LISTEN," I SAID. "I know this stuff is OK for a lot of bilious, liverish old European Rasputins, but I'm a busy man, and I'm not about to get down in a tub full of rotten eggs. If it was so great for the Indians, how's come we're not talking in sign language?"

Ben was gracious. "OK," he said cheerily, "why don't you just go down and have a beer?"

"WELL," I SAID, "I DO have this bad back. And didn't someone say Gene Tunney used to love it here?"

"Look," said Ben patiently, "Don't put yourself out. The baths have been here for hundreds of years. Most of the Indians ignored them. Only the chiefs used them."

He let that sink in. A few moments later, I did, too — into the deep vats of boiling sulfur. I have now launched a new career. Rhinestone Jim Murray, the boulevardier of the baths. I plan to get a vest, and spread a gold watch chain across it, or a tuxedo with a red sash. I plan to sit around discussing gas symptoms. After only two hot baths, already I'm beginning to feel like one of the Hapsburgs.

Consumer Stocks: Long-Term Gains

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I wonder how many readers write you in appreciation for your clear answers to their investment questions? Anyway I wish to express my personal thanks to you for helping me, as well as others, solve our seemingly complex financial problems. Would you list a few good quality long-range growth stocks? — G. D.

A. It is always gratifying to hear that my efforts have benefited an investor. In my opinion, consumer-oriented stocks are the most dependable issues for steady growth over the longer term.

In this group Warner-Lambert, recently merged with Parke, Davis, has an excellent record and above-average potential. Other equally appealing issues include: American Hospital Supply, Avon Products, Bristol Myers, Consolidated Foods, Eastmen Kodak, Plough, Inc., Tampax, H. J. Heinz and Weyerhaeuser.

Q. Can you give me information on a risk stock called Realty Income Trust? — F. C.

A. This company, in order to qualify as a real estate investment trust, must distribute at least 90 per cent of income and 100 per cent of capital gains to stockholders. While this exempts the company from Federal income taxes, it does not affect the tax status of distributions received by shareholders.

In 1970, $1.22 a share was paid out, for a 9.1 per cent current yield. However, since dividends are tied to earnings this high rate of return is subject to modification. A drop in second quarter — ended October 31, 1970 — results, pulled six-month earnings to 56 cents a share, 8.2 per cent below year-earlier results!

Properties owned include: secured notes, 39 per cent of assets at the 1970 year end; land under hotels and offices, 30 per cent industrial properties, 13 per cent parking garages, 9 per cent cash and unimproved land, 9 per cent. Late in 1970 Realty entered into an agreement, subject to stockholder approval, with a subsidiary of Industrial National Bank.

If approved, the latter, with 24.6 per cent of the stock, would be RIT's largest shareholder. Another group presently owns 12 per cent of the outstanding stock. There are several companies in this industry with longer and more consistent earnings records which I would prefer.

Stock Market Sets Mark For Busiest Trade Week

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks were strong in heavy trading late Friday.

With about an hour to go, advances were leading declines, 919 to 431, while the Dow Jnes industrial average of 30 selected blue chips was ahead 3½ points. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index showed a gain of 0.64 at 95.85.

A four-hour volume of 15,880,000 shares brought volume for the week to around 95,000,000 shares, a new record. The previous record turnover for a single week was 92,282,680 shares set in the first week of December last year.

Helping spur demand for stocks was favorable reaction to President Nixon's budget message to congress and a Labor Department report that inflation slowed a bit in 1970 because of a sharp leveling off of food prices.

Oil Talks Open Between Arabs, Western Firms

TEHRAN (UPI) — Negotiations have opened between representatives of major Western oil companies and the Persian Gulf states aimed at averting a crisis in the oil industry.

Iran's Minister of Finance Jamshid Amouzegar said the talks progressed satisfactorily during the first four-hour session involving ministers from Iran, Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

He said the oil company representatives agreed to restrict the negotiations to the Persian Gulf area.

At least three members of the 10-nation oil exporting countries have threatened to cut off supplies to Western Europe and Japan if their demands are not met.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Pensions Are Usually Taxed, But Sometimes They're Exempt

Pensions are usually taxed.

Sometimes they are tax exempt. Sometimes a part is tax exempt. Sometimes it is all tax exempt until you have recovered your investment in the contract and then it is all taxed.

If you get compensation for a disability received during the performance of your job and where the payments are in the nature of workmen's compensation, then the amount received is not taxed.

If you did not pay into the pension plan, then the full amount received is included in your income.

Where you did pay into the pension, the amounts received are taxed under the annuity rules.

That is, part of the payments are excluded to the extent that they are a return of your payments into the plan.

The part excluded is the payment received during the year multiplied by the total you paid in and divided by the total amount you expect to receive from the plan.

The total you expect to receive is figured by multiplying the total received annually by your life expectancy, or by the number of years the payments will be made. The life expectancy figures are in tables provided by the IRS.

If the total you will receive in the first three years is more than the total you paid in, a special rule applies. All payments you receive are not taxed until you have fully recovered all that you have paid in. After that, all

Change Of Purpose For Proposed District

Residents of Sleepy Hollow will vote next April 20 on whether to replace one limited-purpose taxing district with another.

The proposal is for a community services district, to include the 1,574 acres which comprise the Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District. The new district would take over responsibility for fire protection. Presumably it would, at least initially, continue to contract with the City of San Anselmo for such protection, as the fire district has done. It would also provide community debris boxes. But it would have the power — though not the money — to do many other things.

INTERESTINGLY enough, the community services district was proposed initially neither for fire protection nor for debris removal. There was no volume of complaint about the fire protection provided by San Anselmo, which built a new firehouse on Butterfield Road a decade ago especially to improve its Sleepy Hollow service. Debris boxes could be contracted by the Sleepy Hollow Homes Association — the organization promoting the community services district.

The whole thing started because a group of developers took an option on the 15.5-acre Sleepy Hollow Stables property and disclosed plans to convert it into a private riding and swimming club.

Sleepy Hollow residents expressed concern over the change in their bucolic neighborhood that such a club would create. And last June 18, a majority of those attending a meeting called by the homes association voted in favor of creating a community services district to buy and develop the stables property on behalf of the residents.

A committee from the association went to work on the idea. As its plan emerged in November, it made no mention of the stables property. Instead, it proposed the new district take over fire protection.

THERE IS AN excellent reason why purchase of the stables property that started all the discussion was eliminated. The district would not have funds to do it.

The community services district would be set up with a tax rate of $1.15 per $100 assessed valuation, or eight cents more than the tax levied this year by Sleepy Hollow Fire Protection District.

Assuming it continued to contract with San Anselmo for fire protection, this probably would give it enough money to install debris boxes. But it would allow no money for purchase or development of Sleepy Hollow Stables.

Anything beyond fire protection and debris boxes would require an additional tax, which could be levied only by vote of the residents.

HEREIN LIES the difficulty of special districts. Unlike the county or the city, they have no income from sales taxes, business licenses, cigarette taxes, state or federal subventions. Their sole source of support is the property tax.

A community services district is empowered by law to do most of the things a city does. But in practice, such a district usually performs only one or two services — because that is all that it can finance.

Essentially, the choice before Sleepy Hollow voters April 20 will be whether they want to change the fire protection district into a community services district which could have expanded usefulness to them if they were willing to increase their taxes to pay for its expansion.

A consideration not on the ballot will be whether such expanded services could be provided at less cost to Sleepy Hollow residents by annexing the 1,574 acres to San Anselmo.

As for Sleepy Hollow Stables, formation of the community services district will do nothing to prevent its conversion to a private club. Control of the land use will remain vested with the County of Marin.

Presidential Candidacy Race Already Muskie Vs. The Pack

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — The race for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination is not so confused as it appears.

Sen. Edmund Muskie, who says he is not yet a candidate, and Sen. George McGovern, who says he is, are already off and running. Before long a half-dozen or more lesser hopefuls will be wistfully passing their hats into a crowded ring.

But the event to come already seems foreseeable. We are not suggesting that nothing could intervene to change the picture, but we offer these judgments:

1—There is nobody and nothing on the horizon to take the nomination away from Senator Muskie. He is already way ahead and he will likely remain there.

2—Muskie's commanding position is rendered more secure by the near certainty that Sen. Edward Kennedy, now deposed by his colleagues as assistant majority leader, will not seek the '72 nomination, and without seeking it he will have no chance of getting it.

3—Neither McGovern nor Sen. Hubert Humphrey nor any of the run-of-mind dark horses will have any chance of getting the nomination unless a Nixon Vietnamization policy is in the midst of catastrophe and the nation is in the midst of severe depression.

MUSKIE HAS ASSETS which no single Democratic competitor can match.

He became a national figure when he was Humphrey's running mate in 1968 and he visibly impressed the voters as a mature, intelligent and calm political leader.

He stands nearer to the political center of his party than any of his active opponents. While his foreign policy positions are scanty, he is at this point neither hawk nor extreme dove, and he obviously handled himself well on his trip to the Middle East, Moscow and Bonn.

Muskie has a record of good legislation to his credit as a senator, especially in the field of antipollution.

In the opinion polls he continues to lead the pack, with Kennedy second, and he runs strongly when pitted against President Nixon.

Muskie is not likely to blunder nor to fade. He is far more than just another senator.

BUT WHO IS going to keep Kennedy from getting into the race; and if he does get into it, won't his name, his money and his youth-appeal simply overwhelm Muskie?

The answer is that only Kennedy will keep Kennedy from running.

There are three factors which persuade us that he won't seek the 1972 nomination.

First, his own statement. He has said he won't. He has stated explicitly that he "will serve his six-year term as senator" to which he was elected last fall. He has also said he would not seek the presidency in 1972 "because the uncertainty of higher office would place a great burden upon my family."

The second factor is Chappaquiddick. Senator Kennedy's conduct after the accident raised doubts about his ability to stand up under pressure. Kennedy could conclude that it would be well to let this incident recede further into the past before seeking national office.

Finally, Kennedy does not relish running against an incumbent President. He knows Nixon is resourceful; he knows the initiative in many directions is with the President, and he sees it as not improbable that circumstances will be favorable to Nixon's re-election next year.

AS TO THE baker's dozen of dark-horse hopefuls, from the earnest George McGovern to the improbable Mayor John Lindsay, they are all on the dark side of foreign policy and we doubt that the Democratic party is going to repudiate the record of its four past presidents.

Unless everything falls apart in the next 18 months, we doubt that the Democratic party will choose a left-wing, semi-pacifist, semi-isolationist as its presidential nominee.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Care Pays Off For Injured Birds

We want to thank you (the I-J) for a beautiful and detailed report on the bird situation at the Humane Society in Novato. On Monday, we carefully packed each of our birds and had them carefully shipped to the bird care center in Richmond. There at Richmond, they have a very good system for birds, and are going to take care of our birds with good care. We're glad of that. They also commended us for the fact that out of all the bird care centers unexpectedly set up last Tuesday, ours had the lowest death rate, the healthiest birds (and the happiest workers). That shows what tender, loving care can do. Believe us, if there is another oil spill in this area, we'll be there at Novato, and, because of our first experience, we'll save a lot more lives.

Higher Taxes For Same Service

On April 20 the people of Sleepy Hollow will have the opportunity to vote for an 11 cents increase in their property tax rate to provide the same services they are now receiving.

The proposal being presented to the voters with this increase is the formation of a community services district to provide collection of garbage and refuse, fire protection, public recreation including parks, police protection, and conversion of utilities to underground locations, but to provide all of these services except underground utilities (for which no estimate of cost has been given), the proponents estimate a minimum tax rate of approximately $2 per $100 will have to be levied or an additional tax of $200 per year on a $40,000 home.

A "yes" vote on this proposal increasing your fire protection tax from $1.04 to a community service tax rate of $1.15 will give you the same fire protection you are getting and none of the other services listed.

Aren't our taxes high enough without our requesting they be increased for no additional service?

Lottery, Not Open Gambling

I just read under "Affairs of State" by Henry C. MacArthur about "Drive to Legalize Gambling," and it seems to me he is awfully negative in his thinking.

In the first place, as far as I know nobody really wants legalized gambling; if this comes up for vote now it will be killed again. There is talk about a state lottery which is a different thing altogether. A lottery run by the state government will not invite the shady characters to California.

If the state printed tickets with numbers and sold them directly to the public... and had a drawing every six weeks or so there would be lots of money...

Look at the stream of people going to Nevada to lose their money; that kind of gambling can certainly take many a paycheck. But legalize a state lottery, and maybe raffles by charity organizations. This would be clean, sound money for the state...

And I do not agree with Mr. MacArthur about the bit of "someone wants to run the lives of others." It should not be made easy for people to blow their paychecks on gambling as it involves other people — a wife, or husband or the welfare department — after all, we do take care of murderers and thieves!

I have hoped for years the state would see the light but maybe this again is just talk, and will go with the wind, with new taxes again 'til the balloon does bust.

Reed Teacher Exodus Slowed

On Jan. 20, the Independent-Journal stated that Mrs. (Carolyn S.) Hunter and Mrs. (Ann B.) Goff (filers of the Reed recall) blamed the chairman of the Reed board, Mr. Gordon Wright, with contributing to the exodus of one-fifth of district's teachers. As usual, the Rule or Ruin Clique of Reed District are guilty of gross misstatement of fact. The actual figures as released by the superintendent's office are:

'66-67	15 out of 83	18%
'67-68	14 out of 100	14%
'68-69	22 out of 100	22%
'69-70	7 out of 92	7.6%
'70-71	6 out of 94	6.4%

The past big turnover prior to Mr. Wright's election has slowed to considerably less than normal in an average school district. It seems a pity that so much time, talent, and money is spent attempting to tear Reed district down instead of putting that effort into building up academic excellence for all the children. By the way, Reed, where oh where are your reading test scores? The Trustees have asked for them many times but have never received them.

College Braille Course Separate

I enjoyed your article about Mrs. Phyllis Deaton, braille transcriber. (Jan. 25). However, I would like to point out one mistake. The College of Marin sponsors a class in braille transcribing at the San Anselmo Center on Wednesdays 9:30 a.m. — 12:30 p.m. —not a workshop as you mentioned. The Transcribing Mariners hold their workshops for binding and reproducing work for the blind on Thursday mornings. Anyone interested in taking a year-long course in the braille code may register at the College of Marin in the fall. It is a satisfying and worthwhile work as Mrs. Deaton so enthusiastically described.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Trouble With Revenue Sharing: It Just Means More Taxes

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Much discussion, pro and con, is being carried on concerning President Nixon's six-point program to "give America the foundation for a new greatness."

The point under the most discussion is the $16 billion "sharing" of federal money with the states, presumably to ease the burden on state and local governments.

No doubt the program is offered in all sincerity — a President could do no less — but there are some questions that must be asked, and no doubt will be before the idea reaches the stage where it is something besides an idea, if it ever does.

IT'S REASONABLY obvious that if the federal government shares $16 billion in revenues with the states, which in turn would be expected to share the same with local governments, that the $16 billion has to come from someplace.

And there are only three places the federal government can get it. Either cut it off federal projects already under way or contemplated, print more currency, or raise federal taxes.

It's not realistic to ditch federal projects. This would hurt too many congressmen and senators. Neither is it realistic to print more money, although this is done at various times.

Consequently, only one source is left, and guess what? Raise taxes, the inevitable solution of all politicians from presidents on down to city councilmen.

Thus, the president's "foundation for a new greatness" turns out to be the foundation for new taxes.

THE PRESIDENT'S plan to share revenues with no strings attached is an open invitation to sticky-fingered city and county officials. The federal government in the past has at least made a pretense of overseeing the expenditure of federal funds, even though it has permitted waste and in some instances, graft.

The idea of paying taxes to the federal government, to have less than those taxes returned to the states after the federals have siphoned off expenses to take care of the federal bureaucracy, will not sit well with most taxpayers, Republicans or Democrats, so it is quite likely that the president will have a difficult time getting his "foundation for a new greatness' through the Congress.

California, reportedly, would derive the biggest share of the shared revenue, which theoretically might make that point of the President's program highly acceptable in this state, especially when it would get Governor Reagan off the hook as far as his budget troubles are concerned.

But then again, it might not be so acceptable when the taxpaying public discovered they are to pay more federal taxes, with little, if any reduction in state taxes.

Striking Police, Vehement Critics Are Both Wrong

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

NEW YORK — Now that the wildcat strike of New York policemen is over, everything looks the same as it did before — and during — the walkout. There were no riots, epidemics of robberty or rape just because 85 per cent of the city's patrolmen stayed out six days. They were never far away, and presumably the potential rioters and rapers assumed that if things started getting chaotic they would race back to duty.

Maybe so, or maybe it was just the cold weather that kept the criminals indoors. Either way, what happened on the streets was not the most impressive thing about the strike. Eventually, the issue of back pay will be settled, and technically it all will be an unpleasantness in the past. But other more lasting effects of the strike are not so tangible, and they are the ones with broad implications not only for New York but for the rest of the country.

IN A SOCIETY where so many major factions are falling out with each other — youth vs. middle age, silent majority vs. loud minority, ghetto vs. suburbs — it is absolutely demanded of those charged with public order to set an example of abiding by the law. The stability of the community, every community, depends on it.

Thus when 21,000 of the 25,000 police officers in the nation's biggest city walk off their jobs, without even the authority of a formal strike vote and the sanction of their union, they are endangering not only the blocks where they are absent from their beats but, in the symbolism of their action, they are further shaking the stability of the whole United States.

They were wrong, flat wrong, in walking out. If the letter of the law demands that they be dunned for their unauthorized absence from duty, then they should be dunned.

But it doesn't end there. There were others at fault in the whole dangerous fiasco. And they include leaders in politics and public opnion whose words and actions in any other strike would have been mind-boggling. The difference was that in this case the cops were the villains.

NEW YORK WITNESSED an unprecedented outpouring of wrath against the police, from ostensibly responsible people who for the past few years have been cheering on students and radicals for breaking the law much more violently. This was vindictiveness that has been saved up and finally could come out in hublic instead of merely at fund-raising cocktails for the Black Panthers, for example.

Witness Pete Hamill, writing in the New York Post: "They (the police) have reneged on their oaths of office, declared themselves outlaws and given away whatever rights they had to the respect of New Yorkers... These men should be prosecuted with the same degree of hardness, even nastiness, that they reserve for the tracking down of blacks, longhairs, Puero Ricans and anyone else they do not personally care for...

"They have spit in the faces of the citizens of this city and helped erode the tender fabric of civilized law with more success than the poor fools in Weatherman every dreamed they could. All the student revolutionaries of the past three years combined haven't done more to wreck the society of humans we call New York than the cops have in the past five days. The cops should know better and be punished even more firmly."

Well, that may sing as rhetoric and may draw raves at some in-type saloon on the Upper East Side, but it also demonstrates just what, beyond back pay, underlay the striking policemen's attitude. It sets forth a double standard for lawbreakers of the left and those of the right (where it is perfectly legitimate to classify the police).

OF COURSE the police should know better; several thousand detectives and senior officers stayed on duty and proved they did. But about 40 per cent of New York's patrolmen now are under 30. If the impetuosity of youth is an excuse for bomb-throwing by a Ph.D., doesn't it at least help explain the nonviolent wrongdoing of a rookie copy who is asked to risk his life in the cold for peanuts?

Questionnaire Responses Show 'Hill People' Not Unanimous

The Sausalito Citizens Council, which recently surveyed the city's "Hill People" on community issues and problems, has released a detailed report on the results.

Questionnaires were mailed to 400 residents and about 150 (which the citizens council says represents about 420 opinions) were returned.

Basic yes-no results were released at a town meeting in November, but comments from those replying are included also in the final report.

ONE SURPRISE, contained in a supplement to the survey, is that residents appear to be aligned with businessmen in opposing the city's plan to turn municipal parking lot No. 1 into a park. Alan Conner, president of the citizens group, pointed out that most of the 150 who attended the town meeting reacted hostilely to the plan.

Persons who returned the questionnaires say they patronize downtown businesses, although 72 per cent said they shop less downtown than two years ago and 65 per cent shop less than before the city's parking ban on Bridgeway was put into effect in May.

One hundred said they used downtown banks, 92 patronize hardware stores, 114 shop at drugstores, 41 at liquor stores and 71 at bakeries.

The comments on the parking ban ranged from "Bridgeway should be landscaped like Golden Gate Park" to "I would shop downtown if parking were available."

OTHER COMMENTS: On panhandling: "Roust the bums," "Get rid of hippies and dogs," Panhandlers should pay stiff fines and be refused welfare payments if they are on welfare," "Clamp down," "Let's keep cool, a very minor problem," "Use our police department for important crimes, not panhandling."

On unrelated persons living in single-family homes: "Prefer unrelated persons living together to one couple with 10 kids," "Hippie pads are dens of crime and dope," "I may not like communes living next door, but it's none my damned business how others live."

On a swimming pool for Sausalito: "Sausalito is no place for children," "Who wants to share a swimming pool with 'doped up' dirty bums?" "It's too cold."

Ferry: "Greatest event in Sausalito," "Should be used as a commute vehicle only," "Tourists arriving by ferry are preferable to tourists on tour buses."

Parking ban: "For the first time the buildings and stores aren't obscured by a pile of parked junk," "Very inconvenienient when trying to pick up items from drugstore or bakery or go to bank,"

IN GENERAL comments at the end of the questionnaire, one person accused the citizens council, by its manner of asking questions, of "trying to split business people and residents for a last-ditch stand."

"Sorry, but Sausalito is not primarily residential in character any more" wrote this respondent. "Once we all realize this, we may be able to look at other problems in a better light."

Democrats Win Top Chairmanships

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Democrats were named chairmen of most major state Senate committees today with veteran Sen. Randolph Collier obtaining the top prize as head of the powerful Finance Committee.

New Senate leader James R. Mills, D-San Diego, announced the new committee structure and told his colleagues "it is time for the Senate to work together."

Marin's senator, Peter H. Behr, R-San Rafael, was named vice chairman of the public utilities and corporations committee and also was appointed to seats on the local government, health and welfare and water resources committees.

The reorganization seemed to strengthen the control of Democrats and Mills over the Senate, which has been badly split the past two years during a series of coups and countercoups.

Democrats were named chairmen of 10 of the Senate's 16 committees. Democrats will hold majorities on 10 of the committees — including such major panels as Education, Reapportionment, Finance, Judiciary and Revenue and Taxation.

The committees, which Mills said represented "very little factionalism," technically were appointed by the five-man Rules Committee which he heads as president pro tem.

Collier, a Democrat from rural Yreka who is dean of the legislature, will chair a Finance Committee controlled 7-6 by Democrats. It will review all legislation containing money—including the state budget and any tax reform.

Democratic Sen. Mervyn Dymally of Los Angeles, the Senate's only Negro, was appointed chairman of the Elections and Reapportionment Committee. This panel will draw new district boundaries this year for legislative and congressional seats.

Sen. Tom Carrell, D-San Fernando, will head the Transportation Committee, which handles legislation on mass transit and gasoline tax apportionment. This committee traditionally has gone to a Northern Californian in the post.

Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, a foe last year of Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax revision program, was named chairman of the Revenue and Taxation Committee. The panel will hold hearings on new tax reform plans this year.

Sen. Anthony C. Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills, author of the 1967 act which liberalized abortion laws, was reappointed chairman of the Health and Welfare Committee.

Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach, an unsuccessful candidate for the GOP attorney general nomination last year, was named to head the Business and Professions Committee.

Earlier this session when Democrats toppled GOP President Pro Tempore Jack Schrade and installed James R. Mills in the top leadership post, sources said Deukmejian voted for Mills.

Sen. Howard Way, R-Exeter, was named chairman of the Agriculture Committee. Way—the Senate leader briefly who was ousted by Schrade—also reportedly voted for Democrat Mills.

Sen. Albert S. Rodda, a liberal Sacramento Democrat, was reappointed chairman of the Education Committee.

Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, was renamed to head the Industrial Relations Committee, which handles labor legislation.

Sen. Clark L. Bradley, R-San Jose, the only GOP senator last year to vote against Reagan's tax program, was appointed by the new Democratic leadership to chair the Insurance and Financial Institutions Committee.

Sen. Ralph C. Dills, D-Gardena, will head the Governmental Organization Committee, a panel given a new name two years ago after it became infamous as the Senate "graveyard" committee. It formerly was called the Governmental Efficiency Committee.

Sen. Alfred H. Song, D-Monterey Park, was named chairman of the Judiciary Committee, which hears all crime-related legislation.

Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco, also a Mills backer, received the chairmanship of the Local Government Committee.

Freshman Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, one of the upper house's leading conservationists, was appointed chairman of the Natural Resources Committee. He also voted for Mills, sources said.

Sen. Alfred E. Alquist of San Jose, the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor last year, was appointed chairman of the Public Utilities and Corporations Committee.

Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, a Southern Californian, was named chairman of the Water Resources Committee.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

Administrator Plays Different Tune After 11 Years On Job

Fusselman

On Feb. 5, 1965, in this column, I presented to you a transcript of a communication from Alan Bruce to me just before I became chairman of the board of supervisors for 1961. Today I will repeat sections of it. You will understand why as you read along.

"Statement of principles of office of county administrator by Alan Bruce, assistant administrator, Nov. 14, 1960."

"I am a firm believer in our democratic form of government and therefore in the complete responsibility and and authorty of the elected representatives of the people. The members of the board of supervisors are the policy-makers and the decision-makers. It is for them to assess the political consequences of governmental action: It is for them to determine what the people are ready to accept . . ."

". . . THE ADMINISTRATOR'S recommendations should be based primarily on administrative feasibility, i.e., on what he thinks would work effectively to give maximum value to the taxpayers. At the same time he should expect the members of the board of supervisors to be in a better position than he to take a broad view of the needs of the community as a whole and therefore to make final decisions which often would differ from his recommendations. His success should not be measured by the degree to which his recommendations are accepted. In fact, if all his recommendations are uniformly and routinely accepted, he would worry that either he was usurping the functions of the board or that the board was falling down on the job . . . He should have political sense and some sense of timing, while realizing that the sense of the board members is always better than his."

Now read this and shudder. On Jan. 13 just past the man who is ". . . going to run this country and don't you ever forget it" wrote a three-page letter to the board of supervisors. The first paragraph follows:

"GENTLEMEN: This letter is an attempt to put the security problem in perspective." (He broke it down into three perspectives. For the purpose of this column I am presenting only the first.)

"Perspective 1: Responsibility of Reperesentative Government"

"The January hearing on security in one sense will be a test of the republican or representative form of government under which we live. As you do not need to be reminded but many seem to forget, you are not in office to respond to numbers in a hearing room, or to the articulation of vocal members of the public, or to a mob ruly or unruly. Nor are you in office to determine scientifically or magically a popular consensus, and then proceed on it. To the contrary, you were elected by the people because your individual judgment was trusted, and because you were trusted to use your judgment responsibly, no matter how lonely or difficult,"

Yes, gentlemen, you were elected as were the preceding boards of supervisors with the understanding that you would not abdicate and permit a power hungry one like this to insult you and the people who did elect you, with such an arrogancy as this. Your personal pride if nothing else, I would think, would cause you to put a permanent stop to this continuing performance.

Warning On Use of Solvents In the Home

Flammable cleaning solvents should never be used in the home because of extreme fire danger, the captain of the Tamalpais Fire Department warned yesterday.

In the last two weeks, according to Capt. William Canlett, his department has handled two blazes which occurred when gasoline —used for cleaning oil spots in garages — was ignited by appliance pilot lights.

"People often don't realize how many ways volatile solvents can be ignited," he said, "and they are often unaware of the hazards of using these cleaning solvents in closed areas."

The fire captain said the following solvents are dangerous for home use: gasoline, cleaning solvent obtained from service stations, alcohol, white gas, and diesel fuel.

Cable TV Firm Indicted: Bribe

NEW YORK (UPI)—The federal government has charged TelePrompter Corp. paid $15,000 in bribes to the mayor and two politicians in Johnstown, Pa. to gain a cable television franchise.

The indictments announced Thursday by U.S. Attorney Whitney North Seymour Jr. named Tele-Prompter, the nation's largest cable television company: its president and board chairman, Irving B. Kahn; Johnstown Mayor Kenneth O. Tompkins; Councilman Robert P. McKee, and former councilman J. Howard Deardorff on conspiracy and bribery charges.

TelePrompter issued a statement after Seymour announced the indictments claiming it and its executives were extortion victims. The firm said it bought an existing system in Johnstown for $500,000 in 1961 and then ran into extortionate demands.

The indictments charge Kahn, 53, went to Johnstown in January, 1966 and agreed to pay $15,000 in bribes to the city officials for their votes on the five-member city council.

The council voted 4-1 to approve TelePrompter's bid over competitors. The indictment charged the three Johnstown politicians approved an ordinance giving a 10-year exclusive franchise with a 10-year renewal option to Johnstown Cable T.V., a TelePrompter subsidiary.

The government charged Kahn had a $7,000 check sent to Tompkins, 62, on Feb. 25 and then other checks later with which the mayor passed on $4,000 each to McKee, 50, and Deardorff, 64.

The indicted are to be arraiged in U.S. district Court here Monday. Convictions on the charges of bribery and conspiracy to travel in interstate commerce and use the mail to carry out bribery carry maximum penalties of five years in jail and $10,000 in fines. The company could be fined $10,000.

TelePrompter attorney Milton S. Gould, replying to the indictments, said "TelePrompter was subjected to extortionate demands by corrupt local officials who threatened to destroy its investment in Johnstown." He predicted Kahn and the company would be vindicated.

Prosecutors said their investigation was initiated by an Internal Revenue agent who uncovered the alleged bribery checks during another investigaton.

White Collar Halt Looms For Chrysler

DETROIT (UPI)—The Chrysler Corp. has been given a deadline of next Tuesday morning to settle with its unionized white collar workers or face a strike.

Meanwhile, General Motors announced Thursday that because of its 67-day strike last year, it suffered the greatest quarterly loss in its history.

Douglas Fraser, a United Auto Workers vice president and director of the union's Chrysler Department, said Thursday the 10,000 unionized white collar workers at Chrysler will walk off their jobs at 10 a.m. next Tuesday unless a new contract is worked out by then. He said the strike deadline was set because the negotiations on a pact covering the salaried workers "are not going quickly enough."

Fraser told newsmen the 110,000 production and maintenance workers at Chrysler plants in the United States and Canada —who now are voting on a tentative agreement reached Jan. 19 —would remain on the job if the salaried workers struck. But he predicted a strike by salaried Chrysler workers would shut down the nation's third-largest auto maker within six days.

G.M. said the 67-day strike by its UAW-represented production workers last fall resulted in a $135 million loss in the final quarter of 1970. But the company noted it still had a $609 million profit for the year. The walkout also took its toll on G.M. profits in the third quarter of last year, with the company reporting a $77 million loss.

For -1970, the company's profits sank to almost one-third 1969 net income of $1.71 billion, board chairman James M. Roche and president Edward N. Cole said.

G.M.'s financial performances for 1970 reflected a slowdown in vehicle sales due to "the general slowdown in the United States and Canadian economies and, more importantly, to the strike against General Motors," Roche and Cole said.

The main issue separating negotiators at Chrysler is retroactive pay increases, Fraser said. The union has demanded pay increases retroactive to last Nov. 2, the same date the production and maintenance workers won from Chrysler. Fraser said Chrysler has not offered to make pay hikes retroactive.

Connally Hearing Gets Underway

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Nixon's nominee for secretary of the Treasury, Texas Democrat John B. Connally, says he will lose "several hundred thousand dollars" when he sells off holdings to avoid any conflict of interest.

The Senate Finance Committee Thursday started hearings on confirmation of the former Texas governor's appointment. Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., the committee chairman, estimated Connally would be taxed about $1 million when he sells the holdings. He asked Connally if he thought the job was worth it.

"Senator, I suppose you can't put any price on public service ... I have no regret about the financial sacrifice," Connally said.

Reagan Believes Nixon Will Uphold CRLA Policy

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Gov. Ronald Reagan says the Nixon Administration would be "rather dishonest" if it overrode his veto of the California Rural Legal Assistance program.

Reagan disclosed to newsmen he conferred directly with President Nixon about the CRLA last Saturday during a 90-minute conversation in the White House.

The governor said Nixon did not indicate how his administration would rule in the case — regarded as a crucial policy test —but added he believed the president would be "very reluctant" to personally intervene.

The Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) planned to announce a decision sometime between today and Monday.

Reagan last month vetoed the CRLA's $1.8 million federal financing grant for 1971, contending the organization had violated its federal mandate and had not truly represented the rural poor.

Acting OEO Director Frank Carlucci could override Reagan's veto and fund the program anyway. The decision has been looked upon as a probably indicator of Nixon Administration policy toward legal assistance programs.

Reagan wants to abolish CRLA and establish a privately financed system called "Ajudicare." This would be administered by local bar associations, staffed with volunteer help and funded by private foundations.

Reagan said he was "perfectly willing" to let the federal government finance "Ajudicare" as an OEO project.

Inventory On Delta Is Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —State Resources Secretary Norman Livermore has been urged by a legislative committee to prepare an inventory of factors affecting the environment of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

The request was one of six recommendations made Thursday by the Senate Select Committee on Salinity Intrusion in Agricultural Soils. The committee's proposals were based on one year of studying the inroads made by San Francisco Bay salt water into the agriculturally fertile delta.

The committee, headed by Sen. John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek, also suggested Livermore "insure the preparation of a development plan for the Suisun Marsh, which will insure the restoration and preservation of the marsh as one of the principal waterfowl wintering areas in California."

Senate leader James R. Mills Thursday announced the committee was being disbanded.
